Henry A. Guthman and the wife were visiting and looking after some business matters in Omaha on last Wednesday, they driving over in their car.

Gust Gakemeier and wife were in Plattsmouth last Monday when the hearing on the will of the late Mrs. Sarah Thimgan was being conducted in the district court.

Mrs. George Melvon and daughter, Miss Jessie and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Schmidt were looking after some business matters in Plattsmouth the fore part of last week.

John Amgwert, who formerly conducted a restaurant in Murdock, but who now resides near Weeping Water, accompanied by his wife, was in Murdock last Thursday.

L. Neitzel and wife, Katherine Neitzel and Mr. H. Fahenbrook, of Culbertson, Nebraska, motored to Havelock Sunday afternoon and spent some time with O. J. Hitechock.

John Amgwert and wife were visiting in Lincoln last Wednesday, driving over in their car and were doing some shopping as well as visiting with friends.

During the time that Mr. Landholm, who is at the hospital in Omaha, is away, Mr. Frank Pymale, of Elmwood, is looking after the business at the garage with the assistance of Uncle George Utt.

Uncle Henry Reickman, having observed the handwriting on the wall, that it was going to snow and he cold weather, was hustling around last Thursday getting the furnace in condition for the winter.

Last Wednesday was chicken day and there were a large number who brought their feathered birds to the Murdock market. This aided in making the business of the stirring little city well worth while that day.

The village board meeting announced for December 3rd, was postponed until December 10th, on account of the storm. A large attendance of the taxpayers is expected to be present and get some information they need to know.

The Bible Study class, under the leadership of L. Neitzel, is making great progress and the number of young people taking part is increasing right along. The lessons are brot up to date and explained in a practical way and adapted to daily life.

Uncle Henry Schlueter and wife were over to Lincoln last week one day, going to visit with their grandson, Henry Bornemeier, who is in the hospital there, having undergone an operation for appendicitis, he being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bornemeier, of Elmwood.

E. W. Thimgan and wife, Matthew Thimgan and wife and Mrs. Rohrdanz, who is visiting in Murdock from Kansas, were called to Plattsmouth, where they were witnesses in the hearing of the will case of Mrs. Sarah Thimgan, deceased, the hearing occurring on last Monday.

Jess Landholm went to Omaha on last Thursday to see a specialist in regard to a growth on one of his hips, which has been causing him some trouble of late. If necessary, he will go to the hospital for a correction of the trouble, which his many friends are hoping he will soon be rid of.

Henry A. Tool who with the wife were spending Thanksgiving and a few days at Ackley, Iowa, where they generally raise a lot of corn, says that this year is no exception unless it be from the standpoint that they raised more this year than ever before. It looks like every time a good yield of corn is reported that the price advances a cent and during the past week she has made a good record.

Ben Mickey, a son of one of the late governors of the great state of Nebraska, who resides near Wood Lake, was down to Lincoln last week to attend the football game between the Hoosiers and the Cornhuskers and also a family reunion which was held at the home of relatives at University Place and found time for he and his wife to run over to Murdock for a day's visit with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Guthman. They were telling of an odd character known as "Hub" Daniels, who had lived for a number of years on a ranch where the Murdock folks generally stayed on their hunting trips in that part of the state and who was buried recently on the ranch where he had resided and entertained his guests.

The Granddaughter Arrives

We always noticed the very kindly expression in the eyes of Uncle Henry Bashman whom we should by right have been calling Grandfather all this time, but now we will have to, for he has a right to smile, for a new granddaughter has come to the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. H. Ward. The mother and little one are doing nicely at this time. There is some doubt about the father, Art Ward and the grandfather, but we are sure they will pull through. Joy is a hard element to reckon with.

Many Get Hail Insurance

The people who have not believed in hail insurance are now rather glad they had some for during the past week some $15,000 has been distributed in and around Murdock for losses suffered by the hail last summer. There are yet to some some $25,000, which in all it is very conservatively estimated will be in the neighborhood of $40,000. This is surely fine for the lucky parties who will be compensated in part at least for their work in planting and cultivating the crops that were devastated by the hail.

PAWNEE WOMAN BEATS RECORD PICKS 106 BUSHELS OF CORN

Pawnee City, Neb., Dec. 3.—Mrs. Dick Percival, holder of Pawnee county women's corn shucking championship by virtue of her feat of husking 91 bushels in a day, surpassed her own record recently when she gathered 106 bushels of corn. From 6:30 in the morning until 5:30 at night Mrs. Percival tramped the rows of about two acres of corn near her home six miles south of here. Her husband hauled and scooped the loads shucked by his wife and himself.

Mrs. Percival dresses like a man when in the field and uses a regular patent hook. She is the mother of six children, and before "calling it a day" she did her housework and aided in preparations for Thanksgiving.

BEVERLY BANK MAY PAY OBLIGATIONS

Lincoln, Dec. 4.—Van E. Peterson, secretary of the guaranty fund commission, says that he believes assets of the Beverly State bank will yield enough to pay depositors in full, and declared that no loss in the guaranty fund will ensue.

D. F. Pattle, former cashier of the institution who disappeared and was found in a Lincoln hotel, is still here under the care of George Christian recuperating from the effects of poison taken a week ago.

An investigation of State Bank Examiner S. L. Hestbeck disclosed that the bank's business had been conducted "in a very slipshod way," Mr. Peterson said.

Fourteen Respond to Plea of the Evangelist

Best Service in Point of Results Obtained Since Meeting Started, Despite the Bad Weather.

