POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

P. L. HALL
Democratic candidate for State Treasurer. Stands for a progressive and economic administration in support of farmer and producer.

For County Treasurer
I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the vote of the republican party at the primary election August 10, 1926. I am a graduate of the Elmhurst high school, a student of the state university, but did not complete course, as I stopped to serve in the World War. Since returning, I have been manager for the Farmers Elevator Co., at Elmhurst.

I shall appreciate your consideration of my candidacy for this place.

JOHN E. TURNER,
Elmhurst, Nebr.

CHINA THREATENS LEAGUE SEAT ROW

Geneva, May 18.—A last moment controversy precipitated by China because of the decision for the allocation of three nonpermanent seats in the council of the league of nations to Latin America, without specifying how many seats would go to Asia, threatened to nullify the results achieved by the commission for the reorganization of the council.

Eventually a compromise solution was adopted, whereby the commission put itself unanimously on record advocating the allocation of three seats to Latin America, and adequate representation for Asia, with the addition of the words that "the Chinese delegate agreed that two seats should be given to other parts of the world not comprised in the continents of America and Europe."

Offers Course for Librarians

University of Michigan Is to Open School in Training Methods.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—The regents of the University of Michigan have approved the establishment of a library methods training school. The courses in the new school will be offered for the first time in the 1926-27 college year. The school will be under the direction of William W. Bishop, librarian of the university.

Admission will be conditioned on three years of collegiate work and will be open only to students evidencing exceptional ability. Students upon graduation will receive the degree of bachelor of arts in library school.

There will be two divisions; a one-year undergraduate course requiring three years of collegiate work of above average grade, and a reading knowledge of French and German (or Spanish); and a two-year graduate course requiring an A. B. degree, a reading knowledge of the languages, and one year of training in library schools at this school or at an accredited library school.

While other universities are at present offering courses in library work. After considerable difficulty, capable library workers trained in these specialties have been obtained for the teaching staff.

The tentative courses of instruction for the coming year include general introduction to library work, care and use of ephemeral material, and reference work and bibliography. In the graduate course the subjects will be early printed books, national and regional bibliography, advanced cataloging, government documents, library administration, and advanced subject bibliography and reference work.

Oddities in Way of Making Living

Unusual Occupations in New York City Range All Way From Duster of Gold to Sea Scabs.

New York.—Of the many strange ways which people have found to make a living in New York city, perhaps the strangest is the selected by Bill Smith. Beside being a porter with the federal reserve bank of New York, Bill is a champion duster and confines his activities to gold bullion.

Groups of vaults of the bank must be kept just as clean as the floors and office furniture in other parts of the building. Accordingly it is dusted whenever the vaults are opened. This may be every month, every three months, or even every six months, depending upon how fast Uncle Sam spends his money.

On these occasions it is nothing for Bill to grasp his trusty duster, step into the vault, and flick the grey coating from several billion dollars worth of gleaming gold bars in an hour or two. The gold is piled in a manner to make dusting an intricate job, but Bill approaches his subject in a masterful way. His dexterity frequently amazes the guards who accompany the paper from the vault.

As a runner up for the laurels of New York's oldest job holder there is Walter Baugh, who finds the commercial possibilities in fishing tackle to his liking. Each morning at five-thirty Mr. Baugh may be seen marching thru Battery Park clutching a burden of fishing tackle and blood worms. He is tall, has only one eye, and eke out a fair exercise peddling rods, lines and bait to those followers of Isaac Walton who set out via Battery Park.

Fancying neither fishing tackle nor dusting, there are other individuals who wrest the necessities of life and some of the luxuries, from the odds and ends abandoned by their fellowmen. Some persons salvage waste paper from the streets, working fast in the first flushes of early dawn to beat the competition offered by the city street cleaning department. Their paper salvagings are carefully baled and sold, while bits of foil are rolled into balls and bring a higher price.

A SCORING FOR COOLIDGE

Washington, May 17.—President Coolidge was the target today for the dart of Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, who declared in the senate that he had failed to stand by loyal senate supporters.

The spokesman for the white house, otherwise known as Calvin Coolidge, announced some time ago that the president would take no part in republican primaries, the Mississippi senator said. He refused to be drawn into the Illinois primary and stood by and saw Senator McKinley, who had stood by him thru storm and strife, go down in defeat. The newspapers said he opposed Senator Watson of Indiana, but he came thru anyway with a handsome majority.

Harrison declared the president had not endorsed Senators Stanfield of Oregon, Shortridge of California, Cummins of Iowa, and other "good and loyal supporters, but had endorsed Senator Pepper, of Pennsylvania.

"Senator Mellon, who is the other white house spokesman, if there are two, is a speech in Pennsylvania, declared Senator Pepper had the endorsement of the Coolidge administration," he added.

