BIBLE SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday, July 12th
By M. S. Briggs

Another Antioch Church

Golden Text: "Behold I have given him for a witness for the people, a leader and a commander to the people." - Isa. 55:4.

In the lesson of last Sunday, Paul Barnabas and John Mark had completed their tour through the island of Cyprus. They sailed northwest and landed at Perga in the Province of Pamphilia, which is a country of Asia Minor and thence going north through the mountains passed to the Province of Pisidia and came to Antioch, of this province, and a much different town from the Antioch at which the first church was established.

While at Perga John Mark had left the other two and returned to Jerusalem. When Paul and Barnabas they went to church and entering sat down. They had formed a slight acquaintance with the Jews there, who knew they were Christian missionaries, and after the formal opening of the services, which consisted of the reading of the Scripture lesson, the leaders of the Synagogue called Paul and Barnabas and said: "Ye men and brethren, if ye have any word of exhortation for the people, say on." Then Paul stood up and began with this word: "Men, give attention, when all were giving attention said: "Men of Israel and ye who fear God, give audience, or listen to what I have to say, for I have a wonderful story, God led this people out of Egypt when the angels led them by the hand of Moses, and they were in the wilderness for forty years, suffering for disobedience and getting those experiences and education which was to teach them to govern themselves.

What a wonderful work through the leading of the Great Jehovah, that two and a half million slaves, wandering for forty years in a wilderness where all the men but two died and others grew to manhood and came out at the end of the time a nation of freemen. The Lord had not called Moses to his position, but he had called a people peculiar to the worship of Jehovah which he maintained and through which the Christ should come who was the Savior of the world. Then said Paul they lived after having been given the land, in this land for 450 years, and then desired a king and were given Saul, the son of Kish, of the tribe of Benjamin, who reigned for forty years. Then was David made king, and after 14 generations was Jesus, the Christ, born of Mary.

When the Baptist was trying to baptize him, he said: "Whom think ye that I am? I am not he, but behold there cometh one after me whose shoes of his feet I am not worthy to release." Men and brethren, children of the stock of Abraham, and whoever among you desire a king, to you is the word of the salvation sent.

The rulers of the Jewish church in Jerusalem read the prophets every Sabbath, which told of the Christ to come, yet they did not perceive that they were at the time fulfilling the very prophecies in persecuting the Christ and putting him to death.

When they had fulfilled all that was written in the prophets of Him, they took him from the cross and buried him in the tomb. Now, God raised him the third day again in fulfillment of prophecy. Paul said, "Behold, I testify to you, therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins and by him all that believe are justified from all things from which you could not be justified by the law of Moses. Beware, therefore, lest that come upon you that which is spoken of in the prophets, 'Behold, ye despisers, and wonder and perish, for I work a work in your days, a work which ye shall in no wise believe, though a man declare it unto you.'

With the conclusion of this meeting when the Jews had left, the Gentiles asked that the word might be preached unto them and a meeting was arranged for the following Sabbath and almost the whole city was gathered together.

When the time came Paul was the leader in the meeting and when the Jews saw that much interest was manifested and that Paul and Barnabas were preaching to the Gentiles as well as the Jews, promising salvation on the terms of belief in the Christ as an obedient to his commands, they were filled with envy and stirred up the people against the two missionaries.

Paul then said, "Seeing you have judged yourselves unworthy of everlasting life, we now turn to the Gentiles and as many as were ordained to eternal life believed and a church of the Gentiles was established, notwithstanding the efforts of the Jews to prevent it. Still the opposition which the Jews raised was so great that they expelled Paul and Barnabas from the town. The members of the new church were filled with joy and the Holy Spirit. But Paul and Barnabas shook the dust off their feet as a testimony against the Jews and went to Iconium, where work awaited them.

Mrs. W. F. Graham was agreeably surprised last Wednesday when her Sabbath school class visited her with birthday greetings. The surprise was double when the class discovered that it was not her birthday. A very laughable and enjoyable time was spent, however, despite the mistake.

Cistern diggers are now at work in the parsonage cistern. It is about 14 feet deep with a ten-foot diameter. It is as much needed equipment and will be much appreciated.

Misses Julia Troop, Mary Bird, Ashton, Helen and Mary Graham and Rev. Graham attended a Young Peoples rally at Central Christian church, Omaha, last Friday and Saturday. It was very encouraging and it is hoped that we may benefit by it greatly.

Last Sabbath evening the young people conducted the services. The four girls who had attended the Presbyterian rally gave reports on it in detail. Christine Rheinacke sang a solo and the rest of the time was spent in devotions.

We all regret that Christine Rheinacke must be absent from our services for several weeks because of her operation. We wish her good luck and hope she may recover soon.

VETERAN RAILROAD AGENT SUGGUMBS

Joseph J. Cox, in Service of Burlington Forty-eight Years, Dies Tuesday Evening.

Joseph J. Cox, seventy-five year old freight agent of the Burlington railroad at Lincoln, died Tuesday evening at the Lincoln sanitarium after a lingering illness. Mr. Cox had been in the service of the Burlington for forty-eight years. He had been confined to his bed for the past three weeks. He has lived in Lincoln since 1884 when he came there as agent. He was promoted to division freight agent, the position which he held at the time of his death.

