The only new thing some folks put on their home is a mortgage.

In these days of Scientific Farming, it is a pretty tough soil that won't succumb to modern farming methods.

Proper seed selection—the proper preparation of the soil—careful cultivation—and crop rotation all go to make a larger crop and that is what makes farming pay.

This bank wants to see every farmer in this community prosper—if we can help you, let us know.

Following the Bible school at the Christian church last Sunday the Rev. Going was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Reed.

Mrs. Dr. Gilmore entertained Mrs. Forsythe and Mrs. Mira McDonald Saturday evening at a six o'clock dinner. All had a very pleasant time. Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Tutt were visiting with relatives and friends in Plattsmouth last Sunday driving over to the county seat in their auto.

A. Gansamer and family were spending last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Puls, in Plattsmouth, where all enjoyed a very fine visit.

Mrs. William Crosser returned from Bloomfield, Neb., to be with her brother, Lee Nickles, while Miss Etta attends the Highlander convention at Denver.

P. C. Cole was a visitor at Clay Center, Kansas for a short time last Saturday and Sunday, and was visiting with his folks who make their home there.

O. E. McDonald and family had Sunday dinner with their mother, Mrs. Mira McDonald, coming in to visit his cousin, Mrs. B. F. Forsythe of Washington, Pa.

The Presbyterian Missionary society will meet Friday of this week. Mrs. Everett Spangler hostesses and Mrs. Bakke, Mrs. Albert Young and Mrs. Harry Frans as helpers.

Oscar Nailor and Herman Richter were looking after some business and also visiting friends as well in Hamburg, Iowa. The found things looking nicely there and between here and there.

Mrs. B. F. Forsythe of Washington, Pa., has been visiting at the home of Mrs. Mira McDonald. Mrs. Forsythe is a nice of Mrs. McDonald and has made an extended visit on the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Adda Rhoden of Chuck Butte, South Dakota, is visiting at the home of D. C. Rhoden and also with her many friends in and around Murray. Mrs. Rhoden is an old resident of Cass county.

Martin L. Ruby has been visiting in Murray and has been a guest at the home of his daughter, Mr. J. E. Gruber, as well as with other friends and acquaintances of which he has a large number here.

Frank Schlictemeier shipped, from the South Omaha yards, a very fine car load of cattle, which he is putting into his feed yards for fattening and which will be returned to the market when they are finished.

Henry W. Valley is now looking after the oil and gas station over on the highway and we can say he is taking good care of what business comes his way for he is very accommodating and will give the best of service.

W. J. Philpot and wife, who have been making their home on the farm west of town during the summer, have during the past week moved to Omaha where they will make their home from now on and will try the city for a time.

Dr. G. L. Taylor has his office in the south portion of the garage, thus vacating the front and north portion for the use of the garage as a show room, and which makes an extra fine one since it has been repainted by Mr. Jess Chambers.

Robert Troop and wife were enjoying a very nice visit last Monday at the home of D. O. Troop and family, staying over to Tuesday, but ran into a rain, which was not the most pleasant experience but still all enjoyed a very fine visit.

The Walker Construction company that has been camping along the railroad while they have been working west of Murray, have moved their camp to the pasture of Henry C. Long west of Murray and which puts them much nearer to their work.

The Keim Construction company, which has been construction culverts west of Murray for some time past has completed their work here and removed to Getz, where they will work on a stretch of roadway, putting in culverts between that town and Mela.

Messrs. Owen, Elmer and Babe Kell went out for a stroll in the woods last Sunday and as there was danger of being attacked they took their guns with them and sure enough a gang of squirrels did attack them and were not driven off until fourteen had been killed.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Rhin were visiting at Louisville last Sunday, where they attended a representative meeting of the Christian churches, which had in mind the arranging of contests for the Bible schools and church during the fall and winter.

There were representatives from all the churches in the county except two. A very pleasant and profitable time was had.

John Farris and family were visiting last Sunday at Syracuse, at the home of Henry Copenhaver, where all enjoyed a very pleasant day, and returned home Sunday evening and on their return were accompanied by Grandpa S. N. Copenhaver, who has been staying for a time at the home of Henry Copenhaver and will visit here with his daughter, Mrs. John Copenhaver for the present.

Word was received of the very severe illness of Mrs. Isaac Adleman of Springfield, who was formerly Miss Inez Horcher, telling of her having a very acute case of appendicitis.

Mrs. Hoehner, the mother hastened to the daughter and was taken by her son, Dan, who was accompanied on the trip last Monday evening by Miss Lena Lancaster. While they were going and before they had gotten to Springfield it began to rain, and grew intensely dark, making the return trip very slow and dangerous.

As they were into the ditch two times and finally arrived home about eight o'clock Tuesday morning just about worn out from their night's travel.

Home From the West.
Uncle R. R. Nickles, who, with his daughter, Miss Bertan, was looking after some business matters and visiting in the western portion of the state, he also being accompanied by Miss Alice Nickles, returned home last Saturday afternoon, after having had a very nice time while away. They drove in the Buick of Miss Bertan's and visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Crosser, Mrs. Crosser being a sister of Miss Bertan, they found things rather gay there but still in fine condition, but suffered some from the heat.

