Faulty Elimination

Should Be Corrected—Good Elimination Is Essential to Good Health.

If you would be well, see to your elimination. Faulty kidney action permits toxic material to remain in the blood and upset the whole system. Then, one is apt to have a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, a toxic backache or headache, and often some irregularity of secretions, such as scanty or burning passages. MR. DUNN PUTS THE GOVERNOR "ON THE RUN."

(From the Lincoln Star.) Nebraska's Volunteer savior, Ballard Dunn, the editor of the Omaha Bee, announces that those who would defame the fair name of the state and injure its financial standing are "on the run."

Of course Mr. Dunn is too modest to mention who put them to flight.

Nevertheless The Bee has been running a series of articles upon state finance, written by Mr. Dunn himself, and carrying his name in bold, black type. And, unless the reader is too obtuse, one by persuing Mr. Dunn's latest contribution to the cause might have grounds for a sneaking idea the Omaha editor feels he could put his finger on the "fellar," who put the enemy to rout.

There hasn't been anything more amusing in recent years than Mr. Dunn's discussion of state finances. Some day when his burst of "righteous" indignation abates, he'll get a hearty laugh out of them himself. He should be excused for his gross ignorance of the state's financial system at this time when it is recalled he was absent from Nebraska for several years and only returned two years ago when he assumed charge of the editorial reins of The Bee.

Mr. Dunn's wrath was aroused by the discussions of the overdraft in the state's general fund. Notwithstanding the report of Treasurer Robinson, and the campaign speeches of Governor McMullen, both members of the republican party and supported by The Bee, Mr. Dunn persists in denying the existence of an overdraft. His confusion arises from the fact that he has failed to recognize certain portions of the tax funds are set aside for specific purposes. These special accounts are the only ones which now have balances. The general fund drawn upon to meet the ordinary running expenses of the state government is "in the red." To keep from registering state warrants, Treasurer Robinson has been "borrowing" from the special accounts, and has already drawn out more than $2,000,000, as he is permitted to do under the state law. That money will have to be repaid to the special accounts, and that sum represents the major portion of the present overdraft. The state has been steadily falling behind in the last year. But if from now on, the tax revenues were sufficient to keep pace with monthly expenditures, there would still be a deficit of more than $2,000,000, the sum which must be repaid to those special accounts.

Simple enough isn't it? It is to most people, including Governor McMullen, who has the support of The Bee in his candidacy for governor. The governor, notwithstanding Mr. Dunn, has repeatedly spoken of the overdraft, blaming Mr. Bryan for it.

Of whom, then, is Mr. Dunn speaking, when he talks of political harpies, and liars and falsifiers and defamers?

Let him tell his own story in his own way in the following extract taken from his article in The Bee: The defamers of Nebraska are on the run. They laid their plot in the belief that no one would find them out—the details of bookkeeping are always complicated, and they figured they would be able to mislead the people and thus get away with what they are after.

Note what has happened since The Omaha Bee exposed this plot to grab off control of the state by dragging the credit of Nebraska in the mire and deliberately falsifying the records of the treasurer's office.

The exposure brought into open the fact that when these political harpies charged that the state treasury of Nebraska was "short," that there was a deficit in state funds, they deliberately lied.

Caught in this lie they switched from the words "short" and "deficit" and charged that the state treasurer had gutted the funds of the state.

Mr. Dunn apparently has not been keeping pace with the political speeches of his candidate for governor. His attention is therefore directed to an extract from a speech delivered by Mr. McMullen at Aurora last Monday as reported in the press by the governor's representative, accompanying him on the tour. The governor was discussing his opponent's claims, and spoke as follows:

Well, no state taxes were ever wiped out by Mr. Bryan. All he ever wiped out was the available money in the general fund, leaving a shortage, according to the records of the treasurer's office, as shown by the state accountant of $2,500,000, with no provision for putting it back. And when it comes to leaving surpluses, the only surplus which Mr. Bryan handed down to my administration was a surplus of unpaid bills of over $1,000,000.

What do you mean political harpies, Mr. Dunn?

What do you mean political lies and falsehoods?

Ever since the campaign opened, Governor McMullen has been talking

The use of Wrigley's chewing gum after every meal takes care of this important item of personal hygiene in a delightful, refreshing way—by clearing the teeth of food particles and by helping the digestion.

