visiting with friends and also looking after some business in Plattsmouth last Saturday.

Rex Young and wife of Plattsmouth, were visiting last Sunday for the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Leach of near Union.

Earnest Pollard, Jr., is reported as having accepted a position in Chicago with an electric company of that place and will work there for the present.

Elmer Philpot was over to Weeping Water one day the last of the week where he went to visit with his father, Mr. Charles Philpot who has been very ill of late.

W. O. Troop and son, Robert, were visiting in Omaha and looking after some business, they having shipped two carloads of fat cattle to the stock market at that place.

Mrs. Henry Shumaker, who has been so ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edith Thelle, north of Muddock, is reported as showing some improvement at this time.

Harvey Gregg, who has been building a cattle barn and putting a new roof on the residence of Mr. Elmer Philpot, has completed his work and will go to Union to work in a short time.

The celebration of Children's day at the Presbyterian church of Murray was postponed on account of the very stormy weather which prevailed at the appointed hour of holding the program.

Robert Troop was a passenger to Kansas City where he went to purchase some cattle to put on some extra pasture which he has near Auburn, having secured the pasturage a short time ago.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian church of Murray, gave a party at the church building, on last Friday at which a large crowd of young people were present and enjoyed the occasion very much.

W. O. Troop lost a valuable young mule on Sunday which had been sick some weeks and which he was not able to work for some time. The doctor diagnosed the trouble as neuritis of the stomach.

Frank Trotter and Charles Chapell were visiting in Omaha and Plattsmouth on last Friday, having a load of hogs to market at South Omaha and stopped in Plattsmouth to look after some business.

Miss Lena McReynolds, who is attending business college in Lincoln and Misses Velma Munn and Helen Brandt, who are attending summer school at the same place were all home to spend the week-end last Sunday.

Miss Faye Graham of Bellingham, Washington, who has been in attendance at Tarkio College at Tarkio, Mo., following the ending of the school year has been visiting at the home of her uncle, the Rev. W. F. Graham of Murray.

Mr. Charles Philpot who has been so ill at his home near Weeping Water, is reported as being somewhat better though still very ill and still confined to his bed. He is receiving all the care possible and the best of medical attention.

The farmers of the community and as for that everyone, were rejoicing over the fall of over an inch of rain which was just the thing to make all smile, for it did help the crops and pasture and which are vital to the farming interests.

Marion Tucker was a visitor in Plattsmouth on last Wednesday where he was looking after some business matters and was accompanied by Walter J. Wunderlich, they both attending the reserve officers meeting of Otoe and Cass county.

Mrs. George W. Leach, who has been quite ill for some two weeks, was staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Leach while she was so ill, but on her convalescing she was taken home to Union and is doing very nicely at this time.

Leo Switzer and family were, on last Sunday, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kruger, where all enjoyed the day very much and where the dinner was most appealing because of the excellent cook and the delicious spring chickens which she has raised and prepared for the mid-day repast.

Mrs. C. E. Heebner, who has been so critically ill, is reported as being slightly improved and was able to sit up in bed for a short time. She still is confined to her bed and her many friends are hoping that she may soon be able to be up and about again with increasing health until she shall be entirely well.

Albert Stoll and wife with the children, who have been visiting in Nehawka for some ten days past, they being guests at the homes of Herold Kimion and wife, T. E. Pulton and wife and Hans Stoll, and visiting with their many friends, departed during the week in their car for their home in South Dakota, near Wayside, Nebraska.

