Death of W.
J. Bryan Keen
Loss to County

The Fallen Leader Intimate Personal Friend of Many of the Cass County People.

From Monday's Daily—
The news that came over the radio late yesterday afternoon of the death of William Jennings Bryan, at Dayton, Tennessee, came as a great shock to the hundreds of Cass county people who had known and loved the great orator in the many years of his residence here.

An affectionate tie existed between the people of Cass county and William Jennings Bryan that the years have not changed and although for several years past Mr. Bryan has resided in the south, the recollection of his early days still lives to gladden the memory of the past in the hearts of the Cass county people.

Cass county was a part of the First Congressional district of Nebraska, where Mr. Bryan first entered political life and the old time residents of the county recall as but yesterday the campaign of 1896 when Mr. Bryan then an unknown young lawyer of Lincoln, where he had located in 1887, stirred the hearts of the people by his oratorical powers, his eloquence and logic in argument surpassing any of the efforts of the then political leaders of the west. Mr. Bryan made a thorough campaign of Cass county, and added it to his column when the election rolled around and the First district sent him to congress. At that time Omaha was in the first district of the state and also gave support to the young democrat.

In congress the force of Mr. Bryan was recognized and he was placed on the ways and means committee and his efforts in debate on the tariff question remain gems of the American congress. In 1892 the district was re-arranged with the addition of counties to insure a republican majority and the elimination of Omaha from the district, but in spite of this fact, after a series of debates between Allen W. Field, of Lincoln, and Mr. Bryan over the district, the voters again sent him back to represent them in the halls of congress.

In Cass county political circles, Mr. Bryan made many warm friends and on his visits here would recognize and recall the old friends of former years, his wonderful memory being one of the outstanding features of his personality. William D. Wheeler, the late Frank J. Morgan, Z. W. Shrader, D. O. Dwyer, D. C. Morgan and many of the Cass county democrats were numbered among the old time friends and intimate associates in political life of the deceased leader.

Almost every national campaign brought Mr. Bryan to Plattsmouth for an address and each time the crowds were enormous to greet him and hear the message that he might bring from the teachings of the democracy of the nation. The last time that Mr. Bryan was here was in the campaign of 1922, when his brother, Charles W. Bryan, was a candidate for governor. At that time the increasing burden of the years and the strenuous life on the stump and platform had left their telling marks on the great leader and his address here was delivered sitting in a chair on the stage of the Parmelee theatre, but lacked nothing of the keen logic and force of the past.

During the Spanish-American war, Mr. Bryan was made colonel of the 3rd Nebraska infantry, and Co. B, raised in Cass county, served under his leadership, former Governor Geo. Sheldon being the captain, and later C. A. Rawls of this city at the head of the company and in the capacity of Mr. Rawls had an intimate acquaintance with the leader.

SAYS WAS NOT FIGHT

From Monday's Daily—
Tony Lahoda, who was one of the factors in the disturbance on Wintersteen Hill on Thursday evening, was down town today for the first time since the trouble in which he was injured. Mr. Lahoda states that his side of the trouble has not been given the full publicity it should, owing to the fact that he was not able to get out and down town.

In speaking of the affair, Mr. Lahoda stated to the Journal: "I had just driven my car into the yard about 8:30 in the evening when James Zoubek jumped on the running board of the car and struck me with something. The blow was on the head and after the first blow there were several others struck before I became unconscious. There were no blows struck by me."

ARRIVAL OF LITTLE SON

From Monday's Daily—
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Rakow was gladdened yesterday afternoon by the arrival there of a fine little son and heir who made his appearance and announced his intention of making his home with the family in the future. The mother and little one are both doing nicely and the father is the happiest mail carrier in the United States.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS OUTING

From Monday's Daily—
This afternoon a number of the Plattsmouth campfire girls departed for Little Sioux, Iowa, near where they are expecting to spend a week at the camp of the girls which is one of the most attractive in eastern Nebraska and western Iowa. The party that attends from this city is composed of Louisa Albert, Laura Grassman, Margaret Shellenberger, Jean Hayes, Helen Sharp, Florence Wiles, and Elizabeth Hall.

The camp fire girls will be chaperoned by Miss Nora Livingston, in the absence of Mrs. Evi Spier, guardian of the campfire, who finds it impossible to attend owing to the serious illness of her mother.

The girls were taken to Omaha by car and from there by auto bus to the camp located some thirty-five miles northeast of Omaha for the week's outing.

William H.
Eastridge Goes to Final Rest

Passed Away at Home of Son, Lee Eastridge, After An Illness Of Two Weeks.

