A. W. NEIHART INJURED

On Monday evening about five o'clock A. W. Neihart and daughter, Mrs. H. O. Daniels had an experience that might have been very serious. It was a close call enough the way it was. Mrs. Neihart had gone to St. Joseph, Mo., to see his daughter, who was coming home with him to spend the holidays here. On their return they had passed Auburn and were coming north near the garage on that street between Auburn and Nebraska City, or near Julian, when the accident occurred. They noticed a Ford run-about back away from the garage at this point to the west and as they were coasting Mr. Neihart sounded his horn, as a warning to the party driving the Ford. He was coasting and the party did not hear the horn and came out on the road hitting the Neihart car near the front, shoving it to the east side of the road and turning it over on its side. In turning over Mr. Neihart fell on his daughter and she was rather in a serious predicament, as he could not get up. However, in a short time help came and both were taken out of the top of the car and to a house which was close by. They were brought home the same evening. Both were quite badly injured. Mr. Neihart was confined to his bed for several days, but his daughter was able to get about some. The Neihart car was driven home the same evening. The running gear and engine were not injured, but the top and fenders were badly wrecked. Under the doctor's care Mr. Neihart is getting along as well as could be expected at the present time.—Elmwood Leader-Echo

Golden Rod Club Holds Fine Social

Fine Time and Delightful Entertainment Afforded by the Mynard Ladies.

From Friday's Daily—

Early in the fall the Golden Rod Study club of Mynard voted to have a supper and bazaar to raise some of the money required to repair the old M. W. A. hall so that it could be used as a meeting place for the community. This supper was to be held about Thanksgiving as it was expected that the men of the neighborhood would have done enough work on the building by that time so it could be used.

But time passed too swiftly and the crops had to be garnered. So December arrived and nothing had been done excepting that several men had cleaned the floor when Miss Gladys Meisinger and Mrs. Carl Kraeger held their box supper there. At their December meeting the members of the club decided that since they had prepared their fancy work for the bazaar, they would have it on Wednesday evening, although Christmas was so close. It was also suggested that they organize the long talked of community club and elect the officers for the Mynard Branch of the Red Cross. By the way, they have 48 members in their branch and would have had more if the bad weather and roads had not put a stop to the drive.

In spite of the disagreeable weather and the many other handicaps with which the club members contended, the sale was quite successful. There were many pretty and useful hand worked articles displayed and the delicious home made candy and popcorn balls were exceedingly tempting. About ten o'clock a lunch consisting of sandwiches, doughnuts, pie and coffee were served.

While the number of persons present was comparatively small it was a generous crowd and the ladies cleared a good sum and they were much pleased. Last night and cold weather kept many people at home especially those who have small children as they thought the hall would be too cold, but they were mistaken. Two stoves were used, J. H. Wooders made a first rate fireman and everyone was comfortable.

Because many families of the neighborhood were not represented the community club and Red Cross meetings were postponed until after the holidays. Mrs. Guy White was supervisor of the bazaar and she was assisted by Mrs. Arthur Wetekamp in the needlework department. Mrs. Ida Cole and Mrs. C. L. Wiles served the lunch and Misses Grace and Vivian Livingston the candy and popcorn.

The women of the club would like to thank the men who assisted them in preparing the hall for this occasion.

State Has Eight Thousand in the Closed Bank

Deposit in the First National Bank Protected by Fidelity Company Bond.

From Friday's Daily—

State Treasurer Robinson has $8,000 of state funds on deposit with the state funds on deposit with the First National Bank of Plattsmouth, which closed its doors Tuesday evening, following a slight run which was said to have been the result of a suit by Miss Mia U. Gering, county treasurer, to recover $20,000 which she alleges was to have been covered by an additional bond. The state treasurer recently drew $2,000 of state funds from this bank. The balance of state funds on deposit is protected by a bonding company represented by Harry S. Byrne of Omaha.

County Treasurer Gering remitted a total of $16,320 to the state treasurer Wednesday, being funds collected and due to the state. The remittance included a check for $3,000 drawn upon the closed bank at Plattsmouth. State Treasurer Robinson deposited the check but it was returned to him with the information that the bank upon which it was drawn had closed on Tuesday evening. The state treasurer is holding the $3,000 check awaiting it to be replaced with another, and is withholding his receipt for the remittance.—State Journal.

