Death Calls Mrs.
Louis Horsack at
Omaha HospitalWell Loved Lady of This City Passed Away Last Evening After Operation.

From Saturday's Daily—
Last night Mrs. Louis Horsack of this city passed away at the Methodist hospital in Omaha following an operation yesterday afternoon for the removal of a tumor from the brain from which she has been suffering for several months past. The case of Mrs. Horsack was very critical when she was taken to the hospital a few days ago and the operation performed in the hope of giving her some measure of relief although it was recognized as a very critical case.

The news of her death came as a great shock to the friends and neighbors in this city who have had the pleasure of knowing this estimable lady and in her death the members of the family circle will have the deepest sympathy of the many friends over the city and vicinity in the loss that has come to them.

Mr. and Mrs. Horsack have made their home here for the past several years, having formerly resided at David City, Nebraska, and in the time that they have been here they have made many friends. Mrs. Horsack was a home loving lady that gave every energy and effort possible to maintain and keep her home and family in the fullest of loving care and to the members of the family circle her passing is a severe blow indeed. She is survived by the husband and three children, Frank, Rosie and Joseph, all living at home. The family have made no funeral arrangements as yet as the husband and father was at the hospital yesterday and is not expected home until this afternoon.

THE MYSTERY DEEPENS

From Saturday's Daily—
Strolling home from work the other evening, just as the dusky shadows of the evening were falling, one of our prominent business men was accosted by a stranger, who said: "I'm Christopher Columbus and while taking short leave somebody stole my boat, the Santa Marie, and as a result I'm stranded here and it is impossible for me to make any new discoveries, such as the lucky find when I came across and discovered America." Our fellow citizen looked at him rather bewildered, not knowing whether the stranger had inhibited too freely in some "hoth" or had escaped from our neighboring city of Glenwood, but on second thought he started off and merely said to the stranger: "So's your old man." John, as we shall call our fellow citizen, continued his way homeward thinking "That bird must be off in the upper story saying it is impossible for him to discover anything new in this world. If he will only wait a few days he will discover—" but just then he heard a scream and rushing toward him, from out of a side street, came a young lady, closely pursued by a man. John started toward the girl but as he did so the man raised a pistol and—If the daisies continue to sing sweet lullabies in the moonlight, then Monday evening we shall see the result of John's Good Samaritan act.

RESERVE OFFICERS DINE

From Saturday's Daily—
Last evening a group of the members of the Otoo-Cass County reserve officers association enjoyed a very delightful dinner and meeting at the Hotel Perkins in this city. The menu arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brantner of the hotel was in the nature of a steak supper and was a very delicious repast and thoroughly enjoyed by all of the members of the party.

The Otoo-Cass County association will hold a meeting here on Friday, December 3rd at which time they will enjoy a dinner tendered to the members of the staff of the 89th division, national army, the members of the staff coming here from Omaha for the occasion.

Among those attending the dinner here last evening were Turkey Cook of Nebraska City, Dr. G. H. Gilmore of Murray and W. G. Kieck, W. C. Schaus, J. A. Capwell and H. L. Gayer of this city.

Harvest Festival
at Plattsmouth
Starts Saturday

New Features Promise to Make Annual Indoor Carnival of Legion Greatest Success Yet

The annual fall indoor American Legion carnival, an event of more than ordinary interest in Plattsmouth, will be a four day affair this year instead of the customary six-day attraction, crowding all the action of a week into four nights. The dates are November 13, 15, 16 and 17—starting Saturday night and closing on Bargain Wednesday.

On the opening night there will be plenty of attractions for all, including the Cass county hog calling contest, with two cash prizes, music by the Marshall Augmented orchestra, etc. A handsome 50-piece dinner set is to be given away as a door prize.

Following a breathing spell over Sunday, the attraction will be resumed the first of the week, with a big night Monday. Gloomy Gus, the celebrated radio announcer, will be present; music for the dance will be furnished by Al Finch's orchestra and the door prize will be a handsome console model Freshman Masterpiece 5-tube radio. This set retails at $69.50, a chance being given free with each 10c admission ticket sold. The only requirement to win is that the lucky person be present when the drawing is held at 10:30.

Tuesday night will be another big night with an equally attractive door prize—choice of either a $79.50 Voss electric washing machine or a $63 Premier Duplex vacuum cleaner. Music for dancing will be furnished by the Ruby Trio, KMA radio entertainers and other attraction will be featured. As on other nights, the door prize award will be made on 10c admission tickets and some one is going to get a mighty fine prize as a result of merely attending the carnival. If no one claims the first number drawn, another will be drawn, and another until the winner is found among those present when the drawing is held.

Wednesday night is Bargain Wednesday and will wind up the carnival with great eclat. The door prize will be choice of a lady's or gentleman's watch and in addition drawing will be held to determine the winner of the Chevrolet coach that is given away as one of the features of the carnival. Those holding chances on this prize do not have to be present that night to claim it, although it would be a real thrill to be there and see one's own number drawn from the jar.

