Clemenceau's Views Astound Washington

Washington, Aug. 5.—The attitude of the administration, it was made plain today, has not swerved in the slightest degree as a result of the sharp letter addressed by former Premier Clemenceau of France.

This government, it was indicated, is standing consistently by the position taken by the president and by Secretary Mellon that a fair and just settlement of the debt has been reached, and that the acceptance or rejection of this agreement is now in the hands of congress and of the French parliament.

While officials today declined to comment on the situation, it was learned reliably that they are far from pleased with some of the comparisons which Clemenceau made in his letter, particularly with that relating to Russia and the United States having made separate peace pacts with Germany.

figured on a commercial basis at 5 per cent. In regard to M. Clemenceau's contention that the United States "is asking not for payment of a commercial, but of a war time debt," the question is asked as to what the former premier will say regarding the 407 million dollars worth of army supplies which were purchased from the United States after the war and while he was in office.

This commercial debt, along with certain other post-armistice loans, have been consolidated under the pending debt agreement, but is pointed out that payment of the army supply debt, recognized as strictly commercial, will fall due in 1929, only three years hence, and that it might prove embarrassing to France to be called on at that time to meet this payment.

Wheat Harvest in Texas Brings Joy to Farmer

35,000,000 - Bushel Crop Is the Largest Since 1919, and Is Worth $50,000,000.

Fort Worth, Tex.—Against azure skies on the plains of Texas today is being painted one of nature's most beautiful pictures—the harvest—as man, animals, and machines toil from sun to sun, reaping what may prove to be the state's largest grain crop.

Wheat Crop Worth $50,000,000. And the scene in the field is not the only one of unusual activity, for the movement of the crop to the mill, elevator and port is at its height. Solid train loads of the grain are forming a veritable golden flood sweeping down toward the Gulf of Mexico—and flowing back to the growers in a steady stream of gold in payment for their labors.

Due to the difference in prices then than now, Texas wheat this year will bring its producers slightly more money than the 1919 crop, which was valued at $64,000,000. Indications are that the oat crop also will be the largest since 1919, when 94,500,000 bushels were produced.

Excellent Quality. Texas wheat this year is exceptional in quality, and much of it has tested 62 pounds to the bushel, two pounds above what is considered a good weight for hard wheat.

28-Year Records for Heat Broken as Kansas Sizzles

Kansas City, Mo. Aug 10.—Scorching south winds swept the southwest again Monday and temperatures soared well above the 100 mark, setting new records for the summer and bowing only to the maximums of the hot summer of 1918. After a hot night, however, there will be some relief, the weather bureau announced, when the wind veers early Tuesday into the west and then into the northwest.

Corn Hard Hit. Corn in Kansas was hard hit by the hot winds, especially in upland fields. Pastures were badly burned and in some places farmers were forced to feed hay or green corn to livestock.

Priestless Catholics are Very Quiet

No Disorders Reported in Mexico Over Sabbath; Protestants Hold Services Unmolested.

Mexico City, Aug. 9.—Mexico City's two Protestant churches conducted services as usual Sunday, and no move was made to interfere with them, while good, but not unusual, crowds which entered the various Catholic churches were without the usual masses because of the withdrawal of the priests. The day passed quietly.

Alleged Plotters Released. The government also announced that it would require all Protestant pastors to register with the municipal authorities and give them an inventory of all church property, which the government, as it has been doing for more than half a century with Catholic churches, will continue to allow each congregation to use, although the government will maintain claim to ownership.

No Crowds at Cathedral. The small amount of bail and the fact that the prisoners were released at all, is taken as indication of the authorities' conviction that the affair was not serious. There were no crowds Sunday around the cathedral, or other places of worship. The Guadalupe shrine was comfortably filled with worshippers, the majority of them Indian women, but there was always plenty of room inside.
