Miss Klinger will seek the democratic nomination for the office and will have no opposition at the primary election on August 10th.
 The new candidate is one of the best known and popular young women in this city and her splendid race last spring for the office of city clerk at the last election was a real tribute to her popularity in this city. She is a lady of more than usual ability and her splendid educational qualifications and special training in office work makes her a strong candidate for the office of register of deeds. Miss Klinger was for some time stenographer in the office of former County Attorney A. G. Cole and has since that time been employed as bookkeeper at the office of the Modern Construction company and her work has been recognized as being of the highest class and efficiency.

Miss Klinger is a lady of the most pleasant personality and handles her work with the public with the utmost courtesy and which would be a very valuable asset to the public in a county office.

With her splendid ability and pleasant disposition Miss Klinger will be a most valuable public official and should she be selected by the voters of the county they would rake no mistake.

St. Paul's Church Greatly Improved

New Basement That Has Been Completed Will Be a Great Addition to the Church.

From Saturday's Daily—
 Several months ago the congregation of the St. Paul's Evangelical church in this city voted to have a large excavation made beneath the church for the purpose of a basement that would add to the capacity of the church and permit greater activity in their Sunday school and young people's department that had in recent years not been given the attention that a growing church should have.

The work of completing the basement has been finished and the church now has one of the most complete and attractive places for the social activities that is possessed by any church in the city and while the improvement has cost some $2,000, it is a much needed addition to the church and will permit the expansion of many lines of the church activities and make the church building the center of the social activity and a meeting place for the ladies societies of the church as well as the Sunday school and other social activities that may be demanded by the young people's department of the church.

In the years past there was one small room in the basement that was used for a meeting place for business sessions for the ladies societies but was wholly inadequate for any of the social activities and this room in the new plan of the church basement will be able to still be used in this capacity and also as an auxiliary to the main basement.

The new room is finished in the plain sand finish white plastering and the wood work in light tones that make the room bright and attractive at all times. Through the center of the room there are supporting columns of heavy wood that have been finished off so that they add a very pleasing note to the general decorative plan of the room. The lighting effects of the room comes from a series of five large shaded electric lights that give an ample illumination to the interior of the room.

The room is equipped with large and substantially built tables that will be found very useful in the Sunday school work and also for the purpose of serving banquets or similar gatherings.

Not the least of the fittings of the new basement and the one that perhaps has been the center of attraction for the ladies is the ample and well arranged kitchen and the ladies of the aid society are planning to stock with dishes and other articles that may be required for the handling of social gatherings of the church.

The kitchen is equipped with a new and up to date gas range, coffee urn and also with a sink and running water to aid in the kitchen work. On the west side of the kitchen there are large built in cabinets for linen and the kitchen articles as well as a large cabinet for holding supplies that may be needed.

There are also a series of large windows on the west side of the basement that furnish ample light for the main room and the kitchen.

The new basement is a real place and the people of St. Paul's church can feel a most pardonable pride in it.

The committee that has had charge of constructing the new basement has been Carl Kunsman, Michael Hill and J. P. Falter and they have secured a real job in the completed basement and one that will for many years serve this popular and fast growing church.

ENJOYS FINE TIME

Con Gillespie, who was one of the local members of the Roman Catholic faith to attend the great Eucharistic congress at Chicago, enjoyed one of the greatest experiences of his life at the great gathering and the presence of not only the hundreds of thousands of the pilgrims but the large array of church dignitaries made the event one of the greatest in the annals of the Catholic church in America. Mr. Gillespie, who was accompanied by John A. Libershal had the opportunity of seeing almost all of the visiting cardinals of the church who were in attendance, including the papal legate, Cardinal Bonzano, and Cardinal William O'Donnell, the primate of Ireland and which was particularly interesting to Mr. Gillespie because of the fact of his being a son of old Erin.

As a side light of the Chicago trip the two Plattsmouth men had the pleasure of seeing Crown Prince Gustaves Adolphus of Sweden and Crown Princess Louise, who were at the same hotel that the two Plattsmouth men were staying at, to attend the banquet given by the Swedish residents of Chicago. It was a strange experience for Mr. Gillespie, who had at one time been a humble subject of the English crown when a boy, to stay under the same roof with the niece of the English king and which is a great object lesson to the American of the leveling of rank in our country.

Mrs. Andrew Johnson Passes to Last Reward

Passed Away Very Peacefully at Family Home Last Evening—Heart Trouble Cause.