"No wonder you senators who have ever opposed the president are trembling in your boots. Senator Dale dared to oppose Coolidge when he voted for the soldier's bonus and now he has a real fight."

New York, May 17.—Morris Titterton, aeronautic engineer and inventor, and John Goldstrom, aviation writer, will sail from New York on the Mauretania tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock beginning a race against time around the world. The two men will use airplane for most of their travel in an attempt to discover how much this new means of transportation has shortened the time to circle the globe.

The present record, set in 1913 by John Henry Mears, a New York reporter, is thirty-five days, twenty-one hours, thirty-five minutes and four-fifths seconds. Mears used boats and trains altogether with the exception of one short hop from a fog-bound steamer to land.

The race to break his record the two men must return to their dock in New York before four-fifths of a second after 1:35 p. m., June 24.

Goldstrom and Titterton will use steamers to complete the 3,200 mile journey from New York to Plymouth, and the 4,500 mile jump from Yokohama to Victoria. The remainder of their 18,500 mile journey, with the exception of a short train trip in Russia, will be made by plane. Morris Titterton is the inventor of the earth inductor compass used by the world flyers and the Detroit Arctic expedition.

AN APPRECIATION

Fontenelle Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution feel very keenly the loss by death of Mrs. Jennie Dodge. To her patriotism and love of country ranked next to love of God—and she was justly proud of the part her forbears played in the restoration of the Republic of the United States. She felt the responsibility of such lineage and was a loyal daughter, every upholding the principles of democracy.

Individually and as an organization we shall cherish her memory. To her family we extend our deepest sympathy and commend them to the comforting care of a wise Heavenly Father.

Signed,
COMMITTEE.

FARM IS MORE THAN HOME

Chicago, May 13.—No industry can rise above its sales organization and because agriculture has practically no sales machinery, it cannot be efficient. Arthur Huntington of Cedar Rapids, Ia., told the agricultural publishers' association here today.

"Agriculture has simply produced without knowledge of the market's demands," he said. "It has dumped into the channels of trade all its produce without knowing its final destination and it has made no protest until the amount became insufficient to meet actual necessities. For many centuries the farm has been merely a home, with little thought for profit. Today the farmer is coming to think of his vocation as a business."

BRIDGE BILLS BY HOWELL

Washington, May 18.—Senator Howell, Nebraska, today introduced bills to authorize the Kansas, Nebraska and Dakota highway association to bridge the Missouri river at near Niobrara and to permit Omaha or Council Bluffs, or both, to bridge the same river.

Henry Ford Purchases Old Relics

Buys Cornerstone of School House
Immortalized by Mary and Her Little Lamb.

Sterling, Mass., May 14.—Henry Ford has bought the cornerstones of the country school house which Mary Sawyer attended and which has been immortalized in "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

Saturday there appeared a stranger on the property of Carl Swenson, on whose land stands what is left of the famous school where the presence of Mary's lamb "made the children laugh and play" and after nosing around a bit said he would like to buy the three cornerstones which were the cornerstones of the structure. The owner said he was willing to sell them for $5 and the deal was closed when the stranger paid over the money.

It was not until today that it became known that the purchaser was the automobile manufacturer.

The townspeople now are all "fussed up" over the sale, as it is claimed the stranger said he wanted the stones for a school house to be built in Newport, N. H., the town which recently laid claim to being the scene of the "Mary and a little lamb" episode.

The stones still are on the Swenson land, Mr. Ford stating that he would come for them later.

ALASKA HAS 36 RADIO STATIONS

Washington, May 14.—There are approximately 24 radio stations in Alaska, most of them connected with some branch of governmental service with which the Amundsen polar dirigible, Norge, may communicate on her way down from the North pole. There are two naval radio stations which are known as radio compass stations, from which the Norge may secure her bearings if she gets in touch with them. These are NRM at Cape Hechenbrock and NUW at Soapstone Point.

Other big army or navy stations are WUP at Anchorage; WVG at Nome; WVB at Fairbanks; NPA at Cordova; NPQ at St. Paul; NPV at Seward.

Other stations are at Juneau, Circle, Fort Egbert, Ruby, Fort Gobson, Fort St. Michael, Nulato, Bethel, Holy Cross, Noorvik, Afognak, Valdez, Hot Springs, Iditarod, Craig, McGrath, Ft. Yukon, Atka Island, Livegood, Akutan, Sitka, Dutch Harbor, Kodiak, St. George and Ketchikan.

IMPROVE BRIDGES ON A BRANCH LINE

Red Cloud, Neb., May 13.—The Burlington has a pile driver and gangs of men working on the Red Cloud-Hastings branch, strengthening the bridge so that the heaviest engines can be moved over this line should occasion arise. Heretofore in time of washouts or other accidents where it was necessary to detour the main line trains it has been necessary to double-head the passenger trains with lighter engines than are ordinarily used.
