CHILD IS KILLED AT M. P. GRADE CROSSING TODAY

ACCIDENT OCCURS THREE MILES EAST OF WEEPING WATER AS TRUCK IS HIT.

FATHER THOT FATALLY HURT

Faye Hutchison, Residing East of Weeping Water, With Little Son Are the Victims.

From Monday's Daily—

This morning an eastbound passenger train on the Lincoln-Union branch of the Missouri Pacific railroad crashed into the small truck in which Faye Hutchins was riding and resulted in the instant death of the little four year old son of Mr. Hutchins and the probable fatal injury of the father.

The accident occurred on a crossing three miles east of Weeping Water and west of Nehawka when the train traveling at a good rate of speed suddenly came on the truck that was attempting to cross the tracks. Before the train could be checked or the truck clear the crossing the accident occurred and with the most serious results.

The truck was totally demolished reports from Weeping Water state, and amid the wreckage the body of the little child, too small to attempt to make an escape ,was found.

Mr. Hutchins, the father of the little one was hurled sixty feet away from the scene of the accident by the force of the impact and when found by the train crew and neighbors his body was a mass of bruises and injuries. Several of the ribs were badly fractured and one of the broken ribs had penetrated the left lung, inflicting a most dangerous wound. There were many other smaller fractures sustained by the injured man as well as severe lacerations on the head and body that are thought may be very serious.

As soon as possible after the accident the injured man was hurried to the hospital in Omaha where he will be cared for and all efforts made to save his life from the effects of the terrible accident.

In addition to Mr. Hutchins and his little son, Kenneth Lee, there were two other occupants of the truck, Eugene Simmons, a lad, and Phillip Wollen, who, it is stated was driving the truck at the time of the accident. Mr. Wollen received a severe cut on the head and was knocked unconscious while Eugene Simmons was unfortunate enough to have his leg badly hurt.

The body of the child will be taken to the late home, the family living in the vicinity of Weeping Water. As far as could be learned here, Mr. Hutchins, the injured man, had been working on the farm of Oscar Domingo for the past summer and very little was known of the family in Weeping Water.

This is the second grade crossing tragedy in the county in the space of a week as on Sunday a week ago, two men were killed and two seriously injured on the crossing near Oreapolis, three miles north of Plattsmouth.

The Hutchins family were engaged in moving at the time of the accident and for which purpose they had secured the use of the truck.

County Attorney W. G. Kieck received the message of the accident shortly before the noon hour and departed this afternoon for the scene of the accident to investigate the case.

MANLEY TAKES LEAD IN COUNTY TOURNAMENT

LARGE CROWD YESTERDAY WITNESSES DEFEAT OF THE PLATTSMOUTH TEAM.

GREENWOOD WINS THE SECOND

Shuts Out Manley by Score of 6 to 0—Plattsmouth Holds Second Place in Tournament.

PERCENTAGES

| | Played | Won | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Manley | 3 | 2 | .667 |
| Plattsmouth | 2 | 1 | .500 |
| Greenwood | 3 | 1 | .333 |

From Monday's Daily—

The attendance at the baseball tournament at Manley yesterday afternoon was of the kind that does the ball player good and some 500 fans were numbered among the gang that perched around the sides of the baseball lot. So large was the number of cars that many were parked in the fair lines of the outfield and suffered very much from the high fouls that were bounced in their direction.

The games resulted in Manley copping the first contest by the score of 5 to 2 from the Plattsmouth team, while Greenwood took the grapes in the second battle by winning from Manley, Everett Cope and his crew shutting out the Manley gang by the score of 6 to 0, and playing one of the best games that has been seen on the tournament diamond so far.

Manley Wins in Opener

The first game was called at 1:30 between the Plattsmouth and Manley teams and was settled in the first inning when the wildness of Burkhart, Plattsmouth hurler, with one little bingle decided the fate of the Plattsonians and their desire to make it two straight.

While Burkhart was unsettled and missed many heaves at the plate, the work of the umpire did not assist him as the Plattsmouth hurler received nothing at the hands of the indicator handler.

In the opener, Ash started for Manley and drew a free pass to the keystone station and was followed by Grover Hopkins, veteran of many a baseball battle, who also was able to walk to first. The bases were filled when Burkhart hit Ed Sheehan and they were cleared again when Russell, the left gardner, imported for the occasion from the sylvian surroundings of Weeping Water, dumped one along the first base line, too far back for O'Donnell to field and not far enough in the outfield for Nelson to grab. This allowed the boys on the bags to canter home with the runs that were to give them the win. Russell himself scored on a wild pitch and left the score 4 to the good. The inning was closed when the Manley team was allowed to hit as Newman grabbed off two grounders to throw the runners out at first and Burkhart, who was getting in better form, struck out Klepser, who was also imported for the Sunday game as a hurler.

In the fourth inning the short and uneventful career of "Tip" Rector on the mound was terminated when Manager Coon sent him to second base and Klepser to the hill top after Plattsmouth had garnered two scores and were crying for more from the delivery of "Tip."