This amount that has been held up from the county treasurer here had thought to have been passed through the bank before closing and will add to the total of the amount that was sought by the treasurer in the suit brought against the bank.

Wedding of Well Known Young People

Miss Elevera Born and Mr. Herman F. Hennings Joined in Wedding Thursday.

From Saturday's Daily—

A very simple and impressive ceremony occurred at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Born, just west of Plattsmouth, on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock when their daughter, Miss Elevera, was united in marriage to Mr. Herman F. Hennings.

The home was very handsomely arranged for the ceremony that was to unite in marriage two of the oldest and best known families of this portion of Cass county, and only the immediate families of the contracting parties were present to witness the marriage.

The marriage lines were read by the Rev. O. G. Wichmann, pastor of the St. Paul's Evangelical church of Plattsmouth, the ring service being used in the ceremony that was to join the two very estimable young people.

The bride couple were attended by Miss Carolyn Snell of Omaha as bridesmaid and Mr. Leonard Born, brother of the bride as best man.

A most charming bride was Miss Born, her gown of old rose silk georgette over crepe making a beautiful wedding gown.

Miss Snell wore a gown of two tone shades of rose crepe de chien.

Following the wedding the members of the two families were entertained at a most attractively arranged wedding dinner and at which time the newlyweds received the congratulations of the members of their families.

Shortly after the dinner the Born home was visited by a very large crowd of the young friends of the contracting parties who joined in wishing them all of the joy and happiness that the future could possibly hold for them. During the visit of the friends dainty refreshments were served.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Born and has grown to womanhood in this community and is a granddaughter of Mrs. Leonard Born, Sr., of this city, and a lady who has in her years here made a very wide circle of friends and acquaintances. The bride is a lady of the greatest charm of personality and will carry with her in her new home the well wishes of the friends. She was educated in the local schools and graduated from the high school here.

The groom is also a native son of Cass county and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand J. Hennings, old and very highly respected residents of Eight Mile Grove precinct. He has been engaged in farming for the year since completing his school work and is one of the industrious young men of the county and well worthy of the charming lady that he has won as a helpmate.

Mr. and Mrs. Hennings departed yesterday for a short honeymoon trip and on their return they will be at home to their friends after March 1st on the Hennings farm west of Plattsmouth.

CENTRAL P. T. A. MEETING

From Saturday's Daily—

Thursday at 3 p. m., was held the regular afternoon meeting of Central P. T. A. A beautifully decorated Xmas tree was placed in the room by one of the grades and the sixth grade children under Mrs. Carlson and Miss Rys sang two part Christmas carols for the parents.

The two part duet by Jack Moye and Selby Lightbody was an unexpected treat, and we are glad to see the boys taking part in musical programs. May we as parents take as much interest as possible in this development of our children in our own homes. It will mean so much to them as the years bring larger responsibilities.

After a short business session in which the child welfare magazine was emphasized for its excellent help on child understanding and development and up to date information on education of children for which it was voted to place a subscription in the public library.

The program was taken up by Mrs. Frank Clodt. She gave a review of the state bulletin and then asked Mrs. Searl Davis to give the lesson from "The Child: His Nature and His Needs." The subject was principally the subnormal and superior child intellectually. This centers around the I. Q. (intelligence quotient) which has recently been taken in the upper grade of our school. How many of us have inquired as to just how our child may stand intellectually? Are we giving him or her all the help possible which finds expression in more ways than helping to do sums or to spell or to read. If parents are wanting to know how they may help—the P. T. A. welcomes them. The banner was won by Miss Martens' C grade. May next month see a lively contest.

SOCIAL WORKERS MEET

The Social Workers Flower club composed of the ladies residing south of this city, met at the home of Mrs. George Mumm, with Mrs. Fred Spangler and Mrs. R. A. Sacks as assistant hostesses.

The home was very prettily arranged in the Christmas decorations of the red and green and with a fine Christmas tree adding its pleasing touch to the scene. The members of the party exchanged gifts during the evening which added a great deal of interest to the event.

At a suitable hour dainty refreshments were served that added very much to the pleasures of the ladies of this enterprising club.

