JAIL DELIVERY WAS VERY SLICK AFFAIR, SHERIFF DISCOVERS

Soap Played an Important Part in the Escape of Matthias Marvin From the County Jail.

From Saturday's Daily—
Sheriff E. P. Stewart, who has been conducting an investigation of the recent escape of Matthias Marvin from the ironing walls of the Cass county jail, has unearthed the truth of the escape and which was a well planned affair and showed real experience on the part of the wily Matthias on the manners and methods of getting out of a tight hole.

In the escape, soap played a very important part and by its use Matthias, who is not such a small built man was able to supply food to the inmates of the jail and through which an ordinary good sized child would have a hard time getting out. From the statements made by other prisoners in the jail it seems that Marvin first secured some soap and very thoroughly greased the sides and top of the opening through which he had planned to crawl and then he had taken off all his clothes and stepped under the shower and became thoroughly wet and with the assistance of another of the prisoners soaked himself thoroughly and was as slick as the proverbial "greased pig" when he was ready for the dash toward freedom. He first put out an arm and then his head thru and with some pushing he was able to get both arms out and from then on it was easy going.

When Marvin was entirely out of opening he had his clothes thrown out to him by one of the prisoners and then dressed and made his getaway and had hardly got into the clear when Deputy Sheriff Young appeared on the scene and discovered the get away, but the silence of the rest of the prisoners on the length of time that Marvin had been gone enabled him to make a clean get away. The man Marvin had only forty days yet to serve and was quite foolish to try and get away as he will be given a harder jolt if he is captured.

RECOVERED HIS CAR

Last week Roland Tyson was successful in securing his Ford coupe which was stolen some time ago at Omaha. The car was found at a farmer's place a few miles from Elk City, Iowa. According to the farmer's story whose name was Neils Nelson, a young man who was driving the coupe, got stuck in the mud near his place and he pulled him out. Then, representing himself as Tyson, he wanted to sell him the coupe for $75. The farmer would not do this. Then he said let me have ten dollars so that I can get home and grind the valves on the car and when I get back I will pay you. This the farmer did. Some time elapsed so the farmer became somewhat suspicious and went to a lawyer at Harrison, Iowa, who advised him to get in touch with Mr. Tyson at Elmwood, Nebraska, whose license card was on the car. This he did with the result that the car came back to the rightful owner. Cyrus Tyson went over from Omaha and got the car. His expenses after having refunded the ten dollars and paying for grinding valves on the car amounted to $25. The car did not seem to be hurt any and had been driven only about 60 miles. No trace of the thief has yet been found although every effort will be made to apprehend him.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

CORN YIELD NOT SO GOOD IN NEBRASKA

Frost and Drouth Lower Quality of Grain—Yield Estimated at 24 Bushels to the Acre.

Corn will average twenty-four bushels per acre, according to the preliminary yield estimate by the division of crop and live stock estimates. Quality is lowered by both frost and drouth. Potato yield is below average. Small grains weighing out well. Winter wheat needing moisture badly in southeastern quarter of state. (This need has been met since report was issued, by a rainfall over the area averaging nearly half an inch.)

The preliminary estimate of yield of corn is twenty-four bushels. Last year corn averaged thirty-three bushels, and the ten year average is 27.1 bushels. Yields vary greatly. While the frost in the northern half of the state and drouth in the southern half were the leading causes of reduced yield, other contributing factors were poor stands, flooded areas with little or no corn and insufficient cultivation.

The preliminary estimate of production is 197,856,000 bushels. Last year's crop was 272,052,000 bushels and the 1918-22 average is 190,586,000 bushels. While the average is the same as last year, it is nearly 14 per cent above the 1918-22 average. Stocks of old corn total 10,338,000 bushels or 3.3 per cent of last year's crop.

About 71 per cent of the corn is of merchantable quality. Two-thirds of the damage to quality was caused by night through which they had to travel to get to their work. Every street light out and the only spots of light to guide the waiters were the restaurants of the city which fortunately were open at this hour and the light from their front could guide the pedestrian along the gloomy, dark street like a light house. During the night when there are very few, if any, persons on the street the electric lights shine forth, but when the hour for the laborer and artisan to arise arrives and they sally forth to labor they find the main street wrapped in darkness, as the lights are extinguished just before or at 6 o'clock. If the lights are to be of real service as well as being ornamental they should be burning when they are needed during the early morning hours. The days are nearing the shortest period of the year and the lights should remain on until at least it is light enough to see to get along the street if they are to give the residents of the city any real service.