Music the closing night is to be furnished by Gradoville's orchestra, and some additional entertainment will be provided for the crowd. The "Harvest Festival," as it is known this year, will be held in Coates hall.

New booth prizes will be featured, including bath robes, blanket and pillow combinations, bridge and floor lamps and many others. Nearly all of the games of the carnival, including a dart board, Jap roll down, Board of Trade, etc.

The popular corn game will be a big attraction again this year, with a greater variety of prizes than ever before and profit-sharing coupons good on larger prizes. This will be known as the Cash and Carry Hardware. Other attractions will include Sweet Shop, Jack and Jill, Piggy Wiggly, Volstead Bar, Hinky Dink and Handy Service Lunch.

The carnival opens next Saturday night. Try and attend each evening, if possible, but by no means miss it entirely, is our advice.

CARD OF APPRECIATION

De Molay Chapter Holds Very Fine Banquet

Parlors of the First Presbyterian Church Scene of Most Enjoyable Event.

From Saturday's Daily—
Last evening the members of Cass Chapter, Order of DeMolay with a number of the parents and lady friends as well as members of the Masonic order, held a most delightful banquet at the parlors of the First Presbyterian church and which was attended by some fifty-one persons.

The parlors of the church were attractive in the purple and gold, the colors of the Order of DeMolay, these being carried out also in the table decorations of the fall chrysanthemums.

This is the first large public gathering that the DeMolay has held in some time and was filled with the greatest interest and enthusiasm on the part of the guests and the splendid array of young men that comprise the membership of this chapter.

The banquet was presided over by Norris Cummins, master counsellor of Cass chapter as toastmaster and who was very well cast in this role. Mr. Cummins gave a short address on the order and its work and which was very pleasing to the members of the party who have not been familiar with the DeMolay workings.

Judge James T. Begley gave a very able address on the history of DeMolay, taking first the history of Jacques DeMolay, one of the victims of the persecution of the members of the order, for the Temple in the early history of France and who was condemned by Philip the Fair of France to the stake and was burned to death in the square in front of the Notre Dame cathedral, and thence the formation of the order for the sons of Masons and their friends, which has in the last few years grown into one of the largest orders in the United States and has several branches in Europe at this time. The virtues of the order, the parental love and obedience, the protection and maintaining of the educational facilities of the country and the promotion of the chivalry of the membership in their dealings with their fellowmen as well as the good morals and clean, upright living of their membership were stressed by Judge Begley in his remarks.

During the banquet the Masonic male quartet composed of Frank Clodt, R. K. Knorr, H. G. McCluskey and Raymond Cook, gave several numbers that were much appreciated. Mr. Knorr acted as the accompanist for the quartet.

The menu was one of the greatest delight and was prepared and served in the usual pleasing manner by the ladies auxiliary of the church and will long be most pleasantly remembered by all of those in attendance.

CANVASS MAIL VOTE

From Saturday's Daily—
Yesterday afternoon the canvassing board that will make the official count of the votes cast in Cass county, consisting of D. C. Morgan, democrat, J. J. Hall, republican and County Judge A. H. Duxbury, started in on their work at the court house. The canvass is made by Judge Duxbury as County Clerk George R. Sayles was one of the candidates and therefore the duties of the canvass devolved on the county judge.

The first vote canvassed was that of the mail vote of which there were twenty-seven, three ballots that were sent out having failed to make their appearance.

In the mail vote Governor McMullen received 25 votes and Charles W. Bryan, his opponent, 2.

In the state senatorship Metz received 17 and Banning 14, while in the state representative race Troy Davis received 21 and Earl Towle 6.

County Clerk Sayles received 25 and H. L. Gayer, his opponent, 2. For register of deeds Miss Jessie Robertson received 25 and Miss Minnie Klinger 2.

In the treasurer vote John E. Turner received 20 and Miss Gering 7.

In the commissioner race C. F. Harris received 21 to 5 cast for Andrew Schleifert while John McKay registered 15 against 11 cast for Fred H. Gorder.

In many cases the voters would skip the greater part of the state ticket below governor to the county tickets.

C. L. HERGER VERY LOW

From Saturday's Daily—
The reports from the bedside of C. L. Herger, old time resident here, states that Mr. Herger is very much worse and his family and close friends are practically without hope of his recovery as he has been constantly failing and owing to his weakened condition there is very little hope of his recovery. Mr. Herger has been confined to his bed for the greater part of the time since May, seemingly being affected with a severe case of kidney trouble and which has in the last week grown so much worse that there seems but little chance of his recovery. Mr. Herger is now only conscious a part of the time.

CARD OF THANKS

To those of my friends who so kindly gave their influence and service in my candidacy for the position of Register of Deeds, notwithstanding I was not elected, I wish to express my sincere thanks for their kindness.

