Receives a Broken Leg.
Mrs. Barbara Goetz, who, notwithstanding the fact that she is well along in years, is most ambitious and wants to work and which she always does, desired to go to the field and assist in the corn picking, maintaining that out of door work is conducive to best health, went with one of the wagons and when she alighted from the vehicle to begin the task of corn shucking, her foot turned, fracturing her leg, and she is laid up for the present. Her sister, Mrs. Jacob Goehry of Lincoln is here caring for her. Mrs. Goetz' many friends are hoping that she may soon be well again and able to be about.

Matzen Congratulates Taylor on Election

John M. Matzen, state superintendent of public instruction, sent congratulations to Charles W. Taylor, his opponent in the recent election. "I congratulate you on your election and on the great opportunity afforded you for service," wrote Mr. Matzen. "I shall be very glad to extend to you every possible assistance as the time approaches for you to assume the duties of the office."

State Auditor Marsh, Oldest in Service, Will Retire in Favor of L. B. Johnson of Omaha.

John M. Matzen, state superintendent of public instruction, sent congratulations to Charles W. Taylor, his opponent in the recent election. "I congratulate you on your election and on the great opportunity afforded you for service," wrote Mr. Matzen. "I shall be very glad to extend to you every possible assistance as the time approaches for you to assume the duties of the office."

George W. Marsh, state auditor, defeated in the race for congress in our first district, will retire from office next January after many years of service in that office and the office of secretary of state. His successor is to be L. B. Johnson of Omaha.

"I have been here long enough," said Mr. Marsh. "I intend to go into some business that will take me out into the open instead of into an office. I appreciate the confidence the people have shown me in the years now past. They have been better to me than I deserve. The returns look to me as if Frank Marsh of Norfolk, candidate for secretary of state, may have got the vote intended for me. If I were to speak facetiously I would say that voters found his name first on the ballot and when they came to mine decided that they had voted for me once and ought not to vote for me twice."

MAIL CLERK KIDNAPED
Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 5.—P. M. King, mail clerk, kidnaped at Hibbing late today by bandits who stole mail he was carrying, was released by the bandits on the outskirts of Minneapolis tonight.

Bruised and chilled by the long, speedy ride from Kibbing, King made for a telephone at once and called police. King was unable to add much to meager descriptions of the bandits.

The holdup men also emptied their car here of the mail pouches taken at Hibbing. The registered parcels had all been rifled. Postal inspectors attempted to identify the packages with a view toward obtaining an evaluation of the loot, but had little success.

One five dollar bill was the total amount of loot obtained by the bandits, a final check revealed.

FINDS "FRIEND" IN "ROUGES" GALLERY
Chicago, Nov. 6.—Michael Kayat, 45, retired merchant of Melbourne, Australia, traveled from Paris, France, to Chicago to collect $12,500 only to learn that he had been swindled. Six weeks ago while playing the French board of trade with one "George P. Morgan," who was represented by two other friendly Americans as "one of the financial Morgans of New York," Kayat told the police he lost $12,500 on a tip given him by Morgan. Mr. "Morgan" told Kayat to meet him in a Chicago hotel November 1 and he would refund the money. At the detective bureau Friday night, Kayat thought he found pictures of the "Mr. Morgan" and his two friends in the rouge's gallery.

TRAINS IN A COLLISION

Coolidge Favors Immediate Cuts in Income Taxes

Believes Refund of 250 Millions on the 1926 Payments is Entirely Possible.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Reduction of 10 to 12 per cent on all personal and corporation income taxes being paid this year on incomes for the calendar year 1925, will be recommended by President Coolidge to the coming session of congress, it was announced at the White House today. This proposed action on the part of the administration based on a treasury surplus from this year's treasury revenues which is estimated to be about 250 million dollars. In spite of the fact that the session of congress beginning in December will be a short one, it is expected that the desired measure can be put through without delay.

The president hopes to have the tax cut enacted into law before December 15, when the final payment on incomes this year will fall due. In the case of taxes which have already been paid in full, it was explained, there will be a refund of the percentage of reduction decided on. A rebate will be given on taxes not yet paid.

Refunds or Rebates.
If congress can put through a resolution in time, the December tax installment will be rebated for all who spread their payments over the four quarters of the present calendar year. Those who paid in full on March 15 or later will receive refunds from the treasury. The rebate or refund is intended for taxes on incomes of the year 1925 for which returns were filed on or before March 15, 1926.

It is not proposed, according to the White House announcement, to seek at the coming session a permanent reduction of taxes all along the line, but simply a flat reduction of from 10 to 12 per cent on all general income taxes.

Wait on Other Figures.
This, it is believed, will be the simple process, which can be embodied in a short bill. Any attempt to frame a new tax bill will be complicated, it is felt, and will require more time than it will be possible to give at the short session to discussion of tax matters.

Secretary Mellon has given his approval to the plan for tax reduction, having gone over the matter carefully with the president. After reviewing the returns for the present year, the president has come to the conclusion, it was stated, that conditions have developed to a point which will permit of immediate recommendation to congress, after it assembles, to pass the necessary legislation.

