Home Talent Play Pleases a Large Number

"Here's Your Hat" Given for Benefit of Fire Department at the Parmele Theatre.

From Tuesday's Daily— Last evening the musical comedy, "Here's Your Hat" offered by a large cast of Plattsmouth young people, was presented for the first time at the Parmele theatre and gave for a two-hour period a real entertainment to the audience, the members of the cast presenting the music comedy for the benefit of the Plattsmouth Volunteer Fire department.

The members of the cast have been selected from large groups of the Plattsmouth young people and their selection was more than justified in the result of the opening performance of the show.

"Here's Your Hat" is a comedy that has very alluring musical settings and presented by a cast of more than usual ability in the main characters of the play it proved a real hit to the delighted theatre goers. Miss Helen Wescott, Mrs. Robert Walling, Fred J. Warren, C. A. Marshall, Jr., Paul Vandervoort, Bill Martin, Miss Mathilde Olson, Miss Sylvia Noble, Norris Cummins, Roy Olson, Miss Edna Klinger and Merle Bell composed the principal characters in the story of the play.

The musical setting was afforded by the principals in the play as well as large array of choruses and special dancing numbers that added to the enjoyment of the large audience and the young people were heard in a large number of popular songs of the past year that enlivened the production and pleased the audience very much.

The young people taking part in the dancing numbers were especially pleasing and showed both skill and grace in their offerings that covered a large range of dancing features.

One of the numbers that seemed to be especially pleasing was that of "Where'd You Get Those Eyes" and in which Jimmie Begley and little Miss Margaret Shallenberger were heard.

The attraction as a whole was very pleasing and those who failed to attend last night should be present this evening as this will be the last opportunity of witnessing the performance and those who failed to see it will miss a real attraction.

The show is good and in addition those attending are helping out the members of the fire department in securing funds for their new fire truck.

ENJOYING HONEYMOON

From Wednesday's Daily— Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swander, the latter formerly Miss Keitha Doud, one of the Cass county school teachers, are enjoying a honeymoon at Bloomington, Nebraska, the home of Miss Doud and where they will remain until the first of the coming week. The bride has been teaching at the Horning school south of this city and was joined here by the groom, whose home is in Chicago, they being married here at the home of the bride's uncle, Charles E. Cook. They departed at once for Bloomington where they have since been visiting. The bride will return here to complete her teaching contract and will then go to Chicago to join her husband who is employed in that city and where they expect to make their future home.

Mrs. Swander is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doud, former well known residents of this portion of Cass county and has many friends over the county where her family resided for some many years.

MANY ENJOY PLAY

From Wednesday's Daily— The last performance of the home talent musical comedy, "Here's Your Hat" at the Parmele theatre last evening, was attended by a large and well pleased audience and who enjoyed very much the offering of the young people of the cast who were exceptionally clever in their various characters as well as in the dances and vocal solos and choruses that featured the production. The firemen, under whose auspices the play was produced, will realize a neat sum that will be applied on the fund being raised for the purchase of a new and larger fire truck for the city.

Melvin Burgess Bound Over on Assault Charge

University Place Young Man Is to Face Trial in District Court—Bond at $1,000.

From Tuesday's Daily— This morning in the county court was heard the preliminary hearing in the case of the State of Nebraska vs. Melvin Burgess, on a complaint charging the young man with assault on the person of Miss Mabelle B. Purdy on the night of Sunday August 1st, 1926.

The alleged assault occurred, it is claimed in Cass county, a short distance out of the town of Greenwood and as the result of the assault the car of the defendant was wrecked and in which Miss Purdy suffered injuries that still make her moving about a matter of great difficulty.