ALEXANDER M'CLAREN VISITS CITY TO LOOK OVER PLANT

Well Known Eastern Capitalist Who Is Interested in Bertschey Factory, Visits Platts-mouth.

From Thursday's Daily—
Alexander McLaren, the well known Ohio and Chicago capitalist, who is interested in the Bertschey machine works in this city, arrived here yesterday to look over the plant that Mr. Bertschey has developed to a very high point of efficiency in the past few months and which is now engaged in turning out a great many articles of real worth and value at the plant here.

The plant in this city has been very busy in handling the well known gas savers for autos which was perfected by Mr. Bertschey and which has given universal satisfaction to the car owners who have had them installed.

In addition to these there are a large number of patented articles that Mr. Bertschey is manufacturing here for the trade and which has kept his plant operating at its full capacity and supplying the demands that have been made upon it for turning out these articles.

Mr. Bertschey operates both the plant here and a large garage and repair shop in Omaha and finds that between the two he is kept very busy and would like very much to have a consolidation of the two plants and preferably at the Omaha plant which is nearer the chief volume of business. Just what steps will be taken remain to be seen and will probably be taken up during the visit of Mr. McLaren to the west as he is very largely interested in the plant here.

LET THERE BE LIGHT

From Thursday's Daily—
Those who were out in the main portion of the city from 6 to 7 o'clock this morning were decidedly caustic and emphatic about the deep cloud that hung over the main section of the city and the blackness of night through which they had to travel to get to their work. Every street light out and the only spots of light to guide the waiters were the restaurants of the city which fortunately were open at this hour and the light from their front could guide the pedestrian along the gloomy, dark street like a light house. During the night when there are very few, if any, persons on the street the electric lights shine forth, but when the hour for the laborer and artisan to arise arrives and they sally forth to labor they find the main street wrapped in darkness, as the lights are extinguished just before or at 6 o'clock. MASS PRODUCTION. MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILROAD BOOSTING BOY SCOUTS

Irving T. Bush, in an article in Collier's, says that when John D. Rockefeller began the refining of oil, kerosene was worth something like $1.25 a gallon. When Mr. Bush knew something about the business 25 years ago it was worth less than 10 cents a gallon.

In the early days crude oil was brought to the seaboard from the Pennsylvania oil fields in barrels. Next it came down thru the Erie canal in canal boats. Finally pipe lines were built to carry it directly to the refineries on the Atlantic coast. The process of transporting illuminating oil was the same. It was sent abroad at first in barrels and the barrels were sent back empty and refilled and again reshipped. Today the tank wagon delivers the oil at the door of the farmer, and the ocean-going tanker carries the product of American refineries to the four corners of the earth.

This development was the first example of mass production and distribution, paving the way for many other industries which have followed in its wake.

A STITCH IN TIME

Platts-mouth People Should Not Neglect Their Kidneys.

No kidney ailment is unimportant. Don't overlook the slightest backache or urinary irregularity. Nature may be warning you of approaching dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease. Kidney disease is seldom fatal if treated in time, but neglect may pave the way. Don't neglect a lame or aching back another day. Don't ignore dizzy spells, irregular or discolored urine, headaches, weariness or depression. If you feel you need kidney help begin using the reliable, time-tried remedy, Doan's Pills. For 50 years, Doan's have been found effective. Endorsed by Platts-mouth people. Ask your neighbor!

Theo. Starkjohn, retired farmer, Ninth and Locust streets, Platts-mouth, says: "Doan's Pills have been used in our family for kidney trouble and backache and they have proven to be all that is claimed of them. Whenever my back feels a little lame and my kidneys are not acting as they should, I take Doan's Pills for a few days and they never fail to do me good. Doan's can't be equalled and anyone having kidney trouble should take them for they are reliable." (Statement given on February 23, 1916.)

OVER FOUR YEARS LATER, on May 12, 1920, Mr. Starkjohn added: "The cure I had from Doan's Pills has been a lasting one. I have faith in Doan's and if ever I should need a kidney remedy again, I will use them."
