

MURDOCK DEPARTMENT.

PREPARED EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE JOURNAL.

Paul Fleming was looking after some business matters in Weeping Water last Wednesday.

Constable H. H. Lawton was a visitor in Elmwood one day last week, going to serve some papers.

Attorney Allen J. Beeson was a visitor in Murdock looking after some legal business for the time.

Fred Bremner of South Bend was looking after some business matters in Murdock last Thursday evening.

H. W. Tool was a visitor at Lincoln last Thursday, where he was looking after some business matters for the day.

Emil Kuehn was looking after some business matters at Eagle on last Thursday, driving over in his car for the day.

Carl Hoffman last week caught a fish on the ice which weighed thirty-five pounds, near South Bend, which is a pretty good catch.

Edward Bornemeier and the good wife were looking after business in Murdock last Thursday and also visited with relatives for a short time.

Lawrence Rikil is having some papering and other work in this line done at this time, with H. H. Lawton manipulating the brush and shears.

Mrs. M. Sorick, formerly of Murdock, but making her home in Lincoln for the past few years, is reported as being quite ill for the past few days.

Last Tuesday E. W. Thimgan took a load of cattle to the South Omaha market for the Buell boys and brot back with him a load of calves which they will feed.

Louis Neitzel is doing nicely with the Bible class which he is teaching on Sunday evenings, there being good crowds in attendance and much interest manifested.

Mrs. O. Hitchcock and children came to Greenwood where Mr. L. Neitzel met them with his auto. They will visit a few days at the home of L. Neitzel.

H. H. Lawton has just completed the retouching of the interior of the home, where J. J. Donelan lived, which is about midway between Murdock and Louisville.

Harry Gillespie and Floyd Hite have been changing some of the leads for the electric light lines in Murdock and thus adding to the efficiency of the service.

J. E. McHugh was called to Omaha last Tuesday, where he went to purchase goods for the store here and to see that everything for the Christmas trade is shelved.

W. O. Schewe provided and delivered corn last week and while he had some corn he was short on account of the severity of the hail storm that visited his place last summer.

E. W. Thimgan and Matt Thimgan with their trucks have been hauling corn from George Thimgan's place to the elevator, while the latter was shelling two days the past week.

Mrs. A. R. Hornbeck, who is at the hospital where she is receiving treatment is reported as showing good improvement, which is good news to her many friends in Murdock.

Mrs. Otto Eickhoff and Herman Schmidt were visiting on last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Winkler, at Elmwood, they driving over in their auto.

Mrs. H. E. Lawton of near Wabash has been visiting for the past week at the home of her cousin, Joshua Sutphan and wife, at Nehawka, and has been enjoying the stay very much.

Harvey and Emil Heier were visiting at Louisville on last Thursday evening, where they went to attend a shower which was given for a young man who is very shortly to marry.

Jess Landholm is still at the hospital, where he is receiving treatment for an affection of one of his hips, which has been giving him some trouble for the past several months.

Mrs. William Winkler and little daughter, Miss Betty Jane, of Elmwood, were visiting last Thursday evening and over night at the home of Grandfather and Grandmother H. R. Smith and wife.

Attorney A. L. Tidd, County Attorney W. G. Kleck and Sheriff E. P. Stewart, of Plattsmouth, were in Murdock last Monday attending the suit wherein Cities and the State were the parties. The case was being heard before Judge H. R. Smith.

Jacob Reumlin, of Brownville, was a visitor in Murdock and a guest of his sister, Mrs. August Panska, and also at the home of his daughter Mrs. Fred Cordes, east of town, last Thursday, he having a load of fish which he disposed of to his numerous friends.

On last Friday Mrs. C. I. Long, who has been suffering from a tumor for some time past, went to a hospital in Lincoln, where she underwent an operation for its removal. Since the operation we have not heard how the young lady is getting along, but hope the best.

The recent Sunday school rally which was held at the Evangelical church was attended by a large crowd, more than 200 being there. Much interest was shown in the services, Messrs. Henry Reickmann and Henry Schlaphoff being the principal speakers on the occasion.