The complaining witness stated that she with Burgess had driven from Havelock, the home of the witness, to Ashland and to Lahoma Beach, a few miles out of that place and had remained at the beach until 11 or 11:30 at night and had then started back to Havelock. The witness stated that one attempt to assault her had been made a short distance out of Ashland and that in this her garments had been torn and she had resisted the efforts of the defendant. After passing through Greenwood the defendant had again renewed his attentions and had been resisted and stated that he would accomplish his purpose or wreck the car, the witness testified. As they were driving at a good rate of speed in the Ford roadster the defendant had grabbed the witness with both hands and released his hold on the steering wheel of the car and which had then crashed across the road and into the ditch and wrecked.

On cross-examination by the attorney for the defense the witness stated that she did not recall any of the circumstances of her being rescued from beneath the car save from what others had told her later. Witness stated that she was conscious when reaching the St. Elizabeth hospital in Lincoln later. The witness denied knowing a man named Chambers and who had visited at the hospital in the next few days in company with Burgess, the defendant. Witness stated that she had met Burgess on the Saturday before the accident on Sunday.

The defense offered no testimony in the case and the matter was submitted without argument to Judge A. H. Duxbury, who held the defendant for trial at the next term of the district court and fixing the bond in the sum of $1,000. Relatives and friends of the defendant at University Place and Havelock are to try and raise the price of the bond and until which is produced the defendant will remain here in the county jail.

The matter of the auto accident in which Miss Purdy was injured has been tried as a civil case in Lancaster county, and in which she recovered a judgment of $14,000 and an effort to secure a new trial of the case in that county is pending.

All parties in the case reside at University Place and Lincoln.

Prominent Young Folks are Wedded

Miss Myrtle Fleischman and Raymond H. Lohnes Are United in the Bonds of Wedlock.

From Wednesday's Daily— This afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fleischman at Louisville occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Myrtle Luella to Mr. Raymond H. Lohnes of Omaha.

The Fleischman home was very attractively arranged in a color scheme of pink and white which was carried out in the decorations of the parlors where the wedding occurred and in the dining room of the home, the color scheme also entering into the refreshments that were served at the wedding luncheon.

The marriage lines were read by the Rev. H. G. McClusky, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Plattsmouth and an old friend of the Lohnes family. The beautiful and impressive ring service was used in the uniting of the two happy hearts. The bride was very charming in a gown of pink crepe de chene and carrying a bridal bouquet of roses.

The bride and groom were attended by Miss Leta Fleischman, cousin of the bride as bridesmaid and Mr. Charles Gades of Gretna as best man.

Following the wedding the members of the families of the contracting parties and the members of the bride party were entertained at a very charmingly appointed wedding dinner and at which the newlyweds received the well wishes of their relatives on the happy event.

Mr. and Mrs. Lohnes departed after the dinner for Omaha where they spend a short time and prepare for their future home in that city.

The bride has grown to womanhood in the vicinity of Louisville where she has friends that are legion and is one of the most highly esteemed and popular young ladies of that community. She has for the past in the county schools at Fairview and this year is teaching at the Culom school which she will continue to teach until the close of the school year.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lohnes and was born and reared to manhood in the vicinity of Cedar Creek where his family is numbered among the oldest residents. He has been engaged in farming on the Lohnes farm for the past few years since completing his school work and is known as one of the industrious young men of that portion of Cass county. Mr. Lohnes has also been one of the active followers of the baseball sport in this county as a player with the Cedar Creek and Louisville teams and is a young man of the widest acquaintance over this section of Cass county. Mr. Lohnes is now engaged in the radio business in Omaha.

The many friends over the county will join in their best wishes to this estimable young couple.

Kansas City and Local Prices are Compared

Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Returns Filled With Enthusiasm for City.

It would be with "malice aforethought" if neglected to mention "Here's Your Hat" playing at our theatre. Have been taking in amateur shows for the past 40 years, and before that playing "Moses in the Bullrushes." Can say without "mental reservations" the play last night is the best amateur show have ever enjoyed. It is worth seeing—interesting, amusing, laughable, beautiful, and well acted. If you're reading this, want to get about $5 worth of enjoyment for the price of admission—DON'T fail to see this play. This is not "apple sauce," not just boasting because our loyal firemen are back of this proposition, but because the show is of exceptional merit. The dances are wonderful and Olson and Cummins as detectives are worth the price alone.

