No Church for Two Weeks.

On account of the extreme cold weather there were no services at the Methodist church in Nehawka last Sunday and we can say it was surely cold enough, on the Sunday before they were unable to hold services on account of the illness of the pastor, who by the way has recovered and is doing nicely now. The members are hoping to be able to continue the regular services with the coming Sunday.

Spend Pleasant Evening.

Messrs. and Mesdames Frank P. Sheldon and Marion Tucker at the Sheldon home on last Monday entertained a number of their friends at an evening at 500, it not being a regular meeting of the 500 club, but a gathering of friends and at which the very attractive game was brought into action as a pastime of the evening. A most pleasant evening was spent, and all declared that the two families were excellent entertainers.

From Wednesday's Daily—
This morning, Z. W. Strader, one of the old time residents of Cass county and a prominent citizen of Nehawka, was going to Omaha, where he is having his right eye treated by a specialist in that city as the result of an injury and infection suffered several weeks ago and which has resulted in the loss of the sight of the one eye. Mr. Strader has been here at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. H. Christwiser, during the last few days while the intense cold weather has prevailed as he has to have frequent treatments of the eye made and the member is getting much better and the infection being controlled although the sight of the eye is completely destroyed. Mr. Strader states, "He is loud in his praise of the treatment that was given him at the Immanuel hospital in Omaha where he was for several days being treated and states that Dr. Owens, the specialist, and the nursing force at the hospital did all that was possible to make his stay there very comfortable and by their skill and careful handling succeeded in keeping the infection in the eye from spreading."

Convenient Kitchen

Many a housekeeper has a backache and tired feeling because the working surfaces of her kitchen are too low. The most comfortable height for all women is not the same. Not every woman knows the height which is correct for her. If permanent changes cannot be made there are numerous substitutes and inexpensive remedies to be suggested in the work given by the State Extension Service in the Convenient Kitchen project and brought to your club by your project leaders. Which of your household duties seems to be most tiring to you? Do you know why? What would be a possible change to make the task easier? The work to be given in the Convenient Kitchen project may include just the plan by which you could make that desired change in your kitchen at little or no cost. If your club is interested in this work please notify the Farm Bureau office at once.

Fighting Graft

Every red blooded farmer is up in arms and ready to fight graft in the high places in our local and national life. It has been said that the country's greatest enemies are those within its gates. The same may be said of any business organization. But in the latter cases the enemies are for the most part carelessness, and out of date practices. Take the farm business for instance. How many of the farm enterprises are marking time? Which ones are riding and which ones are dragging the farm business load? Are any of the livestock grafting on the job and thus stealing the farmer's feed, or are all giving value received? Careful farm records of performance will "spot" the grafters and enable the farmer to cast them out of his business and fill their places with the animals and enterprises that bend every effort to give value received. Enlist in the Farm Account movement.

DEATH OF PETER NORD

From Monday's Daily—
Yesterday morning when the family of Peter Nord, well known farmer of Orapolis, came to his room to awaken him, they were shocked and surprised to find the aged man still in death. Mr. Nord had not been complaining when he retired Saturday night and the family were greatly surprised when it was found that he had passed away, death having apparently come from a sudden attack of heart failure.

Mr. Nord was born in Sweden October 29, 1846, and has made his home in this country for many years, coming here as a young man and locating on the homestead near Orapolis where he passed away. He is survived by the aged wife, two daughters and three sons.

There have been no funeral arrangements completed pending word from two of the sons who reside in California.

LEAVES FROM THE BOOK OF NEBRASKA

Before the Bridge was Built

YEARS after the rails had been pushed from the Missouri to the Pacific, there was no railroad bridge over the river at Plattsmouth. In summer this water gap was crossed by ferry. In winter a temporary bridge was built on piles driven through holes cut in the ice. During the cold weather the ice held the bridge firmly in place, but with the coming of spring, the bridge went out with the ice.

It is said that at one time tracks were laid directly on the ice for the passage of engines urgently needed west of the Missouri.

The early record of Nebraska is one of difficulties overcome. The unchronicled history of many a plain homesteader is a record of unflinching courage in the face of bitter disappointment. In spite of Indians and destroying insect pests, crop failures and blighted hopes, he refused to surrender and lies in an unmarked grave or under a crude headstone—a founder of Nebraska's greatness.

The same qualities explain Nebraska's achievements and progress. Where Nebraska produced 65,000 pounds of creamery butter 32 years ago, today she produces 65,000,000 pounds, and Omaha is the greatest butter-making city in the world. Nebraska's milk cows now number half a million. Within a year or two her dairy herd will be doubled. She can profitably keep millions—and she will.

Industrially, Nebraska gains steadily. One of her great smelting plants produces more pig lead than any other smelter in the world. Her sugar refineries produce 150,000,000 pounds of sugar annually from Nebraska-raised beets.

During her rapid growth Nebraska needed many things. Kerosene for light and cooking, gasoline for automobiles, trucks and tractors, were as necessary as feed for live-stock.

A pioneer in the field, developing a supply service that has kept step with Nebraska's requirements, the Standard Oil Company of Nebraska is the servant of all the people—in town and country. Chartered under Nebraska's laws, directed and operated by Nebraska residents, and doing business in practically no other state, this company is a home institution that shares Nebraska's ups and downs and sticks to its job.
