A Bank Account is a Pacifying Thing

The experience of those who keep a bank account bears testimony to this statement. No man ever regretted anything about his account in a good bank except that the account was not larger. And when a man has an account at a good bank there is an incentive to make it grow, that he otherwise would not have.

Were Unconscious Undertakers.
There are some people who think that there are a number to many dogs in Murray, and have been giving some of the canines a sleeping potion. Some have never wakened. The youths in Murray are much like everywhere else, and the other night when Mont Shradner and Arruld Mast came town, the boys placed the post motor engine in the rear seat of the auto of these young gentlemen, and when they went home, they were not aware of the third passenger, and drove like Jehu, which is not slow and when one considers the condition of the roads, was not smooth either.

Mont says that if he had known that he was driving a hearse he would have tried to have tamed the Ford down some. However, when they found out that the third passenger was with them he found a scotchuir along the roadside, where his bones will enrich the soil and stop the wash of the ditch.

BIBLE SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday, January 18th

By M. S. Briggs

"The Lord's Supper"
Golden Text: "This is my body given to you. This do in remembrance of me." Luke 22:19.

Following the selling of Joseph by his brothers and his being carried into Egypt, who and his father's house, numbering 76 people, were kept in captivity for 430 years and in which time they increased in number until they numbered approximately 2,400,000, they, the Israelites in a covenant with the great Jehovah were led out of the land of their bondage into the promised land of Canaan. This was approximately fifteen hundred years before Christ had made known to the disciples that he should be crucified for the purpose of celebrating the feast of the Passover, which had been instituted centuries before when the Israelites left Egypt. The disciples well knew when the feast should occur and on Thursday, April 6, A. D. 30, they asked the Master where they should prepare to celebrate the feast which should be on the morrow.

Friday, April 7th, A. D. 30. The day ended with the going down of the sun and the next day beginning following sundown and continuing until the following sundown. Christ, knowing that they would ask this very question was prepared for the occasion and sent John and Peter, two of the disciples, saying: "Go into the city, and as you go, you will see a man carrying a pitcher of water [in those days women generally did that service.] Follow him and into whatsoever house he shall enter, you enter also, and say unto the good man of the house, 'Where is the guest chamber for the Master? He will eat the passover at thy house?'" John and Peter then did as they were bade and made preparations for properly observing this great feast.

As a nation we celebrate with much gladness and thanksgiving the 4th of July each year. We celebrate Thanksgiving day as that was instituted when first the American colonies got a good crop and we still celebrate it each year because the Lord of Hosts gives us each year bountiful crops. We celebrate Christmas as the birthday of the Master, who came as the savior of the world. When one of our neighbors moves to Washington, South Dakota, Montana or California, he gather at their home or a neighbor's and give them a formal reception or party telling how sorry we are that they are leaving and wishing them prosperity and all things good in their new home. All these we consider great days, but into this last supper was crowded all the sacred memories in all the days mentioned above—the sacred and momentous event was the celebrating of the feast which commemorated the liberation of the 2,400,000 Israelites who were led out of Egypt, and at the same time instituting a far more momentous feast, "The Lord's Supper," which marks the liberation of the human race from sin.

When all things were now ready, Jesus came with the twelve, and when the supper was ready they sat down, and taking the bread He broke it and giving a portion to each of the disciples, said: "Take! Eat! This is my body which is broken for you," for this day was He to be crucified. [The day continuing until sundown whereas the new day had only come into being at the time with the passing of sundown at the end of the preceding day.] He was giving His life; verily His body for humanity for "He was, and is and is to forever the Bread of Life."

Likewise, he poured out the wine, the blood of the grape, saying: "Drink ye all from this, it is my blood which is shed for you, for the remission of sins." As they reclined about the table, Jesus said: "Verily, which is truly one of you shall betray me." In most cases the disciples were amazed and asked, "It is I?" and among them Judas Iscariot also said, "Lord, it is I?" The Master answered, "Thou hast said." Which meant, "Yes, it is you."

Then Peter who was on the other side of the table motioned to John, who was resting at the side of Jesus, saying, "Ask the Lord who it is." When John had asked, Christ said, "It is he whom when I have dipped the bread in the gravy, I shall give it." Then he gave it to Judas Iscariot and looking the betrayer in the eyes said, "What thou do, do it quickly." Judas went out, it being then night.

Supper being ended Jesus arose and taking a basin of water and a towel and laying aside his outer garments, proceeded to wash the disciples' feet. They wore sandals, the strap binding them on the sand and the dust had chapped them and to wash one's feet produced a grateful sensation, for it relieved the smarting and gave a sense of rest. When Jesus came to Peter, this disciple, different from the others, said, "You shall not wash my feet," as he felt that it was not the thing for the Son of God to wash his feet. But Jesus said, "Unless I wash your feet—this is cleanse you—you can have no part in me."

Peter then said, "Not my feet alone, but my entire body." Jesus replied, "It is only necessary to wash your feet and you will be clean; but of you will not be clean." [Having reference to Judas Iscariot.] The Lord said unto Peter, "Simon, behold, Satan has desired to have thee, that he may sift thee as wheat. But I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not; and when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren."

Peter, feeling that he was strong,

SUBMARINE CAUGHT AND HELD ON REEF

Finally Boarded By Men of Coast Guard Station—Crew Comfortable and in No Danger.

Chatham, Mass., Jan. 13.—The stranded United States submarine, S-19, was boarded shortly before 9 o'clock by Capt. Abbott H. Walker and his crew from the Nauset coast guard station. The reported that the forty men on the submarine were comfortable and could pass the night there in safety. The vessel had settled seven feet into the sand of the outer bar to Orleans harbor, which she struck early this morning. Her plates have held firm, however, and with the slowly diminishing surf it is believed her condition will not change before morning.

The men of the Nauset station early in the day launched a boat and fought their way out through the surf to within a hundred feet of the distressed craft before the waves capped them. They regained the shore and tried again. All of the coast guardsmen made their way to shore. Failing to rescue the submarine's crew in this manner, repeated unsuccessful attempts were made to shoot a line across her. The tide was full early this evening. When it has dropped to dead low the combined crews of the Cahun Hollow and Nauset stations will make another attempt to reach the S-19. Those leading the rescue work see no possibility of drawing off the submarine before tomorrow. The surf was still running high, although the wind was favorable, of about 25 miles velocity, from the southwest.

There have been no signs of the vessel breaking up, and the danger of its crew was apparently no greater tonight than when it piled up on the shore. The S-19 is a first line submarine built in 1921 at a cost of $4,000,000 and carrying 35 men and five officers under the command of Lieut. C. F. Martin. The submarine left the Portsmouth navy yard yesterday after an overhauling. She was bound for the New London, Conn., base.

The Siemens group, together with the Allgemeine Elektrizität Gesellschaft is said to occupy a position similar to the General Electric and Westinghouse Electric companies in the United States.

Mrs. C. A. Rosencrans was among the visitors in Omaha today for a short time, going to that city on the early Burlington train.
