Prepared in the Interest of the People of Greenwood and Surrounding Vicinity

E. M. Jardine was looking after some business matters in Omaha on Tuesday of last week.

The ladies of the Methodist church served supper and gave a bazaar at the church on last Saturday evening.

Mrs. David Appham was called to Lincoln last week where she was caring for a patient during the past week.

Munn Dodds of Ashland was a visitor in Greenwood and was disposing of two cars to the people of his neighborhood.

A. E. Fuller had the misfortune to lose three of his good horses with corn stalk disease which is reported as being quite prevalent.

Glen Rouse is with the Burlington road where he is assisting in bridge work being station near Nebraska City during the past week.

Fred Ethrege was a visitor in Omaha and also in Plattsmouth on Saturday of last week, where he was visiting with relatives and friends.

John Skulling the manager of the telephone company and the operator were looking after business relative to the telephone company in Omaha one day last week.

E. A. Landon was kept hustling with the grinding of feed for loading of two cars of grain, and the unloading of two cars of coal during one day last week.

Mrs. P. A. Sanborn who has been visiting here for the past week, returned to Omaha last Saturday and was accompanied by Mr. Sanborn, who remained for over the week-end.

Judge Newkirk who has been sick at his home in Greenwood for some time still remains so he is not able to be out, but is some better, his many friends are hoping that he may soon be well again.

L. W. Mowery one of the prosperous farmers of the vicinity of Greenwood had the misfortune to lose a cow of good quality, and he has some excellent ones, by the dried corn stalk disease.

James M. Well of Gaylord, Kansas, arrived last week and is taking charge of the Standard Oil company at this place, and to facilitate the work has purchased a Ford truck of the P. A. Sanborn Service Station.

Business called Oscar Hartsook and C. A. Mathis to Lincoln one day during the past week, where they drove in their car and after transacting the business visited with some friends there before returning home.

Messrs and Mesdames Carl Weidman, Phil L. Hall and Geo. W. Holt, were spending last Sunday in Omaha, where they drove with their cars and remained for supper and the show in the evening after which they returned home.

Phil L. Hall was a visitor in Plattsmouth on Saturday night of last week where he was in attendance at the meeting of the Cass county reserve officers association, and where he enjoyed the meeting and the excellent feed.

Herman Birdsall who has been with the welding gang of the Burlington road and who recently was at Utica is home now for a short time and is recovering from the extraction of his teeth which were giving him some trouble.

In a practice game which was staged between the Greenwood high school team and the town team of Greenwood on last Friday, the result of the contest showed that the town team had won 22 scores while the high school team had four.

George Bucknell of the firm of White & Bucknell has been rustling over the western portion of the county supplying the chicken raisers with the wonderful egg laying feed known as "An Egg a Day" and which sure is producing wonderful results.

Mrs. Sarah Edmund of Blackduck, Minn., arrived in Greenwood a short time since and will make her home here for the winter and will be with her sister, Mrs. Jane Coleman, as has been her practice for some time to come and spend the winter here with relatives.

Miss Bessie James of Ponka, Okla., accompanied by a little daughter of Mrs. Hartsook, who has been spending a number of months in the south, where the little miss will remain for the future. Miss James will visit here for some time with friends and relatives.

John Schroeder of Lincoln was a visitor in Greenwood and the vicinity with friends, and was looking after some business matters as well. He was accompanied by John Hildebrand who was visiting with friends while Mr. Schroeder was looking after business.

Vernon Skulling who has been quite ill for some time with typhoid is reported as being about the same with some extremely bad days and then again a little better but still in the main remaining very sick. His many friends are hoping that he may soon be well again.

Wm. Buck while working with the cane hay slipped on the slippery stalks and was scooted off the wagon which he was using and striking his side on the hard riggin, receiving some quite severe bruises. While he is so he can get about he was feeling pretty sore for a number of days.

Judge W. E. Hand is a handy man, he being able to take the part in any place of business looking after the work in the absence of the regular workers. During the time that E. A. Landon was called to the farm to look after the business the judge was in charge of the elevator last week.