From Monday's Daily—
Yesterday afternoon at the close of the day, William H. Eastridge, one of the aged residents of this city, passed away at the home of his son, Lee Eastridge, on Walnut street.

The death came after an illness of some two weeks duration. The deceased was sixty years of age and was a native of Iowa, and has been a resident of Cass county for the past fifteen years, the greater part of the time having been spent at Nebraska and vicinity.

The wife preceded Mr. Eastridge in death several years ago and since that time he had made his home with his children for the greater part of the time, coming here three years ago with his son, Lee, with whom he has made his home for several years.

There are left three sons to mourn the passing of this good man, W. H. Eastridge, Jr., Lee and Fred Eastridge, all residing in this city.

SMALL AUTO ACCIDENT

From Monday's Daily—
Yesterday while Alvin Ramage, wife and child were motoring from their farm home south of Plattsmouth to this city, they were victims of a small auto accident that while fortunately not injuring any of the party caused a great deal of damage to the car of Mr. Ramage.

As the Ramage car was nearing the residence of E. H. Spangler, they met a car going south and were each turning out when another car bearing the license plate, 1-11369 came along and attempted to force thru between the car of Mr. Ramage and the other car, the driver apparently not having control of the car, and those near the scene of the accident state to the driver was apparently under the influence of liquor.

The Omaha car that did the wrecking had one tire torn off, a fender smashed and also was forced into a ditch while the body of the car of Mr. Ramage was almost a total wreck as a result of the smashup.

After much work the Omaha car was finally extricated from the ditch and fixed up so that it was possible to travel and the owner promised to pay for all the damage and also to stop at Plattsmouth and settle with Mr. Ramage. As soon as the car got away the driver stepped on the gas and away he went and has not been heard from as yet.

LOCATE IN NEW MEXICO

From Monday's Daily—
The many friends of Fred Rice and family will be interested to learn that Mr. Rice and his children are now located at Artesia, New Mexico, where they will make their home for the benefit of the health of the children in the high and dry atmosphere of New Mexico. Mr. Rice states in letters here to relatives that two flowing oil wells have been located near Artesia and that the conditions there are now the best. He is now engaged in working in the oil fields near Artesia and finding very high wages and much work. Mr. Rice has purchased property at Artesia where members of the Bullin family of this city also have land interests. With the finding of the paying oil wells there the value of the land is fast increasing and will make that section one of the most prosperous in the southwest.

SPEAKS AT WEeping WATER

From Monday's Daily—
Attorney A. L. Tidd of this city, was at Weeping Water yesterday where he drove to fill a speaking engagement. Mr. Tidd was invited by the pastor and congregation of the Methodist church at that place to address them at the Sunday morning service as the pastor, Rev. Rose, has sickness in his family and was very fortunate in having Mr. Tidd to respond to the invitation to fill the pulpit. The address covered an urging of a return to the fundamental principles of religion that is today being so vigorously attacked, the nation over.

Horseshoe Pitchers
Getting
'Wised Up'

Local Followers of the Pastime Visit Omaha to Get the Big Town Slant on the Game.

From Monday's Daily—
Yesterday a party of the Plattsmouth devotees of the horseshoe pitching art, comprising George R. Sayles, John Iverson, Harley Becker, Homer Shrader and Mike Tritsch, motored to Omaha to attend the matches at Miller park, one of the leading horseshoe courts in the state.

The local players are planning a tournament in the late fall that will be made to include all of the Cass county towns as well as Shenandoah, Sidney and Hamburg, Iowa, and they will have a real snappy event if their present plans go through. In speaking of the match at Omaha, the World-Herald has the following: "Lyle Brown, Des Moines horseshoe pitcher, won the Iowa-Nebraska horseshoe tournament at the Miller park courts Sunday by beating S. C. Hervey, of Harlan, Iowa, in the final match of the day. Brown and Hervey were tied until the last match."

"Brown won nine matches and lost two. He was defeated by H. Reese of Lake City, Iowa, and Elza Ray, of Shenandoah, Iowa."

"There were seventy-two pitchers from twenty-four cities and towns of Nebraska and Iowa who took part in the tournament. Two preliminary rounds were held in the morning from which twelve pitchers were selected for the finals in the afternoon."

"About 5 hundred persons saw the tourney, which was played on twenty courts. The Omaha association will endeavor to get the tournament next year and also the national tourney in 1926 or the following year."

DEPART FOR STATE
LEGION CONVENTION

From Monday's Daily—
This morning, Father George D. Pierce, C. L. Pittman and Emil Hild departed, via auto, for Columbus, Nebraska, where they go to represent the Hugh J. Kearns post of the American Legion at the state convention of the Legion which is meeting in the Platte county city for the first three days of this week. The convention has many points of interest to take up at the session and the local delegates will have a part in determining many of the important subjects on which the Legion posts of the state will have brought to their attention.

