Seeks to Stop Work on Road North of City

Injunction Asked to Prevent Filling
Up Creek and Opening Ditches
Along the Highway.

From Saturday's Daily—
More the highway along the Platte bottom, a part of the King of Trails highway, is to be involved in litigation covering the work of the highway engineer and his force of workmen in making certain changes in the water courses that are located along the highway from the foot of the hill north of Willview to the Burlington tracks, the north and south parts of the highway being involved.

The action has been started by C. Lawrence Stull, owner of the land through which the highway travels and was filed yesterday in the office of the clerk of the district court and a temporary restraining order issued against E. H. Douglass, highway engineer, the state department of public works and the board of county commissioners of Cass county. The hearing on the injunction has been set for September 6th.

In his petition the plaintiff states that prior to September 1923 the highway ran some distance east of where the present highway is located and that later the state and county had constructed the present highway. That there has been a waterway or creek running through this portion of the Stull land that was a natural water course and which is now, it is claimed, being partially filled by the road workers and also ditches opened up that causes the water to overflow on the land of the complainant to his damage and annoyance. The former road has reverted to Mr. Stull, the owner of the land and the overflow of the water has been on this road and the land near it, the petition claims.

Because of the overflow of the water the plaintiff asks that the department of public works and the county be restrained from further changes that would divert the water.

The highway officials have had a great deal of trouble this past season through overflows on the main highway and have been attempting to secure some diversion or change in the watercourse that would take the water off the highway and thence the suit that they have become involved in with Mr. Stull.

Well Known Young People Wed at Fremont

Miss Agnes Frady and Mrs. Glen Wetenkamp United in Marriage on Last Wednesday.

From Saturday's Daily—
The marriage of two of the well known young people of this city, Miss Agnes Frady and Mr. Glen Wetenkamp, is being announced by the families of the young people. The ceremony that made these two young people as one was performed on Wednesday afternoon at Fremont, the marriage service of the Episcopal church being celebrated by Father Smith, rector of the Fremont church.

The young people have returned home and are at present at the home of the groom's parents near Mynard. The contracting parties have grown to manhood and womanhood in this community where they have a large circle of warm friends who learn with great pleasure of the new happiness that has come into their lives.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Virginia Frady of this city and has lived here since her early childhood, attending the local schools and is one of the most popular ladies in the community.

The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Wetenkamp, prominent residents of the vicinity of Mynard and he has been engaged in farming for the greater part of the time since the completion of his school work. For the past several months he has been engaged in the auto business in this city as the local representative of the Star auto company and by his industry and efforts has made a very fine reputation as one of the leading young men of the community.

The many friends are joining in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Wetenkamp a long and very happy life in the future years as they journey down the highway of life together.

WILL RICHARDSON TO HOSPITAL

From Saturday's Daily—
The latest word that relatives have received from the bedside of Will Richardson, Jr., at Davenport, Iowa, is to the effect that the patient was holding his own and the attending physicians have some hope of his recovery altho his condition is very serious. The young man has been removed from his home to the Davenport hospital and a heart specialist from Chicago arrived to assist in the case and to aid in building up the patient's strength and vitality to resist the inroads of his trouble. In his very serious condition the fact that he is able to hold his own has been very encouraging to the family and friends.

Former Resident Here Retires from Banking Business

George F. Houseworth, One Time
Clerk of the District Court Retires From Active Duty.

The old time residents of Cass county will recall George F. Houseworth, one time clerk of the district court some twenty-five years ago, and will learn with interest of the fact that he closing a long period of years in one of the leading banking houses of the Pacific coast, the Long Beach Security bank.

In speaking of the retirement of Mr. Houseworth the Long Beach Telegram has the following:
"George F. Houseworth of 1312 East Third Street, an old-time resident of Long Beach and active for twenty years in the service of the Long Beach Security Bank, will retire from active business September 1. He has been granted a life pension by the bank in recognition of his long and faithful services, according to P. E. Patch, vice president and manager."

"Mr. Houseworth entered the Long Beach Security as a bookkeeper back in 1906, when Long Beach was nothing but an insignificant seaside town of 2,000 souls and Pine Avenue was a dusty wagon road. At that time there were but two bookkeepers on the staff of what was then the Long Beach Trust and Savings Bank. He has since seen the department grow until there are now eleven bookkeepers and clerks at whose head he has been for a number of years. During his service Mr. Houseworth has handled millions of checks, representing billions of dollars.

"Born in Burlington, Iowa, he began his active business career in the auditing department of the Burlington Railroad. He then served as chief clerk in the District Court at Plattsmouth, Neb., finally leaving the Middle West for the Pacific Coast.

(Mr. Houseworth was chief clerk in the offices of the superintendent of the Burlington shops in Plattsmouth.)

