Entertain the Higher Classes.

Mrs. Rex Peters, one of the efficient teachers of the Greenwood schools, and who is a very accomplished instructor, gave a reception to the Junior and Senior classes of the Greenwood high school at her home last Friday, at which there were a large number of young people present, and a very worth while time and an enjoyable one was had.

No Water as Yet, But Soon.

There has been some annoying leaks in the water mains which have caused much work and trouble to locate and stop, but which the company installing same have been after with vigor and are now about ready for the final test and the institution of the service which has been the real idea of the construction of the system.

Inspect Roads and Boxes.

Miss Catherine Coleman, postmistress for Greenwood, on last Wednesday made a trip over route 21 on Thursday made a trip over route two, inspecting bridges and boxes as well as the roads in order that the carriers may be able to get over their routes with ease and dispatch. The requirements are that the postmasters must make these trips of inspection two times during the year, in April and October.

Elected Chairman Executive.

At the bankers' convention which has just closed in Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Hall were in attendance and enjoyed the occasion very much. The convention thought enough of Mr. Hall as a banker that they placed him at the head of the executive committee, of the state bankers association. Greenwood should be pretty well satisfied with the honor that came to them, in this respect and Cass county can also be well satisfied that one of her bankers is at the head of the working force of the banks of the entire state of Nebraska.

Has a Very Effective System.

The representative of the Journal visited on last Friday the meat house of the Newkirk Market and Grocery, and was shown the excellent refrigerating system which he has in his place. While the room was very comfortable by reason of the fire which was burning in the rear room, when we entered the refrigerator, it appeared as though one was going from summer to winter, for the temperature was down to below forty with the plant running but a short time. After emerging from the refrigerator which is indeed a room by itself, we followed the frost covered pipe which led to the building in the rear where the engine and apparatus was situated and found that he has installed a new engine for the power. The plant is sure working to perfection and affording the best possible care of the produce which he sells.

GET AT THE CAUSE

Many Plattsmouth Folks are Showing How to Avoid Needless Suffering.

There's nothing more annoying than kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and what wonder with the burning and scalding, the attendant backache, headache, dizziness, life is indeed a burden. Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys—have brought peace and comfort to many Plattsmouth people. Profit by this Plattsmouth resident's experience: mechanic, 615 S. 6th street, says: "Sharp pains seized across my back until I was unable to work for several days. Every move I made sent a knife-like pain through my back. My back was so weak, it felt unsupported and I could hardly turn over in bed. The kidney secretions were dark and scalded in passage. I used Doan's Pills and they cured the entire trouble."

Mr. Kaufman is only one of many Plattsmouth people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S PILLS, the same that Mr. Kaufman had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 60 cents at all dealers. ### DISASTER ARE GREAT STIMULANT TO INVENTORS

Washington.—Disaster stimulates inventive genius.

The Shenandoah disaster, the plight of the navy seaplane PN-9 No. 1, which was lost for ten days in the Pacific, and the sinking of the submarine S-51 have brought a score of suggestions for methods of rescue to the aid of the navy department.

Since the disaster to the submarine S-51, more than thirty plans for safety devices for underwater craft have been offered to the navy department. More than 5,000 such plans are now before the department for consideration. The temporary loss of the PN-9 No. 1 brought a deluge of suggestions for methods by which crews of planes stranded at sea might communicate with land. Not only did the Shenandoah disaster bring forth many safety devices for lighter-than-air craft, but many plans for changes in structure and construction were presented to the navy department for consideration.

The world war gave a corresponding impetus to the development of implements of war, collectively called "ordnance." Material as contrasted with personnel is now being viewed more and more by war department experts as a determining factor in warfare.

The insistent search for help in making weapons more effective has led ordnance experts into new fields. When powder-train fuses were found too inaccurate in high altitude firing against aircraft, due to inconsistent tudes, the peaceful watchmaker was drafted to pit his skill against the forces of nature.

As a result there was developed a mechanical time fuse, unaffected by varying atmospheric pressure, a delicate piece of machinery which withstand being shot from an aircraft gun at a speed of 2,500 feet a second, sustaining a suddenly applied load of three pounds for every grain of its own weight while being whirled at 30,000 revolutions a minute. Contrast this with ordinary work of the watchmaker who deals only in stopwatches accurate to the hundredth of a second and which are twenty times as delicate as the ordinary split-second timer.
