SANBORN SERVICE GARAGE

O. F. Anderson of Wahoo was a visitor in Greenwood and other places in Cass county on last Tuesday.

J. C. Lemon and James Bright shelled and delivered corn to the Peters Elevator company last week.

Henry Wilkin was feeling poorly during the fore part of the week and was not able to work for a few days.

E. M. Jardine and Howard Johnson were looking after some business matters in Lincoln on Tuesday of last week.

Frank Kelly sold his corn in the car to Wm. Frank who will use it in feeding cattle, which he is a past master at.

Frank Rouse moved a chicken house from Greenwood to the farm of Alfred Anderson, southwest of town on last Wednesday.

Milton Nelson of west of Lincoln last week was a visitor in Greenwood for a short time, he having formerly resided here.

Henry Wilkins and wife were visiting in Elmwood for the week end, where they were guests at the home of Mr. Wilkins' parents.

Mrs. E. A. Landon and Miss Catherine Coleman were visiting with friends and looking after some shopping in Lincoln on Monday of last week.

Mrs. M. W. Wright was looking after things at the postoffice in Greenwood on last Wednesday while the postmistress was transacting business in Lincoln.

On Tuesday of this week the Masonic order will observe the sixth anniversary of the dedication of the Masonic building in Greenwood and a most enjoyable time is expected to be had.

Arthur Stewart has been hunting for the last few months and has cleared some seventeen acres and is still going strong and expects to have thirty-five acres cleared in a short time.

Howard Johnson, while engaged in his usual occupation of track work for the Burlington had the misfortune to sprain his back which put this gentleman on the retired list for a week before he was able to return to his work.

The members of the I. O. O. F. are preparing a play which they expect to present in about three weeks. This play is called the Prairie Rose, and while a good play is appropriate at any time, the middle of May is surely the right time for a "Prairie Rose." So let her come.

The matter of better mixing of the elements which go to make the perfect feed for cattle is being pushed to the ultimate that the best and the most can be gotten out of the feeds which are used. The Farmers Union Elevator company just received a car load of feed which has been scientifically proportioned for the best results.

While Gust Sorman was already one of the finest of carpenters, it was not considered out of the way that he should be made a Mason as well as at the last meeting of the Masonic lodge, he was also made a Master Mason. This gives him a rating as both a master Mason and a master carpenter, and he is also a very nice man besides.

The Ashland Oil company has purchased from the city of Greenwood the old fire house which they had Frank Rouse move to the rear of their old station, and which will be used for a store room. W. A. Armstrong placed a foundation for the building in the proper place, and Phil Reese did the painting while Clyde Newkirk did the mixing of the paint.

W. E. Pailing was kicked by one of his horses a week since, which almost put Walter out of the running for a time. The horse was one which he had owned for the past twenty-five years and was very kind and gentle in disposition. The animal had to get his work in soon or the statute of limitations would run against him. Walter is getting around all right now.

Banqueted Their Guests

The I. O. O. F. lodge and members of Greenwood were hosts on last Saturday evening to the members of the lodges of this order at Louisville, Ashland, Havelock and Lincoln, and a large number of their guests were present and enjoyed the sociability of this noble order and the spirit of fraternity at Greenwood. All surely enjoyed the occasion very much.

Chicken Ranch for Sale

Comprises 4 acres in Greenwood, with dwelling, barn, ice house, chicken house, electric lights.—Greenwood State Bank, Greenwood, Nebr. a25-2w.

Will Live in West

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hart, who were in the west for two weeks or more, making a trip to inspect the proposition of making their home in Glendo, Wyoming, where he was offered a position, returned home early last week and found the roads very bad for their long trip. They liked the country and the place where they are to go very much and will arrange to depart for their new home in the near future. The city of Greenwood will miss this excellent family, but the west will be gainers by securing them as citizens of Glendo, Wyoming.

Married at Glenwood, Iowa

Mr. James Bright and Miss Lottie Cameron, two of the very fine young people of Greenwood, slipped away last week, and going to Glenwood, Iowa, were quietly married in the neighboring state and returned to surprise the friends here who in turn did a little surprising on their own account, when they gave the happy couple a charivari, which surely made the wedding ring and showed the newlyweds that their friends appreciated the new home which was to be. These two young people are of the best of this section and along with their many friends we are extending best wishes for a long, happy and useful life.

