Have Exciting Experience.
A very exciting experience came to a number of Union people last Sunday when Floyd Saxton and Geo. Saxton and wife and the their mother, Mrs. Geo. W. S. Saxton, Sr. were visiting in Murray, and as they were passing along the street a car driven by two of the young men of that city, came scooting out from a side street, striking the car in which the Union people were riding and turning their car completely around and at the same time overturning the car driven by the Murray people, and rolling it into a ditch at the side of the street. No one was seriously injured tho they were all quite severely shaken up.

Harvey Miller Answers Call
The familiar figure of Harvey J. Miller, which has been an inspiration to his many friends in and about Union for so many years, will be missed with his departure, answering the call of the death Angel. Mr. Miller came to Union and vicinity many years since and by his friendly ways and square dealing has endeared himself to all who were fortunate in knowing this excellent man. Mr. Miller was never a man to complain, was always cheery when about his business whether the things were going right or not. His death came on last Thursday and the funeral services were held and the interment made on last Sunday.

Much Toll Is Taken.
The main street of Union has seen much taking of toll of human life and injury to many by the force of the conditions which prevail. Coming over the top of the hill at the east edge of the city, a driver not accustomed to the road, is immediately precipitated onto a very steep decline, and unless immediately he shall have control of his car the machine is, by the natural impulse going down the hill at a high rate of speed and when the tendency of the driver is to speed, as is too often the case, the car speeds down main street whether it is filled with people or not. The railroad crossing at the foot of the street and the children going to and from school add to the dangers. No matter who should do it, city state or federal government, some one should put some warning signs at the top of the hill and even beyond the hill. Such signs as "Slow School," "Slow Dangerous Hill" and also "Dangerous Railroad Crossing" should have some effect. Of course we know and all know that people should keep within the law and drive accordingly, but there are innocent people who are liable to suffer, and while the violators of the law probably have it coming to them, something should be done to protect the innocents, and while we may shrug our shoulders and say, "Am I my brother's keeper?" will it in any way relieve us of the responsibility which rests upon us?

Wind Returns
Some of Soil It Had Carried Off
Gale From the South Restores to Minnesota That Which a Week Ago Was Carried into Iowa.

St. Paul, Minn., May 4.—Tons of finely meshed soil which overcast the southern half of Minnesota in a heavy black cloud, tonight began settling. A strong south and southwest wind blowing thru the southern and central portion of the state, often with the force of a miniature gale, almost completely reversed the direction of the storm a week ago, which was largely caused by a northwest wind.

Today's storm was reported as causing damage to grain fields, with seeds blown thru the fields with the dirt and swung into the clouds above.

At Ellsworth, Minn., where the damage was reported heaviest, farmers on highlands estimated that nearly an inch of surface soil from the newly cultivated fields had been removed.

Lowland plantings were injured because of the pile of sifted soil which covered the planted surface of the ground with a coating up to six and seven inches in thickness. Housewives in cities, towns and country, however, were the most acute sufferers generally. The minute particles of dust worked thru window cases and the crevices of closed doors.

At Ellsworth, Minn., where the damage was reported heaviest, farmers on highlands estimated that nearly an inch of surface soil from the newly cultivated fields had been removed.

Farmers laughingly "welcomed back" soil which blew southward and which Des Moines ten days ago reported as having covered the Hawkeye state with a light film.

Albert Lea, Pa. north of Blue Earth, Laverne Austin, to the southward, Pipestone to the north, Madison at the extreme west, and eastward almost to Winona, marked the dimensions of the storm area.

MRS LUGSCH IMPROVING

One Year's Cattle Test is Great Success

Number of Head Tested Was 361,706 Compared with 163,215 Under the Former Administration.

Herds numbering 28,679 and cattle to the number of 361,706 were tuberculin tested in Nebraska during the year 1925, according to a report issued by the bureau of animal industry, department of agriculture. Under the former state administration in 1924, the number of herds tested was 13,073 and the number of cattle 163,215.

Dr. Clark H. Hays, chief of the Nebraska bureau, in his report for the past calendar year says the work of tuberculosis eradication has expanded and succeeded during the year 1925 to a degree that gives encouragement to the cooperating state and federal agencies charged with the responsibility of its direction. The work accomplished has been made possible by the helpfulness of a long list of educational, business and civic organizations and individuals within the state who are interested in the welfare of the livestock industry.

The report says: "The close of 1925 found not only twenty counties actually engaged in the work, but a large number of other counties diligently occupied in circulating petitions, seeking the service of the state and federal government for the elimination of bovine tuberculosis from their herds. More than 30 per cent of the counties of the state were planning in a tangible way for area tuberculosis eradication work. In this, as in many other worthwhile things, Nebraska refuses to be a trailer, but insists upon a position of leadership."

County Area Eradication.

During the period covered by this report, twenty counties were declared by the Nebraska department of agriculture areas for examination, inspection and testing of cattle for tuberculosis and for maintaining same as accredited or area-tested counties. Of this number, the work was completed in five to a degree that they could be certified modified accredited areas.

TROUBLES OF A TABLOID

Los Angeles, May 3.—Appointment of a receiver for the Illustrated Daily News, tabloid newspaper here, was asked in the United States district court today by Vanderbilt Newspapers, Inc., holding company for three tabloids established in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Miami by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr. The petition listed the assets of the newspaper at $1,045,000 and its liabilities at $1,000,000. Among the debts are the May 1 payroll of $18,000, which the petition stated could not be met.

The staff of the paper, in a meeting with the executives, said they would take the organization over for the final issue on the "dying hope" that some possible turn of affairs over night would permit the continuation of publication. It was explained, however, that there is an unpaid payroll of $11,000, which will be met out of the existing advertising accounts.

BISHOPS CONSIDER MISSION PROBLEMS

Washington, May 5.—Consideration of problems arising in its foreign service field as the result of the rising nationalist feeling especially in India and China was made the first order of business at the opening session Tuesday of the semi-annual meeting of the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church. The sessions are to continue through May 10.

The board, by a unanimous vote, also decided to continue its policy of rotating the bishops in presiding over the annual area conferences, so that none will preside over conferences in his own area more than twice in four years intervening between the general conferences.

SUFFERS SEVERE STROKE

He is now at the St. Catherine's hospital in Omaha and his speech has been badly affected by the stroke.