Touching Up Garage.
Jess Chambers has been doing some artistic work at the Murray garage in the line of interior decorating and retouching the varnishing and painting. The paint of the show room is particularly fine since the work has been completed. He also built a seat for the office which is an invitation and a temptation to sit on and enjoy a rest.

Some Fine Corn.
Edward Gansamer has on exhibition a very fine ear of corn at the Murray State bank which is hard to beat. Five of them tipped the scales at seven and a half pounds, while two ears weighed three pounds and at this basis they would make by weight ninety bushels to the acre but then not all of the ears would be quite as large as these but still the corn will make a very fine yield.

Raised in Cass County.
Julius McNatt has an ear of corn on exhibition at the Murray State bank which is a fine looking one and Mr. McNatt has a card on the ear saying, "This corn was not grown in Grant, of Perkins county, but on some clay hills near the Missouri river in Cass county."

Visits Eater in Illinois.
Last Monday Phillip Rhin departed for St. Louis and Highland, Illinois, where he went to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theobald Rhin, and returned, after a short stay, on Tuesday afternoon, having matters of business to attend to in St. Louis.

Burns Hands Very Severely
Last Monday night at Miss Grace Linder was returning from her work of giving lessons in music at the home of Otto Puls, on account of the shorting of some of the wires on her car, a fire was started, and, when it appeared through the dark, she immediately went after the fire with a determination to put it out and save the car, and when she went to quench the flames she received some very severe burns, especially on her right hand. After having gotten the fire out, her hand was so badly burned she could not drive the car and had to have it placed in a farmers barn, and telephone and have her brother come after her and take her home. The hand is quite sore but is doing as well as could be expected.

He Sure Killed the Mites
Last Monday, in order to destroy the mites, which had been bothering his chickens, A. D. Rhoden, sprinkled some straw, as has been his custom, over the floor of his chicken house and set it afire, but as the straw was rather damp it would not burn, he then applied a generous quantity of lamp oil, and when the match was again applied the conflagration that resulted also consumed the chicken house, also we imagine that it killed the mites.

OBITUARY
David James Hoenshell, son of John and Susanna Hoenshell, was born July 10, 1842, in South Huntington township, West Moreland county, Pennsylvania, and died at the age of 83 years, two months and six days after a very brief illness, having taken violently sick only Thursday before he died. Very few except the family and close friends knew of his critical condition which after the first few days rendered him semi-unconscious till the spirit took it light at 5:33 a. m. Wednesday, September 16.

He was the last of his father's family to die, eleven brothers and three sisters having preceded him. He and his brother, Israel, were twins and the youngest of the family.

On April 26, 1868, at Davenport, Ia., Mr. Hoenshell was united in marriage to Miss Rebecca Hartman of East Huntington township, West Moreland county, Pennsylvania.

He and his wife were born seven sons and one daughter. Willie at the age of three years, passed on before them in the year 1878.

Mrs. Hoenshell, known well to this entire community, preceded her husband in death on September 8, 1922.

We pay them tribute today as we recall their life of devotion to their children who are each one a credit to the home and also their life's profession. Known as the railroad family, they have each one made good and occupy railroad positions of trust and great responsibility.

Father Hoenshell enlisted in the service of his country with Company B, 142nd Pennsylvania Volunteers, West Moreland county, Pennsylvania. He fought in the battles of Bull Run, Gettysburg and the Battle of the Wilderness.

Following his honorable discharge as he journeyed toward his attention was called to the following lines on a grave stone:

"Remember, man, as you pass by,
As you are now, so once was I;
As I am now so you will be,
Prepare for death and follow me."

These lines made a lasting impression upon our brother and you can read them now on his tombstone for he wanted them to live on and help someone else.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoenshell came to Nebraska over 45 years ago and in that early day took their place in Christ's church and always endeavored to live the Christian life. They were always charitable and considerate of the failings of others, always ready to be a friend to the friendless and render help to those in distress and as men have remarked, without an enemy on earth.

They were not only blessed with health, strength and wisdom in rearing to manhood and womanhood their own seven children but also their son, Marion's four children, who are today young men and women among us.

Besides these four so near to them, twelve other grandchildren mourn their loss also the daughter, Mrs. James Johnson of Blair, Nebraska, and the living sons as follow: Marion of Alliance, Neb.; Dee of Fremont, Neb.; Erie, Onie and Ray of Omaha, Neb., and Joe of Greenwood, Neb.

"In life and death all travel toward God's throne.
His hands reach out to draw us gently home;
He, at our journey's end, gives peaceful rest;
His hears the only homeland of the blest."

Funeral services were held at the home on September 19 conducted by the Rev. C. A. Park and interment made in the Greenwood cemetery with military honors.

The Church and Missions.

The missions of the church and the church. The people make the church under the guidance and blessing of God. The Father, the Creator of the world, through the life and death of His Son, Jesus, the Christ, a brotherhood of the children of men. A divine institution, having its purpose the blessing of mankind on earth and leading them to that life eternal in heaven and of pleasing God, the Father, and his son Jesus Christ, whom he has sent to dwell with us that our lives might be moulded into his likeness, that we may live in harmony together here, which shall be a symbol of that life everlasting in that other and eternal world unto which we may grow by obedience to the commands of the creator whose we are, and for whose love we were created in his own image.

