Leavenworth, Kas., Sept. 18.—Death had ended the career of Colonel Ezra B. Fuller, who had the longest record ever attained as an officer in the United States army. Colonel Fuller died at Fort Leavenworth last night. He was retired three years ago after half a century in the army.

The colonel, one of the few remaining officers who saw service in the civil war, began his military career at 16 in 1874, enlisting in Company E, One Hundred and Forty-first Illinois infantry. He graduated from West Point in 1873, and was assigned to the cavalry.

One of the most famous rides in the history of the United States cavalry was made by the youthful Lieutenant Fuller in 1874, on the present site of Miles City, Mont., taking dispatches to General William T. Sherman at Fort Ellis, 3 hundred and fifty miles away. The ride was made in five hours less than five days.

Who shall heal the sick is the question. Chiropractors May Not Use Physiotherapy, Neither May the Osteopaths, Says Atty.-Gen.

Physiotherapy treatments cannot be given by anyone in Nebraska except persons licensed to practice medicine, according to an opinion given by Attorney General Spillman to Secretary Frost of the state department of public welfare. In the same opinion he states that with exceptions no one can sell poisons except a registered pharmacist. The exceptions are wholesale or retail dealers of patent or proprietary medicines, and dispensers their own medicines upon their own prescriptions.

The attorney general, in replying admits he does not know exactly what physiotherapy treatments are but he assumes that they are physical treatments, and that they are not such treatments as either osteopaths or chiropractors are expressly authorized to give.

"This being true," says the attorney general, "I do not believe that anyone who is not licensed to practice medicine may lawfully prescribe or give them."

Secretary Frost has been informed that physiotherapy treatments are generally electrical treatments, the type may be given by mechanical means or by the hands. They are intended to stimulate some physical function. He found that a chiropractor was giving such treatments at Central City and a student of chiropractic was giving them in Lincoln. The electrical equipment used is reported to be costly.

The ruling of the attorney general in regard to who is permitted to sell poisons may prevent the sale of iodine, paris green or similar poisons sometimes sold by merchants who are not licensed pharmacists. Secretary Frost has made no announcement in regard to the methods to be used in enforcing the statutes cited in the attorney general's opinion.

SLIGHT INCREASE SHOWN IN FACTORY EMPLOYMENT

Washington, Sept. 17.—Employment in the manufacturing industries of the United States increased .05 per cent in August as compared with July, according to the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor. Aggregate earnings of employees increased 1.8 per cent and per capita earnings increased .6 per cent. The easing off of the vacation season and the completion of inventory taking and repairs account for these increases which indicate a return to conditions prevailing in June.

TREATMENT TO SUPERSEDE THE WASSERMANN TEST

Vienna, Sept. 17.—A new method of detecting syphilis is announced by Dr. Mueller, head of the Vienna serological institute, who told the Austrian medical society today that it would entirely supersede the Wassermann test. Dr. Mueller said his method was an improvement on that developed by the Rockefeller institute and left no doubt as to the presence of the disease. Thousands of test cases, he asserted, have yielded positive results where the former method had failed.

THEATRE INTERESTS DIVIDE

New York, Sept. 17.—The Famous Players-Lasky corporation tonight announced the separation of its theatre interests from its production and distribution department through the organization of a new company which will be entirely owned by Famous Players, but under the management of the Balsaban and Katz Motion Picture theatre interests of Chicago.

SARGENT UPHOLDS WORK ON IRRIGATION PROJECT

Washington, Sept. 17.—Settlement of the controversy over the feasibility of the construction of the Baker irrigation project in Oregon rests with congress. Attorney General Sargent today advised Secretary Weeks.

Responding to a request by the secretary of the interior for an opinion on whether he was required by law to construct the project regardless of his view as to its feasibility the attorney general held that not only was the secretary not compelled to go forward with work he did not consider feasible, but that in the case of the Baker project he did not have authority to proceed without further action by congress.

HILL SCORES REFORM VIA CONSTITUTION

Congressman from Baltimore Deplores "Angels of Bureaucracy" Who Seek to Amend Document

Columbus, Neb., Sept. 18.—Speaking at the Mid-Nebraska exposition here Thursday night, John Philip Hill, of Baltimore, "wet" leader in the house of representatives, bitterly assailed present plans to amend the federal constitution, declaring that "today there are powerful men and women who are attacking the constitution to place marriage and divorce, education, health and morals under federal government control."

Mr. Hill's address came on the 138th anniversary of the constitution and followed an address given Wednesday night by Congressman William D. Upshaw, of Georgia, a staunch leader of the dry forces.

Throughout his address in support of the federal constitution, Mr. Hill attacked the 18th amendment, declaring it "unconstitutional" and unenforceable. "Prohibition," he said, "is a failure, and the 18th amendment will be honestly repealed or dishonored nullified as has been the 14th and 15th amendments."

