Best Ever News
Published every once in a while by the makers of Best-Ever Brushes for Thrifty Housekeepers
VOL. I No. 1

A certain lady in our town left her baking one bright morning to answer the door bell. She found an affable young man on the piazza with a smile on his face and a gift brush in his hand that he had just purchased from his company for three cents on the recommendation of his manager who guaranteed it to be a "Sure-Fire Door Opener."

Yielding to the wiles of the affable young man with the ready tongue and smile and the three-cent gift brush, this certain lady purchased a Dry Mop, a Dustless Duster and a Bristle Clothes Brush, for which she paid the sum of Five Dollars and Ninety Cents, receiving as a bonus the three-cent guaranteed door opener while the cake was burning in the oven.

That same day her neighbor, while down town, bought the same identical article from the "Best-Ever" merchant, who happened to be H. M. Soennichsen, at a cash saving of Two Dollars and Sixty-two Cents—after deducting the price of the three cent free (?) brush—and she had them charged to her account.

This illustrates a few of the many Best-Ever brushes and dusters here for your selection, and all are priced at very reasonable prices.
