FORMER CASS COUNTY FOLK GIVE PICNIC FOR SHELDON'S

A picnic was given Friday, July 9th in Volunteer Park, Seattle, Washington, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Sheldon, of Nehawka, who were at that place on their vacation trip at that time.

A very enjoyable evening was spent in talking over old times back in Nebraska and having a fine time in general.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Sheldon, Mr. and Mrs. Luther J. Hall, Misses Dorothy and Isadore Hall, Leona Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hall, Jr., and small daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Lynde and daughter Mr. and Mrs. C. Beedon Hall and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Jones, Mrs. Walter F. Meier and children, Dr. and Mrs. (Betty Reynolds) C. W. Davies, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Comegry, Mrs. Lottie P. Shotwell and Mr. and Mrs. (Rowena Pollard) Harold E. Jacobson.

The account of the above article, headed "A bit of news for the home paper" arrived here last Thursday afternoon just after the last week's edition was off the press. Practically every one present at the party are known by Nehawka people who are glad to know they are enjoying themselves in Washington.

IN HONOR OF MISS HERMAN

From Saturday's Daily— Yesterday at the J. H. Donnelly home in Omaha Miss Gretchen Donnelly entertained a number of guests in honor of Miss Clara Herman, who is well known to the numerous friends of these two excellent ladies.

Former times in Plattsmouth afforded a medium of conversation and many things of interest were recalled as well as happy occasions joyously remembered. Those present besides the guest of honor, were Mrs. R. F. Patterson, of Plattsmouth, who was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Floyd Harding, who is visiting here at the present time; Mrs. Russell Harris, formerly Miss Fricke, and Mesdames James T. Begley, E. J. Richey and B. A. Rosencrans.

Life Saver to Crops in This Part of State

Drouth That Had Done Some Little Damage to Corn and Pastures Broken Last Night.

From Saturday's Daily— The drouth that has for several weeks menaced the corn crop in this locality as well as drying up the pastures in this part of the state, was broken last night for the first time in some twenty days.

Several times the clouds have gathered in the west and threatened to do business, only to pass over, but last night at 10 o'clock the storm started and continued until 2:30 this morning.

The rain is reported as a general downpour all over this section of the state and doing a world of good in relieving the hot dry conditions that have been prevailing for the past week.

The rain came down in sheets at the first breaking of the storm and the residents of the city gathered to watch the downpour that had been hoped for by everyone in the community for days.

Accompanying the storm was considerable thunder and lightning and the flag pole on the United States government building was struck in the early stages of the storm and splintering the pole and making it necessary to have the pole replaced with a new one.

Another of the improvements that has been made around the schools is the landscape gardening that has been placed near the high school building. The lawn, shrubs and flowers that were planted there early in the season are now growing nicely and present a very attractive sight.

The board of education has proven that they have a real artistic eye as well as being real financiers in handling the business affairs of the district as they have not only beautified the grounds but as well have cut the expenses of the district.

WILL SEE THE EAST

On last Saturday R. Bergman and wife departed for the east where they will remain for some three weeks and will visit a number of places while there. They will visit both at Philadelphia and Buffalo and a number of other places of interest.

Cass County Man Wins High Legal Honors

Sheldon Tefft of Weeping Water Secures First Honors at Oxford College in England.

From Saturday's Daily— Sheldon Tefft, son of Attorney C. E. Tefft and wife of Weeping Water, has secured the honor of being among the highest ranking students of the college of jurisprudence at Oxford college, England, one of the world's greatest educational institutions.

Mr. Tefft was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford, being selected to represent this state from a large number of applicants and is in his second year at the great English school. After reaching Oxford Mr. Tefft continued the brilliant work that he had carried on at the University of Nebraska and as the result of his efforts and the record that he has established he has received the added honor of being named among the first class students of the great college.

The coming fall will be the time when the selection of another Rhodes scholarship student from Nebraska to take the place at Oxford in 1927 when Mr. Tefft will complete his course of study.

