Fruit on Lower Rio Grande Citrus fruit production in the Lower Rio Grande valley of Texas totaled 226,231 boxes during the season just ended. These figures, compared with a total of 25,247 boxes for the 1921 crop, show the tremendous growth of the citrus industry in this irrigated region in the last four years. The figures show that 297,429 boxes of grape fruit were produced there during the 1925 season and establish the fact that the Lower Rio Grande valley is rapidly becoming one of the largest grapefruit producing sections of the United States. The remainder of the 1925 crop was divided between 13,814 boxes of orange fruit, 12,000 boxes of lemons and other citrus fruits.

These figures, taken from a statement prepared by the Gulf Coast lines, the valley's railroad, made public by L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific system lines, also indicate that the public's regard for grapefruit has undergone a decided change as compared with that of a few years ago, when the general conception of the now popular breakfast fruit was voiced by the immortal "Pat" when he told the equally immortal "Mike" that "a grape fruit is a 'timon' flavored 'vit' quinine."

Robbers Again Make Nehawka Victim of Raid F. P. Sheldon General Store Raided By Robbers Last Night; Large Amount of Goods Taken.

From Wednesday's Daily—The visits of robbers and burglars to our neighboring town of Nehawka has grown to be so numerous that they almost seem a habit, last night that community again suffering from the raids of the robbers.

The large general store of F. P. Sheldon, which several weeks ago suffered the loss of some $1,500 worth of stock, was again the object of the attention of the robbers and the loss as estimated will run from $1,500 to $2,000, the amount not being able to be ascertained until a complete check of the stock is made by the force of clerks.

In a special telephone message to the Journal from the scene of the robbery it was stated that the entrance to the building was gained this time by breaking through a rear door into the cellar of the building and from there into the main store room on the first floor.

The robbers evidently made their getaway by unlocking the rear door of the building and hauling out the goods and loading them in a truck or car in which they evidently made their getaway.

It was stated that the store was open for business until after 9 o'clock last night and that the clerks were there at 7 this morning to discover the burglary and the night visitors had timed their arrival so as to find easy sailing in getting away with the stock of goods.

From the repetition of the robberies and the fact that the party or parties seem to be familiar with the situation of the articles in the store as well as the general unprotected condition of the town, it would seem that the robberies are planned by someone very familiar with the town and the Sheldon store in particular.

The goods taken this time are largely dry goods, some shoes as well as blankets, sheep lined coats and other articles of winter wearing apparel.

Sheriff Stewart was at Nehawka this morning looking into the case and for any clues that might lead to the apprehension of the party or parties that have made Nehawka almost as unsafe as Chicago.

NEW PLANE WILL SKIM WAVES LIKE SEA FLEA Lyons, France, Sept. 19.—An "ocean plane"—a new device for water travel, patterned after the sea flea, which jumps from wave to wave, is being completed by Count de Hasenko, Russian engineer, under the sponsorship of the French government.

The count plans to test his craft in a voyage from Marseilles to Rio de Janeiro, with his German pilot. He hopes to complete the trip in eight days.

Count de Hasenko's queer device consists of an enclosed shell hanging from two airplane wings with long, freely-moving stabilizers, resembling legs, suspended below. At the end of these are boat-like "feet" filled with helium.

These draw only three inches of water, when the apparatus is at rest, and merely touch the waves as the plane skims along supported by its wings and driven ninety-five miles an hour by an airplane propeller. The whole apparatus weighs a ton.

From Tuesday's Daily—The beautiful home of Mrs. William Baird was the scene of one of the delightful pre-nuptial events given in honor of Miss Helen Eckenberger, the friends being invited to join yesterday afternoon in a miscellaneous shower in honor of the forthcoming bride.

The color of the bright hued autumn flowers added their warmth to the beauty of the home and furnished a pleasing part of the decorative plan of the afternoon.

The ladies, some forty-four in number, spent the time in the hemming of tea towels for the bride as well as the making of many other dainty needlework articles that were later presented to the guest of honor as a token of the esteem of the many friends.

During the afternoon Mrs. Robert G. Reed gave several of her always enjoyable piano selections and the ladies had a special treat in the presence of Mrs. Edna Marshall Pettys of Omaha, who gave a number of vocal selections in her usual charming manner.

One of the diversions of the afternoon was the writing of words of advice for the bride by the members of the party which proved a pleasing diversion of the occasion.

At a suitable hour dainty and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses assisted by the Misses Virginia Beeson and Sarah Baird.

CLOIDT LUMBER & COAL CO.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK FROM OCTOBER 7 TO 10

Since it is to his home that every man instinctively goes in quest of absolute safety there is grim irony, more than a little, in the revelation that somebody's dwelling suffers attack by fire every three minutes, approximately—that the average yearly destruction of homes approaches $66,000,000. Plainly, the safety that he seeks is not to be found around the average American hearth.

It appears from the published records that four of the six leading causes of fire in the home—defective chimneys and flues; sparks on roofs; stoves, furnaces, boilers and their pipes; and matches and smoking—invariably are preventable by the exercise of proper care and common sense.

