UNION NEBRASKA

They Will Pay the Bills!

Give the Pigs and Chickens an opportunity and they will pay the bills. As they are the best paying proposition on the farm today, you should by all means provide them with houses that will protect them and enable them to work even more efficiently for you.

See us for Individual Hog Houses and for Brooder Houses for the chickens. We can show you how you can have the best in this line for your flock and herd—at a very moderate cost.

We have the plans from which you can construct these yourself at a great saving over having to hire the work done.

place on last Sunday morning. The remains were shipped to Union for interment. Mr. Douge was about sixty-two years of age, and was well known and liked in Union, where he spent so many years. We have but little regarding his life, and will give a fuller account in the next issue of this paper.

April Birthdays.

The old settlers' register shows the following birthdays of some of the people in the near Union:

G. Wash Giles, for many years a resident of Wyoming precinct, south of here, was born April 28, 1854, in Illinois, and came to Nebraska in 1860, residing near here until a few years ago, when he located on the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Harvey Miller was born in Wisconsin on April 3, 1856, and became a resident of this vicinity in 1867, now resides south of Union.

Mrs. B. F. Hoback was born in West Virginia on April 2, 1860, coming to this state in 1879, her home is three miles southwest of here.

Mrs. Joseph Bauer is a native of Virginia where she was born April 13, 1865, and is one of the early settlers of this village.

Mrs. M. S. Briggs, wife of the Journal reporter, residing in Plattsmouth, was born April 18, 1861, in Iowa, and her home has been in the county seat town since 1887.

Mrs. Elizabeth Easter, residing southwest of here, was born April 8, 1862, in Ohio, and came to Nebraska in 1868.

Lewis F. (Bud) Fitch was born April 4, 1865, at Rock Bluffs, and one of his first exciting experiences was learning Joe Elliott how to trap craw-fish in old Mud creek.

Mrs. May Dysart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Stine, was born in sight of Union on April 22, 1896, now resides north of here.

Miss Vera B. Upton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Upton, was born in Union on April 15, 1909, a graduate of Union high school and is now in the state university in Lincoln.

George Clark still makes his home with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ira Clark, and was born in this village on April 5, 1918.

As your name does not appear in the birthday lists it is because you have neglected to have your name and birthday recorded in the register, so you had best call at C. L. Graves' office and register the names of yourself and family.

Type Play a Trick

In the act for the play of the Union school, known as "Cyclone Sally," in the admission price, a figure one got in the place of where a figure two should have been and made the admission read fifteen instead of twenty-five cents. Remember the price is twenty-five and forty cents.

Celebrates Birthday.

At the home of Howard Taylor and mother in Union occurred the celebration of the passing of the birthday of Mrs. Taylor and Mary Hoback, when both the birthdays were celebrated. A very delightful time was had and all enjoyed the occasion very much. There were there for the occasion, John Hoback and family, Uncle W. L. Hoback, Ray Bollman and Jay Austin and family of this vicinity and Herman Bollman, who is a student in the state university at Lincoln and was visiting here.

The Union Ticket

At the caucus which was held about a week since the following names were placed on the ballot for the spring election, the number being two times as many as are to be elected. The following are the nominations: For councilmen, F. H. McCarthy, Frank Anderson, J. D. Cross and E. A. Dowler. For treasurer, E. J. Mougay, and W. E. Moore, who hold the position of city clerk. Clifton B. Smith, and Phillip F. Rhin was selected.

Will Have a Home.

C. E. Morris, the genial and efficient manager of the Standard Oil company of Union, purchase an acre of ground in northeast Union, and then purchased a house, which he is having moved on the ground and will, when he gets the place finished make it the wife a good home.

Returns to Work Roads in Syracuse James Dooley, who was employed on the road between Union and Nebraska last summer, has been working at the home of C. W. Flaishman for some time and on Monday evening received a call to come to Syracuse to begin the season's work on the roads. During the past week, Mr. Flaishman and Mr. Dooley have been constructing a cyclone cave. Fourteen years ago, March 23, was the time of the cyclone which destroyed the house where Mr. Flaishman at that time lived and where Mr. Peter Johnson now resides. When the cyclone had gone over Mr. and Mrs. Flaishman concluded they would make a cave so as to be safe in the future. On the 23rd day of March this year just fourteen years to a day they began the construction of the cave and expect to have it ready when the next storm comes. The excavation is completed and ready for the mason work.