The little four months old babe of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bucknell has been having a very severe seizure with the pneumonia, and while still quite ill is much better and is showing some improvement, which is a great relief to the parents and grandparents and which their many friends are hoping will continue.

O. F. Peters who has been carpentering at the farm and where he has been getting things in the proper condition for the winter was called to town by his son, Rex Peters, who was nearly swamped with work at the elevator, he having two cars of coal to unload and two cars of grain to load at the same time.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. McFadden entertained the Owl Club at its last regular meeting at their home on Monday evening of last week. There was a goodly crowd of the members present and a most delightful time was had. Mrs. A. W. Hudson was the winner of the first prize, while the honor of making the lowest score with a number of very close competitors, went to Mrs. Carl Weid-

The Oddfellows of Greenwood at their last session after the conclusion of their regular work proceeded to elect officers for the coming year. They selected the following excellent list: Lee J. Walradt, N. G.; James Strahan, V. G.; L. C. Marvin, secretary; Sophus Peterson, treasurer and C. E. Calfee as their trustee for three years. The appointive officers will be named at the convening of the next regular meeting.

Earl Hoag of Lincoln was a visitor in Greenwood for a short time last Saturday and Sunday, and was visiting with his sister, Mrs. W. C. Boucher, who with Mr. and Mrs. Boucher also spent the Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin south of Greenwood, where they day was enjoyed most pleasantly, as well as the most bountiful dinner which was served by Mrs. Martin. Mesdames Martin and Boucher and Mr. Hoag being sisters and brother.

A. W. Hudson, the rustling grocer and market man, who is serving the public excellently, and who is kept on the hop all the time with his excellent business, with the good wife were spending a short time in Omaha on last Sunday, they driving over in the afternoon, where they took supper and remained for the show as well as meeting a former acquaintance whom they had known in Kansas and with whom they spent a

Farmers Start Joining Chamber of Commerce

General Community Interest of All Residents Beginning to Be Realized.

"The Christmas card of today is often a cheap subterfuge for evading even the thought of Christmas." Yesterday W. E. Nolte, visited this office and came in purposely to enroll as a member of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Nolte expressed appreciation of the fact that the business men of Plattsmouth are endeavoring to get into closer contact with the business men on the farms, and that this spirit is a closer understanding is being felt, thru the Chamber of Commerce notes appearing in the paper. Mr. Nolte is a live-wire in the poultry business, and has now his twelve thousand capacity incubator installed. He says there is a great future for the farmer in the poultry end of farming.

James K. Pollock is also a recent subscriber to this organization, and assured us of his interest and vigorous support of this body which is very encouraging.

Mrs. Elbert Young, furnished this office recently with some very interesting information concerning the community club of which she is a member. It is these community clubs we wish to know better—join forces and work out our problems in a broad way. The best way the farmers can help us, and themselves, to the greater understanding of our mutual problems, is by enrolling as members; meeting with us; serving on our committees; on our board; and let us have this way a live active expression of their sentiments, ideals, and problems. Co-operation is a two-sided proposition. If we make mistakes, you should be with us to help put things right. If our merchants can serve the farm business men better join the Chamber of Commerce and we'll all work these important matters out together in a big friendly way. This is no "white collared" organization. The writer at heart is a dyed-in-the-wool farmer, from hard farm work not only in Nebraska, but Saskatchewan, Florida, and Arkansas and Michigan and has a fund of information as to how other communities are meeting their agricultural problems.

We know of two women, in this state, left by their good father, at his death, with a bunch of obligations, who buckled into the farm proposition with energy, hard work and brains, and in four and one-half years sold over $20,000.00 worth of hogs. They make every acre of that farm pay; sell butter, eggs, fruit, canned fruit, cheese, and have brought their farm into a paying business-run proposition with regular weekly income.

