LAND PRICES HIGHER

THRU PLATTE COUNTY

Columbus, Neb., March 4.—More land has been sold in Platte county in the last six or eight months for March 1 transfer than was sold in the entire three years prior to that time, real estate and farm loan men here declare. Prices are up from 10 to 20 per cent as compared to the level of two years ago.

A top price of $25 an acre for improved farm land was recorded up to this week when Arnold Lippard sold forty acres in the Gravelly neighborhood northwest of Duncan to J. E. Kummer at that figure.

Another of the week's transfers recorded the sale of 120 acres of improved land six miles north of Columbus at $21.50. Dr. Clara Asplund sold to Don Pike. The purchaser at once began the expenditure of an additional $8,000 in erecting buildings on the place.

Half a dozen or more other sales of improved farms in this vicinity at prices of ranging from $200 to $225 per acre have also been included in the first of March transfers.

PHILATHEA CLASS MEETS

From Friday's Daily—
The members of the Philathea class of the Methodist Sunday school enjoyed a very pleasant meeting last evening at the hospitable home of Mrs. W. C. Sebans on Elm street, who was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. General Holcomb.

The business session of the class was presided over by Mrs. William Heinrich, president of the class, and many matters of importance were brought up and discussed by the ladies, chief among which was the changing of the meeting date from Thursday to the third Tuesday of each month and on which date the gatherings will be held in the future.

After the close of the business session a short social time was enjoyed and dainty refreshments served by the hostesses to add to the enjoyment of the evening.

The ladies decided to hold a box supper in the near future for the benefit of the young men of the church.

The home was very attractively arranged in the St. Patrick's colonnade and this note was also carried out in the refreshments. In the contests, Mrs. Davis was awarded the prize of the evening.

This class now has 86 members present and is fast growing in size with the goal of the membership fixed at 100.

Miss Leone Becker, who is teaching at Carlton, Nebraska, and Miss Verla Becker, who is attending the state university at Lincoln, came in last evening for a week end visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Becker and the other relatives and friends.

PLATTSMOUTH IS ELIMINATED FROM TOURNEY

Benson Five Defeats Blue and White Gagesets in First Round of District Meet, 15 to 10.

Omaha, March 6.—(Special to The Journal)—The Plattsmouth High school basketball eageters were eliminated from the district tournament here tonight in the first round of play by Benson High school, the score being 15 to 10.

The Benson five presented a hard, aggressive attack all through the game, while Plattsmouth played very erratic ball the first half, not seeming to be able to keep their hands on the ball. Benson and Hartford were way off form although Hartford recovered somewhat in the second half, securing a field goal.

Plattsmouth outplayed the Benson five the second half and could they have made half their free throws would have won out in spite of their poor luck at the basket.

Buttery had about the only speaking acquaintance with the hoop, sagging three long field goals, while Hebel played a good floor game. Norquist's floor work featured for the Omahans.

The score at the half was 11 to 4 for Benson.

FINDS HISTORIC PAPER AT CHADRON

Dig-Up Copy of the Galenaian Published in Illinois Nearly Century Ago.

Chadron, Neb., March 5.—A copy of a historical paper, the Galenaian, published in territorial Illinois nearly two years ago was uncovered at the home of Mrs. Campbell at Chadron.

The context of the paper was devoted chiefly to a recitation of the titles of an important treaty concluded with the Shaw and Fox Indians living east of the Missouri river. The treaty is a confirmation of peace to a badly distracted frontier and ceded a vast stretch of the land for 500 miles north of the boundary of Missouri to the government.

For the land the United States was to give $20,000 annually for thirty years. As additional payments the Indians were given 6,000 bushels of corn, fifty barrels of pork, fifty barrels of flour, thirty barrels of salt, and thirty beavers.

The paper is eight by twelve inches three columns wide and printed on white paper. It is dated August 13, 1822, under the name, "Galenaian," printed at Galena, Illinois territory.

Many of the advertisements are of deserters of the army upon which a reward ranging between $15 and $45 has been placed. An offer of $125 for the return of a runaway slave to Daniel Russell at St. Louis is the largest reward named in the paper.

A grocer, located at St. Louis, advertised that he "Kept Constantly on Hand a Liberal and Well Selected Assortment of Groceries, Wines, Liquors, Iron, Steel, Nails, Flour, Salt, etc." A merchant tailor advertises for two boys of "good morals" to become apprentices to the trade.

The copy of the Galenaian is highly prized by Mr. Campbell, and is considered by those familiar with old publications to have considerable value. Mr. Campbell expects to send the copy to the state historical society of Illinois for its archives.

COURTESY AND FORBEARANCE.

"No service," however adequate from a mechanical or technical standpoint, can be acceptable and satisfactory to the public unless the relations between the public and the utility are such that there is courtesy and forbearance on one hand and confidence and forbearance on the other.

Most utilities are corporations and most of them have a monopoly in their territory. The public, because of an indiscriminate damning of corporations and monopolies generally by a certain type of public speaker, and a particular species of periodical, have come to look askance upon any organization to which these two terms can be applied. It is yours to remove this false impression; to show by practical demonstration that a properly regulated monopoly is the ideal situation in the utility field and that a corporation can be as courteous and as conciliatory as an individual.

Friendly relations between the public and the utilities are for these reasons as greatly to be desired as the giving of superlative service, and the administration of its duties can aid in the slightest toward bringing about such proper public relations.

TREASURY TO ISSUE NEW LONG TERM BONDS

Washington, D. C., March 4.—The treasury again has turned to a long term bond issue to tide it over the next three months and to aid in spreading out short time maturities. Announcement was made tonight that an additional issue of twenty-thirty-year 4 per cent bonds, together with an offering of nine-month treasury certificates of indebtedness, bearing 3 per cent interest, would constitute the March 15 quarterly fiscal operation.

The long term certificates are the same as those sold last December 15 and will bear that date, maturing therefore in 1954. These securities are offered at 100 1/2 and accrued interest from December 15, making the sale price the equivalent to par value if the bonds bore date of sale, March 16.

The certificates are dated March 16 and will bear interest to December 15, the last taxpaying date of the calendar year. Additional financing will be necessary then.
