NEW FISHING LICENSES

The design for fishing and hunting licenses to be used in Nebraska for the year 1927 has been adopted by Secretary McLaughlin of the department of agriculture and Chief Game Warden Frank B. O'Connell. A different design and color is used each year so that law enforcing officers may readily distinguish between new and expired licenses. About 200,000 fishing and hunting licenses are required annually. Upon these there is to appear an engraving of a fish darting out of the water at the end of a line and a group of ducks, some alighting upon water and some swimming or wading near shore. A duck hunter and a trout fisher, both in waders, appear on 1926 license. The license for trappers will no longer show the weasel and fox. The muskrat and raccoon, deemed typical of the fur bearing animals of Nebraska, will appear instead.

Small Cities Have Great Many Advantages Over Larger

Atmosphere of the Smaller Cities Is Much Better Than That of the Large Cities.

From Saturday's Daily—The smaller city of late years is fast coming into its own. Further and further out the automobile is putting the homes from the noisy, dirty, expensive, congested centers of the large cities.

It is a relief to return to Plattsmouth after a day in Omaha! Our advantages here are too apparent to need publishing! Cheaper rents for just as modern homes; better qualities in clothing and dry goods for less money; fresher, cleaner and cheaper food-stuffs; better drinking water; less petty crime; less vicious temptations; cleaner movie pictures in a better theatre, better shown due to civic pride of home; better environment for children; uncorrupted public officials; a greater and finer social activity; closer contact between the citizens and its churches; schools unexcelled.

The problem now is to have attractive places to take care of the urban population that eventually will consider Plattsmouth for a home on account of the many above stated advantages over the larger cities. The cost of government in Plattsmouth is about $56.44 per family against $151.56 per year for New York! The actual date of the cork husking contest at Luke Wiles farm is set for November 4th. Now you cork huskers send in your names so you can be lined up for the prizes, which will be announced in a few days.

We are wondering who would be the right parties to ask about getting the sumach, tall grass, and weeds cut down in the beautiful Plattsmouth cemetery. One of the most picturesque, and glorious locations possible for this great "silent city" of our beloved dead! Any suggestions? Opportunity is not dead! It shouts at us but some of us are deaf. Henry Jasper, commencing with great odds, a capital of $18 is developing a great greenhouse for Plattsmouth. Give him the glad hand! "Say it with Plattsmouth flowers, Plattsmouth bread, Plattsmouth Merchants"—Plattsmouth, first last and always! As Kipling writes "O Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget, lest we forget!"

W. G. DAVIS Secretary.
