People of Havelock and Even the Officers Speculate on What Make of Car Used.

Yeggs who looted the First National bank of Havelock Thursday afternoon, are now counting the money and possibly dividing it. They are for the time being at least safe in Lincoln, Omaha, Sioux City, Kalmar or some other city. This, at least is the opinion of officers. That the bandits wore horseshoes or carried them, is indicated from the fact that they got all the breaks.

Citizens of Havelock and even the officers are still speculating on what make of car the bandits used. While one report named it an Essex, there are other and conflicting rumors, one to the effect that it was a Willis Sainte Claire.

While the wire were kept warm throughout Friday, nothing tangible appeared above the surface. The officers were given something new to think about when they learned of the theft between 8 p. m. and midnight Thursday of the Ford touring car of Walter Schroeder, state financier expert. The car was taken from the parking place at Eleventh and N while the owner was out on the bandit chase. The license number is 9-5145 and the motor number is 6199,953. This theft is not connected by the officers with the yeggs who looted the Havelock job since they went away with between $6,500 and $7,000.

The first official theory was that the bandits numbered three instead of two and that the third member of the band awaited his companions with a car different from that in which they rode to and from Havelock. This theory received additional force when report came of discovery of an abandoned Essex coach near Waverly. State Sheriff Carroll delegated an official party Friday to investigate.

When they switched cars after pulling the job, then they would certainly double back to Omaha," said the state sheriff. "There is, however, this fact to consider: No report has reached us of theft of a car in Omaha, Lincoln or elsewhere in the state which answers the description of the bandit car. If the car was stolen for this particular job the owner surely would have reported his loss before now."

The modern bank robber equips himself with license plates from a number of states. It is simple procedure to shift plates. The officers, however, expect just this thing and look more at the car and its occupants than at the number.

TO ASK TWO MILLIONS MORE FOR NEW CAPITOL. Lincoln, Nov. 14.—Approximately 2 million dollars will be requested by the state capital commission as an additional appropriation to complete Nebraska's new seat of government, it was indicated at a meeting of the commission here Friday.

The commission's financial recommendation will soon be formulated and will be transmitted to the legislature by Governor Bryan in the budget accompanying his message. Though the first section of the building will not be finished until July 1, 1925, some parts are now virtually ready. It is planned to move some departments into these quarters by the first of the year.

BLUE AND WHITE WIN FROM PERU DEMONSTRATION

Score of 13 to 0 is Piled Up By the Locals Against Prep School From Normal Town.

History has given us many pages of the conquest of Peru, but this conquest was not more thrilling than the manner in which the blue and white football warriors of Plattsmouth high school humiliated the Peruvians of the local gridiron by the score of 13 to 0 and the score does not half tell the vain struggle that the visitors made against the smoothly working Plattsmouth machine.

It was the last home game of the high school and the last appearance on the local gridiron of Joe Krejci, star of the high school football team, who had a field day in showing up the visitors and with the feet-footed and sure armed man of the team, Godwin, Gorder, Harford and Butts, the lineemen were also in great form and made a stonewall against which the Peruvians battered themselves to no avail.

On the kickoff, the Peru team looked good to score as Dillon, setting the ball, ran sixty yards before Godwin downed him, but from then on the story was reversed and Plattsmouth had the visitors largely on the defensive and the chief plays of the Peru team was to try and punt out of danger only to have Plattsmouth return the ball into their territory.

In the last of the first quarter Joe Krejci electrified the crowd by a great end run that brought the ball to the Peru thirty-yard line and was one of the real thrills of the game. Plattsmouth then executed a great aerial attack, Krejci passing twenty yards to Godwin who was held on the Peru ten yard line. Line smashes by Gorder and Krejci brought the ball to the Peru two yard line and with the ball here there was an attempted end run by Krejci that failed and the ball was turned over to the visitors. Peru punted out of danger but the local team was full of fight and Buttry returned the ball to the twenty-yard line of the visitors. The quarter ended with the ball on the twenty yard line.