MUSSOLINI NOW 'BOSS'
Rome, Nov. 5.—Startling changes in the Mussolini cabinet were announced today. The premier has taken over the ministry of interior, and interim, the duties of which include command over the police force of Italy, and this is commented on as for the purpose of giving the fascist chief personal charge of the campaign against his adversaries. Also assigned to hold seven cabinet posts, and militia. He is premier, foreign minister, minister of interior, minister of marine, minister of aviation, and minister of corporations (labor).

Determined to rid the fascist party of all persons who do not give proof of their absolute faithfulness to the fascist principles, the fascist grand council tonight authorized Secretary General Turati to proceed with an intensive purging of the party ranks. Turati was authorized to compile for proscription lists of the enemies of the regime.

ASTRID LEAVES SWEDEN
Malmoe, Sweden, Nov. 5.—Almost alone on the deck of the Swedish cruiser, Fylgia, Princess Astrid vainly tried to hide the tears that came as the warship steamed out of the harbor here today to take her to Belgium, where she will join her husband, Crown Prince Leopold. The tears were brought on, seemingly, because she was leaving her native land for an adopted one, but later there were tears of joy over the warmth of the farewells of a great crowd that had gathered to see her depart.

Princess Astrid and Leopold were married by civil ceremony at Stockholm yesterday. They now are on their way to Belgium by separate routes and at Brussels, on Wednesday the religious ceremony will be performed.

Capital Waits to Note Effect of Ouster Fiat

Opinions Vary—Interests Watch to See What President Will Do.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Opinion among members of congress now in Washington, on the decision of the Supreme Court in the Myers postmastership case, in which the power of the president to remove appointees was upheld, was varied. One well-known independent republican leader of the senate expressed the view that the tribunal had rendered the only possible ruling.

Like all others discussing the subject, this senator, an important member of the senate judiciary and foreign relations committees, declared that his study of the debates of the framers of the constitution convinced him that no other interpretation of the law, than that given by the court, was intended. He considered it the intention of the writers of the constitution to give the president full power to discharge appointees, so that he could be responsible for the enforcement of the law of the land.

Furthermore, the senator pointed out, the Myers case was on a recent instance of a prerogative that presidents have exercised on other occasions. During President Madison's term such an incident took place. President Andrew Johnson was impeached on the issue, although the vote in the senate on his impeachment was on another question.

William H. King (D), senator from Utah, declares he will introduce an amendment to the constitution to curtail the presidential power to remove appointees. He denounced the authority as "imperialistic."

Wide interest was manifested in the effect of the decision on various members of a number of boards and commissions who have contested the policies of Mr. Coolidge. This query was directed particularly toward the United States Tariff Commission and the Comptroller-General. Several members of the former have made serious charges against the president, while the act establishing the office of Comptroller was drafted with the intention of putting him unassailably beyond the interference from the Executive Department. Both the Comptroller-General and the Assistant Comptroller-General are appointed by the president with the consent of the senate for terms of 15 years.

In his minority decision, the most prominent of the three dissenting views rendered, Justice James Clark McReynolds, held emphatically that, under the majority opinion of the court, even the Comptroller-General and the assistant might be removed.

Bryan Slips as More Official Returns Arrive

Unofficial Count Finished, and Corrected Results in Eighty-One of the Counties.

Corrected returns from all but twelve of the ninety-three counties in the state, and with uncorrected returns from every precinct in every county in the state included, Governor McMullen today had a lead of 3,462 over Charles W. Bryan in their race for governor, according to unofficial figures.

The latest totals are: McMullen 269,511; Bryan, 349,449. Corrections made by county clerks in eighty-one counties of the state in special dispatches to The Omaha Daily News today showed a gain of 559 for McMullen and a net loss of 165 for Bryan.

About 5,000 Mail Votes.
The mail vote has not been counted. It is estimated that nearly 5,000 mail votes are yet to be tabulated.

In the past, however, the mail vote has run comparatively about the same as the regular vote. Neither McMullen or Bryan is expected to gain much if it is counted.

Bryan's only hope of overcoming the McMullen lead seems to lie in possible differences between the official and unofficial returns from the counties.

Officials Count Will be Late.
Secretary of State Pool today said he expected the first official returns to begin to reach him Saturday, but that the bulk of them would not be in until Monday or Tuesday.

The last official returns probably will not reach the secretary of state before the latter part of next week. Because of the bigger vote here, Douglas county is usually the last county to report.

Errors Suspected.
Bryan's friends contend that he received many votes which were X'd before his name on straight republican ballots, which, though erroneous, may have been counted for McMullen. Each such vote, if found to have been counted wrong, would take one from McMullen and give it to Bryan, so that 1,731 ballots counted that way would wipe out McMullen's majority.

McMullen's lead of 760 in Lancaster county over Bryan was cut to 560 by a recount of ballots. The corrected figures are McMullen 13,982, Bryan 13,424.
