Our Quality is Good — The Price is Right

Phone No. 82 Greenwood, Neb.

Mrs. Henry Wilkin was a visitor in Lincoln on last Wednesday where she was looking after some shopping.

John Stalzenberg of Lincoln was a visitor in Greenwood where he was making the annual inventory of the Searle-Chapin Lumber company.

E. E. Buck of Ashland was a visitor in Greenwood on last Wednesday and was taking an inventory of the stock of goods which he has in the Calfee building.

Vern Shepler and Leonard Jardine both shelled and delivered new corn at the Peters Elevator last week which tested fair, but with of course considerable water in it yet.

The Order of Eastern Star was meeting at the home of Mrs. G. W. Holt on last Wednesday afternoon and were being entertained by Mrs. Holt in a most charming manner.

Frank P. Liles of Omaha representing the Mid-West Grain company was looking after some business matters in Greenwood last Tuesday and having business at the Peters Grain company.

Art Conn has been having a time with a number of boils which have been keeping him company for some time and while he has treated them very kindly it was not because he wanted them to remain with him.

Miss Alma Scheel of Murdock who is employed in Omaha and Mr. Fred Tonak of Murdock who is also employed in Omaha were guests for the day and dinner last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hart.

Mr. E. G. Osborne of Lincoln was a visitor in Greenwood with a number of his friends on last Wednesday and departed with the writer for Plattsmouth where he visited with relatives during the remainder of the week.

Judge W. E. Newkirk, who has been confined to his home with illness for the past two weeks still remains in a very poor condition. It is the hope of his many friends that he will be able to be up and around again soon.

Your dollars will do double service at the store of White & Bucknell when you go out to purchase Christmas presents, for you will get a very acceptable present, as well as something which will last and be of service in the home.

It sure looked like old times when Francis Kelly with his sled and a load of bridge plank which he was taking to the country for use in maintaining the roads, was loaded with school children. Mr. Kelly must have a heart for the children.

Jacob Witt, the road overseer and patrolman is sure a hustler in getting the roads in condition after a snow and when it comes to doing road work look out for John Stradley he sure knows the way the work should be done and they both do it.

The Past Grands of the Rebekah lodge met at the home of Mrs. L. C. Marvin on last Tuesday and enjoyed a most pleasant afternoon and were served with refreshments by Mrs. Marvin. The Daughters of Rebekah are doing some very good work in their lodge at this time.

P. A. Sanborn who conducts one of the garages of Greenwood and who is ever looking for business better than it has been for some time, and it looks like it is getting better all the while. This is good news as it indicates a better and more healthful condition.

A number of the members of the encampment of Ashland who reside in Greenwood, were over to the meeting at Ashland on last Thursday and at which time the annual election of officers was held. Among those who were in attendance were C. E. Calfee, Phil Reece, Fred Ethrøge, W. E. Palling, L. C. Marvin, Verne Shepler, Sophus Peterson, Clyde Newkirk, E. H. Armstrong and L. J. Waldrad.

David Appham said to the writer that he lived in the best town in the United States, that was Greenwood, another man was present from Lincoln and ourselves from Plattsmouth, and Mr. Appham said he would not even except Lincoln and Plattsmouth. He has lived in Greenwood for fifty year and says it is the best place to live. David has struck the key note for when one has made a home in a place that is no other place on the earth like his own home town.

Nebraska Family Has a Great College Record

The Horace M. Almy Family Represented at University Since 1884 by Members.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 11.—For forty-two years—ever since 1884 with the exception of 1893 and 1899—the Horace M. Almy family has been represented at the University of Nebraska. During that time, three sons, a daughter, and fifteen grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Almy, who settled on a farm near Lincoln when this city was little more than a village, have attended the University as students, the three sons and twelve grandchildren having received degrees, six of them with Phi Beta recognition. Four of them has secured master's degrees at Nebraska.