The many friends over Cass county will be pleased to learn of the success of the brilliant young Cass county attorney who is a member of the bar here in this county where his father has been for so many years a leading figure. The young man is a grandson of Hon. Orlando Tefft of Avoca and of Ansel Sheldon, two of the leading pioneer residents of the southern portion of Cass county.

HAS A CLEAR VISION

A correspondent in one of our county exchanges sounded the key note when he said that the Fourth of July celebration at the county seat which brought together people from all over the county, should be the beginning of a plan that would mean the best of the entire county.

The Courier believes that the correspondent was on the right track. Local selfishness shows narrowness of mind. Cass county is one of the richest agricultural counties in the state.

The wheat crop now being harvested is turning out far in excess of what was expected and corn is looking good. Potatoes are large and plentiful and the fruit crop will be the largest in years.

What is needed is more just such gatherings as was held at the county seat. Bring the people together. Next year why not have a big celebration at Weeping Water and have the people from all over the county participate?

At some later date, perhaps, Louisville may attempt to entertain. Pass this good cheer around. There is enough for everybody.—Louisville Courier.

DOGS COMMIT DEPREDACTIONS

Dogs which congregate in droves, have become a menace to the farmers as they have been causing much damage to the stock of some of the farmers. The killing sheep and pigs. At the farm of Delbert Leesley the dogs killed two sheep, wounded one so that it died and another is close to death.

Mr. Nielson majored in history and minor in social sciences and economics at Hastings and at School for the Blind at Nebraska City. For the past three and one half years he has taught mathematics and science in the state school. He has also been a piano tuner and an insurance agent.

DIES IN THE SOUTH

From Saturday's Daily— Notice appeared of the very serious illness of Joseph P. Weddell of Lamar, Mo., who was a brother of W. T. Weddell of Murdock, and since then has come the word of the passing of that excellent gentleman at the advanced age of over eighty years.

RECEIVES PLEASANT NEWS

From Thursday's Daily— The friends here of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loomis, formerly of this city, but now residents of Gibson, have received word of a very pleasant event that has occurred at their home in the arrival there of a fine eight pound girl that has come to their home to reside in the future.

MAY INTREFERE WITH TRIP

The troubles which is now occurring in France as the result of the financial troubles of the French nation and the raising tide of the anti-American feeling that has caused several riots in Paris, directed against the American tourists, will have a very dampening effect on the desire of the visitors on the Shenandoah excursion, in which are numbered several Cass county people, to visit the French capital.

BLIND MAN RECEIVES DEGREE

Einar G. Nielsen, 31, blind man, received his A. B. Degree from the Peru State Teachers College at the close of the first term of summer school. When Mr. Nielson was five months old he contracted scarlet fever which resulted in the partial loss of his eyesight.

ATTEND R. F. D. MEETING

The convention of the rural free delivery carriers which has been in session at Geneva, Nebraska, for the past several days, had one of the largest attendance of any of the conventions that the mail men have held and one that was filled with the greatest interest to all of the array of delegates from every postal center in Nebraska.

The Cass county carriers were honored in the selection of Miss Myrtle Woods of Wabash as a delegate to the national convention at Philadelphia this summer. Miss Woods was a leading and active figure in the convention and her selection a very worthy recognition of Cass county carriers.

Among the members of the R. F. D. service from this county that attended the meeting were W. E. Melburn of Murray, J. H. Henschlow of Cedar Creek, Bernie Bakow, RFD No. 2 Plattsmouth and Miss Woods of Wabash.

The Cass county delegation let their presence be felt in the convention and all had a real time in the enjoyment of the program that had been arranged for them.

BRING THAT VICTROLA HOME

Say, you that stole the Victrola from the school house of District No. 29, bring it back. We are not going to foot about this matter this time. While you had the rear number covered with a gunny sack, the front number was exposed. We have the numbers and entire description and will push the matter unless the Victrola is returned at once.
