R. H. THORPE PLANS TO ENTER CONGRESS RACE

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 20.—Former Congressman R. H. Thorpe of Lincoln who was defeated for reelection by Congressman Morschhead after filling a short term vacancy, has informed Lincoln friends that he will return from Denver to enter the race next year for the republican nomination in the first congressional district. State Auditor Marsh also recently announced that he would enter the republican field for the first congressional district nomination.

Pay Tribute to Departed Sisters

Chapter F. P. E. O. Passes Resolution of Sympathy and Respect for Their Departed Friends and Members.

Chapter F. feels deeply the loss of one of its members of long standing, Mrs. Amelia Straight. Her sterling qualities, her indomitable courage, capable and efficient service in her church and the P. E. O., has left to us a rich heritage of courage and purpose.

She was a loving wife, a devoted mother, and her personality was such that the entire community will feel her loss. After months of patient cheerful suffering, God in his infinite love and wisdom took her to himself.

Chapter F extends to her husband and daughter, and relatives, their sincere sympathy and love.

MRS. ALMIRA MARTIN, MRS. EDA HEROLD.

Mrs. Jessie Baker, whose recent passing has brought to us all a sense of loss and realization that our lives are but transitory—Mrs. Baker was a noble unselfish wife and mother. She was at one time employed in our schools and was considered a most excellent teacher. She has been away from Plattsmouth much of the time for years. However, when here for several months some years ago, she attended our meetings and at the earnest request of some of the members she again became active and several times expressed great pleasure in the association of Chapter F.

Our hearts go out in sympathy to those who were nearest and dearest to her.

Club Women of State Meet at Scottsbluff

One Amendment in the By-Laws Is Adopted in the Opening Session of the Convention.

Scottsbluff, Neb., Oct. 20.—One amendment in the by-laws was adopted and two other proposed changes were voted down, one after vigorous discussion, at the opening session of the thirtieth annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs here today.

More than three hundred delegates and as many visitors crowded the Orpheum theater for the first meeting at which Mrs. Paul Perryman of Broken Bow presided. Mrs. Perryman predicted the "biggest and best" convention ever held.

Abolition of the state federation's auditor and substitution of a plan to have the books placed in the hands of a public accountant to be selected by the board of directors was voted.

A proposed change in the procedure of nominating by placing in nomination six members in each district for various state offices, including president, was turned down.

Another change which would give each city and county federation paying per capita dues of not less than $2.50, one delegate for each 50 members was the other proposal refused approval. Dr. Nelle Deffenbaugh of Fairmont led the opposition, and it was voted down on her motion with agreement that it will come up later on the convention floor.

Mrs. John D. Sherman of Estes Park, Colo., president of the general Federation of Women's clubs, told delegates that the first step towards world peace was "to disarm one's self of intolerance of other nations and races."

"World peace," she said, "is one of the biggest subjects before the federation today. The subject includes citizenship and the American home, which we are trying to improve.

"There is no security for the American home as long as war threatens, even in small countries far away. We protect our homes by insurance against fire and theft, but we fail to protect it against war.

"The money represented in securities of the federal government in foreign countries equals the entire wealth of the United States in 1847. This vast amount must be protected. War would infringe on our investment, war even in the far away countries of the world.

"I believe that the women of the United States will get together and bring world peace. The General Federation of Women's clubs is one of the strongest organizations in existence, and every member must cooperate in bringing about a world peace and contentment."

Face Several Problems.

Development of music, literature and art, and the improvement of community social and industrial conditions were problems confronting the annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs this year.

A survey of illiteracy among immigrants of the state, conducted during the past year by the federation, will be read in tomorrow by Mrs. Paul Perryman of Broken Bow, federation president.

This subject, however, was covered from a national aspect today in the address of Miss Gertrude Fabisson of North Bend, chairman of the education division of the federation, who gave her impressions of "Chinatown" and "Little Italy" and other foreign quarters in metropolitan cities visited by her this summer.

Registration Necessary.

In her opinion, a registration of aliens is necessary to enforce the new immigration law.

"A law should require all foreigners to register once a year after they arrive," she said. "Those without registration cards would then be deported. This proposed law is recommended by Secretary Davis, and is endorsed by the General Federation of Women's clubs. The problem of immigration is to exclude those people who are manifestly unfitted to become loyal intelligent and industrious citizens. We need to strengthen and enforce the laws already existing."

Mrs. E. W. Johnson of Lincoln, social and industrial condition chairman, in a address declared that it often takes "such calamities as the recent Nebraska penitentiary riot" to waken people to the needs of such institutions as to their crowded conditions. She urged "fair" treatment by society to paroled or released convicts, declaring that "the test of whether a prison system fulfills its functions and is a protection to society is the man released from prison."

"In this way," she said, "it can be ascertained whether correctional institutions 'make the man.'"

A warning to mothers of Nebraska to "see to it that their children do not read immoral magazines" was issued by Mrs. Clara Clayton of Lincoln in address before the federation.