Emil Kuehn has just sold a quarter section of land in Colorado, which was the property of the Chris Guerr estate, and at the same time disposed of another quarter at the same place for some Iowa parties, and he says that there is some demand for real estate and that the interest in lands is increasing.

The village board meeting was well attended by the tax payers, and a keen interest manifested. Mr. L. Neitzel's statements of the finances of the village and light company set thoughtful men to thinking. He had his subject well in hand and it was presented in his own convincing, forceful manner and carried conviction with it.

E. H. Miller will hold a sale on Friday of this week, December 18th, when he will dispose of his stock, farming machinery, etc., which he has used in caring for the farm and no longer needs as he is now engaged in the mercantile business. The sale will start immediately after a free lunch at noon. An advertisement listing the various offerings is to be found elsewhere on this page.

Henry Heineman and Victor Thimgan were over to Plattsmouth last Friday, where Mr. Thimgan spent the day and during the time Mr. Heineman went to Omaha, where he had some business matters to look after and on his return stopped at the county seat and picked up Victor. During the day Victor was visiting with some of his friends in Plattsmouth and he has some very close friends there and one especially.

Something resembling an old-fashioned town mass meeting was the innovation which enlivened the village of Murdock last Thursday evening. Most of the citizens of the town attended the meeting and listened to much eloquence which was given out by the different members of the city council. Now those who never were at a meeting of this kind know how a city legislative body is conducted. The open forum meeting of the village board proved a pretty strong drawing card against the medicine show which was holding forth in Murdock during the past week.

The institution is located on a fifty-five acre campus and consists of six brick buildings, but only two regular students are taking the course of study offered. About a dozen Bellevue women convene there regularly once a week for a two hour study of the Bible. The two students are provisions of the caretaker, who is the only member of the faculty of twelve persons to receive a stipend.

The trustees, according to their attorney, are seeking to quiet title to the property because certain of the heirs of the original donor have asserted that provisions of the deed requiring maintenance of "a fine arts college for liberal education" have not been lived up to. The heirs insist the property should revert to them.

At present the college work is carried on in a room set aside for that purpose in the caretaker's house, and board for teaching the regular pupils a business course. At stated intervals other members of the faculty teach and give lectures.

The institution was founded in 1883 by Henry Clarke, sr., deceased.

On arrival in Paris M. Rakovsky demanded that the "Internationale" be played by President Doumergue refused to receive the ambassador if he insisted upon this.

The previous instance of the refusal to play the "Internationale" was when Leon Krassin, M. Rakovsky's predecessor, was accredited.

The Social Workers Flower club will meet on Wednesday, December 16th, with the Misses Olive and Blanche Horning south of this city. This will be in the nature of a Christmas party and all members are urged to bring a present for exchange.

Rev. Albert Sidney Gregg, author, lecturer and leader of the American civic reform league, was today sentenced to twenty-two months in the Atlanta federal penitentiary and fined $750 by Federal Judge Paul J. Jones. Gregg was found guilty by a jury last Monday on a charge of sending obscene matter thru mails.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of an order of James T. Begley, Judge of the District Court of Cass county, Nebraska, made on the 8th day of December, A. D. 1925, for the sale of the real estate hereinafter described, there will be sold at the south front door of the court house, in Plattsmouth, Cass county, Nebraska, on the 4th day of January, A. D. 1926, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real estate, to-wit:

Commencing at a point thirty rods north of the center of Section thirteen (13), in Township twelve (12) North, Range thirteen (13), east of the Sixth Principal Meridian, in Cass county, Nebraska, running thence west along the south line of Lot thirteen (13) five chains and fifteen links, thence south three chains and eighty-seven links, or to the north line of Pearl street, thence east along the line of said street five chains and fifteen links to the west line of Maiden Lane, thence north three chains and ninety links to the place of beginning, except the right-of-way of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company across the northwest corner thereof; also known as Lot one (1), in the southeast quarter (SE 1/4) of Section thirteen (13), Township twelve (12), North, Range thirteen (13), east of the Sixth Principal Meridian, in Cass county, Nebraska.

