Democrats Draft Program Urging Tax Reduction

Act After G. O. P. Leaders Fail to Place Such a Bill on Present Calendar.

Washington, Nov. 30.—A democratic proposal for tax reduction was announced today a few hours after house republican leaders had mapped out a legislative program for the coming session that left no place on the immediate calendar for President Coolidge's tax credit plan.

The plan, with its scope and details still held secret, will be presented to the house soon after the opening session. It is being drawn by Representative Garner, (Texas), under the direction and approval of virtually the entire representation in congress.

Follow Tilson Statement. The announcement of Mr. Garner who is looked upon as the democratic spokesman in taxation matters, came soon after Representative Tilson, the republican leader, had declared that no new reduction proposal should be considered at the coming session, and that the Coolidge tax credit plan should be approached cautiously.

An opinion that the credit plan has not the "slightest chance" of enactment came from Representative Garrett, who said that any revenue bill springing from the republican side of the house can expect "sympathetic co-operation" from the minority.

Mr. Garner agreed with Mr. Tilson and Mr. Garrett that the tax credit plan would find little support in the house. He argued that not 100 republicans would vote for the proposal.

Map Out Program. Pre-session conferences today listed these subjects as short term to occupy congress during the short term: The annual appropriation bills, the McPhaden branch banking bill, Alien property disposition, radio legislation and possibly farm relief.

The process of whipping the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill into shape for presentation at the opening of congress, was begun today at a conference of the congressional farm bloc and leaders of agricultural organizations.

After the conference, the salient features of the measure remained intact with provision for an appropriation of 250 million dollars to be used to set up a federal organization to export surplus wheat, corn, sorghum, and rice with the cost charged back to the producers in form of equalization fees.

Entertain on Thanksgiving
George C. Sheldon of the Sheldon Manufacturing company and his good wife entertained the relatives on Thanksgiving day, and had for their guests at dinner and the day, a very happy crowd which enjoyed the occasion very much. There were there for the occasion, Messrs. and Mesdames Frank P. Sheldon, Marlon Tucker, B. Wolph, and C. E. Gilk and family and V. P. Sheldon and family.

Uncle Walker Bates Sink.
Last Sunday evening our much esteemed friend Uncle Walker Bates, was suddenly stricken with a complaint incident to an affection of the kidneys, which caused him a considerable amount of grief and suffering, and it was only by the aid of the lancet of the surgeon and other apparatus that he was able to retain life. He is far from well and will require much careful treatment to get thru with the difficulty. Let us all hope that he may soon be himself again and be able to be around. His condition was so grave that Stewart Roush had to leave the elevator to assist in his care. J. G. Wunderlich, very kindly, looked after the elevator for a time during which Mr. Bates was the worst.

Charivari at Junction
About twenty young people from Glenwood and Pacific Junction and vicinity charivari Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stacy in the home of Mr. Stacy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stacy, in Pacific Junction, last Friday evening. After a period of disturbance usual at these occasions, the mock serenaders were admitted and treated to cigars and Hershey bars. There was a jolly social time after the treats.

Manhattan Oils
It has been said that nothing else is as cheap as human life. In some ways, it is still true. But the modern theory of business—employer and employe as really partners in the business, and the business itself responsible for every loss, whether of a dollar, a finger or a day's time—brings the value of life infinitely above the old sordid idea of master and servant. It is good business from the insurance standpoint, to protect lives; it is also good business from the industrial standpoint and from the individual standpoint.

What Wilson Said Regarding Mexican Scrap

"My Part to Aid in Composing Differences Growing Out of Land Troubles."

Philadelphia—The interview with President Wilson, referred to editorially by the Mexico City Excelsior today, was published in the Saturday Evening Post of May 23, 1914, and was written by Samuel G. Blythe.

The Mexican paper asserted that Wilson had expressed a desire to go to Mexico to establish Mexican socialism constitutionally, and that he can "be considered the real author of article 27 of the Mexican constitution."

The conversation was held on April 27, 1914. Mr. Blythe wrote "only a few hours after word had come that Huerta would accept the representatives of Argentina, Brazil and Chile" in the trouble then existing.

Mr. Blythe quoted President Wilson as saying: "It is curious thing that every demand for the establishment of order in Mexico takes into consideration, not order for the benefit of the people of Mexico, the great mass of the population, but order for the benefit of the old-time regime, for the aristocrats, for the vested interests, for the men who are responsible for this very condition of disorder."

"All for Exploiters." "No one asks for order because order will help the masses of the people to get a portion of their rights and their land; but all demand it so that the great owners of property, the overlords, the hidalgos, the men who have exploited that rich country for their own selfish purposes, shall be able to continue their processes undisturbed by the protests of the people from whom their wealth and power have been obtained."