Dr. S. S. Wilson Meets Death at Nebraska City

Prominent Physician is Crushed to Death When His Auto Overturns Yesterday.

From Friday's Daily—

Nebraska City, Dec. 16.—Dr. Sidney S. Wilson, for twenty-five years a practicing physician in Nebraska City, was almost instantly killed at 2:30 o'clock here this afternoon, in an automobile accident on Kearney Hill, south of St. Benedict's church. The exact cause of the physician's death may never be known. Clem Gude, resident of Kearney, was the first person to find Dr. Wilson's body underneath his car, a large coach model. He asked the physician if he was injured and says that Dr. Wilson shook his head. That was the last sign of life.

The practitioner's head was crushed, probably between the door and a doorpost of the car.

Gude at once notified County Attorney W. F. Moran, coroner and Sheriff Ryder. Men had to be summoned to help lift the heavy automobile so that Dr. Wilson could be extricated.

Several theories as to the cause of the accident were advanced, but none may be correct. One is that following several recent night visits, Dr. Wilson fell asleep as he drove down the hill toward town, after having made a call in the country. Another is that he was driving on a rough road and that the wheels of the car jolted from one rut to another, overturning the machine. In this movement of the car, and as it was about to turn over, it is possible that the physician attempted to leave the machine and was caught by the heavy door.

Dr. G. W. Fegers, who accompanied the county officials to the scene of the tragedy—one block south of St. Benedict's church and school—made an examination and declared that death had resulted within a few minutes after the accident. He found severe fractures of the skull. The body was removed to the Karstens & Patterson undertaking establishment here.

Dr. Wilson was about 53 years of age and had practiced medicine in Nebraska City for more than a quarter of a century—since his graduation from an eastern medical school in fact.

He was born in Otoe county, near Lorton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Enoch H. Wilson, pioneers of the county. His brother, William W. Wilson, is a member of the Supreme Court commission.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Edward S. Farrow, of Rochester, New York, and two sons, Hugh Wilson, student at the University of Nebraska; and Richard, attending the University of Rochester, at Rochester, New York.

Mrs. James Alloway Called to Her Reward

Passes Peacefully Away After Short Illness at Home in Louisville—Was Loved by All.

From Friday's Daily—

Louisville people were greatly grieved and shocked on Tuesday afternoon, December 14, 1926, to learn of the death of Mrs. James Alloway, which occurred at the family residence on lower Cherry street on Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock. Mrs. Alloway had been ill for only a few days and as she was subject to similar attacks, her family did not feel any apprehension as to the outcome until early on Tuesday morning, when she lapsed into semi-consciousness from which she did not rouse unless spoken to and from this state she gradually passed into that deeper sleep which knows no awakening on earth. She was 68 years, 9 months and 11 days old.

Mrs. Alloway was formerly Miss Mollie Johnson, the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Johnson, early pioneers of Cass county. She was born in Kentucky, on March 3, 1858, but spent most of her life in Nebraska, coming here with her parents in her early life. She was married to James Alloway at Plattsmouth, on December 25th, 1879, the Rev. J. Gallagher performing the wedding ceremony. The only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alloway, Ray, died in the year 1912. They have only one remaining child, their daughter, Mrs. F. F. Ross, who with her family resides on a farm west of Louisville. There are three grandchildren.

Mrs. Alloway also leaves one brother, Thomas Johnson, of Kansas, and seven sisters. They are Mrs. Betty Francis, of Crawford; Mrs. Jennie Duke, of Kansas City; Mrs. W. H. Payne, of Calgary, Canada; Mrs. G. H. Chamberlain, of Lincoln; Mrs. George Adams, of Hollywood, California; Mrs. George Robinson, of San Francisco, and Mrs. F. F. Fort, of Lincoln.

Mrs. Alloway was a member of the W. C. T. U. of Louisville. She was a quiet, homeloving woman, but her cheerful disposition and keen sense of humor made her a good companion and she was loved and respected by her many friends. She was a good neighbor, friendly and sympathetic and ever ready to lend a helping hand. She was a faithful wife, a loving a devoted mother and a splendid Christian character whose quiet influence was felt among her friends and acquaintances and her passing has brought much sorrow to her family and to all who knew her.—Louisville Courier.
