GASOLINE PRICE IS CUT AT OMAHA

Hope Glimmers for Cheap Product When Standard Oil of Nebraska Drops 2 Cents.

Omaha, June 11.—Motorists saw a glimmer of hope for cheap gasoline such as enjoyed last spring and summer when the Standard Oil company of Nebraska, on the heels of a 2-cent raise but a few days ago, tonight cut to meet "competitive prices," bringing the price at Standard stations down to 20 1/2 cents per gallon. The price has been 22 1/2 cents.

A. H. Richardson, president of the Standard of Nebraska, said: "We are tonight reducing our service station prices of gasoline to 20 1/2 cents per gallon, including the 2-cent road tax. There is no reduction just now in our tank wagon price, which remains at 20 1/2 cents per gallon. The service station reduction is effective only in Omaha. It is made to meet competitive prices here."

H. H. Michel, proprietor of three "cut rate" gas stations, said tonight that an official of another gasoline station advised him tonight "not to buck the trust—you are too little and the trust is going to keep reducing prices until they force you out of business."

John Hopkins, city commissioner, who waded into the gas war of last year with a "cut rate" station, indicated he may again take up the bludgeon of cheap gas if he finds by communication with refiners that more than a legitimate profit is being made by filling station operators here.

HOME BREW FLOWS FREELY IN PORTO RICO
"There is little difference between the United States and Porto Rico in regard to the liquor problem," according to Ira K. Wells, recently appointed United States district judge of Porto Rico, who is visiting United States District Attorney J. C. Kinsler here. "Molasses is very cheap in Porto Rico and everyone makes their home brew in large quantities, but in spite of this I never saw a native of the island in a drunken condition. It is the American visitor that causes most of the trouble."

Mr. Wells is touring the country visiting United States district attorneys before he returns to his post. He was a former assistant United States attorney general and lived at Seaboard, Kan., until he was sent to Porto Rico 19 years ago.

MRS. B. F. BRENDEL IS LAID TO HER LAST REST

Services at the Christian Church at Murray Yesterday Very Largely Attended by Friends.

The funeral of the late Mrs. B. F. Brendel was held from the Christian church in Murray on Thursday afternoon, the Rev. W. E. Golins, pastor of the church, officiating. There were a profusion of flowers attesting to the high regard in which Mrs. Brendel was held by her neighbors and friends. Mrs. Brendel had been a patient sufferer and without a complaint, she had ever been patient, and with a firm faith in her Creator she had steadfastly looked to the time when she was to meet with the husband who had preceded her less than two years. Everything possible was done for Mrs. Brendel which the loving hands of her children and friends could do. The life of this excellent woman has been a benediction and a blessing to all who knew her. The husband and wife were ever working together for the good of the family, the church and the community in which they lived. While their loss will be keenly felt in this community, their lives here have been for the betterment of all who have known them. In every way the influence of this excellent woman has bettered the family, the friends and acquaintances and the church in all its departments and has felt her great character, while they have been deprived of the personal help, they have her administering and working together as a sustaining power in the trials which came to the church and as she was always patient under trying circumstances, all who knew her must learn to wait with the same patient trust. Large numbers of friends from over the country were present and attested by their coming their honor for her.

The discourse which was delivered by the Rev. Golins was full of pathos and of the kindly deeds of this excellent member.

The interment was made at the cemetery south of Plattsmouth where she will repose beside the husband until the resurrection morn when with the sounding of the trumpet of the Angel of the Resurrection, the bereaved shall be quickened to that life forevermore and to service and praise of the Father in the eternal home of the blessed.

RAIL TRAFFIC IMPROVING
The traffic in the freight department of the Burlington has shown a very pleasing increase in the last few weeks and the number of the large and heavily loaded trains passing through on the main line here is increasing every day and bringing on more work for the local yard force that has the job of assisting many of the large trains up the grade from Pacific Junction to this city. The increase in the volume of business has been very rapid and has brought to all lines of the railroad work a great stimulation that had been lacking for several months.

PLEASANT BOOSTER TRIP
From Thursday's Daily—
Three cars bearing American Legion Drum and Bugle corps members went out last night on a little advertising trip on behalf of the Isler carnival shows that will appear here next week under auspices of this organization, that took them to Louisville and Weeping Water. At both towns, the drum corps paraded and played a number of their beats that were so successful in stirring up things for Plattsmouth at the Falls City convention last month, while the advertising committee looked after putting out the one-sheets and hand bills.
If weather conditions are favorable, another trip will be made Friday night that will take them to Murray, Union, Nehawka and possibly Nebraska City.