"Entering the pioneer bank of Long Beach when it occupied the only brick building in the village, Mr. Houseworth has watched from the inside, the development of that bank into the largest in what is now the second city in Southern California.

"I am 70 years old," said Mr. Houseworth, "and I am going to settle back now to an undivided enjoyment of life." His first indulgence has been to purchase two passages on the Panama Mail Line going by the way of the Panama Canal to New York, and on September 6 he and Mrs. Houseworth will start on their first vacation trip. The Houseworths expect to arrive on Broadway about the first part of October, and after seeing the sights of the city they will go to Philadelphia to visit the Sesqui-centennial Exposition.

Houseworth attended the Centennial fifty years ago, he expects to find the old historic grounds of double interest. After stops in Washington and other points in the East, Mr. Houseworth will return home about November first, and retire into the mountains behind Sierra Madre, where he has a snug little cabin."

HAD A FIRE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Dalton, at Edgar, Nebraska, was destroyed by fire at 10:30 Thursday morning, word received here by the relatives state and the family was able to save only a very few personal articles from the burning house. The fire was discovered by two boys playing near the Dalton home who saw the smoke pouring out of a built on kitchen and at once gave the alarm.

Mrs. Dalton had an oil stove burning in the kitchen and at the time the fire was in the front portion of the building and at the alarm of fire carried out the baby of a few months of age to a place of safety and then returned to the house. She was able to save a cedar chest containing a few personal trinkets and on her last trip to the house in an effort to save something had a close call from the fire as the building was a roaring furnace and Mrs. Dalton had to escape from a window.

Practically all of the contents of the building were destroyed and the house so badly gutted by the flames that it will have to be rebuilt.

ENJOYED PLEASANT TRIP THRU CENTRAL NEBRASKA

Mrs. Henry Stander and son, Herbert and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Roeber and two sons, Kenneth and Leonard, returned on Thursday of last week from a pleasant automobile trip through the central part of Nebraska.

They visited Mr. and Mrs. Julius Komrofske and family, at Hastings. Mrs. Komrofske was formerly Miss Lizzie Roeber, of this vicinity. At Kearney, they visited Mrs. Stander's brother, Henry Messner and family, and a daughter, Miss Ilda Messner, accompanied them home.

They stopped at Archer to visit Mrs. Stander's brother-in-law, Louis Stander and family and their son, Earl Stander and family and found them all well and prospering, altho their crops are poor this year in account of the dry weather. At Kearney they met with the same conditions except in the irrigated sections.

They enjoyed meeting their relatives and old time friends and came home feeling that old Cass county is a pretty good place in which to make a home.—Louisville Courier.

"See It Before You Buy It!"

What Other People Thing of Trading Here

People From Outside Points Find
Good Prices for Products and Reasonable Prices for Goods.

Sometimes we are prone to regard our own community too slightly and our business houses as not being just what they should as to prices and stock of goods and the community as a whole as a buying and selling point and it requires sometimes the viewpoint of some outsider to set us right and to bring a realization that the community is a good place to sell goods as well as to buy them.

A prominent resident of near the central portion of the county was in the other day and in conversation with one of the local business men gave a voluntary statement that goes a long way toward showing what the people that trade here think. The man said, "we were coming to town and I thought I would bring in a load of chickens to sell and started to call up the nearby towns to get a price on the chickens and found that the Plattsmouth market was two cents higher than any of the other places. We came in and sold the chickens and the wife started out to do some shopping and found that there was some real bargains in the Plattsmouth stores and the goods were high class merchandise that were backed by the guarantee of the merchants and not some junk that was bought tight up west." The man continued, "my wife likes to trade in Plattsmouth because the stores have good stocks and she says the prices are as cheap, or cheaper, as in the good stores in Omaha or Lincoln."

This is a real statement and it is one that certainly looks good to the Plattsmouth people as the testimonial of one that has made a test of the question of the relative advantages of the various towns as buying and selling centers and has fixed on Plattsmouth as one of the best in this part of the country.

WAS SOLOMON WISE?

Solomon has always been advertised as a very wise man, but if the history of his life and that of his son, Rehoboam, is correct, they wrecked their power and their people by excessive taxation.

Citizens in practically every city, county and state in the United States are facing much the same problem as did the people under Solomon.

Enormous expenditures are being made for all kinds of public undertakings. Local taxes have been constantly increasing. All of these taxes are added to the cost of living thru increased prices and rents. The ultimate consumer and day laborer cannot pass the taxes on to the other fellow. They pay them all.

Taxes and debts have wrecked more governments and impoverished more nations than all the wars of history. At the height of our prosperity, is a good time for us to check up on our debt and tax situation. The family that spends more than it can afford, is headed for trouble and the nation which overcrowds the tax payments, is following in the same path.
