Save and Be Safe

Sooner or later you will need the money which you are worthlessly spending from time to time.

Worry makes the hair gray, the face wrinkled, the form stooped and the step laggard. A savings account will eliminate worry and keep you young.

You are as young as your faith and as old as your doubt. Save and help raise your own salary.

BIBLE SCHOOL LESSON

January 11, 1925.
By M. S. Briggs

"Real Christian Living"
Golden Text: "In as much as ye did it unto one of these my brethren, even these ye did it unto me."

Lesson Text: "But when the Son of Man shall come in his glory and all the angels with Him, then shall he set on the throne of his glory; And before Him shall be gathered all the nations; and he shall separate them one from the other, as the shepherd separateth the sheep from the goats; and He shall set the sheep on the right hand, but the goats on the left. Then shall the king say unto them on the right hand, Come ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world, for I was hungry and you gave me to eat; I was thirsty and ye gave me drink; I was a stranger and ye took me in; naked and ye clothed me; I was sick and ye visited me, I was in prison and ye came unto me. Then shall the righteous answer him saying, Lord, when saw we thee hungry and fed thee? or athirst and gave thee drink? And when saw we thee a stranger and took thee in? or naked and clothed thee? and when saw we thee sick or in prison and came unto thee? And the king shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these my brethren, even these least, ye did it unto me. Then shall he say unto them on the left hand, Depart from me ye cursed, into the eternal fire which is prepared for you, the devil and his angels; for I was hungry and ye did not give me to eat; I was thirsty and ye gave me no drink; I was a stranger and ye took me not in; naked and ye clothed me not; sick and in prison and ye visited me not. Then shall they also answer, saying, Lord, where saw we thee hungry or athirst, or a stranger, or naked, or sick, or in prison, and did not come to thee? And he shall answer, saying, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did not do these things unto one of these least of these my brethren, even these ye did not do unto me."

prison and did not minister unto thee? Then shall He answer them, saying, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye did it not unto one of the least, ye did it not unto me. And these shall go away eternal punishment; but the righteous into eternal life."—Matt. 25:31-46

Read in this connection, Matthew 25th chapter, Ecclesiastes chapter 12, 13, 14; Matthew chapters 16, 27; Luke 4:16-22. The merest of Oars as will run a place as is in the Holy Land, overlooked the country through which the Jordan river flowed. The city of Jerusalem and the valley of the brook Kidron. On this mountain was Bethany, the home of Lazarus, Martha and Mary. As Jesus with his disciples was approaching Jerusalem arriving at the Mount of Olives, he pronounced the text of this lesson, called by some a parable, but in reality an absolute eternal attitude.

A minister, a circuit rider, as formerly the preacher rode to his pastoral charge on horseback, met a small boy Sunday morning with fish pail and asking him where he was going received the answer: "Goin' fishin'." Do you not know it is wrong to fish on Sunday, which precipitated a discussion and the minister asked: "Is your father a Christian?" Sure things said the lad, but he is not working at it now.

The fact there are many nominal Christians and we wish to be understood to say nominal, for in reality they are not the real sort. For if we understand anything from the lesson for this week we understand that the Christian must work at it or he is not a Christian, for as often as ye do it unto the least of these, my brethren, you are doing it unto me, and when we fail to do it unto the fellow who needs our help we have failed in measuring up to the full stature of a real Christian. This lesson in conjunction with the story of the Good Samaritan enforced the fact that one cannot just be a nominal Christian but must be a real, honest Christian and working at the eternal certitude which separates the true Christian or the sheep of the flock from the goats or the pretenders. It is a judgment which in its effect should make a person an honest Christian for there is no other way that one may obtain eternal life except the belief in Jesus Christ, the Son of God, which literally means that we are called upon to even follow the Master and a doer of the work which he requires. One might have his name on the church books, be a preacher, a superintendent of the Bible school, or a teacher in the Bible school and unless he shall be a doer of the work of the Christ and does the things required, one may do the things required and just for the purpose of escaping condemnation, but not with the spirit of love for the Master and his brother it will avail him nothing. Unless the one who needs our assistance is of our set, we are not called upon to even as much as recognize their need, let alone come to their assistance. Christ taught in his story of the Good Samaritan that the one was our neighbor who had mercy on us. The Samaritan relieved the one robbed and left for dead not because he was a Samaritan, but because he did not would not have done as he did.

The modern priest and Levite should find one along the highway as we go through the country or along the highway of life would step on the gas, leaving the way for the mercy of what ever might come. We say that there is danger of stopping along the highway to offer assistance for it might be a ruse to get one to stop in order that they might rob the one stopping. Granted in many cases it may be true.

So along the highway of life we pass the one by who are needing our assistance, because we are looking for some show of evidence which would allow us to kid ourselves into a belief that we are justified in passing up a just proposition. We are saved for one purpose and that is for service. The farmer saves seed corn that will grow, not just because it looks good, but it must grow, must produce results. So must the real Christian; he must be a worker not just to get under the wire. Just to get under the wire is not enough; we must be a real worker in the vineyard of the Lord.

STORED CLUB FURNISHINGS

From Monday's Daily—
With the closing of the American Legion club rooms pending reopening in the new building the post will erect on its lots on Vine street, the furniture has been stored. The work of removal was directed by Tom Walling, sergeant at arms and chairman of the house committee and the Mc-Maken Transfer line furnished its large truck for hauling the goods to their place of storage. The post will hold monthly general meetings in the M. W. A. hall pending the time it is able to acquire the contemplated home of its own.

The regular monthly meeting on Wednesday night of this week will be made a pots instead of an executive committee meeting and be held at the M. W. A. hall. The architect will be here from Omaha at that time and outline preliminary plans for the new building. Notices are being mailed to all members of this meeting and it is expected there will be a large turnout of the membership.