Elmer Stoll had some business of a personal nature at Auburn last Sunday afternoon and evening and when he started to come home, of course rather late, he was caught in a storm, which blew so severely that it wet his distributor and stopped his engine. He could not get it sufficiently dry to run his engine and so was hauled into Nebraska City where he was so wet that he had to purchase some overalls in order to have some dry clothes to get home in. Elmer says it sure did rain hard enough.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Sheldon, who is in the hospital at Omaha, and who is being treated for a nervous affliction, is reported as being some better. Last Saturday Mrs. and Mrs. Sheldon drove over to the big city to see the daughter, and found her some better, which was very pleasing. When returning they tried to stop at Plattsmouth and arriving at that place shortly after nightfall, sought a place to park their car, but found all available spots along main street, fifth street, fifth street, fourth and seventh street occupied and after seeking a place to park for some time they concluded to come on home without stopping. Mr. Sheldon says business must be pretty fair there.

It was not Nehawka, but in one of her neighboring towns, that a traveling man went to and found the streets practically deserted, with the exception of a number of school children who were very busily engaged in selling tags for some purpose, and all of them tackled the salesman and some of them sold him tags. He inquired of the local merchant why so few people were in town and he told the rustler for business that it was tag day and everybody was staying at home. Two weeks after, the traveling man had occasion to visit the same town again and found the streets filled with people and nearly every family out. He asked again as to the reason for the crowd and just why so many people were on the street and he was informed that the same society, not having done so well as they desired with their tag day, was having a house to house canvass on that day.

Lincoln Creamer Not so Well.

Lincoln Creamer who was taken to the hospital some weeks since following a very severe spell of Hemia, and where he underwent an operation and was able to return about ten days since, was not doing so well and returned to the hospital and underwent another operation on last Saturday, and was reported as doing very nicely on Monday of this week.

Undergoes an Operation.

Mrs. Earl Pollard has been suffering from an attack of appendicitis and gallstones and was taken with a severe attack on last Saturday and was hastened to the hospital on last Sunday where an immediate operation was performed to give her relief and from which she has recovered very nicely and is resting quite well. Mr. Pollard, who accompanied the wife to the hospital, returned home on Monday and was pleased to report that the wife was doing very well under the circumstances.

Does It Rain Frogs?

We have often heard of it raining frogs and toads and as well snakes and some do not, and each can hold his choice. But the story is told of a case to this point in Nehawka, where one of the staid citizens has a rain barrel for soft water and when the good housewife went to get a pail of water from the rain barrel, she found a frog inhabiting the barrel and dispatched him, leaving the carcass lying on the grass. The gentleman of the house found it and was then convinced that the frogs rained when the storm came and he is still satisfied that such is the case.

New York Out

En Masse to See the Cardinals

Nine Princes of Church Assembled for Service Preliminary to Opening in Chicago.

New York, June 13.—With all the pomp and color of the Roman Catholic church, New York today paid formal and reverent tribute to the nine cardinals within the diocese.

The procession witnessed by 500,000 persons, began the formal reception to the princes of the church. Hundreds knelt in Fifth avenue to receive the blessing of Cardinal Borzano, papal legate. As the parade turned down Madison avenue to St. Patrick's cathedral, Cardinal Hayes of New York and seven visiting cardinals and their staffs, who had acted as reviewing party on an embarkment in the rear of the cathedral, marched with the procession into the front and into the cathedral. Preceded by servers with nine cardinals, in their scarlet robes, followed by a retinue in purple gowns, marched down the main aisle of the crowded cathedral under flags of the United States and of the pope and an arch of swords. They took their places within the altar rail, the papal legate occupying the throne, Cardinal Hayes taking his seat with the other princes on the improvised thrones opposite.

The List of Cardinals.

Facing Cardinal Borzano were Cardinal Reley Casanova of Spain, Cardinal Ssernoch, archbishop of Strigonia, and primate of Hungary; Cardinal Pifi, accon regular of the Lateran and archbishop of Vienna; Cardinal Dubois, archbishop of Paris; Cardinal Charost, archbishop of Rennes; Cardinal O'Donnell, archbishop of Armagh and primate of Ireland; Michael Cardinal Fauthaber, archbishop of Munich, and Cardinal Hayes, Cardinal O'Connell of Boston and Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia, who had been expected, did not arrive for the services.

The altar was banked with flowers of yellow and white, tall candles gleaming thru them.