From Saturday's Daily—
 Mrs. Andrew G. Johnson, a resident of Plattsmouth, on the past thirty-nine years, was called to her last reward last evening at the family home in the south portion of the city, death coming very peacefully and suddenly as Mrs. Johnson was sitting in a rocking chair in the parlor of the home.

Mr. Johnson had gone out into the country on the side business late and shortly before his return the neighbors had seen Mrs. Johnson come out of the house and walk around a short time and securing a bottle of milk that had been placed on the porch return into the house. Mr. Johnson arrived home a few moments after 8 o'clock and as he entered the home Mrs. Johnson was sitting in a rocking chair near one of the windows of the room and the husband greeted her as usual but she failed to give any response and as he came to her side he was startled to find that she had passed away and had apparently been dead dead for several minutes. Medical aid was summoned but without avail as the patient was beyond any aid.

Hilma Catherine Erickson was born in Sweden, April 29, 1863 and came to Plattsmouth in the year 1887, and has since that time made her home in that community where she was married April 9, 1898 to Andrew G. Johnson and has been one of the highly esteemed ladies of the city. Of the family circle there remain the husband and two children, Miss Helen Johnson of Omaha and Melvin Johnson, of Erie, Pennsylvania. The deceased lady was a member of the Swedish mission church of this city and socially was identified with the Degree of Honor lodge of this city.

In their loss the members of the family will have the deepest sympathy of the many friends.

Former Plattsmouth Man Sues for a Divorce

Ralph Sherwood, Born and Reared Here Figures in Suit in Omaha—Is Now a Cripple.

Asking the court to restrain his wife, Mrs. Christine Sherwood, from striking, beating or molesting him in any way, Ralph C. Sherwood, 904 South Thirty-eighth avenue, filed suit for divorce in district court Friday. Sherwood, who is a cripple as the result of injuries suffered in two railroad wrecks, charges his wife with extreme cruelty in that she struck and beat him and, he alleges, was untrue to him.

Decision to file the divorce suit came Wednesday night, he alleges, after he arrived home and found another man in the house, who hit him over the head and fled. Mrs. Sherwood followed the other man after hurling a kettle of soup, some soap and several pots and pans at her husband, he says. They both went away in his new sedan automobile.

Wife has Property.

He says in his petition that he is dependent upon his house and furniture which he values at $4,000. On June 9, however, he alleges, his wife induced him to convey the property to her with the idea of later deserting him.

He states in the petition that he fears possible violence at the hands of his wife, and asks that a restraining order be issued against her. Mrs. Sherwood declared Friday that the trouble between her and her husband is due to incompatibility—that they do not synchronize mentally. "If Mr. Sherwood wishes a divorce, I will not oppose him except as may be necessary to protect myself if he makes any charges that are untrue," she said.

"During the 13 years of our married life our brains have developed along 'different lines,' she continues. "We are influenced by our environments. Sherwood has embarrassed me frequently by his associations.

Denies "Other Man."

"He is a sick man and I am a nervous woman. He imagines all sorts of things and the biggest thing in his imagination seems to be that there is another man in love with me. There is no other man."

Denying that she threw soup at her husband, she said he started to strike her, and she held up a dish of potatoes and the potatoes went over him.

"I am going to stay here in this home," she declared. "It is mine. I am not going to fight a sick man any more than is necessary to protect myself."

Mrs. Sherwood, a native of Schuyler, Neb., was a clerk in a ready-made department when she first met her husband, who came from his home in Plattsmouth with his sister. She waited upon the sister and Sherwood, smiled upon her. After the sale was made Sherwood invited her to dinner with his sister and thus the courtship started.

The couple have no children.—Omaha Bee.

From Saturday's Daily—
 Misses Thelma Kroehler and Sylvia Noble of this city have been guests at Nebraska City in the past week at two very pleasant social events given in honor of James Richardson, Jr., one of the popular young men of that city and who is soon to leave for West Point, to enter on his work as a cadet in the big training school of Uncle Sam where the future officers of the army are prepared for their tasks and responsibilities.

The first of the events was a dinner party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson, Sr., in honor of their son and which was attended by a very large number of the high school social set, the guest of honor having been a member of the class of 1925 of the Nebraska City school.

Thursday evening a large dancing party was given at Brown's park by Miss Lois Richardson in honor of her brother and which was attended by some 200 couples of the young people of Nebraska City, Plattsmouth and other of the nearby cities.