Said sale will remain open ONE HOUR.

Dated this 14th day of December, A. D. 1925.

Struck a Hard Spot in Road

William Nelson, who is a jolly old cove and a real good fellow as well as being a good driver of a car, struck a hard spot in the road on last Wednesday when he with the good wife and V. Smith were on their way to Lincoln to see Santa Claus, and as there had been a snow drift, the water running into the road made it very hard, and after Sir William had gotten into the road, he disliked to get out and put the chains on. It so happened the writer came along at about that time, and as we had the chains on our Ford roadster, it walked right up to the place with a feel of being confident and a "Get 'Em" snort from the exhaust. So we hooked on to the big car and the "twin two" otherwise known as Henry's Model T motor buckled down to pulling and led the way out to firm soil on the top of the hill. Then all were happy.

Bull Calf for Sale.

I have a pure bred Scotch Hereford bull calf for sale, see me.—W. O. Schewe, Murdock, Nebraska.

Will Sing with Patrol

H. W. Tool, who is a member of the Arab Patrol, or otherwise of the male singing chorus of the Shriners of Lincoln, will sing with them on Christmas eve, using Christmas carols which will be sung at the hospitals and shut in institutions of Lincoln, who do not have the opportunity to get out and enjoy the great outdoors.

Evangelical Church Services

Services at Louisville church at 9:20 a. m.

Bible school at both Louisville and Murdock churches at 10 a. m.

Services in English, 11 to 11:30, and services in German, 11:30 to 12, at Murdock church. Young Peoples' meeting at 7 p. m. and evening preaching services at 7:30.

Real Court in Murdock.

Last Monday was held the trial of Lantz Clites, who was charged with assault and battery before the tribunal of justice presided over by Judge H. R. Smith, and was by far the greatest drawing card in this city since the cessation of the hand concerts and the annual Ford days. The house was more than comfortably crowded as the people all thought, and rightly, that there would be some fine points of law spelled.

The prosecution was conducted by the county attorney, W. G. Kleck, while the defence was looked after by the Hon. A. L. Tidd, the Plattsmouth barrister.

Judge Smith presided with dignity and honor, and was able to render a decision on a point of law as quickly as an umpire ruling on a play in the world series. Much merriment was indulged in by the listeners until the judge seeing it was interfering with the grinding of the mills of justice put an immediate stop to the hilarity.

For Sale

Three male pigs, full blooded Chester Whites, ready for service. 1 1/2 miles west of Murdock.

G. V. PICKWELL, Murdock, Neb.

Worked All Night.

Paul Rinke and Harvey Meyers are two pretty fancy workmen and on last Wednesday after they had attended the medicine show at Murdock they went home and picked corn for Irvin Heier all the remainder of the night. They started at a little after twelve o'clock and a little after four they both came in with a load of corn. This was in order to get the corn out before they had to go to shell corn at the home of William Heier, Sr., who shelled on Thursday and placed his corn in the crib. The shelling was done by Robert and Paul Stock who are excellent men with the sheller.

"TAKE TO THE AIR"

Freedom of the air cannot mean a license to every person or corporation that wishes to broadcast his name or wares, and thus monopolize the listener's set, declares Secretary of Commerce Hoover. He made three recommendations to the fourth annual radio conference looking toward the solving of "the radio puzzle."

Radio traffic regulation by the federal government to extent of allotment of wave lengths, control of power and poisoning of the air.

2. Division of the United States into radio "service areas."

3. Delegation to the radio public of those zones a large voice in determining what broadcasting stations are to occupy the wave lengths assigned to various areas.

Under Hoover's plan, it would be necessary to set up some form of zone machinery before which applicants for broadcasting permits would appear to establish their right to "take the air." This machinery would report to the department of commerce, which would issue licenses on local recommendation.