From Friday's Daily—

Those in attendance at last night's revival service at the First Christian church witnessed a wonderful response to the invitation extended at the close of the evangelist's message. Fourteen responded by coming forward to either take membership with the church or confess their faith and desire to be obedient to the teachings of Christ. This makes a total of twenty-eight which, during the meetings, have taken the stand for Christ. Wednesday night was another night in which the audience was of house capacity size. The Evangelist preached a powerful sermon at this service on the subject of Baptism. Mr. Irving Wilse pleased the audience greatly with a solo which he sang splendidly and impressively.

The special music of last evening was given by the Oliver C. Hudson family and consisted of a violin solo as presented by Miss Leona Hudson, accompanied on the piano by her mother, Mrs. O. C. Hudson. Two solo numbers were then contributed on the part of Mrs. George Nelson, to which her mother, Mrs. Hudson, played the accompaniment. These numbers of special music were especially pleasing to those present and brought an added seriousness to the spirit of the service.

The evangelist stressed in his message the greatness of the need of making a choice which would be in favor of God. It was a real message, delivered with his usual force and power and resulted in the gratifying results above mentioned.

It is expected that tonight's audience will be the largest of any during the series of meetings. The church will undoubtedly be crowded to the doors. A big attraction of tonight's service will be the presence of the evangelist's family in a musical program of probably thirty-five or forty minutes in length.

This family is unusually talented and has had wide experience, appearing before out state conventions or services of a similar nature among our brotherhood. Solo numbers, duets, trios, quartets, piano and trombone solos will be among the offerings of the evening. Those wishing to hear this musical offering should come early. The evangelist has chosen for his subject at tonight's services the thought of "Christ at the Door."

Contributions Coming in for New Building

Added Impetus Given Campaign for Community Building as List Nears the Goal Mark.

From Friday's Daily—

Nothing succeeds like success! To this may be accountable in part at least the fact that the community auditorium fund is being boosted almost daily by handsome volunteer contributions since the splendid increases from the carnival and sale of the Overland car given by T. H. Pollock started the mercury on the way to the top of the tube in the improvised thermometer at the Bates Book Store corner.

When the cornerstone of the new building is laid, among the things deposited therein will be a list of all contributors to the fund. All the money collected to date has been held intact and will continue to be until the drive goes over the top and the balance necessary to erect the building is borrowed.

In giving $50 to the fund yesterday, a man who wishes his identity withheld stated that he felt everyone will rally to the cause, now that success is assured and make possible the securing in a few days of all the remaining sum necessary to go over the top.

Success is in the air. Let's all get behind the ball and keep it rolling right on over the top. Leslie Niel is treasurer of the Finance committee and contributions may be left with him at the postoffice. Due credit for every penny subscribed will be made in the published list of contributors. Everyone can well afford to invest at least a few dollars in this enterprise that will return big dividends for our town and community.

FARMER HAS DOG THAT SHUCKS CORN

Pawnee City, Dec. 4.—A scotch collie dog that shucks corn is the property of Henry Loch, farmer nine miles southwest of this city.

A short time ago Ray Dodson was picking corn on land he had rented from Loch when he noticed Loch's dog watching the ears being snapped and husked. The dog then leaped on a stalk, bore it to the ground and tore off an ear of corn. "Worrying" it with his feet and teeth, he cleaned the ear and then marched to Dodson with the corn in his mouth. He repeated the performance several times, then struck a rabbit scent and left Dodson shucking alone.

Education is Growing in the United States

Years Has Brought Education to Every Portion of the United States—Still Growing.

The urge for education in this country has grown to such proportions that educational institutions being taxed to their utmost to house the millions clamoring for admission.

This year New York City has enrolled, for the first time in its history, more than a million children in its public school classes. Chicago has to its credit more than a half a million. So it goes throughout the country. This is the contribution which our public schools are making to the nation. It is the country's investment in the future.

The board diffusion of education brings into conspicuous view the dominating idea of the nation equity of opportunity. Education is not confined to "white collars." Scholastic training penetrates farm, factory and work-shop. Hundreds of thousands the subjected to its influence in night classes, extension classes, part-time classes, correspondence courses and, at home, by radio. It makes education—as is proper in a nation founded on democracy—democratic.

This spread of learning calls for an equalization in our social status and education must establish it. Existing social classifications can hardly survive the present leveling influence of literacy. In this country where a laborer today becomes a bank president tomorrow; where a shop mechanic lifts himself to motor magnate; where the self-made rise suddenly from obscurity to eminence, there is needed a new social recognition for all honorable occupations. Educational tendencies must not be controlled by but must control that social standing.

Education is the great leveler. It is breaking down the barriers between those who toil by hand and those who labor by brain; it is tearing down the wall that separates the socially elect from those of humble origin. Step by step this country is moving in the evolution of a new measure for social value—worth rather than wealth—where, if there be any aristocracy at all, it will be an aristocracy of brains. It is tending more and more to become the world's true index of value. For in every occupation men and women are measured by their works, and the quality of their work is in the

FACE, EX-SENATOR OF VERMONT, IS DEAD

Hyde Park, Vt., Dec. 3.—Former Senator Carroll Smalley Page, 82, died at his home here tonight from a stroke of paralysis suffered November 24. He was governor of Vermont from 1890 to 1892 and served in the senate at Washington from 1908 to 1923.

In Vermont's political history, Page was a prominent figure. Activities of Senator Page in the senate largely were agricultural, naval and financial. He was interested greatly in agricultural affairs, especially those pertaining to the live stock and dairy industry. This, doubtless resulted from his business, wholesale trade in raw catkins.

As a member and later as chairman of the naval affairs committee, Senator Page also was prominent in development of the nation's naval policy. He was a strong advocate of naval expansion, aligned with the "big navy" group in congress and spoke frequently in support of naval increases.