Plan to Clean Up Lots Where Taxes are Back

County to List Property in Cities and Villages for Lump Auction and Clean Up.

From Wednesday's Daily—

There are in the cities of Plattsmouth and Weeping Water as well as several of the smaller places over Cass county, a large number of lots and small tracts of real estate where the taxes have long been delinquent and where the taxes in many cases have more than equalled the value of the property.

It is being surveyed at this time and from this a plan will be devised that will allow the county to place this property on sale and have it cleaned up and once more placed on the tax lists under parties who might purchase the property and keep the taxes paid on it in the future.

The property in this class are usually small lots that are scattered over the cities and towns and which under this system of sales would attract a purchaser and wipe out the immense array of taxes that have in the past accumulated on the property.

This plan was successfully worked on Sarpy county and resulted in a greater part of the property being placed in the hands of persons who have looked after the payment of the taxes and kept the property off the delinquent tax list after it was purchased.

The amount of property that would amount into thousands of dollars and should be a real move on the part of the county and various city governments to clean up a lot of very bad tax property over the county and give the purchasers at the auction of the property a clear title to the various pieces of real estate that are purchased.

The plan looks good and after a more thorough investigation will probably be adopted and suitable parties secured to get the property in shape for the listing.

Gas Now Used to Save Fruit From Freezing

Scientist Expects to Lengthen Growing Season and Rescure Many Immature Crops.

St. Paul, Minn.—A scientific method of gassing green farm products to hasten their ripening has been adopted commercially in various parts of the United States.

The gas method for ripening fruit and vegetables was originated by Dr. R. B. Harvey, plant physiologist of the Minnesota agricultural experiment station.

Dr. Harvey expects the use of ethylene to lengthen the growing season by ripening immature fruits before the regular season and also to save fruits caught green by frost.

Expense Small. "The expense of the treatment is negligible," says Dr. Harvey. "Ethylene gas costs about $4 for 25 cubic feet, which is sufficient for 10 or more carloads of celery, tomatoes or bananas."

A single dose of ethylene of about two to three cubic feet, costing less than 40 cents a carload, is sufficient to produce a remarkable change in their color, flavor and texture to that of fine, ripe fruit.

Sugar Content Increases. "In the commercial treatment of celery with ethylene it was found that the sugar content of the stalks increased 20 to 30 per cent over the untreated material. Immature fruits, such as green tomatoes or muskmellons, can be made marketable, their acidity decreased and their sugar content increased by the use of ethylene."

"At the Minnesota station we have ripened practically all of the important fruits and vegetables of tropical and temperate climates. Of the tropical fruits we may now hope to have a greater share available in the north, as they may now be shipped in a firm, green condition."

EXPLOSION CREDITED TO WARRING FRUIT-DEALERS

Lansing, Mich., March 27.—An explosion attributed by police to warring fruit dealers destroyed a building occupied by the Michigan Beverage company, in the downtown section here today. The blast, believed to have been caused by a heavy charge of dynamite, rocked the entire business section and did damage estimated at $50,000. No one was injured.

A LEADER IN COMMUNICATION

The annual report of the American Telephone & Telegraph company shows that it is owned by 399,121 stockholders, and that no stockholder owns as much as one per cent of the total stock outstanding.

President Gifford defines the ideal and aim of the company, as a telephone service for the nation free from imperfections, errors or delays, and enabling at all times, anyone anywhere to pick up a telephone and talk to anyone anywhere else, clearly, quickly and at a reasonable cost.

The United States now enjoys the use of 17,574,000 telephones. It has led the way in long distance voice transmission over land and sea, and established a commercial service for the transmission of pictures by wire.

In no branch of industry does the United States stand out more strikingly as a leader, in contrast with the rest of the world, than it does in telephone achievements.