"Mothers most concerned about the character of their children's associates and who would exert every effort to keep them from contact with immoral persons, seemingly give little or no thought to the matter of their children's magazine companionship," Mrs. Clayton declared.

Edward Dowler was a business visitor in Plattsmouth and Omaha, driving over in his car.

George Ellis was a visitor in Lincoln last Wednesday, where he was called to look after some business.

Adolph Steinkamp, of Manley, the stock remedy salesman, was looking after business in Weeping Water on last Wednesday.

J. M. Ranney and daughter, Ruth, were visiting and looking after some business matters in the county seat on last Saturday.

Chas. Seeley, of the Republican, has been on the sick list with an attack of the flu, but was able to go out most of the time.

George Shackley and wife, of Avoca, were in attendance at the funeral of the late Mrs. Chas. Ward, last Wednesday afternoon.

Troy Wiles, who has 230 acres of corn, says it is good and has four pickers in the field, they turning out a large quantity each day of excellent corn.

County Commissioner Fred H. Gorder accompanied Mack Barger to Plattsmouth last Wednesday, where he goes to make his home at the county farm.

John Morgan and wife, of Akron, Ohio, and M. R. Chrysdon and wife of the same place, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Reed for several days past.

John Kettlehut and wife are at the Enno Ahrens home, where Mr. Kettlehut is assisting in picking the crop of corn which Mr. Ahrens raised this summer.

Cris Small, who has been rustling picking his corn, feels very well satisfied as he found when getting into the fields that the crop was yielding about 70 bushels to the acre.

John Stransborg, who fell on the Weeping Water pavement and broke his arm, is getting along nicely now and hopes soon to have the member out of the sling and bandages.

Bert Reed and wife, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Eula, were visiting at Elmwood on last Sunday, where they were entertained as guests at the home of Albert Walsh.

C. H. Gibson was a Lincoln visitor, where he was looking after some business matters in line with his business in Weeping Water, driving over to the capital city on last Wednesday.

Mrs. John W. Ruhga, living some five miles southwest of Weeping Water, has been sick with the flu for several days past, and Mr. Ruhga has been having a siege with the same malady.

At the Peterson Beauty Parlor there have been some improvements made, among which is the new parlor being off of the work room, as well as the addition of a new up-to-date work chair.

John W. Ruhga has gathered one field of corn and hogged one down, this giving him quite a start on the corn harvest. The piece which he gathered made 65 bushels to the acre and was of very good quality, also.

Mrs. B. G. Peterson has been having a tussle with the grip and for some days it was a question which would win. At the last report, Mrs. Peterson is gaining and it looks like she would succeed in downing the malady.

Elmer Johnson and wife, of Wahoo were visiting and looking after business in Weeping Water on Wednesday of this week. Mr. Johnson has some four clothing houses, one at Weeping Water, one at Wahoo and two elsewhere.

Oscar Hoffman, of Plattsmouth, was a business visitor in Weeping Water on Wednesday of this week, looking after some insurance business. Mr. Hoffman comes to Weeping Water to look after business every Wednesday.

Henry De Garmis of Los Angeles, who formerly resided in Cass county, but who has been in the west for some time, was visiting in Weeping Water for a week, the guest of Misses Ellen and Lillian Bates. He departed on Monday for his home in the west.

A traveling man from Omaha selling the El Roi Tan cigars, had the misfortune to run off a bridge north of town, breaking up his Dodge car and very seriously injuring himself. He went to a hospital in Omaha, and the care was taken to the Cole garage for repairs.

F. A. Burch, the oil station man, and a royal fellow, who spoiled the hunting trip which was to be but was not, has been kept at home by a very severe attack of lumbago, which has kept him at home for nearly the past week. While he is greatly improved, he is not feeling himself yet.

Wm. J. Rau an Artist in free hand work, Banker Wm. J. Rau, of Manley, is somewhat of an artist, he having on exhibition at the county fair and which is now at the jewelry store of George Ellis, two birds in a scroll. Take a peep when you are in the store and you will see a fine piece of work.

Scholars Provide Lyceum Course

The students of the Weeping Water schools are proving their loyalty to the home town and their school, when they have gotten behind the Redpath Lyceum course and on last Wednesday evening they had their first number, "The Two Fellows and One Girl." The students are sponsoring the course and we are certain they will make it pay out.

Welcome New Citizens

The Ladies Aid society of the Methodist church of Weeping Water, who are surely living up to their name, Ladies Aid, on last Tuesday evening extended the glad hand to their newly arrived minister, Rev. Runells, to Miss Wood, a teacher in the high school, and to Dr. John West. There was a large crowd present to assist in extending the welcome and some eighty covers were laid at the supper which they served.