You will appreciate the new designs in Christmas cards just in at the Bates Book and Stationery Store. They are beauties and priced right.

Bellevue College May Not Continue

One of State's First Institutions Now Has Two Regular Students and One Paid Instructor.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 10.—The fate of Bellevue college, one of the first in Nebraska, hinges on a suit to quiet title, which has been filed by the thirty-nine trustees.

The institution is located on a fifty-five acre campus and consists of six brick buildings, but only two regular students are taking the course of study offered. About a dozen Bellevue women convene there regularly once a week for a two hour study of the Bible. ## George W. Holdrege Given High Honor

Veteran Railroad Leader Who Started Service in This City Receives Deserved Honors.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 11.—In recognition of the part he has played in the growth and development of Nebraska, the Kiwanis club of Lincoln today bestowed its distinguished service medal upon George W. Holdrege of Omaha, retired general manager of the Burlington railroad.

Mr. Holdrege arrived in a special car to receive the medal and participate in the celebration in his honor. Among those who came with him were W. Thiehoff of Chicago, general manager of the Burlington west of the Missouri river; E. P. Bracken of Chicago, vice president in charge of operation, and John L. Kennedy of Omaha.

Speeches of appreciation of Mr. Holdrege's long services were delivered by Mr. Kennedy on behalf of Lincoln and by E. M. Westervelt of Lincoln on that city. Personal appreciation was expressed by Mr. Bracken.

Presentation of the medal was by Dr. J. Stanley Welch, president of the Lincoln Kiwanis club.

In his response, Mr. Holdrege reviewed briefly the growth of Nebraska, and pointed out the potentialities for continued growth. Development of agriculture through intensive and diversified cultivation of the soil, he said, is the surest means of continuing this growth.

He urged support of a bill which, he said, is to be introduced during the present session of congress, providing an appropriation for an irrigation project to soak the clay subsoil in sections of Phelps, Adams and Lincoln counties, and should have the united support of the entire state.

While the service of Mr. Holdrege from the time he began as a clerk for Kerney counties. The project is the Burlington at Plattsmouth in 1869 up to the present time, has meant to Nebraska was outlined by Mr. Kennedy. No single man, said Mr. Kennedy, is more prominently identified with the commercial and agricultural development of the state.

Appearing on the Kiwanis club's souvenir program was a history of Mr. Holdrege's activities as pioneer and builder, and a tribute to his accomplishments. In part it follows:

"George Ward Holdrege has always had an abiding faith in the soil, the climate and the people of this great state. His optimistic faith in Nebraska and the west has never wavered. He has manifested it not only in the many railroad extensions he has inaugurated and carried thru successfully, but also by his interest in the development of agriculture, mining and forestry. He has shown this unbounded faith by investing largely in ranch properties and in schemes for irrigation.

"His philosophy was ever that of sympathy and optimism. As the homesteader became discouraged, it was Mr. Holdrege who interceded for him and provided him with free railroad transportation elsewhere for temporary relief and with free transportation for his return to the cultivation of his own homestead after the cause of his discouragement had disappeared. Not only were the people returned to their homes with free transportation, but also at Mr. Holdrege's suggestion, the railroad company granted their grain seed free of charge that these farmers might have a chance to get a new start.

"Mr. Holdrege has ever been an ardent supporter of experimentation to determine the best cultural methods for producing profitable crops in the more or less semiarid plains and hills of western Nebraska. Knowing the abundant fertility of the soil and realizing the lack of moisture as the big limiting factor in the production of crops, he dreamed of conserving this moisture by improved methods of cultivation and scientific crop rotation. He arranged to test his theories on an experimental farm near Holdrege, Neb.

"Not only has Mr. Holdrege been an enthusiast for finding improved methods of cultivation for the retention of moisture already in the soil, but also he has had a vision of utilizing the surplus water of Nebraska streams to irrigate the lands adjoining in sections of the state where adequate rainfall is not always dependable.

"He has spent liberally of his own time and money in furthering such irrigation projects, in encouraging land owners to finance them and in urging their importance and value upon the United States congress as worthy of their financial support.