The August issue of Safeguarding America Against Fire presents complete plans for community observation of National Fire Prevention Week. The National Board of Fire Underwriters, New York, stands ready to do everything within its power to facilitate the campaign and will welcome communications from fire wasters, local agents, municipal officials, school authorities, the membership of business organizations and all others who will participate in the event.

Surely a people virile and far-sighted enough to found a nation can muster sufficient intelligence and strength of will to preserve it from the wasting of fire—stating with their homes.

Cass County Fair. Good crowds greeted the opening of the Cass county fair on Tuesday. The day was bright and the streets were heavy in the morning, by noon they had dried nicely and the travel had made them passable and the people began to roll in and the streets were so full that at places the folks would not hold the people and some had to use the streets, which, since paving have been a feature of Weeping Water's improvement, was laid in as good a place to walk as the walks themselves.

The Weeping Water band dispersed excellent music. The streets were full of concessions, a ferris wheel merry-go-round, peanut stands, lunch counters, wheels of fortune popcorn and fine spun candy stands and it looked as though people thought it was to be cold for there were three blanket stands. A doll stand or two helped fill the streets.

The exhibits, at the fair, were large in number and varied as well as excellent in character. Troy L. Davis had charge of the agricultural and fruit display. The corn was exceptionally fine and better, it is said that at the state fair, there were displays of oats, wheat, onions, potatoes, sweet potatoes, carrots, peppers, tomatoes, cabbage and things in this line, like the sale bills, to numerous to mention. The fruit consisted of apples, pears, peaches, strawberries, raspberries, etc. at this time of the year, and a most creditable collection they were. Up the street we found committees, workmen and patriotic citizens arranging displays of canned and bottled fruits and vegetables, made a fine display and consisted of canned peaches, apples, pears, cherries, plums and all kinds of vegetables, jars of jellies and preserves etc. In the show room of the Philpot garage was the school displays.

On the lot west of the livery barn swine display and just before entering the tent is the non-freezable concrete hog waterer of Miller and Gruber, of Nehawka.

In the hog tent there were many displays, they being Polan Chinas, spotted and black, Duroc Jersey, grey and fine Chester Whites. The Schaefer Brothers, breeders of an extra fine line of Durocs had on exhibition the same hogs that took the premiums at the state fair.

Chickens, well, we should say so, as fine as we ever saw, Plymouth Rocks, white, buff and barred, white Wyandotts, Leghorns, Brahamas, Orpingtons, Rhode Island Reds and all kinds of ducks, geese and turkeys.

The horses were attracting much attention. The large team of Addison Boedeker attracting much attention and well it might for no better horse are grown. It was said a very fine team owned by Israel Jahn would be on exhibition, but they had not arrived as yet. There were some fine sheep exhibited by the three Norris brothers and two cows by Christopher Murray others were expected later on.

For the first day the attendance and interest was good, the weather ideal, and the exhibits about as fine as one could wish to see. The initial day presses an excellent fair and the excellent citizens of Weeping Water are doing the handsome thing in their welcoming and entertaining the crowds. Their pavements sure makes an excellent place for the holding of the fair.

EXPECTING 100,000 DEMOCRATS TO JOIN IN A PICNIC RALLY

Chicago Party Leaders Plan to Make Meeting a Real Political Pow Wow.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Preparations for the big democratic picnic and convention at Beverly Hills Forest preserve next Sunday reached the proportions of a national event at today's meeting of the committee.

With Governor Al Smith of New York coming to give the affair a national touch, party officials will come to Chicago with an appeal to bring big delegations and make the picnic a real political pow wow.

It looks like busy times on the stump in the west for the leader of Tammany Hall, Democratic chiefs in some of the western states intend to come to Chicago with an appeal to Governor Smith to help them put the donkey back on its feet in those states.

Word came from Omaha that a delegation of Nebraska democrats numbering from one hundred to one hundred and seventy-five will come on a special train to attend the picnic and talk things over with Smith. Another delegation from St. Paul, headed by former National Committeeman Dick O'Conner and William R. Quinn is expected. National committeeman Joseph P. Gray of Pennsylvania said he would be here with a party from Pittsburgh. In Wisconsin, where the democratic party has almost ceased to exist as an organization, old wheel horses have called the scattered remnants together for a trip to Chicago with a hope to obtain the inspiration for re-habilitating the party in the Badger state. Delegations are expected from Madison and Milwaukee, headed by National Committeeman Martin L. Lueck.

From the start, National Committeeman George W. Brennan, chairman Martin J. O'Brien, and other local leaders have planned to make next Sunday's picnic the biggest thing of its kind ever staged in this neck of the woods.

"I have been estimating the attendance at the picnic and had Chairman O'Brien. "But with this activity in other states I would not be surprised if we had twice that many. Another party is coming from St. Louis and there will be a big crowd from down state Illinois."

A delegation headed by Brennan will go to New York Thursday to meet Governor Smith at Albany and accompany him to Chicago.