Then too, Warren as an aggressive handsome lover will stir many a heart—see him try to slip in a kiss! That was magnificently done—finished work—professional stuff!

Received a letter from Mrs. A. A. Post, a much beloved "grand old lady" of Rogers, Arkansas, formerly Miss Austin, daughter of Hon. Benjamin Austin, Mrs. Post, born at Orepolis 1859 and claims to be the first white child born here among the Indians. Her parents, the honorable Benjamin Austin, and his wife are buried at Eight Mile Grove cemetery, and Mrs. A. A. Post, 721 North 4th St. Rogers, Arkansas, would like to hear from some on the old time friends, who might yet be living.

Spent Christmas in Kansas City and saw more vacant store buildings, houses and apartments, than Plattsmouth every had or could have in proportion to the population. It's good to be back home in Plattsmouth I can tell you.

The extremes of poverty, and wealth are sickening in Kansas City. Passed more worn out wrecks of humanity, creeping about, half fed, half clothed, broken men and women! Saw more hovels, shacks and tenements serving as homes than have seen for years. A city like Plattsmouth may not have its miles of great boulevards; sweeping golf links, spacious parks, but here we have something better—we have a greater friendship for our friends and neighbors; we have better air to breathe; better water to drink; more happier homes—less vice, better environment for our children and just as good schools; good amusements—in fact we LIVE here, all of us, wealthy or poor, while in a city like Kansas City, a few live, the rest are crushed in the fight for a mere existence.

And tonight you can't afford to miss the gorgeous dance with the sheet—fascinating, beautiful, inspiring. Don't know how all these dances have been brought to such perfection in such a short period of time.

June Marshall as the persistent lover is a dream! He's so quiet, it is a revelation to see him make love in public. In fact, as said before, this is a wonderful play, and you miss a great deal, if you fail to attend.

Miss Noble as Daisy Dumb, is a scream form start to finish—she's slated for high-class professional stuff if she keeps on. Never lost her gum once! And the sweet puppy she carries—you'll just have to see her to believe all we say.

Petticoat Lane (11th St.) Kansas City, Missouri was decorated for Christmas in regular style. The lamp posts covered with cedar bark, and Christmas trees placed on top giving the appearance of a cedar lined street. Kansas City was wreathed with green, high and low—all very wonderful and the work of Rock the florist at the expense of the merchants.

Sophistication is due to a life filled with varied experiences, touching all phases. In the Lou Boggess windows in Kansas City, wonderful floral displays, a little mouse climbed up on the table, came and looked out of the window at us, went back deliberately, climbed into a basket of artificial flowers, sat on his hind legs and proceeded to eat seeds from the bouquet. Some sophisticated Kansas City mouse.

After a day in window shopping in Kansas City; return filled with enthusiasm for Plattsmouth; for our fair prices; for our good city—and for the spirit of co-operation that is growing into something to definitely help our city, and our community with your help, and unselfish devotion to the good of us all in hard work for Plattsmouth and vicinity. W. G. DAVIS, Secretary.

VISITING FROM PERU

From Wednesday's Daily— The home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harvey has been the scene of a very pleasant family gathering in the last few days with a group of the relatives from Peru attending the house party. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Farmer, parents of Mrs. Harvey, with their son, Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. George McKnight and daughter, Geru'dine, comprised the party and spent a most enjoyable time here, coming in time for the Christmas festivities. They enjoyed the Christmas program at the Presbyterian church and the Christmas festivities at the Harvey home and which included a fine radio program that they secured over the new Crosley console radio that Mr. Harvey presented the family with on Christmas. The occasion was one that the visitors will long very pleasantly remember.