Bank Holdup Suspect Former Resident Here

H. P. Benloken, Arrested at Omaha, a Resident of Plattsmouth in His Youth.

From Thursday's Daily—
The Omaha authorities have taken into custody H. P. Benloken, garage owner of that city and who resides at 4545 So. 13th street, as a suspect in the robbery of the Elkhorn bank on Tuesday morning.

The man suspected of knowing something of the robbery was at one time a resident of Plattsmouth, the older residents of the city state that was a resident here for a number of years as a boy and a young man. The family while residing here made their home in a property near where the present section of the city known as Happy Hollow is located. He later moved to Omaha where of late years H. P. Benloken has been engaged in the automobile business in that city.

Benloken was identified by Henry Denke and Edward Saeger of Elkhorn as one of the two men who had walked into the Elkhorn bank and fatally shot President J. K. Wyatt.

Both Benke and Saeger asserted that Benloken's crooked nose and shuffling walk made the identification certain.

Benloken's car was the one found by a squad of Omaha patrolmen abandoned on the Maple road between Elkhorn and Omaha. He reported to police that on April 24 this same Buick machine was stolen.

Sheriff Charles McDonald is now holding Benloken in county jail. He is charged with investigation.

Funeral services for John Wyatt, president of the Elkhorn bank, who died Wednesday at Methodist hospital from a wound which he received while routing the bandits, will be held Saturday or Sunday at Scottish Rite cathedral, it was announced by his friend, H. G. Fricke.

Services are being delayed pending arrival of two sisters from California and one from Seattle.

Bartlett Maintains Silence to the Bitter End

Dies for Slaying of Sheriff Ransom, Whose Father Says, "This Is Justice."—No Farewell.

Lincoln, Neb., April 29.—Henry Bartlett, 36 years old, convicted of the murder of Sheriff Asa Ransom of Minden, died for his crime in the electric chair at the state prison at 6:35 this morning.

Bartlett died still continuing what prison officials, and Judge Dilworth of the district court who convicted him, declare was a pretense of insanity carried on for the last seven weeks. Compared with previous death cell scenes the execution this morning was extremely quiet and uneventful. There were no tears and no last minute goodbyes.

Sealing Breathes Relief

Bartlett's conviction and death sentence by the Kearney district court and its subsequent affirmation by the state supreme court attracted wide attention. Despite this, however, there were no so-called "sob-sisters" to plead for Bartlett. Governor McMullen received no callers in behalf of the slayer of Chief of Police Ransom.

Charles Sealing, Bartlett's partner in the slaying of Ransom, sat in his cell during the execution. He is serving a 12-year sentence for his part in the crime. This sentence, considered light, was imposed because Sealing turned state's evidence.

Although no one was permitted to see him, guards in the cell house said that Sealing figuratively "breathed a sigh of relief" when the prison lights dimmed—evidence that the electric current from the prison powerhouse was being used to snuff out Bartlett's life.

Ransom's Father There

Firman Ransom, 72, of Minden father of Sheriff Asa Ransom, whom Bartlett killed, arrived at 6:11 to witness the execution. He was taken into the death cell and given a place close beside the death chair.

The electric current was turned on at 6:33 and off at 6:34. Dr. B. A. Finkle, prison physician, pronounced Bartlett dead at 6:35.

"This is justice. He killed my son or I would not be here," said the father.

These were the words of the elder Ransom as Bartlett was strapped into the chair.

Mrs. William Ream of Minden Bartlett's sister, and his mother, Mrs. Emma M. Viette of Lincoln, were at the prison last night to say a last farewell.

The mother reassured her belief in Bartlett's innocence, and her conviction that he had become insane.

Seven weeks ago Bartlett stopped talking and according to Warden Fenton, has since that time been in a bed in an apparently partly paralyzed condition. His right arm and leg have appeared to be paralyzed, but doctors who examined him pronounced him to be in normal physical and mental condition and have been confident in pressing the opinion that Bartlett has been feigning insanity and paralysis.

Golf Course a Real Credit to the City

Presents a Wonderful Picture of Charm and Beauty to the Eye at This Time.