"In 1917, the Anti-Saloon league, temporarily in power, like the Pharisees in A. D. 33, made the only change in the constitution in which they were interested, but today their action is followed by the child labor amendment and by more of the same to come," the Baltimore orator said.

Under Constant Attack

The constitution is 138 years old today. It was created to make coherent the Declaration of Independence. From the beginning, the constitution has been attacked by enemies, some bitterly avowed, some charging under a flag of truth. Until the war-born 18th amendment, these attacks in the main, were futile.

"Today, there are those of great power, who, like General Dawes, would change the whole character of the senate from what the constitution intended. Today, there are those of great purity of heart, who would, by constitutional amendment, make reformatory control by the federal government. Today there are those idealists without sanity who would by constitutional amendment place the control of our children under a bureaucracy at Washington."

"Today, there are those who, in the words of Emerson, believe that 'commerce, education and religion may be voted in or out and that any measure, though it were absurd, may be imposed on a people if only you can get sufficient votes to make it a law.' Today there are powerful men and women who are attacking the constitution to place marriage, divorce, education, health and morals under federal government control."

Hits Anti-Saloon League

"The theory of all the recent attacks on the constitution is that man as an individual, men collectively as states, can not be trusted with the government and that therefore the federal government must assume all functions of government," he continued.

"The self-appointed angels of the Anti-Saloon league, the self-constituted angels of religious dogma, the self-declared angel of human standardization, all these are eager to govern us. Do we, on the 138th birthday, want to continue the constitution as it was before the 18th amendment, or do we want to destroy it by the extension of the 18th amendment to other and new amendments, giving to the 'angels of bureaucracy' control of child labor, of education, marriage, divorce and ultimately all local and personal government?"

Citrus Groves.

Citrus groves rarely exceed twenty acres. Large holdings not being easily cared for. The trees of all fruits are started from the seed of the sour orange, because it gives a better root than other varieties. When the shoots have attained "the size of a lead pencil," the bud of the type of fruit desired is grafted into the trunk. After this bud has "taken hold," the stem of the sour orange is cut off and the bud then covers the original stem. The trees begin to produce when four years old.

Produce Many Oranges.

Estimates of the lower Rio Grande Valley citrus crop for the coming season are placed at 1,600 cars. New groves are being planted each year and many of the young trees will start producing this year, with others beginning to produce at a maximum.

Newcastle, Sept. 18.—Due to the repeal of the Nebraska marriage law, which compelled public announcement of a marriage 10 days prior to the ceremony and a physician's certificate of health, it resulted in most of the couples going out of the state to get married, Nebraska ministers now are getting more marriages, as many people prefer to be married at home or at the local church or parsonage.

Mrs. S. J. Sloan, wife of the pastor of the Community Congregational church here, who always gets the marriage fee from ceremonies performed by Mr. Sloan, received her first fee in two years Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Edith Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. ## "DRY" LEADERS LEAP TO DEFENSE

Church Report Not Accepted by Pro-Federal Prohibitionists Like Wayne B. Wheeler.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Professional prohibition leaders in Washington, like Wayne B. Wheeler, generalism of the Anti-Saloon League, do not intend to accept the report now being published by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ, which characterizes five years of prohibition as having failed to achieve its purpose.

Wheeler declared today that, despite the origin of the report and the months of work that preceded its publication, it "contains nothing but destructive criticism and offers nothing constructive."

"Entirely wrong conclusions are drawn," Wheeler said.

The third section of the churches' report, published today, found courts congested with liquor cases to a point where ordinary litigation is being delayed.

Most of the prohibition violation, the report stated, can be traced to the diversion of industrial alcohol into bootleg channels.

Smuggling a and home-brewing, while important adjuncts of the illegal liquor trade, nevertheless are minor phases of the enforcement problem, the churches found.

CONGRESS MUST APPROVE RECLAMATION PROJECTS

Washington, Sept. 17.—The attorney general today advised Secretary Work that he lacked authority to construct the Baker reclamation project in Oregon without awaiting action by congress. The attorney general said: "I believe it is your duty to withhold the beginning of construction and to lay the matter before congress for such action as it may deem proper."

The ruling was regarded as establishing a precedent for reclamation projects, the administration of which has been the subject of criticism recently from western members of congress.

FAVORS PROSECUTION OF SOUVENIR SEEKERS

Washington, Sept. 17.—Persons from whom wreckage of the Shenandoah has been recovered by department of justice agents should be prosecuted or placed on probation by the courts, Secretary Wilbur said today upon reading a dispatch relating that four truck loads of wreckage had been recovered in raids in northern West Virginia and eastern Ohio. Soon after the dirigible's collapse the secretary issued an appeal to souvenir hunters to turn the wreckage back to the officers in charge.
