AD CLUB HAS GUESTS

From Friday's Daily—
Yesterday the Plattsmouth Ad club had as their guests at the weekly noonday luncheon, the members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce and also Mr. Bekins, of Omaha, who has just become one of the large holders of real estate in the business section of the city.
The members enjoyed very much the opportunity of meeting Mr. Bekins and he was very much pleased to hear the remarks of the club members and gave a very pleasant talk that made him one of the leading members of the Plattsmouth boosters as he had a vision of a splendid future in this city and community and which he has demonstrated by the fact that he has made heavy investments here in real estate that makes him a real citizen of this community although he has his home in Omaha.
The attitude of Mr. Bekins toward the city is one that should be followed by the residents here as he is a booster and strong supporter of the best there is in the world for Plattsmouth and its people.

Leach, of near Union, were at Grand Island this week, where they were called to look over the stock market and as the result of their activities they purchased some forty-nine head of cattle that are being unloaded today and will be placed on the farm of Mr. Troop for feeding for the market. Mr. Troop is one of the most extensive stock feeders and dealers in this section of the country and has a very large number of cattle at his farm for the feeding season.

Journal Advertising Profitable Expenditure

Another Local Firm Joins Regular Space Users—Persistence is What Counts Most.
The H. M. Spennichsen grocery has arranged to carry an ad regularly in the columns of the Journal, instead of at intervals as in the past, and promise in their opening ad, now being run, that "Grocery News" will feature many special bargains from their large stock. This increases the list of regular space advertisers in the Daily Journal to seven business firms of the city, besides the numerous small card advertisers whose ads appear daily.
As an advertising medium, the Journal will produce results equal to any small town daily in the country, but of course it is the persistency of the advertiser and the message that he has to offer that determines the amount of the advantage he will derive from advertising.
Contrary to the opinion of many non-advertisers, advertising is not a costly proposition. The fellow who pays for it, in reality, is the fellow who doesn't advertise and as a result loses business and the profits that would otherwise be his through the medium of additional sales.
All advertising is aimed to bring new customers into a store. Of course it helps to hold old customers, too.
The management of Marshall-Field stores, Chicago, once said they would gladly pay $1 each for every new customer brought into their store, regardless of whether they bought a penny's worth of goods or not.
A firm that has the goods to offer at a reasonable price, can easily increase the volume of its business 50 per cent by persistent advertising of its wares along well directed lines. If haphazardly pursued, however, the advertising will be far less effective, and the newspaper usually gets the blame.
Even advertising will not cure the multitude of business sins apparent in some lines. One must have quality goods and reasonable prices. It is not necessary to specialize on only one line for which there is already a demand—advertising will create a demand for many articles the sale of which would otherwise be lost.
If your business needs reviving why not try the stimulating tonic of advertising—a persistent and carefully planned campaign (it need not be so expensive) and learn for yourself how much business has been going by your door?

SUES DEFUNCT COMPANY

From Thursday's Daily—
Yesterday in the county court was filed an action involving the Livingston Loan & Building association which has been out of active business for the past five years and in which there was more or less money lost by local people in the forced retirement of the company from the building and loan field.

In the petition of the plaintiff it is stated that on February 5, 1917 the plaintiff purchased one share of stock each for the two daughters and which they held up to the time of the financial troubles that involved the company and finally resulted in its being retired from business and its interests being taken over by an Omaha company.
The plaintiff asks judgment for the occasioned demand has been made for the payment of the amount of the stock held by the two minor children of the plaintiff and which demand has been refused.
The plaintiff asks judgment for the sum of $200 and interest on the shares of each of the children named from the date of February 1917.

A comparison was made of the cost of running the state under the Bryan and McMullen administrations and the number of employees that had been attached to the pay roll by the McMullen regime.
The candidates for the county offices, Miss Minnie Klinger for register of deeds, Harrison L. Gaver, for county clerk, Miss Mia U. Gering, county treasurer, Fred H. The father of the young man with Mrs. B. W. Livingston and Mrs. Myron Wiles departed yesterday afternoon for Davenport in response to the messages of the serious condition of the patient and reached the Iowa city this morning.
A message received from the relatives at Davenport this morning stated that the patient was slightly better altho he is still a very sick man. The exact cause of the illness has not been determined altho it is thought to be a form of uremic poisoning and which has been complicated with heart attacks.
The young man has not been suffering greatly but his vitality is at a very low ebb and which makes his case especially difficult to handle and to get at the seat of the trouble.
As soon as the patient's strength will permit the relatives are planning on having him taken to Chicago to be placed in the hospital there for treatment.