From Saturday's Daily—
The playing course of the Plattsmouth Golf club, situated on the farm of Luke L. Wiles at the southwest boundary of the city, presents one of the most beautiful sights that can be enjoyed in many a mile of driving and in the well kept condition of the grounds they are a real credit to the city and to the members of the golf club.

The location of the course is fixed naturally as one of the most pleasing in the city, being a part of the farm where Isaac Wiles, pioneer of Cass county came at a very early day and located his homestead on this splendid sweep of hill and valley and made his home. From the top of the gently sloping ridge of the golf course the onlooker can see a wide sweep of country, the Missouri river and the purple hills of Iowa lying in the distance and clearly visible, while nearer at hand nestles the city of Plattsmouth, the view from the course giving a glimpse of all parts of the city and its attractive homes.

The green turf of the course is now in splendid shape and the rains of the fall and spring have given the surroundings the grass of the links a great revival of life and it stretches, unbroken in its beauty of deep rich green, save for the occasional dandelion that has crept up to bloom and the playing greens of the members of the club.

The grass and the greens and other parts of the grounds are kept in the most pleasing manner by Louis Horvack, the custodian of the grounds, and who lives nearby the course and takes a real pride in seeing that the course is kept in the best of shape.

The grounds committee of the golf club also has a busy time in keeping up the surroundings, spile and span and planning new and important additions to the comfort of the home of the golf club. The committee has arranged a children's playground at the south end of the course and nearby the splendid grove that stands at the Wiles family homestead, and here there are swings, slides, teeter boards and sand piles for the entertainment of the little folks while their fathers and mothers are out enjoying the clannish Scot game.

One of the new improvements that it is hoped to have at the golf course in the coming months is a rustic shelter hut, beneath which the members of the club who may be caught in a summer shower at the links can find a refuge from the elements. The shelter will be built with the rustic effect and be an appreciated addition to the club's pleasant home.

While looking over the grounds one is impressed with the general neatness of the surroundings and which makes the Plattsmouth course one of the most attractive in the state and one that the members can feel a great deal of pride in maintaining at the present high standard.

Prayer by Chaplain

The chaplain asked Bartlett if he cared to say anything.

"Don't go to your death shamming," the chaplain said. "Come clean and heaven will be yours."

Bartlett made no reply. The chaplain had visited the cell previously, at 4:15, but was unable to break Bartlett's silence.

Warden Fenton at 5:45 said that it was evident that Bartlett would have to be carried to the chair. The warden tried to talk to him and get him to break his silence. Dr. Finkle and Dr. J. H. Matthal, superintendent of the state orthopedic hospital, arrived at a quarter of 6 to act as official physicians.

Sheriff C. J. Palmer, of Grand Island, one of the officers who captured Bartlett, came to witness the execution.

At one minute before 6, Bartlett asked for a drink of water, the first coherent word he had uttered for several days. The drink was procured by the guard, but when it was brought Bartlett refused it.

Just before Bartlett was carried to the chair Chaplain Maxwell offered a prayer in the corridor. "We pray," he said, "that Bartlett may reach with outstretched hands to Jesus Christ. We commend to Thy loving care his mother and his friends."

The executioner then slit the right leg of his new blue serge suit, in order to have direct contact with the metal clamp to be placed on his leg.

Burial in Prison Cemetery.

Bartlett was handcuffed. Attached to the cuffs was a chain held by one of the guards. No chances were taken with Bartlett.

Presbyterian Campaign Very Effective

Many Large Contributions Are Made in the Drive for $15,000,000 for Minister's Pension.

Judge H. D. Landis of Seward, chairman of the Nebraska City Presbyterian which is campaigning for $58,491.40 as a part of the $15,000,000 fund being raised nationally for aged Presbyterian ministers, received the following telegram yesterday from Will H. Hays, chairman of the National laymen's committee.

"Reports from fourteen western states where Presbyterian pension fund campaign is now on to reach the $15,000,000 objective shows that wealthy laymen of the church have contributed in round numbers approximately $1,000,000 in large advance gifts prior to formal opening of the campaign. At request of the donors no names will be made public and gifts will be spread through the regular weekly reports starting this week throughout the 103 districts taking part.

"This splendid response from the laity not only indicates success in the western effort but is indicative of the spirit of unity and sacrifice aroused in our churches. Interest in Christianity and the church generally in this supreme Presbyterian effort is shown by the fact that the first gift in the national campaign was from a Baptist, and among the first gifts on the Pacific Coast were one from a non-church-goer, one from a Christian Scientist, and one from a Catholic."