Farmers are 'Merchants' in Fullest Sense

Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Has Observation on Proposition.

Life is largely a matter of comparative values; comparative morals; comparative religions. A man to be an expert mathematician would not stop at arithmetic; a man to be a schooled railroad executive would not stop at driving spikes in the ties. So values are largely balanced by variety of experiences, and much general information.

A visit to Chicago the first time is appalling. One is overwhelmed with the masses of people; the magnitude of the business structures; the money required to build such a city of steel, iron and stone! Yet, when standing squeezed up against a wall in State street in Chicago watching the hundreds of thousands of men, women and children swarming out of those skyscrapers at noon, I being a farmer by experience, and instinct, always felt with pride, "The farmer feeds this multitude. His wealth builds the foundation for all this city." A thing that filled me with pride! And yet it is a truth economically unquestionable.

We do not speak of a farmer as a "merchant"—because he is a producer, yet truthfully he is a producer, jobber and a retailer and the highest type of a "general business man" the world has produced, and on account of difficulties encountered in being able to organize, has individually handled his own problems unassisted.

Until man took a crooked stick, dropped seed, and covered it—the world was a nation of savages. The stability of the home, the city, the financial world, has progressed only so fast as men reached out and became farmers—the first business of mankind. If the farmers today would cease to produce only what they needed to feed themselves, New York, Chicago, Omaha, Kansas City, Denver, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Boston, Portland, and Seattle would crumble into ruins like the old pyramids of Egypt!

If every grain grower in America and Canada could agree after deduction of their grain for feed and seed, to market the balance in twelve equal deliveries monthly, markets would be stabilized; car supply equalized; a monthly cash revenue secured for the farmer; better prices from the merchant and less cost for storage charges and interest in handling the great volume that is plunged onto the market immediately after threshing.

In September, 1923 wheat sold for $1.05 per bu.; in Jan. $1.82; in April, 1924, $1.25; the farmer who had to dump his grain in September lost this. In 1925 January wheat was $1.54; in Dec. same year, $1.65. This illustrates the change of markets available thru extending deliveries over a period of time.

The average corn on Iowa farms runs 2.00 bushels. After deducting for seed and feed, approximately 1.200 bushels left for market, which would be two loads per month, or 100 bushels if marketed monthly.

In hiring trucks to deliver to market in a volume the cost at Murdock is 1c per bu., per mile. Storage are 7c per bu., for 6 months.

Farmers today in Kansas, and points in Nebraska are paying $1.00 per bushel for corn, where they sold last year for approximately 50c. This could have been prevented thru monthly marketing and putting aside a surplus.

And again, a poor corn crop, by utilizing the green feed, thru the silo, and the dairy products turns failure into profit. Some farmers near here have a weekly income of $15 or $60 a month from cream. Droughty years, corn borers, will eventually bring a realization of this fact.

Frankly, one hesitates to advise the farmer, especially of Cass county in regard to anything. His success is too pronounced. His homes, buildings, cars, give too much evidence of his brains he has put into his business.

However, the merchant, and the farmer are so intricately involved in the prosperity of the farmer, there is a great effort being made today thru Chamber of Commerce organizations all throughout the country to bring a closer harmony of interests between these two classes of business men.

Five more pure-bred Holsteins put into Cass county by Rex Young yesterday. In talking with hundreds of farmers I have met since coming to Plattsmouth, am sure the dairy cow is becoming recognized as a farm necessity. C. J. Fleischman of near Weeping Water just bought two Holsteins. Says his boys in high school can milk those cows before and after school and pay their way thru high school. A farmer's son in school, has little time to help on the farm, but he can take care of several milk cows and add to his own cash as well as the farm by this method.

Personally I consider the farmer is the natural aristocrat of America. He stands back of the success of every business, factory, and merchant in the country. And his failure is as willing to the prosperity of a nation and as certain as the boll weevil is to the prosperity of the sunny south.

W. T. Weddell, Murdock, has a spanking little herd of ten Jersey cows; they are making him good money. It is not "advice" or "lecturing" we "dote on." It is hoping for the farmer's confidence and wishing for his ultimate success, so that we all may prosper.

Sec'y, C. of C.

SETTLE WILL CASE

From Saturday's Daily—
The matter of the estate of Andrew Hendricksen, which has been pending an appeal to the state supreme court has been settled and the appeal of the case dismissed by agreement among the heirs of the estate. At the trial of the case in the county court here on the application for the probate of the estate the will was sustained but later on appeal to the district court the will was broken by the verdict of the jury and the matter has now been pending an appeal to a higher court. In the will the real estate consisting of a farm was left to the widow of the deceased.

The will was contested by a daughter by a first marriage, Mrs. Hulda Fritz and by the guardian of the minor heirs of a deceased son of Mr. Hendricksen.

The members of the family have made a settlement of the case to the satisfaction of all of the parties and which includes the payment of $1,500 to Mrs. Fritz as her share of the estate.
