BOY MEETS WITH VERY BAD ACCIDENT THURSDAY. Little Five Year Old Son of John Gruber of Near Manley is Injured by Blow From Ax.

A very serious accident occurred at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gruber, four miles east of Manley, Thursday afternoon, when their five year old son was struck in the head by an ax and a very serious wound inflicted.

Mr. Gruber had been preparing to go to town and the little lad had planned to go with him, being very excited over the prospect of the ride and the outing in town, so that he dashed out of the house and through the farm yard to where the car was waiting.

Just as the little boy came into the farm yard one of the men employed about the farm was engaged in cutting wood and had the ax raised to chop the wood when the boy dashed into the path of the lowering ax before the hired man was aware of his presence as the boy came from behind the man. The ax struck him a severe blow on the forehead which caused it to bleed profusely and caused a great deal of excitement as it was thought at first that the boy might have sustained a fracture of the skull.

The injured boy was hurried into Manley to the office of Dr. H. O. Munson where the injured head was dressed and, while a nasty gash was found, fortunately, there was no fracture of the skull.

Mr. Landis, farmer, Lincoln Ave., Plattsmouth, says: "Heavy work strained my kidneys and they acted irregularly. The kidney secretions were scanty in passage, scalded and were highly colored, too. A dull ache settled across my back, and when stooped to lift anything, I could hardly straighten. I felt weak and tired out. After using Doan's Pills from the Mauzy Drug store, the trouble was corrected."

Mr. Landis is only one of many Plattsmouth people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S PILLS, the same that Mr. Landis had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50 cents at all dealers. Miss Kathryn Wadick Enjoyed to Limit the Many Sights of Interest in the Far West. From Saturday's Daily— Miss Kathryn Wadick, who has just recently returned home from a trip of several weeks' duration on the Pacific coast, which included the great Shrine meeting at Los Angeles where fun and frolic ruled supreme, which Miss Wadick enjoyed to the utmost with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Adams and her sister, Miss Helen Adams of Sheridan, they being a part of the delegation on the Shrine special from Denver.

The members of the party were entertained very lavishly by the various cities on the coast, including special days for the visitors at Pasadena, Hollywood and San Diego. As with all tourists to the west they were visitors at Tia Juana to see the wild and wide open city that American demand has reared on the west.

They visited the Santa Catalina Islands and the beautiful city of Avalon where the millionaire Wrigley has reared an ideal resort city. While in the west, Miss Wadick had the pleasure of a two-day ocean trip from San Diego to San Francisco and which was filled with the greatest charm in the changing scenes and the invigorating ocean breezes.

The party also visited at Salt Lake an old number of the other cities of the west on the trip and returning with having seen a very large section of this part of the country in a few weeks.

In the hurry of their stay and the extensive program of entertainment afforded by the Shrine, the Adams and Miss Wadick were unable to visit with the old time residents there who are now residing on the west coast.

BRYAN RESTS IN SOLDIER'S PEACE HAVEN

Thousands Through Church and Route to Grave to Give Final Tribute to Great Commoner.

Washington, July 31.—The body of William Jennings Bryan was lowered into a grave this rainy afternoon at Arlington cemetery to sleep out time with the nation's warrior dead.

A lingering silvery note of a bugle, sounded by an army trumpeter, closed the last earthly chapter of the commoner.

The big bronze casket was lowered into the grave by the regular army as 119 khaki clad soldiers, showing no regard for the constant downpour of rain, stood at attention.

This merited tribute to the funeral was a striking contrast to the civilian friends who gathered at the grave. Hundreds of them went with the invalid widow and other members of the bereaved family from the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, where formal funeral services were conducted, to the cemetery.

The funeral address at the church was delivered by a man whom Mr. Bryan had unknowingly turned to the ministry. The Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo opened his tribute to the dead leader by saying that when he was a freshman at college he had heard Mr. Bryan, while speaking on "The Value of an Ideal," declare that the highest ideal in life was Christian service.

Bryan's Plea Moved Him. "The plea for Christian service made by this great heart of faith never left me and following that message I later entered the Christian ministry," the Rev. Dr. Sizoo said. "That stirring plea marked the beginning of a whole new attitude to life and I bring my testimony to the memory of a man who never knew how greatly he had changed my life. Surely it is unique that as he lies here dead among us, I should bear my witness to his influence in this most solemn hour."

The church was completely banked with flowers. It was perhaps the most profuse tribute paid to anyone in Washington since the death of President Harding.

Roses, valley lilies, easter lilies, asters, gladiolas and orchids were arranged in beautiful wreaths, crosses, pillows, sheaf and baskets. Upon the flag-draped casket was a spray of red roses sent by President and Mrs. Coolidge. Beside this lay another bunch of roses sent by Little Ruth Meeker, the great grandchild of the leader.

Among the large crosses of flowers the biggest of all was one of flaming red crosses sent by the Ku Klux Klan of Ohio.

All day before the formal services started the body laid in state in the church as a constant stream of persons passed by the bier. Sometimes they were two abreast and sometimes in single file.

This was the continuation of the line that formed yesterday when more than 25,000 walked slowly by the coffin.

Hundreds Outside. After the casket had been covered for the last time so that the funeral services could begin hundreds of persons stood under umbrellas in the street unable to enter the church because they had no admission cards.

But the downpour of rain did not dismay them. They remained there until the services were completed in order to catch one glimpse of the casket when it was wheeled out of the church.

Those who had admission cards filled the pews early. Every seat was taken as the Rev. Dr. Sizoo.

reading from the scriptures, led the family down the center aisle, where they took seats that had been reserved for them.

Mrs. Bryan, in her wheel chair, was accompanied by her son, William Jennings Bryan, Jr., who sat next to and fanned her during the services.

At the head of the casket stood Kelso Rice, the Chattanooga policeman, who had been selected by Mrs. Bryan as the sole guard of honor.

Representative William Upshaw was the last to look upon the commoner's features. He stood for a few minutes over the casket and wiped tears with his handkerchief.

Sing Is Impressive. One of the impressive features of the service was the singing of the communion of saints, with which Mr. speech at the Scope's trial.

The services, which began promptly at 3, were preceded by a musical program during which a quartet sang some of Mr. Bryan's favorite hymns, including "Lead Kindly Light" and "One Sweetly Solenn Thought."

At 3 Dr. Sizoo, followed by the Bryan family, started down the aisle reading: "I am the resurrection and the life, said the Lord, he that believeth me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die."
