Early Corn Gets Hard Hit

The earliest corn of this county probably was that of Mr. Warren when plans will be drawn up for the Richards, which was certainly looking fine when the hail storm came and being well along was of course very severely hit by the hail. No one could doubt but this piece of corn was greatly damaged, and in the settlement last week, the adjusters allowed a damage claim of 90 per cent of the amount of the full crop. On this piece of corn it is reported bined pleasure and business session ings will be held more frequently. that the damage was something near which was held at the Breck cafe.