"Perhaps no single factor has contributed more largely to the development of Nebraska than the building of railroads, and certainly no man has figured more largely in this work than Mr. Holdrege.

"In honoring Mr. Holdrege, we of Lincoln and Nebraska are proud, indeed, that his services have reached beyond the confines of our own state. We mention particularly Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and South Dakota, in addition to Nebraska, where the name of George W. Holdrege is always spoken with a kindly feeling of gratitude and admiration, not only for the material progress and prosperity which his genius as a builder and manager of a great railway system has brought to us, but also for the man, his warm heart, his optimistic vision, his sympathetic interest, his impelling inspiration and his burning desire to serve.

President Welch of the Kiwanis club in his presentation speech, said: "Miserly hoarding, destructive dissipation, wasteful luxury and snobbish idleness find no quarter in Ki-

Tax Measure Called Rich Man's Bill

House Minority Factions Label Action as Product of Reactionary Alliance of Both Parties.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Minority factions launched a fierce attack upon the $325,000,000 tax slash bill in the house Thursday, branding it as "rich man's bill" and as the product of an alliance of reactionaries in the republican and democratic parties.

Representatives Watson (Rep.) of Pennsylvania, opened the fireworks with a eulogy of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, and then praised the action of the ways and means committee in modifying the estate law. Watson said he favored outright appeal on the ground that inheritance tax collections should be left entirely to the states.

Then Representative Collier (Dem.) of Mississippi, attacked financial estimates furnished by the Treasury department to guide the committee in drafting the bill, declaring that they were misleading and while Mr. Mellon suggested a tax cut of $309,000,000, the committee pushed this up to $325,000,000.

"Now we have the president endorsing our bill," said Collier, and added:

"We can raise the total reduction $150,000,000 and still not incur a deficit in the treasury, because the treasury estimators have repeatedly erred. I hope congress will repeal all of the war-time excise taxes, the automobile excise tax, the levy on theatre admissions and the capital stock tax."

A sharp tilt occurred between Representative Oldfield (Dem.) of Arkansas, a member of the committee, and Representative Green (Dem.) of Florida on the estate tax feature.

Recommendations are made in the bill to cut the maximum rate on estate taxes from 40 to 20 per cent, with an increase in the credit of the amount paid to the states from 25 to 80 per cent.

Green served notice he will ask for an amendment to allow estates in states which do not have an estate tax, such as Florida, to pay only 20 per cent to the federal government.

Florida is trying to drain all of the other states of wealthy persons by abolishing its state tax, but will eventually be forced to restore it on account of pressure of the masses in that state, according to Oldfield. Recommendations made in the bill will encourage uniformity of rates in the states, he believes.

The opening gun of the progressive republicans was fired by Representative Pears of Wisconsin, who scored the proposed slash in surtaxes, repeal of the gift tax and halving of the maximum rate in the estate taxes.

"England has an estate tax higher than ours, but it is proposed by this combination of republicans and democrats to cut rates in two," said Pears.

MONEY TO BURN

A man might light his cigar with a $10 bill to show his supreme disregard for its value and be excused for a bit of assuinity that hurts only himself. If he burned a hundred $10 bills every morning of the year, an insanity commission would look into his mental condition. Somebody would call for the help of the army, navy and police force of the nation. Yet, says Collier's that is exactly what the United States is permitting with its forest reserves where fires impose a loss equivalent to $100,000 daily. Of the $2,900 forest fires last year, "the perfect fools among us," to use Collier's phrase, started 24,000, all of which were preventable.

Industry's responsibilities in vocational training is quite definite and looms as a large factor in the betterment of industry conditions and the raising of the standards of quality among workmen. Frederick E. Searle, superintendent of Ford Schools, the Ford Motor Company, Detroit, told the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hoy of Lincoln, who have been visiting at Council Bluffs, came in last evening to visit at the Leacock home and were joined here by Miss Laura Leacock, who is attending school at Lincoln and they will spend the week end here.