Mason opened the inning with a safe poke to left and was assisted in remaining on first by the error of Hopkins, as when Nelson lifted a fly to right field Bill was approaching second and reduced his best time in getting back to first on the fly catch, but had it not been that Grover was in a juggling mood, William would have perished, but otherwise he was saved. O'Donnell was retired on a grounder, Rector to Hopkins, when Burkhart enlivened the occasion by hitting to right and registering Mason, Bill tearing off his shoe in getting around the bags. Martin was able to draw a walk from Rector, who was getting in a generous mood, when Herold hit safely to right and Burkhart came home with the second and what was to be the last score for Plattsmouth.

The fifth run of Manley came in the fifth frame when O'Brien, the veteran of many a hard fought battle, landed on one of the high ones of Burkhart for a homer "way down in the corn field."

Barring the fateful first Burkhart hurled a good game as he retired ten via the strikeout route and allowed seven hits, hit two and walked three.

Rector struck out two, gave four passes to first, which however were scattered, while Klepser struck out one in five innings and hit one man.

Plattsmouth had twelve men die on bases while Manley had six expire out in the heat and dust of the sacks.

Greenwood Scores Shutout

In the second game Manager Coon allowed Klepser, who had hurled five innings of the game against Plattsmouth to again ascend the hill against Greenwood and while Fred was going good he was unable to escape the hard hitting lads from the northwest corner of the county, who annexed their first victory of the tournament.

The Greenwood team started in right away in the opener to do things with the Manley boys and kept it up all the way through the battle. Pete Jardine and Landon were both retired when Armstrong started the fireworks by a rap to left field and while he was resting on first E. Jardine lammed one of Klepser's best over into one of the neighboring yards that secured him three sacks and had it not been for his injured leg he could easily have made a home run.

Manley was fired by their opponents' hitting and tried to do something in their half of the opener, and had it not been for the clever and fast triple play that Pete Jardine started at third base, they would probably have succeeded. The Manley team started out on Brer Cope in hard shape as Ash beat out a little infield hit, G. Hopkins and Sheehan both hitting safe to center, and with the bases full, Russell, the clean-up artist, came to bat filled with confidence and hope that died as he lined one to Jardine at third base, who made a fine fly catch, stepped on the bag and retired Ash who was loitering on toward home and threw the ball to second where he nipped Hopkins who had also strayed away from the sack. This retired the side and was the best chance the Manleyites had of scoring in the battle.

The fifth saw the final destruction of the hopes of Manley when five runs were garnered by the west Cass county town.

Pete Jardine opened the inning with a poke at third that Sheehan failed to handle and started the fireworks as Landon sacrificed Jardine to second. Armstrong then enlivened the game with one hot fly down into the fields of waving corn that surround the outfield and on which Jardine scored while Armstrong reached third base. E. Jardine hit again into the right field and scored Armstrong, advancing when Kelly hit safe over first base and tallying when Stradley hit safe out into the right garden. Griffin hit safe to right and scored the remaining of his teammates.

In the ninth inning Greenwood lost two very close decisions at the home plate that looked good for scores.

The crippled Greenwood team could not show the speed on the bases that they should or the score would have been much heavier as there were several who had bad pins to get around with, they having seven left on the bags while Manley had but four.

The box score of the game was as follows:

Greenwood—

POLICE ATTEMPT TO UNTANGLE A MIXED UP CASE

Stories of Conflicting Nature When They Are Called Out on Case Late Last Evening.

From Tuesday's Daily—

Late last evening the night police force was called out to investigate a case that seems rather complicated and which the officers of the law have not as yet entirely got straightened out.

The call for the police came from the Hotel Perkins and when the police arrived there they found the storm center of the affair had vanished from the scene after creating more or less excitement with parties who were living at the hotel.

The police had related to them a story of this man, who it is claimed hails from Murray, having sent threatening letters to a man and his wife who have just recently located at the hotel to reside, and which was followed last evening by a personal visit to the scene of action and a wordy battle at least between the members of the party.

From the story as related at the hotel, it seems to be that the man came there and not being known to the management was allowed to remain in the hotel for some time, going to the parlor on the second floor and sitting there for a time. Nearby is the room occupied by the parties whom the man is alleged to have been annoying for some time.

The lady had left the room, when the man hurriedly left the parlor and entered the apartments where the husband was then preparing to retire, at once a very warm and exciting time ensued with threats alleged to have been made toward the husband and also the wife by the invader. In order to get rid of the unwelcome caller the police were called but ere they arrived the disturber in the case had taken flight and returned to Murray or some other place unknown.

As the man was not caught in the act of the disturbance it is possible that a complaint will be made against him and the authorities will then have the power to take some action and have the matter more thoroughly sifted out and further trouble avoided.

The affair created more or less excitement around the hotel where the first intimation of the affair was when the storm swept out in full fury and the law was called to the scene.