The national convention of the Legion being at Omaha this year will cut down the attendance of the state meeting as a greater part of the service men of the state are planning to attend the national meeting and that they cannot be present at both.

TRIBUTE TO LEADER

Editor Journal:
William Jennings Bryan, our most distinguished citizen is gone, but he still lives. I feel a personal loss in the death of Mr. Bryan. I have been a close reader of his writing and his speeches, and particularly his writings and addresses on Christianity and the Bible. While I have not always agreed with him on economic and political questions, I have believed that he was generally right on moral and religious questions. As I read his book, "In His Image," I felt the influence of his great mind and character. Yesterday, Mr. Bryan was America's best known and most distinguished citizen. Today he is gone, but the influence of his life will continue in the lives of others.

PRIZE WINNERS GIVEN

From Tuesday's Daily—
The prize winners in the recent guessing contests, maintained by Gerald Fleming and in which the public were invited to guess the number of the gum balls in the machines in front of the Main Hotel and the Martin grocery were announced today by Mr. Fleming. At the Main Hotel the machine contained 1,288 balls and the first prize was won by Joe Hartford and the second by Leo Heigel. At the Martin store the first prize was won by Miss Mary Warren and the second by A. R. Johnson. Each prize winner received a fine box of candy.

SLUGGERS DEFEAT FARMERS

From Monday's Daily—
Yesterday afternoon the Bohemian Sluggers defeated a team of the young men from west of this city in the Kaffenberger neighborhood, the game being played on the old ball grounds on Chicago avenue. The score was 17 to 5 in favor of the Sluggers and was a very one-sided contest as the score indicates. Frank Wooster and Joe Krejci did the hurling for the Sluggers and "Babe" Krejci, the game, the farmer team used several hurlers, Floyd Becker, Jim Wilson, Earl Becker and Mr. Zimmerer trying their hands at the tossing, while Ben Speck did the receiving.

RETURNS FROM THE ARMY

From Monday's Daily—
"You're in the army now, you're not behind the plow," will have no meaning in the future for Carl Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius M. Hall, who arrived home this morning from a two year hitch in the service of Uncle Sam in the orient. Carl served in the infantry and was stationed for the greater part of the time in the Philippines, near Manila, and also for a time at Hawaii and later in the international port at Tien Sen, China as a part of the American guard there. In his wanderings in the far east he has found nothing that looks as good as does Nebraska and Plattsmouth and if possible will locate here in the future.

First Inning Sees Undoing of the Visitors With 8 Scores Made; Remainder Is Close.

From Monday's Daily—
Yesterday afternoon the local followers of the national pastime proceeded to clean up on the Louisville feat of the Quakers. He was able to hold the locals to four hits but won the local lot by the score of 9 to 2, the contest, barring the first inning, being close and hard fought. In the opener the Plattsmouth hitters, assisted by the wildness of Hartman, the youthful hurler of the visitors, gained a lead that was impossible to overcome.

Manager Beck of the visitors decided to try out Hartman, his young pitcher, who has made a very fine showing in the games that he has hurled on the home lot but he was decidedly wild in the contest here and contributed materially to the defeat. Three walks and one man hit by a pitched ball added to the scoring of the locals.

In the opener, Martin led off for Plattsmouth with a double to center and was able to register when, Martin, Louisville catcher, failed to throw out Hartman's slant. Harold was walked, Newman singled to center, Harold advancing to third base. Harb Klauschie and McCarty were both walked, giving Harold a free pass home. Newman, McCarty and Klauschie scored when Nelson doubled to center. Mason was hit by a pitched ball and O'Donnell hit a hard out to second that Reichart juggled and failed to secure. Swanson hit safely to right and Mason and O'Donnell registered. At this stage of the game Hartman was retired and Rudolph Meisner was sent to do his stuff and received much better support as well as hurling a better game than Hartman. Martin and Harold, batting their second time in the inning, were both out on flies to center. Newman hit safely to center, advancing to third, but O'Donnell, who had retired the side on a grounder to Knutson at short. This gave Plattsmouth an eight run lead and sowed up the contest.

In the second inning, Plattsmouth annexed its ninth and last score of the game when Brunson hit to left field, Rudy's slant for a circuit drive over the left garden wall.

Swanson, who was on the mound for Plattsmouth, hurled a good game and was steady throughout and the support given by his teammates was gilded, there being a number of hard chances that were gotten away with in fine shape. In the fielding of the locals Newman, Harold, McCarty and Swanson featured with many assists.