Following the convocation Cardinal Hayes mounted the pulpit and uttered the greeting of the Catholic church of America to the papal legate.

Special Blessing of Pope.

Cardinal Borzano then bestowed upon the worshippers, the special blessing of the pope.

"The Holy Father," the apal legate said, "has been closed to send me as his representative to the eucharistic congress, an event which marks an epoch in the history of religion of America. Knowing as I do your earnest devotion to the Lord, in the sacrament of His love, I am certain that you will have your share, an abundant share, in the blessings that will flow from the public solemnity in honor of the eucharistic king.

"Your welcome to me here upon the soil of the new world assures me of a successful journey in the fulfillment of my mission. It will give genuine pleasure to the holy father, in the name of the princes of the church here present and in my own I thank you most sincerely and invoke upon you and yours the favor of the graces of our Lord, Jesus Christ, whose delights are to be with the children of man and in anticipation of the heavenly favors I am happy now to bestow upon you the holy father's special blessing."

In extending greeting to Cardinal Borzano on the part of the Catholic of New York, Cardinal Hayes rendered thanks that a papal legate had been sent "whom we know well, and we learned to honor and love ten years ago at Washington as an apostolic delegate."

"We rejoice," the New York cardinal said, "that we have again in our midst a friend who in his day served America by his wisdom, by his loyalty, by his prayer, by the very benediction of his life."

"It is for us all on an occasion of great thanksgiving to Almighty God that we are on the eve of the great eucharistic congress soon to take place in the city of Chicago, a sister diocese and sister city."

AIR MAIL AT STANDSTILL

Milwaukee, Wis., June 13.—Heavy fog today brought the United States air mail service thru Milwaukee to a standstill. Pilot William Brock, flying north from Chicago thru the dense mist, was forced to make a landing at Red Wing, Minn., and the mail was relayed to the Milwaukee postoffice by automobile without injury either to himself or plane.

Until the fog lifts, it was announced by postal authorities, no other fliers will take to the air.

The northbound mail was placed aboard a train for Minneapolis and Brock planned to return to Chicago with his plane tomorrow to make a fresh start. No planes started for Minneapolis today. It was learned here, as the fog was so thick in northern Wisconsin that flying was impossible.

GUARD AGAINST FRICTION

Delay and danger

In mid-ocean with a heavy sea running, a burned out bearing means laying to for hours. It sets the stage for trouble. Costly delay is inevitable. Disaster may be close at hand.

Just the same with a motor. When lubrication fails, you are in trouble. A burned out bearing may easily mean a broken rod or shaft, an annoying delay, a big repair bill, even if you escape an accident.

It pays to be particular about the kind of motor oil you buy. Motor oils are not alike in anything except appearance. Some run thin as soon as the motor warms up. Some quickly choke a motor with hard carbon. Polarine resists heat and protects every bearing, rod and moving part against friction and wear with a strong elastic oil cushion. Polarine is the finest motor oil that a generation of experience, experiment and the most modern manufacturing equipment has been able to produce.

Polarine Oils are carefully made to suit the lubricating system, the clearances in bearings and between moving parts—to stand the normal operating heat of the motor without breaking down and running thin—to exactly suit the needs and requirements of the motors for which they are recommended.

Polarine oil engineers and automotive experts tried all kinds of oil in all makes and types of motors before they drew up the Polarine Chart for your guidance. It is built up on knowledge, not on guesswork. Buy the grade of Polarine it specifies for your car. Renew the oil every 500 miles or as frequently as the manufacturer recommends. You'll save yourself a lot of inconvenience and expenses.

Polarine is made in six grades—Polarine Light, Medium, Heavy, Special Heavy, Extra Heavy and Polarine "F" for Fords—a grade for every make, type and age of motor, under all operating conditions. Buy Polarine for protective lubrication where you buy Red Crown the Balanced Gasoline. Look for the Red Crown Pump and the Polarine Sign.
