Harry Trustin to be Decoration Day Speaker

Chairman of Omaha Legion Post's Rehabilitation Committee to Deliver Address Here.

From Saturday's Daily— Harry Trustin, chairman of Omaha post's Rehabilitation committee, is to be the Decoration day speaker in Plattsmouth, having consented to come here on that date.

R. A. Kirkpatrick, radio historical speaker of the Omaha post, who was unable to come due to a prior agreement, writes the Legion committee regarding Mr. Trustin as follows: "Harry is one of the finest speakers we have in Omaha post No. 1. He has charge of the post's rehabilitation work and the presentation of claims before the Veteran's bureau. He is a good speaker and a fine fellow all around."

Mr. Kirkpatrick also enclosed a clipping from the Omaha Legionnaire containing an account of the praise bestowed upon Mr. Trustin by Retiring Commander Clint Brome at a recent meeting of the Omaha post.

Brome said, "The committee under Trustin's leadership has done a wonderful work this year, adding many disabled veterans in properly presenting their claims before the Veteran's bureau."

Of the fifty cases handled by the committee during October alone, 41 were out-of-town veterans and the remaining 11 Omaha men.

Mr. Trustin is a member of the firm of Kraus & Trustin, dealers in steel sash and fireproof building material, his firm having the contract for the first unit of the state capitol building, now under construction. Incidentally, he was in the city Tuesday completing arrangements for the installation of his "Fenestra" sash in the new Legion community auditorium here.

Mr. Trustin is lead-off drummer with the Omaha post drum and bugle corps, which he personally organized, and on the occasion of a visit here two years ago in the capacity of a deputy state boxing commissioner, he played with the Plattsmouth post drum corps, then newly organized. He has promised to accompany the local corps to Shubert convention the latter part of May and bring along several good Omaha drummers to fill in the ranks of the local corps.

ANDY STILL PITCHING

The Bellevue Indians camp was in a blue haze early this spring when Andy Graves, who piloted them to the Sarpy-Cass championship last year announced that he was going to put away his bats and quit the game for good. He decided that with 51 years on his shoulders and 24 years of baseball behind him that it was high time to take a back seat.

That was Andy's idea. Fans and players didn't agree with the "Grand Old Man of the Sandlots" and after a number of stormy sessions finally prevailed upon him to get back into the harness and they made it plain too, that he is not to take a back seat this year, but scrap with the youngsters for one of the hot spots. Although Andy's old soup bone isn't as "soupy" as it used to be, there is nothing wrong with his batting eye and his legs are yet the envy of many a jackrabbit.

Some Vital Facts on Good Old State of Nebraska

Secretary Davis Points Out Some of the Greatnesses of the "Best Old State."

Arthur Brisbane, the world's highest paid editorial writer, is putting up a good fight in his columns for united government action, in a remedy for the annual flood conditions along the Mississippi. Every newspaper, magazine, senator, representative, and legislature should make this disgrace to the United States a national issue. Where do we commence?

To those who plant by the dark and light of the moon, we have just learned that the dark of the moon is just the period between the full moon and the new moon; the light of the moon is between the new and the full moon. Scientists claim absolutely the moon has no relation whatsoever to crops or weather, and there is no such thing as a "wet moon"—our resourceful forefathers have been unable to desecrate that orb.

Advertising is a great power—try it! We take from the Boston Transcript the following: (Originally quoted in a Florida paper). "I lost a gold watch which I valued very highly. Immediately inserted an ad in your lost-and-found column and waited. Yesterday I went home and found the watch in the pocket of another suit. God bless your paper."

Nebraska originally inhabited by Indians, buffaloes, coyotes, and was up until fifty years ago marked on school maps as the "GREAT AMERICAN DESERT." It is now one of the greatest commonwealths in the U. S.

Nebraska is not a one crop state. It produces in abundance, corn, wheat, oats, rye, barley, potatoes, sugar, butter, eggs, cattle, hogs, poultry, honey, this right here in Plattsmouth, vegetables, fruits and we might add the lustiest healthiest boys and girls, and the prettiest flappers in America!

Nebraska has 586,000 milk cows, with an income per year per farm from them of $400. Creameries and cheese factories within the state have been increased twenty per cent last year.

In 1869 negro slaves were sold at public auction in Nebraska City.

Nebraska apples are of the finest quality and command the highest price in eastern markets of any apples in the world. The moral—grow more apples! "An apple a day keeps the doctor away"—Hard on the doctor but good for the eater. Apple cider, pop-corn, apples, and pop-corn balls taste just as delicious as when we were sweet sixteen. If you don't believe it, just try that "menu" out some evening on your friends. They'll come again!

Nebraska has more automobiles than Sweden, Norway, Holland, Japan, Cuba, Poland, Austria, Switzerland, Belgium, Denmark, Brazil, Russia, and Mexico combined! What do you think of Nebraska—spiffy, now? Hear Bruce Rosenkrantz's spiffy, catchy, "Nebraska Song"—the best thing out in music our state has produced—and he's a Plattsmouth boy! If you haven't heard it, order a copy today! Learn it, sing it, believe it!

I hear your girl married the other day. Yeah. Tough luck. Yeah! Who did she marry? Me! (Life).

And some day they can add to the above that Nebraska invites its visitors to enter our state, over toll free bridges! Boon for our bridges! If you ever paid all the tolls in Oklahoma and forded her innumerable creeks, you'd boost all the harder for our good bridges:

Also we are confident the time is getting ripe when Case country, especially, will work out her "mud-dirt" roads and show the entire state, and her sister states, that Nebraska and Cass county are leaders, not laggards, in economical roads. The toll on business, and on the farmers of this county today, in sticky, muddy rutty, slick roads, mounts up into hundreds of thousands of dollars. A mud road is far more expensive, and costly than the taxes ever are on good graveled hi-ways. Why pay taxes every year for maintenance of mud-roads, when you are still left with the same problem from year to year, and nothing to show for it except cost, depreciation, excess gas, and useless tax receipts?

A tax receipt for taxes on a mud-road, or a dirt road is like a rent receipt. People go thru life paying rent and covered in rent is the other fellow's taxes, and his profit, that might better be invested in a home. Save that profit for yourself. We need more home-owners in this city; every city needs them. It is cheaper and more satisfactory in the long run to buy your home, even though the cost is paid as rent. A man who owns his home is vitally interested in the progress and welfare of his community—it makes him a booster, for every advance in his community is an increase in the value of his home. "OWN YOUR HOME" is a fine slogan—it works, think it over. Quit paying the other fellow's taxes and his profit.

Secretary.

Final Contests Between 6th, 7th and 8th Grades at the High School Last Night.

From Saturday's Daily— The final of the Music Memory contest was held last evening at the high school auditorium and was attended by a very large number of the patrons of the school to enjoy the interesting contest and the fine program that was arranged as a part of the event.

The banner for the largest percentage of correct answers to the contest was again awarded to the 4th grade room of Miss Jessie Whelan at the Columbian building and which building carried off the honors of the first night's contest.

The schools are planning some change in the rules for next year and which would make previous prize winner ineligible for the next year prizes but would allow the participants in the contest to secure ratings for their rooms.