Louisville tallied in the sixth inning when Brunson hit to left field, Rudy's slant for a circuit drive over the left garden wall. Swanson, who was on the mound for Plattsmouth, hurled a good game and was steady throughout and the support given by his teammates was gilded, there being a number of hard chances that were gotten away with in fine shape. In the fielding of the locals Newman, Harold, McCarty and Swanson featured with many assists.

McCarty also dashed the hopes of Louisville in the seventh when A. Knutson attempted to reach third on the hit of Ingrim, throwing the runner out at third from centerfield.

Mrs. John P. Sattler and Daughter Find Towns Filled With Many Old Time Friends.

From Tuesday's Daily—
Mrs. John P. Sattler and daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Sprecher, who have just returned from a most enjoyable outing on the Pacific coast, found among other things that make the coast country a very pleasant one is that a very large number of former Plattsmouth people are dwellers in the various towns surrounding Los Angeles, and many of whom the ladies had the opportunity of visiting.

Their chief stay was at Los Angeles where Karl Sattler, wife and little daughter, Joyce, are residing, they having charge of the Knickerbocker apartments, and making very much of a success of their affairs in the city where they have resided for the past few years.

While at Los Angeles they had the privilege of a pleasant visit with Madame E. Wescott, the gentle and well beloved lady who was for so many years a Plattsmouth resident and is the mother of C. C. and E. H. Wescott of this city. They also called on the Floyd Kuhn family and met there Mrs. John P. Kuhn, who was with Mrs. Sattler initiated into the Degree of Honor here years ago, it being needless to say that the ladies enjoyed the visit very much. At the Knickerbocker apartments they found a bit of Plattsmouth atmosphere in the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunbar and daughter, Jane, and Claude Shoemaker are making their home there and certainly enjoyed the sight of the "folks from home" as the Dunbars and Mr. Shoemaker are among the newest in the Plattsmouth Los Angeles colony.

Mrs. Sattler and daughter also met William Roy McKinney, formerly of this city, but who has been so long on the coast he can almost be called a "native son." He has charge of a string of cafes in the city that have been very successful in their operation. Mrs. Sprecher was especially pleased to meet two of the ladies formerly employed in the offices of the Burlington in this city, Miss Madeline Minor and Miss Nellie May Cowles as well as Mrs. Katherine Minor, mother of Miss Madeline. She is enjoying very much the life on the coast. In their travels over the city they stopped for a short time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Schulhof, who now have but one of the daughters at home, Bertha, the other daughters having married and settled in their own homes. Mr. and Mrs. George Krivanek, the latter formerly Miss Norine Schulhof also called on the visitors from Plattsmouth and they also enjoyed a visit with Mrs. Krivanek and son, Victor, both of whom are doing nicely. Not the least of the Plattsmouth colony was Fritz Duda, who is also a dweller at the Knickerbocker, the "little Plattsmouth" in the heart of California.

The ladies enjoyed a splendid auto trip with Karl Sattler and wife and in the short space of time that they were there covered 1,500 miles, so they lost no time in seeing all that was possible of the idler's paradise, the coast country.

At Long Beach Mrs. Sattler and daughter visited Harry Rice and wife, who have just erected a fine new home in the lively coast city and are enjoying life to the utmost. They wished to be remembered to all of the old time friends, back in Nebraska, where the tall corn grows.

At Santa Monica, they visited with Ed Mason and family and found them in the best of spirits and enjoying their new home.

There was found quite a colony of former Plattsmouth people at Pomona, California, where Henry Hesse and wife are living as well as Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wurl and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wurl. The Wurl boys have been very successful in their business ventures in the California city and Ernest has a fine new home in Pomona. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wurl and their son are planning to drive back east via Canada and the northwest and may find their way thru Plattsmouth on the return home.

In their motoring through Orange Mrs. Sattler and Mrs. Sprecher stopped for a call on Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lindeman and their family and found them busy and happy in the new home. Mrs. Lindeman was formerly Miss Clara Mockenaupt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Mockenaupt of this city.

The pleasant little city of Santa Ana is not without its evidence of the Plattsmouth invasion as there were found Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hesse and Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham, who were delighted to see the visitors from the old home and to enjoy a few hours visiting.

While motoring over the west coast country Mrs. Sattler and daughter enjoyed a short stay at San Diego, one of the beauty spots of the coast and following the custom of the tourists took a drive over into old Mexico, a few hours out of San Diego, where Tia Juana beckons the visitors from the states with their exhibition of the wide open life that has been banished from California, but which the Americans keep alive in the Mexican city.