"The dangers that beset the republic are held to be the individual and corporate troubles of these men, not the aggregated injustices that have been heaped on this vastly greater section of the population that is now struggling to recover by force what has always been theirs by right."

"They want order—the old order; but I say to you that the old order is dead. It is my part, as I see it, to aid in composing these differences so far as I may be able, that the new order, which will have its foundation on human liberty and human rights shall prevail."

Mr. Blythe wrote that as a result of his conversation with Mr. Wilson, he could state the conclusion that the policy of the president included "a settlement of the agrarian land question by constitutional means such as that followed in New Zealand, for example, will be insisted on."

Reply by Wilson.
Mr. Wilson was not directly quoted in the conference to New Zealand and there was no other mention of that country in the article.

Mr. Blythe asked Mr. Wilson whether in the event of successful mediation, offered at that time, his plans for the settlement of Mexico would be carried out.

President Wilson was quoted in reply as follows:
"I hope so, for it is not my intention, having begun this enterprise, to turn back—unless I am forced to do so—until I have ascertained that the great and crying wrongs the people have endured are in process of satisfactory adjustment. Of course it would not do for us to insist on an exact procedure for the partition of the land, for example, for that would set us up in the position of dictators, which we are not and never shall be; but I have not our intention to cease in our friendly offices until we are assured that all these matters are on their way to successful settlement. It is a great and complicated question, but I have very hope that a suitable solution will be found, and that the day will come when the Mexican people will be put in full possession of the land, the liberty and the peaceful prosperity that are rightfully theirs."

HONORING PIONEER WOMAN
We enjoy today, in Nebraska the benefits derived from the sacrifices of the pioneers.
One name that is especially familiar to old settlers in Plattsmouth is that of Aunty Tewksbury. She was beloved by everybody who knew her.

She was a real Daughter of the American Revolution—her father having given valiant service in the cause of the colonists.
The two chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Cass county have united in a memorial to Aunty Tewksbury by agreeing to purchase a chair in her honor to be placed in the D. A. R. hall in Washington. This chair will be inscribed with her name and such data as seems fitting. In order to raise their share of the funds necessary for this memorial Fontanelle Chapter D. A. R., are giving a candle light tea on Dec. 13 from 3:30 to 7:00 o'clock at "Sunnyside," the home of Mrs. E. H. Westcott.

The public is invited. Music will be interspersed thruout the hours of receiving. Tickets 35c.

Bold Robbery of County Treasury in Montana

Two Men Intimidate Official and Woman Deputy in Montana Town—Get $45,000 Cash

Great Falls, Mont., Nov. 30.—Two masked men tonight robbed the county treasury's office at Plentywood, Sheridan county, Montana, of $45,000 in cash and a large amount of bonds and escaped. The county treasurer and a woman deputy were held at the point of a gun while the vault was looted.

During the robbery, Treasurer Eugene Torstenson was forced to lie face downward on the floor and the woman deputy was compelled to stand with her face to the wall. Both men flourished guns when they entered the office. After pillaging the vault, the treasurer and his deputy were forced inside and the door was locked. A janitor discovered them an hour later.

The men wore handkerchiefs over their faces and no accurate description of them was obtained. Their entry in the court house and their departure were unobserved as far as officers have been able to ascertain, and it is not known how they made their escape. All officers in this part of the state were notified, but the meager information concerning the bandits is hindering the search.

The robbery was staged on the last day of the fall tax-paying period, and as a result there was a much larger amount of cash on hand than usual. Treasurer Torstenson and his deputy were working after other offices closed because of the rush of work, but were preparing to lock the vault and leave for the day when the bandits appeared.

BASKET BALL PRACTICE STARTS

From Wednesday's Daily—
The Plattsmouth high school basketball team started the 1926-27 season practice yesterday afternoon with the first workout under the careful eye of Coach F. A. Rothert. The team has every prospect of being one of the best that the school has turned out and in addition to the regular letter men that will be on the team there are a number of bright and promising players in the squad that probably will be heard from before the season is over. The schedule for the year has not as yet been announced by Mr. Rothert but games that have been already fixed upon will be return games with Nebraska City and North High of Omaha and with the game at Creighton Prep school at Omaha. The game with Beatrice will be played here this season. There is a possibility that a game may be secured with Central High of Omaha for a season closer.

Basketball in the local school is the only really paying sport from a financial standpoint and the result of the basketball games largely supports the athletic program of the school as the support given the football team by the citizens in general is decidedly lame, altho the team this year was one of the best that the P. H. S. has had on the gridiron in several years.
