FIRE AT THE SHOPS

From Tuesday's Daily—
For a few moments yesterday afternoon there was danger of a very serious fire at the local paint shop of the Burlington when a passenger coach in the process of being repaired caught fire and for a little time threatened the other cars in the shop as well as the building. The coach had been placed in the hands of the painters the last of the week and yesterday as the work was progressing one of the light globes that was being used in the car became hot or shorted and in an instant had caught some of the highly inflammable paint and in a few moments two of the men working in the car was threatened by the blaze but it was possible for them to get out and remove a quantity of the inflammable paint from the car. The loss was confined to the one car and by the prompt use of the shop fire equipment the blaze was gotten under control. The loss to the car will be considerable and require the doing of a great deal of work in getting the car back in shape.

Will Maupin Speaker at the Happy Hundred

Veteran Nebraska Editor Gives a Real Practical Address Full of Live Interest.

From Wednesday's Daily—
Last evening the December supper of the Happy Hundred at the parlors of the First Methodist church saw a very pleasing attendance, even Will Nolte coming in from his country home for the very pleasant occasion.

The usual songs were given while the ladies of the church were serving the feast that they had prepared and which included chicken an every thing and which was a treat that all of the supper party appreciated to the utmost.

Searl Davis was the toastmaster of the occasion and introduced the various features that he had prepared for the event with the assistance of the committee and which included the presentation of two of the recent arrivals Rev. Walter C. Minton of St. Louis' church and W. F. Nolte, one of the active workers of the chamber of commerce and also one of the progressive farmers of the county. Running out of material in the new arrivals the toastmaster attacked the press which at the time was defenseless and helpless.

The members of the supper party had an unusual treat that they all appreciated to the utmost in the vocal selections given by Miss Jean and Master Billy Knorr, the children of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Knorr and who showed their very clever work in the vocal lines in the delightful numbers given. Mrs. Knorr served as the accompanist for the children.

Mrs. E. H. Wescott was also present and gave the official Nebraska state song a tryout with the Centorians who enjoyed the song that has been urged by the state federation of the Woman's clubs as the state song and for the first try the party made good work of the pleasing melody and uplifting lyrics.

The speaker of the evening is one of Nebraska's best known men, as he has spent forty-three of his sixty-three years in this state and is now still in the full flower of his profession—that of the newspaper field, being at this time with the Omaha Bee editorial force. The toastmaster in his introduction alluded to the experience of the newspaper man with the personally engineered tour of Queen Marie, but the speaker very cleverly turned the joke with the statement that he had met other queens and even in more unfavorable circumstances.

Mr. Maupin had as the topic of his address "Personal Responsibility," and gave some very real and pertinent facts in regard to the individual responsibility of the men and women of the United States in their duties as citizens and in the home. Mr. Maupin stated a very plain truth in touching on the neglect of citizenship by alluding to the fact that fifty per cent of the voters failed to cast their ballots at the last election and ninety-seven per cent failed to take the proper interest in the affairs of government by participating in the political life of the country. The citizen should think less of their rights and more of their responsibility. That such a large percentage of the voters had failed to register their wishes at the polls was a very poor example to the nation and indicated that the citizens were fast becoming a nation not of individual thinkers but of mass thinkers. Mr. Maupin urged the two party form of government and the participation of every citizen in one of the great political parties.

The speaker also touched on the responsibility of the parent to the child and showed the fact that many times the child was taken to school at a very tender age to place the responsibility for the child on the school teacher, without giving the child the proper years of foundation training in the home life that might bring them to the school with a proper foundation to receive the education that awaited them in the school. The parent then was disappointed that the child did not show in the school the desired advancement which had been caused by the lack of proper home training. The need of the day the speaker stated was for the rebuilding of the walls of the American home as home now was chiefly a place where the family gathered to grumble while the car was being fixed. The nation had, therefore, been saloons by law to save the boys and now it seemed that they must close the garage to save the girls.

The citizen who neglected his duties in voting was one of the first to grumble of conditions were not of the best and as an illustration of the attitude of the citizens the speaker showed one of the best residential wards of Omaha that saved but 31 per cent of their vote at the primary election while the third ward, the underworld cast 83 per cent of their vote.

In his closing remarks the speaker gave a very glowing account of the great state of Nebraska and its products and in which he showed that poultry, butter and eggs crop of Nebraska was $15,000,000 greater than the fruit crop of California. The eggs laid by the Nebraska hen would form three rows of eggs all around the world and still leave 7,000 over.

The address of Mr. Maupin was one of the best that the Happy Hundred has enjoyed this season and was of real facts, plainly stated of present day conditions and one that every present should have fully appreciated.