The farmer is peculiarly taxed by the bad muddy roads. If he maintains an automobile, and a truck, his mud-tax will come to over $60 a year in excess gasoline alone. This is a terrible tax on profits and resources far surpassing any government road tax to grave our roads. The trouble with the "mud tax" is it is like the old ocean "rolls on forever" while a bond tax, or road tax becomes less each year until paid out, for new construction.

This sixty dollars can be added to per car or trucks he has to operate. This does not include cost for skid chains; worn casing; depreciation on car; and a great item in loss of time; and failure to contact always with good markets on account of impassable roads.

One of the finest things done by the Legion boys, was to purchase all items for their carnival from Plattsmouth merchants; the other was enrolling as an organization with the Chamber of Commerce. These boys will build that auditorium and it will come thru the great spirit of enthusiasm and co-operation that permeates the whole body.

Our bottling works closed down because of lack of support from our home merchants; our bakeries if they fail will be for the same reason. Plattsmouth is large enough to support two bakeries in splendid shape—and it is a great advertisement to future business here to have them with us. Every vacant store and business failure thru lack of co-operation at home, is a blow to future investors. Nothing but simple plain business proposition.

The Farnelle Theatre has been giving us extra fine shows. Their program is high-class and their prices reasonable, which is unusual where there is no competition. It shows a spirit of good will that should be appreciated.

W. G. DAVIS,
Sec'y C. of C.

Death of Well Known Resident of Weeping Water

Mrs. Nancy A. Compton Answers the Last Call at Ripe Age of Ninety-Three.

Nancy A. Jenkins, daughter of Isaac and Mary Jenkins, was born March 29, 1834, near Troy, O. She was united in marriage to Elias M. Compton on August 7, 1854. The same year she moved from Ohio to Indiana and a little later to eastern Iowa. In 1875 she moved to Cass county, Neb., where she has since made her home.

She was the mother of seven children, five of whom are living. Besides her children, she left 22 grandchildren, 62 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. She was a member of the United Brethren church, but there being no church of that denomination in Weeping Water she affiliated with the Mennonite faith. For years she had been nearly helpless and unable to go about, but was always interested in people and affairs, and enjoyed visiting with those who came to see her.

For the past two years she has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Laura Fowler, from where she departed this life on Nov. 24, 1926, as she was approaching her 93rd birthday.

Grandma Compton was a consistent Christian character, a loving mother and a faithful follower of Christ. In her younger days her life was full and varied, as she was a real pioneer and bore with fortitude the privations and hardships of the pioneers. During the war of the rebellion she gathered her children about her, and anxiously awaited the return of her soldier husband, who enlisted in his country's service and received his honorable discharge at the close of the war.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at the Mennonite church, and were conducted by the Rev. Sorenson of that church, assisted by Rev. Morey of the Methodist church. Interment was in Oakdale cemetery at Weeping Water. Weeping Water Republican.

Woman's Club Music Dept. will Furnish Chorus

Number of Christmas Carols will Feature Christmas Eve Candy Giving This Year.

From Friday's Daily—
The members of the music department of the Plattsmouth Woman's club will make a contribution to the Christmas eve annual candy distribution of the American Legion on Friday, December 24th, at the court house, and where the Nebraska Gas & Electric company will do their part by preparing the large cedar tree in front of the court house with the Christmas decorations of varicolored lights.

The candy distribution by the Legion will take place at 7 o'clock this year in order that the parents and little folks who wish to attend this feature of the holiday event, may have ample time to get to the observances that will be held in the early evening in a number of the churches.

The Legion's part of the Christmas festivities will be merely that of making a free-will offering to the little folks, who will then be able to visit their own Sunday schools and churches for the various religious services.

The members of the Woman's club music department have very graciously consented to add a note of holiday atmosphere to the distribution of the candies by giving a number of the Christmas carols that will be a fitting prelude to the formal services at the churches in honor of Christmas time, the early hour of the candy distribution allowing all those taking part therein to go to their various houses of worship for their devotions on the eve of the greatest day of the Christian world's calendar.

The committee in charge of arranging for the Legion candy distribution has met with a very generous response from the members of the organization and the occasion promises to be a great deal larger than last year.
