HOG CALLING NOTES

By Barnyard Muse

When it was observed that there is nothing new under the sun, hog calling had not been discovered.

Cass county has some mighty good hog callers—men who could bring home the bacon in almost any contest. And you will have a chance to hear them all in final competition at the Legion carnival Friday night.

George Meisinger and George W. Goodman were the two scoring high ratings last night and they will enter the final. Vern Arn, another good caller will enter the eliminations tonight and undoubtedly be picked for one of the finalists. Others will be unearched as the week progresses and a real hot time will be had Friday night when the eight vie with each other for the first prize.

After the prizes are awarded, the winner will be pitted against "Doc" Sandin, Saturday night's champion, for the title of Cass county champion, Sandin having been declared ineligible to again compete for a prize.

Those who wish to enter the nightly eliminations should make their intentions known so they can be called upon at the proper time. The entry of one or more women contestants tonight promises to give additional interest to the contest.

STOCK WILL BE RETIRED

New York, Nov. 15.—One of the largest corporate financial operations on record was authorized today by directors of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, who voted to retire approximately $200,000,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock thru the issuance of new debentures and common stock aggregating more than $206,000,000.

The transaction will involve the sale of $120,000,000 twenty year 5 per cent debentures, to be offered publicly by J. P. Morgan & Co., and an offering to common stockholders of $80,000,000 additional common shares at their par value of $25 a share. An extra dividend of 12½ cents a share was declared on the common stock today in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 25 cents.

Plus for the offering of debenture will be perfected within a few days by the Morgan banking firm, which, in accordance with the Standard Oil company's wishes, will give preference in the allotment of the bonds to the preferred stockholders whose securities will be called for redemption on March 15. The bankers have been deluged with applications for the bonds, assuring a huge oversubscription of the issue. The debentures will be non-convertible.

Where Customers Feel at Home

"what was good enough for my parents is good enough for me" stuff.

Platts-mouth is like one great glorious cob-web—its interests and individuals so closely woven into this web, that you can't strike one thread without affecting the whole, and vibrating Platts-mouth. It is impossible for any one citizen, no matter how rich or how poor, to escape his responsibility to the great city that is his home.

The Chamber of Commerce, being non-sectarian, non-denominational, non-political and free from factions, calls on each individual to grasp the importance of his individual worth and value to the city in which he lives. This city is made up of what? Merely of individuals!

Sometimes to clarify the atmosphere, to get away from petty things, it is wonderful to take a walk on the river road toward the ferry. Climb up one of those steep side hills and sit down and take in the ever-flowing river and the ever-purple hills on the Iowa side. The views from Platts-mouth's "eternal" hills are glorious beyond description—and this is especially true along the river road.

Our young folks of today are not "bleating follow-the-leader" sheep. They have to be shown the truth, in religious moral and civic problems—and this spells a glorious future for coming generations. In other words, "believing" is being replaced by "thinking" and "knowing." Platts-mouth by facts; error by truth and individualism by co-operation in civic affairs.

If some one had not stopped to "think," we'd be making "burnt offerings" to the Lord, and our churches would resemble packing plants instead of places of worship today. Which is the better?

A thinker conceived the notion that the people were the government, hence responsible for it and today we have representative government for the people and by the people—if they care enough about it to vote.

Some man "thought" he could profit on the credulity and lack of earnest thinking of many, and established the mail-order house that reaches out and cripples the homes, schools and cities because of millions of "non-thinkers."

If a thing is worth anything, it deserves thought. Thought will lift

Platts-mouth out of its lethargy into its place in the sun.

Big nights are in store at the Legion carnival all this week. And the proceeds go to the community building fund. Bully for the Legion boys.

This is their fifth indoor carnival, and a greater part of the proceeds from each has been invested in the building site or added to the nest egg being accumulated for actual construction of a building.

The generous support given their every effort by Platts-mouth merchants illustrates the fact we have often voiced before, namely, that a part of every dollar you spend at home finds its way into civic betterment channels, whereas the dollar you send to Monkey-Ward or some other mail-order concern is gone forever.

Remember, Patzel calls hogs on Main street-Bargain Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. and 2:30 and 5:15 in the afternoon.

KING ALBERT TAKES ISSUE WITH FOCH

Paris, Nov. 15.—King Albert of the Belgians and Marshal Foch, generalissimo of the allied forces in the world war, are at odds on a question of war facts.

The controversies came into the open today with the publication of a letter from the king to the marshal, dated Saturday, categorically denying Foch's quoted assertion that he persuaded Albert not to allow the Belgians to retreat from the Yser in 1914.

The king's letter replies to statements attributed to the marshal by Stephane Lauzanne in an armistice day interview printed by Le Matin.

Albert says that when Foch first called on him, on November 16, 1914, his (Albert's) proclamation that mention of retreat would be treason was already three days old. The king admitted that his staff considered retreat 10 days later but says that he absolutely opposed it, and the Belgians held the line.
