Joe Stecher Wins Match From Dusek. Two Nebraskans Grapple for One Hour and Twenty Three Minutes for First Fall.

From Wednesday's Daily.—Two Nebraskans, Joe Stecher, of Dodge, world's champion heavy-weight wrestler, and Rudy Dusek, contender for the championship honors, gave a real exhibition of the mat sport at Little Rock, Arkansas, Monday night and which resulted in one fall being secured by Stecher and the injury of Dusek that prevented the completion of the match.

The first fall came after an hour and twenty-three minutes of wrestling where both men were on their feet and their favorite holds to no success and it was not until the battle had gone for almost the hour and a half that Joe Stecher planted a body scissor on Dusek that won him the fall and so badly sprained the back of Dusek that it was necessary to remove him from the mat to the condition of the former Omaha.

The match has been watched with the greatest interest in this section as both wrestlers are Nebraska boys and Dusek by a long string of victories, numbering some 197 straight mat wins, has won the respect of the south and southwest, has earned for himself a national reputation that secured a match with the world's title holder.

Dusek is a brother of Anton Hason of this city, who was at Little Rock to witness the match with Stecher and to witness the fast and furious work of the brother who has pinned so many of the best heavyweights to the mat.

BIBLE SCHOOL LESSON

July 5, 1925.

By M. S. Briggs

Beginning of Foreign Missions

Golden Text: "And He said unto them, Go ye unto all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation." Mark 16:15.

The church at Antioch was the result of the persecution of the early Christians at Jerusalem. They who were driven out of Jerusalem were scattered everywhere. Many Jews went to Antioch where they preached and worked with Jews while others who were not Jews worked with any and everyone, where they could, telling the story of the Christ and upon the work of all was a wonderful church established. The people members of this church, had a mind to work. They had an astounding faith which was attested by their works. They prayed with a faith that would move mountains.

After Barnabas and Paul had worked for a year with the church at Antioch the church had become a young giant in the work of the Master and his cause. There were great men in the faith and workers for the cause in the church among whom were Barnabas and Symeon, who was called Niger and Lucius of Cyrene and Manean, the foster brother of Herod the Tetrarch, the governor, and Saul. All great men. As they in the course of their work ministered before the Lord and fasted the Holy Spirit said, Separate me, Barnabas and Saul for the work wherunto I have called them. Then when they had fasted and prayed and layed their hands on them, they sent them away. So they being sent out by Holy Spirit went down to Solunicia and there sailed to Cyprus. The elders of the church at Antioch accompanied them, and with them ministers and missionaries, sending them to a foreign field for them, in accordance with the command of the Master as He was departing for heaven at the time of his ascension, who said, "Go ye unto all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." They, in accordance with this command, were willing to go carrying the glad tidings that had been purchased by the Christ, the Master, for all the world. If the world was to be saved someone must take the message to the world. Hence, the spirit of the missions. They went to Cyprus, the former home of Barnabas and arrived at Salamis, where they found a synagogue of the Jews and they preached therein. This was their custom. They also had John mark with them who helped Barnabas here they made a town, preaching whenever opportunity afforded until they had traveled the entire length of the island. They came to Paphos which is at the extreme west end of the island. Here they found a man, Bar-Jesus, who was a fortune teller, and a false prophet. This man relied upon the ignorance of the people and worked upon their superstitions. This man was with the provincial Sigtus Paulus, a man of great understanding. But Bar-Jesus sought to prevent Paul and Barnabas from coming into contact with the governor that he might still hold his sway over him. When Elynius for this was his name, persisted in working to prevent the governor of the island, Paul turned on him and said, "O full of all vanity and willful son of the devil. Thou enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to prevent the right way of the Lord? and now behold, the hand of the Lord is upon thee, and thou shalt be blind, not seeing the sun for a season." And immediately there fell on him a mist and a darkness; and he went about seeking someone to lead him by the hand. Then the proconsul when he saw what was done, believed, being astonished at the teaching of the Lord.

Paul and Barnabas as we learned in the lesson of some weeks ago, had gone to Jerusalem, taking the offering of the Antioch church at Jerusalem for a famine was there and the members of the Antioch church were pleased to relieve those in need while they were at Jerusalem. James had been beheaded and Peter had been shut up in prison and mayhap were at the prayer meeting when Peter had been delivered from prison when after their mission had been completed they had returned to Antioch. John Mark, the young man who contributed so much to the world when he wrote the second gospel. So when Barnabas and Paul started out on their missionary journey they had with them this apostle who had been with the Master while he was on earth and had seen the many wonders which He had wrought. This was a great asset to the two missionaries, for John Mark was able to tell the things which he had seen with his own eyes. How the Christ had blessed the five barley loaves and the two small fishes; how He had walked on the sea of Galilee; had healed the leper and even raised the dead. Mark testified the things which he had seen with his own eyes. With these three devoted workers there was an opportunity to do real service for the Master. Throughout all the hundred miles of the island which they traveled they taught and preached telling the story of the risen Christ. How He had come from heaven in the form of a babe, grew to manhood and suffered in every way as most men do; how He had stilled the tempest; had cast out devils; brought the dead back to life; and after had been crucified; had ascended to heaven and at the right hand of God makes intercessions for us there, proving that He is the veritable Son of God, the Savior of the whole world for He said unto Martha, I am the resurrection and the life and whosoever believeth on me, though he were dead, yet shall he live and whosoever liveth and believeth on me shall never die." Then did the people of the island who heard believe and accepted the salvation which the Christ had offered and were added to the church, thus the first missionary tour was a most profitable one and the churches which were established were a portion of the work required for the evangelization of the world. Nearly two thousand years have now passed and still there are many to whom the message has not yet come. The question comes to us, could the world be evangelized during the present generation.

God has placed in our hands the message to the world and told in a forceful and convincing way to all the world they must accept it and believe to that extent that all the world must follow the Christ. Do those who have accepted the salvation of the Master realize the price He paid for their redemption and are they willing to carry the message to the world telling what wonderful things the Lord has done for them, when we can see that the way to pay for our own salvation is to bring someone to the Master, then the world will begin to see the dawn of a new era in which "the swords shall be beaten into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks, then the people will make war no more and there will be nothing to molest or make afraid in all the holy mountains of the Lord and the gospel will have been preached to all the world.

WHITE HOUSE WILL BE REDECORATED

Washington, June 28.—Painters, decorators and mechanics will take over the White House tomorrow and give it the greatest renovation it has had since the days of Roosevelt. Lieut. Col. C. O. Sherill, director of public buildings, who has charge of the upkeep of the mansion, announced today that a committee of nine leading artists and architects are already at work to secure the furniture and hangings to be placed in the green room, the first of the public parlors to be so treated.

Robert W. De Forest, head of the metropolitan museum of art, New York, William Adam DeLong of Long Island and other artists of note are working without compensation in aiding the effort to transform the White House interior to the "early American period" decreed by congress. According to present plans furniture in use in America's leading homes in 1800, when the White House was built, will be utilized.

SAYS LABORERS ARE SCARCE

Common labor is hard to secure at this time has been shown by the efforts put forth by Searl S. Davis to secure men to work on the construction of the new wagon and auto bridge over the Platte river. Mr. Davis had a request from the construction company to hire several men last night, paying at a rate of 35c an hour to the laborers on the construction work. Mr. Davis visited a number of places over the city to try and secure the number of men needed in the work and found but very few who were willing to take up the jobs, most of them thinking the rate of pay too low. After some effort he was able to secure the men needed and who are today engaged in work on the new bridge and at the rate of pay set by the construction company.