The first of the Almy family to enter the university was F. F. Almy, the oldest son, and Florence Almy, a daughter. They had completed the work in the schools of Lancaster county, and enrolled in the University Preparatory school in 1884. F. F. Almy receiving the degree of bachelor of science in 1892. He later studied at John Hopkins University, and is now professor of physics at Grinnell College. Florence was married to William A. McReynolds, now living at Ashland. She died a number of years ago, her son and five of her daughters having since been graduated from the university.

B. G. and J. E. Almy, brothers of F. F. and Florence, received bachelor of science degrees with Sigma Xi honors in 1896. J. E. receiving his master's degree the following year and B. G. receiving his in 1898. J. E. Almy also was awarded Phi Beta Kappa honors.

The following two years there was no representative of the Almy family at the University, but in 1900 J. E. Almy returned to the institution as instructor in physics. Since that time he has been made professor of physics, thus maintaining the representation of his family at the University during the time there were none as students.

The so-called second generation of the Almy family to register included George Almy and eight granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Almy.

Six of these fifteen grandchildren were the children of Mr. and Mrs. (Florence Almy) William A. McReynolds; E. L. McReynolds received his bachelor of science in agriculture degree in 1915, and is now a stockman at Ashland, Neb. Willa McReynolds, now Mrs. E. W. Hageman of Ithaca, Neb., received her bachelor of science in home economics degree in 1917; Gladys McReynolds, now Mrs. H. J. Boylston of Ashland, received her bachelor of science degree in 1919; Florence McReynolds, now Mrs. M. P. Williams of Lincoln, where she is doing department editorial work for the Nebraska Farmer, received her bachelor of science degree in 1924; Sarah B. McReynolds now Mrs. E. F. Estes of Omaha, received her bachelor of arts degree with Phi Beta Kappa honors in 1925; Nellie McReynolds received her bachelor of science in education degree in 1926, and is now teaching at Greenwood.

H. M. Almy of Greenwood, a brother of the Almy boys who were graduated from the University, and two of his sons and a daughter have received degrees from the institution while another son, Harold E., is now a senior in the College of Business Administration. Those of his children who have been graduated are: E. J. Almy, now assistant professor of agricultural chemistry at the University of Ohio, who received his bachelor of science degree with Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi honors in 1916, and his master of science degree in 1917; Ardis Almy now teaching at Ashland, who received her bachelor of arts degree in 1921, and H. M. Almy, Jr., now farming at Greenwood, who received his bachelor of science in agricultural engineering degree in 1922.

B. G. Almy, who himself was graduated in 1896, has seen two of his sons and a daughter graduated from his alma mater, and another son, Loren B., is now a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences. Those of his children who have received degrees are:

Her son, C. G. Mayfield, and son, J. R. Mayfield, drove to Omaha Monday to bid her goodbye as she has been making a visit in that city with her children and grand-children and she left from that point without returning to her old home in Louisville. On this account, she wishes to bid her old friends goodbye and regrets that she did not see them again, but hopes to return in the spring.—Louisville Courier.

HAS INFECTED FOOT

From Saturday's Daily.—Thomas Svoboda, Jr., has been confined to his home several days this week by an infected foot that he acquired as the result of a blister forming on the bottom of the foot during basketball practice. The blister became infected in some manner and the result has been that Thomas has been on the retired list since that time, suffering from the injured foot. The infection is now being eliminated and the young man expects to be able to resume his school work by next week.

When thinking of a Christmas reminder say it with cards, the personal note to a friend. See the line at the Bates Book and Gift shop. Your name printed if you wish it at a small cost.

graduates are: Gerald M. Almy, now a graduate student in physics at Harvard university, who received his bachelor of science degree in 1924, and his master of science in 1926. Mignon Almy, now on the staff of the university library, who received her bachelor of arts degree in 1924, and E. G. Almy, now a graduate student in chemistry at the university, who received his bachelor of science degree in 1926. All three received Phi Beta Kappa, the two sons also being elected to Sigma Xi.

The fifteenth of the grand children to enroll in the University of Nebraska is Constance Almy, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. J. E. Almy of Lincoln, now a sophomore in the College Kappa honors and five with Sigma Xi of Arts and Science.