The result is a sweet breath that shows care for one's self and consideration for others—both marks of refinement.

about the treasury overdraft in the language employed above in the attempt to put responsibility upon ex-Governor Bryan.

But political harpies—lies—falsehoods! That's no nice way to talk about one's candidate for governor, Mr. Dunn.

Whisperin' Smith has popularized a song, one line of which is very applicable to the governor and his volunteer spokesman: "You and I should get together." Nuff said.

PAINT BRUSH HANDLES AND BOB WHITES

The duty on paint brush handles has just been reduced one-half by Mr. Coolidge under the powers granted him by the flexible provisions of the tariff law, which permits him to lower or increase tariff rates.

It is the second time Mr. Coolidge has used these powers to lower tariff rates. The first time he did so the commodity affected was live bob white quail.

Paint brush handles and bob white quail represent his only departures from a protectionism which believes in changing a tariff rate only to increase it. We hope the quail and brush handle "interests" will not consider these major heresies.

Reasons for a Hospital Here are Aply Outlined

Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Presents Reasons Why This Institution Is Needed.

The Toledo Blade says that something has been found smaller than the atom, but mentions no names—Nuff said!

A hospital is as necessary and important to Plattsmouth as water-works, electric lights, ministers, churches and doctors. A city of this size without a hospital is as rare as a snowstorm in Florida, or Royal Palms in Saskatchewan!

A man or woman in Plattsmouth accidentally poisoned; injured in a wreck; seriously burned; stands as much chance as the proverbial snow ball—with no hospital here.

A hospital here would increase the business for our splendid local doctors. It is safer to call a specialist in if insisted upon by the patient, than to bump a very sick patient 20 or 30 miles to a hospital in a car, ambulance or Ford! That is pure Simon-pure-leaf lard logic! If you needed a check cashed in a hurry in an emergency case, how'd you like to have to drive to Lincoln or Omaha?

"However," says the Seattle Times, "the styles would indicate that it's a woman, and not man, who wants but little here below."

There is plenty of money in Plattsmouth to secure a hospital; there would be plenty of local business, and business from adjacent cities, and communities to support one—after the idea becomes established. This would be a boon to our physicians, and every physician is entitled to the services of a hospital for his serious operation; appendicitis; maternity cases, to say nothing of removal of tonsils and adenoids.

Also we reach the economic phase of the matter, leaving out the safety features, and desirable convenient service. High grade, skillful, efficient service can be given Plattsmouth at home at less expense than at any service can be secured at a distance. First, last, and NOW Plattsmouth needs a hospital; and deserves one and is going to have one.

This office welcomes constructive suggestions, and co-operation of all interested in such a project. This is another fine opportunity for our Women's clubs to take action.

CHURCH PEOPLE HONOR THEIR ELDEST MEMBER

The ladies of the Christian church and a few old time friends gathered at the home of Mr. G. W. Mayfield on Wednesday evening of last week to offer their congratulations and best wishes upon her 92nd birthday anniversary. Each one brought a token of love and esteem which was greatly appreciated by Mrs. Mayfield and her family.

At the close of the evening, all joined in singing "God be With You Till We Meet Again," led by Chester Eager, who accompanied his wife to the party.

Mrs. Mayfield is a native of Ohio and was born at Norwalk, October 13, 1834, according to the record in the old family Bible, which is now in the possession of her son, A. E. Mayfield, of Denver. The notation was made by Mrs. Mayfield's father, the late Thomas J. Todd. She is a pioneer of Cass county and all her life was active in the Christian church. Her husband, the late G. W. Mayfield, departed this life in September, 1922.—Louisville Courier.

IN HONOR OF NEWLY WEDS

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Wiles, who were recently married in Rockport, Mo., the former home of the bride's father, Perry Wright, were honored Sunday at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hart to a host of friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

The young folks are both well known here, their parents having resided here for years, and are graduates of the Weeping Water high school. The bride was an efficient clerk in the K. D. Clark store for a couple of years. Having been reared on the farm, they have chosen the farm where the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wiles, formerly lived as their future home.

The out of town guests were Tracy Leyda and family and Mrs. Tom Wiles of Lincoln. After congratulations to the happy pair, all departed for their homes feeling the day was one of enjoyment for all.—Weeping Water Republican.
