With Max Dusterhoff, son of Mrs. Oehme, and Joe Wutchinek, husband of Mrs. Wutchinek, they came to Murdock nearly fifteen years ago and during their stay here have made many friends who regret very much to see this estimable family remove from the community of which it now seems they really form so important a part.

The best wishes of their many friends go with them to their new home and the hope is that they will find there a plenty and prosperity and good health as well.

Shallenberger lauded that commonwealth as the only one with no bonded or floating debt, and as its first rank in sheep, poultry, butter, roads, hogs, government building, literacy and common sense.

"Its roads are the longest, levellest and broadest in the union," he said. "It is building a capital that will be one of the best in America. Sister commonwealths pay tribute to it for these of its surplus funds. Farmers of Nebraska may be beat, but they cannot be broken."

Louisville is Stirred by Sale of Quarries

Options on the National, Murphy and Patrick Quarries There Are Taken Up.

From Saturday's Daily.—The residents of Louisville and immediate vicinity have been stirred for the past few weeks with the prospect that a large cement factory was to be erected in that locality which held the promise of a great deal of prosperity and growth for the community there and the residents have anxiously waited in breathless silence for the arrival of the date that means so much to our future prosperity. The Courier is glad to be able to inform its readers that the options on the above property have been taken up and the quarries changed hands on that date, Thursday morning the National people began an inventory of the machinery and equipment.

An inquiry by phone at the Omaha office of the National Stone company this (Thursday) morning failed to establish the name of the purchaser, although it verified the fact that the property has actually changed hands.

Think Well of Fairly Shows

Hamburg (La.) Reporter Has Word of Praise for the Aggregation Coming Here July 5th.

In a lengthy article dealing with their 4th of July celebration to be held Saturday, the 3rd, the Hamburg (Iowa) Reporter, owned and published by Fred W. Hill, the son of a Methodist minister, and himself a prominent layman in the Methodist church, has the following paragraph about the Noble C. Fairly Shows and Riding Devices which are booked for appearance in Plattsmouth the week July 5th, which will include the day of Plattsmouth's celebration:

"The Noble Fairly carnival will also be here for that week, and you know what that means, too, for this company played our fair last year, and it is agreed that they were as fine a lot of people as ever played our fair. Their shows are clean, the people are above the average, and Mr. and Mrs. Fairly are all that their name implies."

Before signing a contract with the Fairly shows, which are strangers to this section of Nebraska, the Legion expended considerable on telephone calls to verify the statements made by the show manager, and the fact was only after being thus satisfied as to their standing that the contract was signed.

Their coming will give Plattsmouth something it has long sought for a Fourth of July celebration, namely, plenty of riding devices to furnish amusement for young and old. Heretofore efforts to secure even a merry-go-round have proven futile.

The Natly shows have in addition to a merry-go-round, a ferris wheel, a glider (similar but larger than the Merry-Mitsup of last year) with the roller coaster and a baby sealplane.

The celebration in Plattsmouth is expected to be the greatest of any in recent years and as no nearby town is scheduled to celebrate people will be here from a wide radius, including many from the Iowa side, for whom special ferry service has been promised.

MAN ARRESTED BELIEVED ABLE TO CLEAR MYSTERY

Kansas City, June 16.—Carl Keen, twenty-three, arrested in Leavenworth, Kas., today on a charge of robbing a grocery store here, was brought to Kansas City tonight for questioning regarding the slaying of Miss Edith Krumm nearly a year ago. Police here declared their belief that Keen had direct information that would serve to clear the mystery that has shrouded the killing. Miss Krumm was shot to death September 18, 1925, near Overland Park, Kas. Police are seeking Andy Goffus, Miss Krumm's driver, in the hope he may be able to identify Keen.

DOG'S NAME AND ADDRESS
The New York Women's League for Animals is making a plea to have your name and address engraved or written on your dog's collar. This will help greatly in returning the animal if lost, to the owner. The license number or merely the name on the collar, tells only half the story it seen by those finding stray dogs. The name and address engraved on the collar would make the task of turning a dog to his owner an easy one.

Huge Demonstration for the Ten Cardinals

Crowd of 14,000 Joins in Ovation Which Lasts for Several Minutes—At the Coliseum.

Chicago, June 18.—Resplendent in the papal white and gold and bunting of red, white and blue, Chicago's historic coliseum was the scene tonight of one of the most tumultuous demonstrations in its long and colorful history, when more than 14 thousand citizens joined in the formal civic reception of the ten cardinals of the Catholic church here for the eucharistic ceremonies.

Led by Cardinal Bonzano, the papal legate, the princes of the church, clad in brilliant robes of scarlet and black, mounted the platform amid an ovation which rivaled in volume and enthusiasm the many which have helped make presidents in the same surroundings. The greeting lasted several minutes, while representatives of the city, county, state and national governments greeted the cardinals and their retinues of purple clad bishops and priests.

Greetings Made
Addresses of welcome were made by representatives of the city, county and state. Secretary of Labor Davis presented the greetings of President Coolidge. Samuel Insull extended welcome in behalf of the non-Catholic groups of the municipality. The meeting was presided over by David F. Kelly, a knight commander of the Knights of St. Gregory.

With the cardinals were more than a hundred bishops and archbishops from all parts of the world, including Cardinal Mundelein, the sponsor of the church festival. Ten members of the sacred college were in the city tonight for the ceremonies. Two more, Cardinals Dougherty of Philadelphia and O'Connell of Boston, are scheduled to arrive Saturday.