This $1,000,000 is in addition to the $2,200,000 that had already been raised in eastern presbyteries before the campaign was begun in the western states. A similar campaign is being conducted on the Pacific Coast and it is confidently expected that the entire $15,000,000 will be raised.

The opening dinner in the Nebraska City Presbyterian, which includes 15 counties throughout southeastern Nebraska was held at the Cornhusker Hotel last Thursday evening. The dinner was attended by committees from 18 towns surrounding Lincoln and the campaign was officially opened.

The first report dinner in this presbytery was held in the Cornhusker in Lincoln Thursday evening and from 150 to 200 hymns from the 33 presbyteries churches that are cooperating in this local campaign attended the event.

Rev. H. G. McClusky, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, L. O. Finer, Frank A. Cloidt, C. A. Rawley, layman chairman, and J. W. Rawley were in attendance at the meeting.

Better Home Week Observed by Local Women

Apartment at Coronado Is Arranged as Model Home for the Inspection of the Public.

From Thursday's Daily—
The residents of this city are being offered an unusual opportunity of seeing and inspecting a model home arranged by the Better Homes committee of the Plattsmouth Women's club, which is offered as a special feature of the Better Homes week, which is being offered this week in 35,000 cities of the United States, both large and small.

The local committee has secured apartment No. 15 at the Coronado apartment as the place where the model home will be offered and which has been arranged most tastefully in the latest type of furniture and equipment that can add to the comfort and pleasures of a home. The local committee has received a great deal of assistance from the business men of the community and the Plattsmouth switch stores have provided the furniture and equipment that is used in the model home.

The ladies have this model home open from 2 to 10 o'clock this evening, Thursday and Friday and invite the public to be present and inspect the rooms at their fittings.

The Nebraska Gas & Electric Co. has arranged a special exhibition of the electrical appliances for use in the home which they have placed in the apartment adjoining the model home and where many of the latest of the labor saving features of home aid can be inspected by the ladies of the city.

The committee on Better Homes of which Mrs. J. E. Wiles is the chairman, is anxious to have as many as possible visit the especially arranged home and enjoy the fine display of home comforts that have been gathered together.

The home as arranged is prepared as a moderately priced home and one that can be in the reach of anyone in the community.

Film Drive in England

London, April 29.—Great Britain is about to enter upon a film drive in which it is reported Charlie Chaplin, D. W. Griffith, Frank Lloyd and many other celebrities who have been leaders of the celluloid drama in the United States will participate.

It is officially announced that D. W. Griffith will direct the H. G. Wells' film, "The Peace of the World," part of which will be made in London.

Mr. Wells will probably go to Hollywood to assist in the direction of some of the scenes.

Contracts Let for Graveling on 'O' Street

Graveling on Road to Cost $62,348 to Complete, Yant Co. to Do Graveling.

From Thursday's Daily—
The final projects on the "O" street road through the southern part of Plattsmouth, which were taken up yesterday at Lincoln by the department of public works and the contracts let on the greater part of the work that remains to be done that will complete the road from Union to Eagle and there join the Lancaster project.

The road work covers close to nineteen miles and the gravel cost will amount to $62,348 on the project while the grading that will be carried on the project from Union to Elmwood will total $53,985.

The contract for the graveling work will be in the hands of the Yant Construction Co., who handled a large part of the work on the K. of L. highway in this part of the county. The grading contract was let to Callahan & Walker.

It is expected that the work will be completed by fall and make a good surfaced highway through that section of the county and fill a long felt want.

A BOON TO THE MARINER

Washington, April 28.—Had mariners known such a thing as a "water report" back in the spring days of 1912, the Titanic might now be flying her majestic way across the seas and 1,500 lives might have been saved. Thus Dr. A. G. Huntsman of the biological board of Canada, speaking today before the oceanography section of the American Geophysical union, summed up the value of what even yet is a novelty, but soon, he said, is to become as common as the daily weather forecast.

"The 'water report,'" he explained, is based on tests of temperature and salinity. In the case of the Titanic, he said, it would have given warning to the proximity of icebergs. It will benefit fishermen, too, in locating schools of fish and will aid meteorologists in making weather forecasts.