Death of Glenn Perry Sorrow to the Community

Sudden Closing of Life of Highly Esteemed Citizen Stuns Family and Friends.

From Thursday's Daily—
The death of Glenn Perry yesterday afternoon following in a few brief hours his accident at the farm home south of this city, came as a severe blow to the family and friends in the city and the community in which he has long been a resident.
The accident that caused the death of Mr. Perry was one of the most tragic events that has occurred in the community in many months and it seemed almost impossible that the friend and neighbor who had been active and partaking of the tasks of daily life should in the passing of such a brief period of time be called away to his last reward.
Yesterday morning Mr. Perry complained some of feeling dizzy and not as well as usual but continued his tasks at the farm and had gone to the west portion of the farm where a windmill was located to look after oiling the machine and repairing it. As the mill had no ladder it was necessary for him to climb by hand to the top of the mill and where he was engaged when the accident occurred.
A group of men working on the Missouri Pacific tracks not a great way from the windmill state that they had seen Mr. Perry ascend to the top of the windmill and glancing up there later were startled to see him throw up his hands and fall backwards. On the way down the unfortunate man had caught for a moment on small platform and the hired man who was working nearby the mill heard Mr. Perry call and glancing up saw him hanging by one hand to the platform and ere the man could get up the mill to give assistance he heard the sound of the fall of the body of Mr. Perry and a few seconds later discovered the severely injured man lying on the ground near the mill fatally injured.
The family were notified and medical aid summoned to the side of the unfortunate man but it was found that his injuries were so severe that it was deemed necessary to have him sent to the hospital at Omaha and where he passed away at the Clarkson hospital at 2 o'clock.

Glenn E. Perry was born in the state of Indiana November 11, 1874, and when but a child of tender years was brought by his parents, Peter Perry and wife, to Cass county, Nebraska and the family have since made their home in the vicinity of Plattsmouth where they have been numbered among the leading residents of the community. It was in the schools of the community that Mr. Perry received his education and where he was married, Mrs. Perry being a daughter of the late D. J. Perry and wife, another pioneer family of the community. Mr. Perry has been a lifelong member of the Presbyterian faith and was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Plattsmouth. The deceased was very active in the Masonic circles of Plattsmouth, being a member of Plattsmouth lodge No. 6, A. F. & A. M. and Mt. Zion commandery No. 5, Knights Templar. Mr. Perry has served as grand high priest of the Nebraska chapter R. A. M. and at the time of his death was commander of Mt. Zion commandery Knights Templar.

To mourn the death of this good man remains the wife and three children, Russell Perry of Harrington, Texas, Virgil and Helene Perry who are at home. There also survives the aged mother, Mrs. Catherine Perry, the father having preceded him in death fifteen years ago. The brothers and sisters, ten in number are as follows: John Perry, Leithbridge, Alberta, Canada; Walter Perry, Orange, California; Verner Perry, Big Springs, Nebraska; Charles Perry, Lincoln; Mrs. S. A. Barker, Plattsmouth; Mrs. Pearl Unland, Alhambra, California; Mrs. Albert Lang, Spokane, Washington; Mrs. Catherine Cole, Brule, Nebraska; Mrs. Will Cook, Elmwood; Mrs. Charles D. Spangler, Murray.

There have been no definite arrangements made as to the funeral services, these awaiting the arrival of the son who is on his way from Texas, but it is certain that the services will not be held before Saturday.

Credit Wisdom!

Everything you have occasion to buy is bought either with cash or with credit. And your supply of credit is limited, just as is your supply of cash. It is important therefore, to build up credit faster than you use it.

Keep your credit always usable by paying up obligations promptly as they fall due and keeping a good balance in the bank!
