EPISCOPAL CHURCH TO HOLD CONFERENCE THIS SUMMER

Young People of the Church to Have Chance For Expression in the Forthcoming Conference.

From Saturday's Daily— The eager and enquiring youth of the Episcopal church are to have an opportunity to express themselves at a conference which is announced to meet at the national conference center, Taylor Hall, Racine, Wisconsin, August 27-30.

March 18 and 19 last a conference was held between committees representing the youth movement and the national officials of the church, out of which came an agreement that the young people's societies should organize nationally by establishing, for the time being, an annual conference and a commission, the latter to be composed of representatives of the societies and of the national church organization.

Representatives of the young people from nearly every diocese and district of the church will attend, and they will be addressed by church speakers of national prominence. But the chief object will be to give the young people an opportunity to voice their views and desires, to outline how and in what manner they wish to serve, to frame their own plan of organization and draw up their own programs for discussion and action; and further, to provide means for future representation in the councils of the church.

The committee was composed of Miss Mary B. Conway of Vicksburg, Miss Dorothy Means of Minneapolis; Walter J. L. Ray of Detroit, and Linden H. Morehouse of Milwaukee. Mr. Morehouse is chairman of the committee which is arranging for the Racine conference.

Lewis B. Franklin, vice president council, who will attend the forthcoming conference, said today: "Beyond question, the youth movement is one of the most important factors which organized religion has to deal with today. It is representative of the growing and inquiring thousands of young people in a restless age, who will be the leaders of religious thought in the years just ahead. Naturally, they not only want to know what the church with which they are asked to identify themselves stands for, but they seek a voice in its councils. Personally, I have no objection to the youth movement, but I believe that the church should not let itself be divided by the youth of today which sets them aside as frivolous, irreligious, worldly and the anomaly among all the ages. The fact that our young people are seeking an opportunity to serve the church is a sufficient refutation of this. They may have advanced views, but this is an advanced age. One of the things this conference aims at is to give them an opportunity to give full expression to these views. Under sane leadership, great good will undoubtedly come out of it."

ELMWOOD AND VINIITY HAS STORM

Wind Was Very Severe Followed by Heavy Rain; Hail Did Great Damage in Certain Sections.

Saturday evening this community was visited with a severe wind storm that caused one to wonder what was coming. Limbs were torn from trees and in places large trees were blown down.

The hail that came with this storm was terrific, however, very little hail fell in Elmwood, the damage was north and east of us where many farmers had their crops entirely hulled out. The strip of territory that was covered was about seven miles wide and extended a good many miles. It is thought that it commenced in the vicinity of South Bend and travelers say that effects of the storm following this path was seen as far south as Brock, Neb. Gus Wendt in the Murdock neighborhood had a large loss as he had a small acreage. Many were injured to a small extent. At the Fred Weisheit place the storm seemed to assume a regular twister and many large trees were blown down. Fred's crops were entirely beaten out, also the corn on the John Brown farm was entirely destroyed. Damage was done to crops on the farms east of town and as near as Henry Hayes place. Farmers further west suffered greater loss to their crops. Some of the farmers had insurance but many did not and it will mean a great loss to them. A visit to the farms that were hit here, will give an idea of the terrific force of the storm. Many fields are completely bare the only evidence that any corn had been there is the fact that the stubs of the stalks are sticking up here and there.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

FORMER CASS COUNTY MAN DIES IN OKLAHOMA HOME

Mrs. Charles Lau and Mrs. H. E. Pankonin received word on Saturday, June 29, of the passing of their brother, Henry Gabel, at his home in Broken Arrow, Oklahoma, after an extended illness following a paralytic stroke he suffered about a year ago. He never regained his health since that time and while his relatives and friends here had not been advised of any immediate change in his condition, the message did not come as a great surprise.

Mr. Gabel was the second son of the late Charles Gabel, one of the early pioneers of Cass county. He was born in Watertown, Wisconsin, and came to Nebraska with his parents in his early boyhood. He was united in marriage to Miss Minnie Lau, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Lau, another pioneer family and during their residence here they owned the farm now owned by Henry Sals, south of town.

They later moved to Oklahoma and from there to the state of Washington, returning later to Oklahoma. Besides his wife, Mr. Gabel leaves one daughter, Martha, residing at home. Burial was in the cemetery at Broken Arrow and none of the relatives in this vicinity found it possible to attend. Besides his two sisters here, he leaves a number of nieces and nephews in this vicinity and other relatives.—Louisville Courier.

KILL BANDIT PAIR IN BANK ROBBERY

Marshal Shoots Both Robbers Trying to Flee with Funds Forced from Cashier of Bank

Tacoma, Wash., July 1.—Two bandits were shot and killed at Buckley, twenty-five miles east of here, today, during an attempted robbery of the Buckley bank, the sheriff's office here reported.

The bandits were slain by Marshal Ed Nelson. William Rose, a cigar merchant of Buckley, was shot thru the abdomen and is said to be in a critical condition. T. Hagen, a painter, was grazed with a bullet.