Governor Small extended hearty welcome "on the part of the people of Illinois," and expressed the hope that the congress might "bring forth a revival and strengthening of religious interest and a quickening of spiritual life, not only in our own nation, but in all the Christian nations of the world."

Throngs Still Coming
Thousands of clergy and laymen continued today to swell the number of congress visitors, special trains from all directions adding thousands to the hosts carried to the city on regular schedules.

At his address, Secretary Davis read a letter from President Coolidge in which the chief executive expressed regret that he could not accept the invitation of Cardinal Mundelein to attend the congress.

Cardinal Bonzano, in his response, said in part: "The words of your distinguished president that he believes religion and morality, as well as knowledge, to be essential to good government. And it must be most gratifying to the citizens of this great and glorious republic to hear in these words of your president the same ideas and sentiments that inspired the founders of the nation when they caused to be impressed upon the currency of the country, as an everlasting reminder, the words, 'In God We Trust.'"

RAILROADS VALUED
AT $313,089,747.00

Lincoln, June 17.—The state board of assessment and equalization Wednesday fixed the assessed valuation of all railroad property in Nebraska at $313,089,747.00. The valuations are practically the same as last year.

Slight changes, however, were made in the Burlington, Union Pacific and the Northwestern properties. The railroads announced that they would appeal from the 1925 assessments, as they have from those made in the last several years.

The Kansas City & Northwestern, which has 29.55 miles of track from the Kansas line to Virginia, in Gage county, was given a reduction because the line is not operated but is to be sold for junk.

There is a movement on foot, however, to save the railroad. Its valuation was reduced from $3,996 per mile to $1,000. Prior to 1924, it was valued at $12,000 per mile.

Hart-Parr Co., Charles City, Ia.
Gentlemen: I have used my Hart-Parr 15-30 for more than six years in farming 600 acres. I have used my tractor every year and during the six years have spent less than $15 for repairs.
The Hart-Parr is very economical to operate. It develops full power from kerosene. I have kept accurate record of plowing and harrowing old ground, which I do at one operation. I pull three 14" plows and harrow attached in high gear, at a cost of 40¢ per acre for fuel, oil and all expenses.

FREE SUPERVISED PLAY GROUNDS FOR PLATTSBROUGH

Though the efforts of the Central Parent-Teachers association, Plattsmouth will have a free supervised play ground at the Central Building on High School Hill for six weeks, beginning on Monday, June 21st.

The movement for supervised play grounds has been rapidly growing during the last few years, and where it has been given a fair trial has been wonderfully successful in a number of ways.

The aim of the supervision in play is to give growing boys and girls high ideals of sportsmanship and to teach them the principles of fair play and co-operation.

A number of Nebraska towns have started supervised play grounds this year, our neighboring city to the south, Nebraska City, being one of them. What other cities can do, Plattsmouth can do, but the help and co-operation of everyone is needed.

Miss Cordelia Fields will be the supervisor of Plattsmouth's play grounds. The people of Plattsmouth are familiar with the fine work of Miss Fields as a teacher in the First ward school, and are fortunate in securing her for this work. She will be assisted by a number of the young people of our schools, who have had some training, also by some of our young people who are home from college for their summer vacations.

For the girls there will be handwork such as sewing and basket work taught in addition to the games and physical training.

There will be baseball, volley ball and tennis for boys in addition to their calisthenics and physical training work.

The physical work will be carried out along the lines of Mr. Woodward's work in the schools during the past year, which everyone knows has been a fine thing for our children.

The school board has been very willing to co-operate and has allowed the use of the grounds, Central Building, also balls and nets secured for the physical education classes in the schools.

All children under 16 are invited to come in the morning from 9 to 12, and all children 16 years or over in the afternoon from 1 to 5. Children, this is absolutely free, and everyone is welcome, so come and enjoy this play ground. Parents, will you not co-operate with us to make Plattsmouth's supervised play ground a success?

Miss Fields, the director of the playground, requests that all of the children be on time as near as possible Monday that the playgrounds can be started in the most favorable circumstances and as she has a large number of plans and interesting events for the little folks as well as sports for the older children, it is desired that all be on time for the start of the playground.

May Organize to Make Certified Seed Available

P. H. Stewart of the University of Nebraska Says Farmers Need Certified Seed.

Nebraska alfalfa seed growers may find it advisable to form an organization whereby their alfalfa seed may be certified and thus made available to others in the state who want hardy seed with a guarantee back of it, declared P. H. Stewart of the crops department of the Nebraska agricultural college.

"Hardy seed has been the chief cause of alfalfa winter killing severely in many sections of the state the past winter," Mr. Stewart and H. L. Westover of the United States department of agriculture reported following an inspection tour of several counties of the state.

"Insects, disease, dry weather and other things were blamed for losses by some," Mr. Stewart said. "However, investigation showed that in many cases parts of fields seeded to one kind of seed lived through satisfactorily while other parts seeded to seed of different source killed badly."

He recommended that farmers buy seed from severe climates rather than varieties produced in southwestern United States or warmer countries. Nebraska common, Grimm and Cosack were varieties that produced hardy alfalfa, he said.

The alfalfa seed problem will be discussed at the coming crops and soils field day at the agricultural college here June 25, Arthur Anderson of the college, who has conducted tests with southern and imported seed, will explain results at the experiment station and will talk on surveys recently completed by Mr. Stewart. Tests at the college have revealed that much of the imported alfalfa seed reaching the United States in recent years is not hardy. Argentina, Italian, African and Spanish seed has not been satisfactory for this state.