Mr. Cox was born in Dublin, Ireland, January 15, 1850. He came to America with his parents and family in 1869. The family settled at Atchison, Kan. Forty-eight years ago Mr. Cox began work for the Burlington at Red Oak, Ia., as an operator. He later came west of the river and was an operator at Crete, Neb. He worked at Harvard, Syracuse, Hastings, Ashland and York before being transferred to Lincoln. He was at Syracuse, Neb., between 1879 and 1884.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Mabel Hamilton, of Lincoln; a granddaughter; a sister, Mrs. Mary Phay, of Colorado Springs, Colo.; a brother, John Cox, of Lincoln, traveling freight agent for the Burlington. The deceased had made his home with his daughter at 222 A street since the death of his wife two years ago.

Mr. Cox was one of the veterans of the Burlington lines west. He was one of the best known traffic men in this part of the country and his wide acquaintance in the state made him particularly effective as a traffic getter. Few men in the service of the road knew as many business men as he knew.

He had been ill for a year or more and seriously ill for the past two months, although many of his friends did not know the extent of the seriousness of his ailment. A week ago physicians decided an operation would be necessary, and the nature of his trouble had not given a great deal of hope that he would survive. He began suddenly to sink Tuesday evening and at 9 p. m. his friends were notified that he could not long survive. Death came in less than an hour from that time.

Mr. Cox died about three years ago. His daughter had been with him throughout his illness.

KEEPING AL SMITH IN THE LIMELIGHT

Tammany Hall's Celebration of Independence Day Turned Into a Smith for President Boom.

New York, N. Y., July 4.—Tammany hall's celebration of independence day turned into a second "Al Smith for president" boom today. Speakers from Governor Ritchie of Maryland to chiefs of the historic wigwam predicted that New York's chief executive would be the next president of the United States. Governor Smith presided. It was Tammany's one-hundred thirty-sixth celebration of the Fourth of July. Scenes reminiscent of national convention were enacted when Congressman John L. Douglas of Boston promised that the democrats of Massachusetts would again cast their thirty-six votes for Governor Smith at the 1926 convention.

Governor Ritchie, referring to an occasion when he sat with Governor Smith at a table in the white house two years ago at a governor's conference said: "Maybe Al Smith will sit at that table again."

All of the speakers upheld Governor Smith's stand on state rights, less federal laws and regulations, opposition to federal regulation of education and non-interference with private and parochial schools.

NEBRASKA'S CROP CONDITIONS SHOW BIG IMPROVEMENT

Last Thirty Days Sees Great Change in Cornhusker Outlook—Western Harvest Opens.

All reports indicate that crop conditions in Nebraska have made a great improvement during the past thirty days. The last government report estimated the winter wheat yield in this state at 32,738,000 bushels, but threshing returns from Richardson county in the southeastern section, are so much better than the promise of last month, and so many favorable reports are coming in from western sections, that this estimate seems to be several million bushels too low.

There is a large acreage of corn and practically all reports indicate that the crop is making wonderful progress, and at this time a yield is indicated which may easily equal, if it does not surpass, the crop of 272,000,000 bushels in 1923.

Harvesting has begun in western Nebraska and the yield will be one of the best ever made in that part of the state, according to a letter just received by the market editor of the Omaha Daily News from R. A. Goodall, of Ogallala.

"The majority of our winter and spring wheat stands a little above knee high on the average person, and a good many of the better fields are waist high," says Mr. Goodall. "The heads on all wheat, both spring and winter, are large and are filling in wonderful shape. The greater part of the winter wheat is already completely filled, and a few farmers are binding the wheat."

"The majority of the wheat within a radius of fifty miles of Ogallala will be cut with a combine this year, and most of our farmers will start harvesting about the sixth of July, which is about ten days ahead of the average year."

"There is absolutely no truth in the statement that the wheat crop in western Nebraska is a failure as the acreage is one of the largest that has ever been planted, and the yield promises to be one of the largest in Keith, Deuel, Cheyenne and Perkins counties," declares Mr. Goodall.

"Sees Eighteen Bushel Yield" "I feel positive that my wheat, which is all planted on old ground, will average at least eighteen bushels to the acre, and there are hundreds of fields within ten miles of Ogallala, which will easily make 25 to 30 bushels to the acre."

"One cannot realize the enormous amount of wheat there is in this country until they have seen it. I took a drive from Ogallala to Juggsburg, Colo., on the table land south of the South Platte, and never in the twenty years that I have lived in Ogallala have I seen such enormous acreage and such wonderful prospects. Now that our crop is made there is no doubt about western Nebraska having a wonderful yield."

"I would say that at least 90 per cent of the wheat in western Nebraska will be sold to the elevators just the minute it is threshed by the combines. Most of the farmers expect to receive at least $1.25 per bushel for wheat this year, and if prices go below that you will find that most of them will store their wheat, instead of selling. Conditions among the farmers, financially, in western Nebraska as a whole, are good, and they are not forced to sell the wheat as they were a few years ago."

"Corn Two Weeks Ahead" "Corn is two weeks ahead of the average year and looks fine. Oats are also very good. The barley crop will be one of the largest ever known in this country. Spring wheat is also looking fine, and if we do not have any extremely hot weather during the next week, we shall have a wonderful crop."

A letter from E. R. Hodges of Dix, Kimball county, states that part of his wheat is estimated at thirty bushels to the acre, but that part of his crop which was "stubbled in" last fall is not very good and was plowed up to summer fallow the land. Mr. Hodges has 500 acres to wheat on his ranch in Kimball county.
