CITY TO ENTERTAIN VISITORS ON WEDNESDAY

Dinner to be Given For Col. Kinney and Staff By Plattsmouth People.

What is believed will be one of the most enjoyable gatherings ever held in this city is planned for next Wednesday evening at 6:30 at the parlors of the First Presbyterian church when the men of the community will entertain the officers of the Seventeenth Infantry, which is to be camped here on that date.

The gathering is to be strictly for the men of the community and there will be sixty places arranged for the local people which may be secured for the small price of one smack each, this being necessary to defray the expense of the entertainment. The men who come through first have the chance to secure these tickets and reservations can be made at the Morgan Sweet Shop and Westcott's store up to 6 o'clock Monday evening, as it is necessary to make a report to the ladies as to the number of plates that will be required.

The chamber of commerce has a special committee on hand for the job of arranging a snappy program that will be highly entertaining. There will be no long-winded addresses, everything will be snappy and to the point and best of all a fine musical program will be given that will be a knockout. Special stunts are being worked out that will add to the fun, in fact some of the talent is going to be a real surprise if the plans carry out.

Those who wish to go, and there is hardly a man in the city who will not wish to be present, should get in under the wire early and rest assured of a knockout of a feed and two hours of real snappy entertainment.

The city is pleased to have the soldiers here and while it is impossible to entertain all the boys, the community will give this dinner to the staff, at least.

CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS HOLD CARD PARTY LAST NITE

Large Number of Tables and Much Interest Taken in Results of Bridge and High Five.

From Saturday's Daily—
Last evening the card party given at the Knights of Columbus hall proved a real success both socially and financially and the members of the large party found a great deal of enjoyment in the pastimes of bridge and high five.

The hall was arranged attractively in the decorations of the spring and that made a pretty setting for the occasion and the committee in charge, composed of Miss Mae Murphy, chairman, Mrs. F. M. Bestor, Mrs. F. G. Egenberger, Miss Minnie Guthmann, Mrs. A. G. Bach, Mrs. W. A. Swatek and Misses Anna and Josephine Rys, saw that all of the attendants had a most enjoyable time.

There were seventeen tables of bridge and eight of high five in operation and the utmost enjoyment was had by all of the participants in the evening's pleasure.

The prizes were offered by the local merchants and the winners in the bridge contests were: Mrs. J. A. Donelan, first, aluminum pen; John V. Hatt, second, doreen; Mrs. John Hatt, third, pound of coffee; Paul Lempe, fourth, movie ticket; Dr. J. A. Griffin, fifth, movie ticket; Miss Elizabeth Bergman, sixth, movie ticket.

The high five prizes were Mrs. Clark, first, 25 pound sack of flour; Mrs. Bals Meisinger, second, jar of olives; Mrs. P. A. Welch, third, can of pears; Dr. H. C. Leopold, fourth, movie ticket.

During the evening the committee served dainty refreshments that added to the pleasures of the evening.

THE PATHO-NEUROMETER

From Saturday's Daily—
Dr. Joe J. Stibal, local Chiropractor, has just installed one of the latest and most scientific instruments known to the healing profession. Owing to the cost of the instrument, the few doctors operating one generally charge an additional fee, but Dr. Stibal is not going to charge for its services providing a prospective patient takes a regular course of adjustments.

The theory of the instrument is that every live nerve or cell tissue conducts energy or electricity, a diseased or pinched nerve does not, or very little, therefore, when the current is turned on a weak nerve, it will immediately take more electricity and register the degrees on the dial, while if it was normal it would already have the current and will not conduct it. Diseased areas can be detected on any part of the body with accuracy. This instrument will direct Dr. Stibal unerringly to the performance of ever more proficient work than heretofore, which has been very satisfactory in this locality.

NEW POWER IS USED BY STATE RAILWAY COM.

First Application of Amended Statute Results in Boosting Percentage.

From Thursday's Daily—
The railway commission Wednesday made its first use of the power conferred upon it by the 1923 legislature of the right to fix the compensation of telephone companies for toll terminal service. Prior to that time the law provided that companies should be paid by the toll companies 15 per cent on outgoing messages and 10 per cent on incoming messages as commission for handling them. The new law made these percentages the minimum, and provided that they might be increased by agreement or by submission to the commission.

The Comstock Independent Telephone company was the complainant. It handles toll messages in Comstock for the Crownover company, which owns a nine mile toll line running from Sarge to Comstock. Connection is made by Comstock a mile from its exchange. Messages between the two towns form the bulk of business, and as the flat rate is ten cents, the old commissions give the Comstock company but a cent and a half on outgoing and a cent on incoming messages. Asserting that this was inadequate compensation for all that was done, the Comstock company asked for 40 per cent on outgoing and 10 per cent on incoming calls.

The commission increases the outgoing percentage to 25, and dates the effective time of the order back to March 1, 1924. It says that the cost study presented is not satisfactory, but that the Comstock company is manifestly entitled to receive a large revenue. The company is satisfied with its arrangement with the Bell on the old percentages because of the longer average haul of messages, but it would be necessary to have common ownership of all lines in order to justify the argument that what it loses on short hauls it makes up in long ones. Under the circumstances it will order the increase stated.

SEEKS PART OF HIS ESTATE

Youth Did Not Learn Until He Reached Manhood the Full Facts About His Parents.

From Thursday's Daily—
H. G. Hayes, who insists that his real name is George Howard Gauger, has appealed to the supreme court from a judgment of the district court of Frontier county that he is not the son of Louis Gauger and, therefore, not entitled to share in his estate.

Louis Gauger, it is admitted by both sides, was married in Grand Island, where he was then clerking in a store, on September 6, 1893, to Mary Zimmerman. The claimant was born six months after the marriage. When Louis Gauger proudly told his friends that he was the father of a boy, some of them pointed out to him the impossibility of it being the fruit of his marriage.

According to testimony cited in the documents filed by the representatives of the estate, Gauger became greatly excited and procuring a revolver told his wife that he would kill her if she did not tell him who was the father of the child; that she told him it was Charles Hageman, who had been in charge of a Union Pacific hotel in Ogden and for whom she had been working, and that on Gauger's demand the child was handed over to the Nebraska children's home society. He forgave everything and a family of children were reared.

The society found a home for the baby in a family named Hayes, who reared him. After his father's death but before the estate was wound up Hayes discovered the facts of his life, and this was the first information that the children of Gauger had of the existence of the young man.

In a brief just filed on behalf of the estate and in opposition to the claim a great deal of testimony is cited by attorneys to prove that as