C. H. Miller at Rest

Peter Miller returned home on last Tuesday from Milford, where he was called by the death of his brother at the Soldiers' home at that place, where he had been making his home for some time. Charles H. Miller was a soldier in the Spanish-American war and had been at the home for about a year. A more complete account of his life will be given in another issue.

Woman's Club Meets

The Woman's club of Weeping Water, an organization for the moral, spiritual and educational uplift of all interest of the town, met with their fellow member, Mrs. Bullis, on Wednesday of this week, where they surely enjoyed the occasion very much. An excellent program had been prepared and which was well worth while. Mrs. Bullis proved an excellent entertainer and added to the pleasure of the afternoon by a very delightful luncheon which she served.

House Burned to Ground

Last Tuesday night the fire alarm called the citizens of Weeping Water from their warm cozy beds, where they were sleeping so snugly, to try to save the home of Edward Henger, which had caught on fire and no one knows how. Mr. Henger was not at home as the family has scarlet fever and were quarantined, so in order that he could work he had to remain away from home. The mother and two children were the only ones at home at the time and they got away, but all the furniture and the house was consumed. The value of the house and furniture was about $5,000, while only a thousand dollars in insurance was carried on the home and contents.

Superintendent Hunter Here

The Rev. Alfred V. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Hunter, of Weeping Water, who had been in Omaha for the past few days, where he was looking after matters of interest to the Methodist church of which he is district superintendent of the Hastings conference, arrived in Weeping Water for a short visit at the home of his parents. He will in a few days depart for his home at Hastings. The parents will take the son in their car, and accompany him to his home in Hastings, visiting there for a short time. On their way, all will stop at Tecumseh, where Earl Hunter, a son will visit a short time before proceeding to Hastings.

The Hedge Problem

Last Wednesday, while J. M. Teegarden, the rustling realtor, and John is a rustler, and no one can say nay, was showing a client over one of the fine farms which he has for sale near Weeping Water and was explaining the excellence of the land, walking along at the same time looking over the farm, they being in close proximity to the line fence, when a crooked hedge post suddenly stepped out from the line of its fellows immediately in front of the genial realtor, protruding its (the post's) crooked nose right in front of Jim's mouth, when a collision occurred. The post was prepared for the impact; Jim was not. The result was the post was unmovable and obdurate. The impact loosened one of Mr. Teegarden's front teeth and lacerated his lip. While it was very painful, Jim who is a cheerful scout, took it very complacently and was telling the joke on himself with considerable eclat.

Death Calls Excellent Woman

The Doctor says

"For at least six months of each year, your heating plant to a large degree controls the health of your family." Install a furnace that provides moist, healthful heat. One that is gas-tight and soot-less. One that is dependable in all weather at all times. Install a WEIR and enjoy economy as well as comfort and health, the same as others have been doing for more than 40 years. Let us explain the WEIR Furnace to you.

JESS WARGA, Dealer Plattsmouth, Neb. WEIR all-steel furnace

Miss Maude Teel, was stricken with appendicitis in an acute form, which disease had been giving this excellent woman trouble for some time. On Thursday of last week she was taken to Omaha, where she underwent an operation the following day. In the hope of obtaining relief and that she might soon recover. The case was an aggravated one, however, and the patient did not rally as it was desired, and getting worse instead of better she soon sank into her last sleep. On Monday morning of this week the remains were brot to the farm east of Weeping Water, where the funeral was held from the Christian church of which she was a devoted member, the service being conducted by the pastor, Rev. Cruze.

Mrs. Ward, who was formerly Miss Teel, was a very devoted member of the Christian church and with her husband and father gave their two children Christian training. The children, two boys, ten and six, Gale Reed and Kenneth Rex, will miss their mother as will the husband and also all who are in need of a friend. The church will have a singing service. Mrs. Ward was 38 years old at the time of her death and came to this place from Oklahoma, the scene of her childhood.

We join with the many friends in extending sympathy to the bereft husband and children.

Omaha Man Shoots Son.

Last Wednesday afternoon, Marvin R. Bishop and his son Marvin Bishop, Jr., a young man not yet out of his teens, and another gentleman, named Wilson, all of Omaha, had come to Louisville in their car and then on towards Weeping Water and were hunting. They being equipped with automatic shotguns; When the elder Bishop was turning around, the gun which he had ready for a shot showed any game appear, accidentally was discharged. The charge entered the shoulder of the son, who was a number of yards away, lacerating the shoulder and tearing the muscles and flesh from the upper arm. The young man was rushed to Weeping Water where, Dr. M. U. Thomas gave first aid and an effort was made to secure an engine and coach to take the youngster to Omaha. He was taken to the Missouri Pacific station for that purpose. Not being able to do this an ambulance was ordered from Omaha and the young man was taken back in it starting about six in the evening. The father, who loved the son as his own life was in a frenzy fearing the son would not survive. Dr. Thomas, who made an examination hopes that he would recover, but thought the loss of the mangled arm was probable. The mother who was notified came with the ambulance and ministered to the son, during the trip to Omaha.