Such is the church we are prone to conjure.

The mission of the church and the missions for the past quarter, when Paul with Silas, Luke and Timothy were establishing churches and instructing its members in the way of life and the church and its mission to the world of today, gives the mission of the church plainly.

Paul the Missionary.
Paul, imbued with an intense love for the Master whom he had so recently hated and whose people he had persecuted, to rectify his former acts went about telling the story of the Christ and his mission of love to the world, a love so great that, as John has put it, "God so loved the world that who ever believeth on him might not perish but have everlasting life." That he came to the earth saved among men blessing with His kindly ways, and showing them the way to life. Then giving His life to purchase theirs from sin.

When Paul and his companions told in their simple straightforward manner of the life of the Savior, concentrated to man by the great love of surrender of that life to redeem man, there in rebellion to Him. The people were won to the Saviors cause and many churches were established which in there true became missionary with the years. Thus have many millions espoused the cause of the lowly Nazarene, and as all believers have spread forth "Like a sea of Glory spread from pole to pole."

The church has grown and prospered and with its growth the world has been blessed, man has emerged from Barbarism and heathendom to civilization and enlightenment. From the savage state, the state of the cave man by the stone age, man by the refining influence of love and justice has come to point where comparative safety of life, of home, of family and property exist, but where the unregenerated and unredeemed assert itself, when lapse into the former condition occurs, and man is made to mourn and Angels to weep, because of mans sins. When mankind walks in the way which the Christ has come to lead, safety, good government, love, prosperity, good health and happiness have been the result. When the people have forgotten God, and religion into sin and not followed the lives which the Father through His Son had marked out famines have come, pestilence has walked at noonday. There has been no security at night, murders have occurred. The sacredness of the home and the marriage relations have been invaded and transgressed with wars and trouble on every hand, which is the persecution of sin and death.

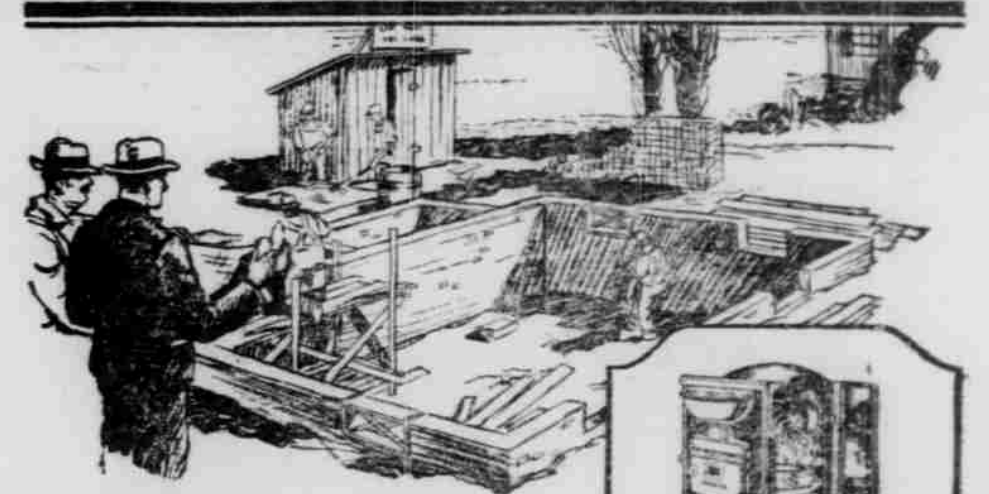

Those who have sown to the wind are reaping by the whirlwind for by sin comes death and when men shall forget God and not reverence the source of life, life here and life eternal there is no other way than to suffer for the offense, opposition to the way of life and non-belief, when the world had grown wicked the punishment of the flood was sent and many other catastrophes that man might be reclaimed.

The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life. "The last enemy to be destroyed is death." The present day sees many thousand murders dealt each year, many more dying by diseases, the result of sin, still many more thousands because of the sins of lust, avarice, greed, hatred, violence and envy. When the people shall forsake their sins and return to God.

To honor, believe and serve Him then will peace, security and health return to the race for disease, sickness and death in all forms are none other than the result directly or indirectly of sin and disobedience.

The church was brought about as a way creating that proper relationship between God and man which instructs man how to live and protect him in the enjoyment of peace, home, health, happiness and love. The church in another phase is the association together of the true believers of God for the promotion of good will among men for the carrying of the message of the Christ to the world and teaching truly the way of the better life here and the attaining of that life eternal which shall forever be a praise and a benediction to the Father of the universe in if only a very minute fraction of His great plan.

The security of the loved ones, the sanctity of the home, the very protectiveness of life and that happiness which the Father guarantees to those that love and obey Him will come when people shall follow the Christ. Christ came, lived and died, giving His life for His portion, leaving the church to carry on His work. Now it comes to every true Christian of whatever faith by co-operation in his church and with all churches and Christians and by personal evangelism and carrying the message one-