The second quarter saw the Plattsmouth team crash over with the first score of the game. On the kickoff to Peru the player attempted to handle the ball made a costly fumble and Godwin recovered the ball on the twenty yard line. The second quarter saw the Plattsmouth team crash over with the first score of the game. On the kickoff to Peru the player attempted to handle the ball made a costly fumble and Godwin recovered the ball on the twenty yard line.

Again in the third quarter Plattsmouth hung added sorrow on the fast crumpling Peru football machine as they forced the visitors down the field toward their goal and a fine pass by Krejci to Glaze brot the ball to the visitors five yard line and this time there was no attempt to make any end runs or fakes, as Krejci lowered his head and drove into the line of the visitors with his teammates and carried the ball over. The attempt at goal was a failure and left the score at 13 to 0.

In the last quarter the Peru team attempted several successful line plunges but which were costly in the injuries to their players and the locals largely played on the defensive. Harford in this period made a spectacular end run that gave the fans a real treat. The ball was kept largely in the center of the field and the final whistle found the visitors vainly struggling against the stonewall defense of Plattsmouth.

PLAN TO HONOR "MA" FERGUSON. Would Stage Elaborate Ceremony When Woman Governor Takes the Oath of Office.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 14.—One of the most elaborate state ceremonies ever attempted in the United States is being planned here for the inauguration next February of Mrs. Miriam E. Ferguson as governor of the state of Texas. A meeting of Austin residents, called by H. A. Wroe, started the arrangements yesterday.

The hopes of the people of the capital to give this inauguration a grandeur equal to the occasion stop at nothing short of seeking to have the president and vice president of the United States, the president and all governors of Mexico, all ambassadors of the United States, high commanders of the army and navy, and other dignitaries of state and nation present at the inaugural.

The tentative plans include a grand ball, a military display with troops present from the national guard and the regular army posts in the state, an aerial exhibition, a pageant of the state's history and a special invitation to attend to Mrs. Ross, who then will be governor of Wyoming.

Mrs. Morris Lloyd was among the visitors in Omaha today, going to that city on the early morning Burlington train.

Miss Marie Sperry was a visitor in Omaha today where she was called to look after some matters of business for a few hours.

SISTER SUES FOR PART OF ESTATE. Sarah E. Sheppard Charges in Suit That Brother, Simon P. Wise, Was Influenced to Cut Her Off.

Fremont, Neb., Nov. 13.—Charged that the late Simon P. Wise, of Dodge county, divided his $61,000 estate evenly between eighteen nieces and nephews and totally disregarded his sister, the latter, Sarah E. Sheppard, will contest the will in the hearing that opens in county court before Judge Waldo Wintersteen Friday morning.

Mrs. Sheppard alleges that Wise was not mentally sound at the time the will was made, charging that he was suffering in a Fremont hospital and was induced to make out the will. This occurred following an operation which Wise underwent on July 10, 1922, Mrs. Sheppard states.

He was under the influence of narcotics and opium at the time the will was made, she says. In addition J. Howard Heine, one of the vice presidents of the Union National bank, was called in at the time, she says, to help induce Wise to leave his estate to certain heirs.

The estate consists of $38,000 personal property, $48,000 real property all in Nebraska, and $8,000 in real property in Oklahoma. The eighteen nephews and nieces share this estate while the sister is cut off without a cent.

HOPE MARK TO COME BACK

But American Investors in the German Currency Doomed to Be Disappointed.

Berlin, Nov. 14.—A great many Americans who possess German paper marks bought at bargain rates in the days of inflation still cling to the hope that the mark will come into its own, judging by the number of letters received by the American chamber of commerce in Germany from various parts of the United States. Many of the writers are women, who inquire how much longer they must hold the notes before they are redeemed by the German government.

The paper mark went out of business a year ago this week, when the rentmark came into use. There was then so much of it on hand that in numerous instances banks and other institutions turned the marks over to junk dealers by the ton.

Most of these notes, which toward the end of the inflation period were not worth the paper used in their manufacture, have been destroyed or made into pasteboard boxes and the like.

Bankers here declare there are probably more of the old German marks scattered about the United States than exist today in all Germany itself.