The pair of bandits entered the bank, one covering the president, C. O. Sternberg, with a gun, while W. E. Evans, the only customer in the bank, was covered by the other. President Sternberg was forced by the man covering him to enter a cage where the money was on a counter. The robbers also covered A. E. Hovey, cashier, and forced him to deliver about $2,000 in silver. The cashier, however, managed to turn in an alarm with his foot.

As the bandits rushed from the bank to a waiting automobile they were greeted by a shower of bullets from the guns of citizens.

One man was shot thru the head by Marshal Nelson as he was on the running board. The other bandit drove away, pursued by W. F. Jones and Fred Hayden. The robber shot the windshield from the pursuing car, and then turned back and faced the armed citizens and drove up to the point where his dead companion lay. He ordered the car, at the point of his gun, to place the body of his companion in his car. Before anyone could move to obey, Marshal Nelson shot him twice and he died in a few minutes.

DOCTOR TO SERVE TIME; CONTRIBUTED TO GIRL'S DEATH

Girl Made Dying Declaration Telling That He Had Performed Illegal Operation on Her Person.

The conviction and five year prison sentence drawn by Dr. Fred A. Edwards of Omaha, were affirmed by the supreme court Wednesday. Edwards was accused by Lillian Holman of performing an illegal operation upon her. The girl died shortly after she had made this declaration, and its introduction in evidence was bitterly opposed by his attorneys. Judge Dean, author of the opinion, said that it was properly given to the jury and that its weight and credibility were for the jurors to determine. It was a statement made at a time when every motive for falsehood is silenced and the mind induced by the most powerful considerations to tell the truth.

Judge Dean said that in homicide cases the rule has long prevailed that the strict rules which are ordinarily applicable to the admission in evidence of the spoken word do not always apply with the same strictness in dying declaration. The law looks to the substance rather than to the form and does not require that these declarations be made in any prescribed form. He says that the evidence justifies the finding that Mrs. Childs' home, where the girl died, was almost solely maintained for such operations.

There was nothing mid-Victorian about the incidents leading up to the tragedy. The Holman girl lived with three others in an apartment house. One evening she and two of the girls piled into a coupe with three boys. They took a ride, also a few drinks and then the girl's companion, a youth named Hazen described as a ball player, went with her to her room. She said that when her condition became known he advised her to go to Dr. Mathews, which is the name of another Omaha doctor sentenced some time ago for similar practices but she refused. Then Edwards was consulted.—State Journal.

SPRING WHEAT BIG MARKET FEATURE

New York, July 3.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Three features deserve note as to business world enters the vacation season. These are the fairly active buying of seasonal goods at retail; the cheerful mood in the most industries, which despite seasonal quieting, find themselves in better shape as regards operations than a year ago, and the very decided turn for the better in late planted crops, especially spring wheat and corn which have been favored in big surplus regions by plenty of moisture and good growing weather. To this latter grouping might be added the father better than expected showing made by the cotton crop, as shown by the government crop report.

LA FOLLETTE FOLLOWERS CONFER OVER CANDIDATE

Madison, Wis., July 1.—The meeting of La Follette followers conferring at Oshkosh today on plans to select a successor to the late senator, tonight announced a decision to call a state convention, instead of naming a candidate for themselves. Former Governor Francis McGovern of Milwaukee, and Roy P. Wilcox, of Eau Claire, president of the Wisconsin bar association, are the announced candidates. Mr. Wilcox was active in behalf of the Coolidge republican elector on the ticket last fall.

BAPTISTS FACE MODERN WAR IN CONVENTION

Portland Delegate Presents Resolution That Missionaries not in Accord Be Recalled.

Seattle, Wash., July 1.—Despite pleas for peace within the church by all the speakers on the preliminary program yesterday, the issue of fundamentalism versus modernism was tonight squarely before the 2,000 delegates to the 19th annual meeting of the Northern Baptist church convention.

Dr. W. B. Hinson of Portland, Ore., raised the issue today with presentation of a resolution that all missionaries whose beliefs do not accord with historic Baptist canons be recalled from the field. A few hisses greeted modernists who rose to speak upon the resolution, but they agreed with fundamentalist speakers that the best course was to print the resolution and let the delegates read it before attempting action. Printing was ordered.

The same theological question remained in abeyance concerning five delegates from the Park Avenue Baptist church, New York city, of which Dr. Henry Emerson Fosdick, advanced modernist, is the new pastor. The seating of these delegates must be decided by the credentials committee, headed by Corwin S. Shank, Seattle layman, who was formerly president of the convention, probably tomorrow.

Meantime the status of Rev. Cornelius Woelkin, who Fosdick succeeds as pastor of the Park Avenue congregational church, called the Rockefeller church, remained unbacked. He is not a member of the Park Avenue official delegation, but belongs to the executive committee of the convention. Some leaders expressed the hope that Woelkin would not force an issue, but simply fail to offer to function as a member of the committee. Others declared that he could not, without a change in the bylaws of the convention, be prevented from functioning, and added that such a change could not be completed before the next annual meeting.