READ TREASURER'S REPORT

The report of County Treasurer Mia U. Gering appears in this issue of the Journal. It should be read by every taxpayer in the county as it shows, in the splendid business-like methods of the treasurer, all the funds of the county, how they were received, the expenditures and the amounts on hand in the various funds. The amount of tax money handled by the county treasurer for each half year is over $500,000 and indicates that it is a real job. Look over the report and understand how the tax money is expended and for what purposes.

KILLS LARGE TIMBER WOLF

From Tuesday's Daily—
Last Saturday, while milking, Wayne Campbell had his attention called to the sound of a wolf howling, and, running to see what it was, found two large gray timber wolves with a pig they had killed and another one which they had and were endeavoring to feast. Mr. Campbell jumped over the fence and picked up a club and rushed upon the intruders and with a well directed blow struck one of the wolves over the head and broke the club. One of the wolves ran away, though still showing a disposition to fight. With one of the shots, weighing about sixty pounds dead and the other, slightly lighter, in a very bad condition Mr. Campbell decided to try and get the wolves. After he had finished milking he took his gun and followed the animals. He was greatly surprised when they jumped at him out of the weeds and with Mrs. Sattler with him, only shell. He then broke his gun and prepared to fight the other if necessary with the barrel but it slunk away in fear.

ENJOY GOOD MEETING

From Monday's Daily—
One of the most pleasant meetings of the Social Workers Flower club was held at the home of Miss Stacia Wurga who was assisted by Mrs. Chas. Wurga.

About twenty club members and some visitors enjoyed the afternoon's musical program. Those taking part were the Misses Emily Stava, Nettie Spangler, Mary Lois Wiles and Anna Martis.

At an appropriate hour very dainty refreshments were served.

The annual picnic, which is held every year in August, will be held at Murray this year.

At a late hour the members departed for home, voting the hostesses pleasant entertainers.

ORCHESTRA SCORES SUCCESS

From Tuesday's Daily—
The Peter Gradoville Orchestra of this city has been having a very pleasing success in the last few weeks in their dancing programs and have been in demand at a number of out of town dancing events, playing at Weeping Water, Louisville and Murray and have an engagement to play at Brown's park in Nebraska City. The orchestra will play in this city on Saturday evening, entertaining at the K. S. dance platform on west Locust street, the first dance that has been given for the past few weeks.

W. F. Wurga, who has been looking after some matters for the Burlington at Aurora, Illinois, arrived home this morning on No. 1.

Business forms of all kinds printed at the Journal office.

Death Comes to Mrs. Frederick Ohm

Old and Highly Respected Resident of the City is Called to Last Long Rest Last Evening

From Tuesday's Daily—
Last evening as the shadows of the night were stealing over the community the mortal life of Mrs. Frederick Ohm, one of the old and highly respected residents of the city passed out in answer to the summons of the Master, to the everlasting reward that the long and faithful Christian life had earned for this splendid lady.

While Mrs. Ohm had been in failing health for some time and in the last months has grown more feeble, the death was unexpected and in a space of a few short moments the aged lady passed through the gates of death, peacefully and quietly in slumber.

The aged husband and the daughter, Mrs. Bertha VanMeter, had been sitting on the porch of the home, the mother joining the other members of the family there, apparently in her usual condition. The daughter had gone across the street to call on a neighbor and the wife and mother had said she would go in and lie down for a while. Shortly afterwards the husband entered the room and attempted to rouse the wife, but without avail as life had flown. Medical aid was called by the members of the family, but death had come suddenly and when found the mother had ceased to breathe.

The death came as a great shock to the hundreds of old friends who had known Mrs. Ohm in the many years of her residence here, where she has been one of the best beloved of the residents of the community.

Sophie Herman Ohm, at the time of her death was 74 years of age. She was born in Poppent, Macklenberg, Schwerin, Germany, on March 6th, 1851. Here in the Fatherland she met Fred Ohm and they were wed on February 16, 1872, coming immediately to America, where they located at Marshfield, Ohio, and from there came to Plattsmouth in 1882.

Mr. and Mrs. Ohm celebrated their Golden wedding anniversary in the year 1922.

To mourn her loss, there remain the aged husband and the following children: Charles Ohm, of Omaha; E. J. Ohm, of Chicago; E. K. Ohm, of Athens, Ohio; Frank Ohm, of Marysville, Kansas; Fred Ohm, of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio; Mrs. Jennie Nilsson, of Havelock, Neb., and Mrs. Bertha Van Meter of Plattsmouth, who has been ministering to every want of the aged parents. One daughter died in infancy and three daughters and one son have since preceded the mother in death.

Three brothers and three sisters also remain to mourn her loss, besides several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.
