Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Banning were visiting in Lincoln and at the same time attending the alumni meeting which is being held there by the former students of the state university, and which meeting was greatly enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Banning.

David L. Boothby, who established a cafe some time since, did just the right thing when he placed in business. There was no place for the traveling public to secure anything to eat, and the establishing of the cafe now serves the needs of the people in fine shape. Mr. Boothby is enjoying a good business.

Vacation School to Close

Alvo Wins Fine Game
In a game which was featured at the Alvo ball park on last Sunday, there was many who enjoyed the very fine playing of the home team when they trimmed the Boiler-makers who came over from Lincoln for a day's sport. Well they got it, the sport, but they did not get a run. The final score was 18 for Alvo to nothing for the Boiler-makers.

World Make a Good Yield
A good yield of wheat is expected in this portion of the country, as those who are interested in the yield of this cereal have made some pretty searching investigations and by taking heads of wheat, including the largest and the smallest from the fields and that they have averaged 25 grains to the head. This applying the rule which has been quoted, they say will give a bushel for every grain average and would make an average yield of 36 bushels to the acre. We do not know about the rule, but would be pleased if this large a yield can be realized on all the wheat fields in Cass county. The farmer has a hard enough time making anything these days and a bouncing crop of wheat will help bring up his year's receipts to a point where he can more than eke out a living—unless the bottom falls out of the price due to a large yield of the country over.

Weaver Denies Would Give Rodman the Field

But McMullen's Lowden Talk May Mean Seeks Third Term—Standpatters Control

"No basis whatever" exists for the report that he will not make a fight for the governorship if Speaker Rodman of Omaha decides to run, declared Arthur J. Weaver of Falls City in Omaha Friday.

Mr. Weaver said, however, that the time is not ripe for him to make a "statement on the candidates," and added, "when I do, it will be addressed to the people of the state."

Showing reluctance to make any statement at this time on the political situation as a whole, Mr. Weaver said positively there is no truth in the report that he had made a definite decision either to favor Rodman or to run himself.

Words had read Omaha Friday that he would withdraw in favor of Rodman, after he had practically told his friends that he intended to file.

At this juncture, a number of the Rodmanites, coming from the extreme standpat wing of the party, held a hurried meeting in Omaha and informally launched a boom for him. They gathered together a group of men who had been active during the recent legislature, and these are said to have pledged Rodman support.

Mr. Weaver's hesitancy at this time is said to be due to his desire to avoid controversy, a trait which he showed when his name was mentioned years back for the same office. If he persists in the position, it is possible that Governor McMullen may push his claims to a third term. The net result, if the situation does not clear, will be greatly to the advantage of the democratic party for it is said, that many of Weaver's friends are "clean off" both Rodman and the governor.

Governor McMullen's announcement he is for Lowden for president is taken as an indication of his claim for further honors. Some republicans recently returned from Chicago, report that Lowden will have a difficult time getting Illinois delegates since the rise of Mayor Thompson to power.

BELLEVUE HERE JULY 4TH
From Thursday's Daily—While there will be no celebration of the Fourth of July held here in Plattsmouth the baseball fans will have a celebration all their own in a red hot game that Manager Swanson of the Plattsmouth has arranged with the Bellevue team of the Sarpy-Cass county league. The locals will play Bellevue on the latter's grounds on Sunday and will have the college town team here for the entertainment of the fans on Monday, July 4th. The game here will not count in the league standing but will permit the fans to see two good teams in action. However we opine that the locals will cop both games if they continue their present stride. But more about this later.

How would a log-cabin rustic style of architecture, so universally used in Resort cities, appeal to you for our golf club house? Inexpensive, attractive, and durable.

Noted a car today on our streets from Cornado Beach, Fla. It bore the slogan "The Fisherman's Paradise." All cars from Florida and California carry the name of the city and generally a booster slogan. There just seems to be something about that "climate" that makes a man a booster. Let's put Plattsmouth on our cars too, so every one feels instantly—"My, they must be proud of their community."

How would you like to be able to run down to a nice Plattsmouth swimming pool these days and take a cool dip? Pretty nice—what? Plausible ad possible!

A lady dropped in a few minutes yesterday to say she moved to Plattsmouth because of the superiority of our schools to other places. Tell 'em about it!

This superiority is not confined to the schools alone.

Now some spirited aggressive work on the bridge program.

Sketch of Life of Mrs. Mary J. Fry, Deceased

Funeral Services Held Yesterday Afternoon at the First Christian Church of This City.

Mary Jane Watson was born in the state of Ohio January 8, 1856, and died at Plattsmouth, Nebraska, June 7, 1927, after a long and painful illness. Mary Jane Watson, early in life began experiencing the privations and hardships of the early settlers of the middle west. When she was but six months of age, with her parents, she journeyed in a covered wagon from Ohio to Illinois and later from Illinois to Kansas by the same medium of conveyance. With her parents she took up the duties of making a home on the broad and rolling prairies of Morris county, Kansas, near what is now known as Council Grove, the county seat of Morris county. Here she spent her girlhood days. In those days the scouring hot winds from the south-west during many of the summers, and the unwhipped sweep of the icy winds from the polar north during the winters made pioneer life on the Kansas prairies a strenuous and not altogether pleasant one.

Amidst such difficulties she grew to womanhood and naturally her nature was molded into a form of rugged hardness and resolute determination as was common to so many of the better class of early settlers of these western prairies.

It was at Council Grove, Kansas, that she made the acquaintance of Theodore T. Fry who wooed and won her for his wife while she was yet in the years of her early womanhood.

During the years of their married life they were residents of various communities. Two years were spent in Colorado, two years in Johnson county, Iowa. They also resided for two years in Warren county, Iowa, from which locality some 41 years ago, during 1886, they came to take up residence in Plattsmouth. Here they continued to reside until the death of the husband, which occurred January 18th, 1916. After his death, she continued on with her residence here until the grim reaper came and called her hence. Giving heed to his summons while the sun was sinking low to the west on Tuesday evening of this week, her spirit fled from its mortal home to other shores.

Two sisters and two brothers have already gone on before. One brother, S. E. Watson, of Colorado Springs, Colorado, remains to mourn her going.

Two children, Mrs. Grant Hackenberg of this vicinity, and Mrs. Philip F. Rihn, of Union, Nebraska, both of whom have ministered faithfully to their mother's needs during her late illness, are grief stricken at their loss.

During the 71 years, 4 months and 30 days which the deceased lived, she was, after attaining sufficient age, a steady and constant attendant at church services. She was always urging and helping those of her family to likewise be at religious services. Her belief and her trust was in the goodness of God and that he would deal mercifully with all of his children. In his hands she will receive justice and kindness and mercy.

A good woman and a true mother has gone from us. Our loss is great and in the years that are to come the children and their families and all of us who knew her will hold in our memory affectionate thoughts of her goodness and her kindness to us.

Funeral services were conducted over the remains yesterday afternoon by Rev. Walter R. Robb, of Nebraska City. Music that brought solace and comfort to the sorrowing was in the form of a solo number, "The City Four Square" by Mrs. Hal Garnett of this city. A quartet number entitled, "We are Going Down the Valley" by a quartet composed of the following members: Mrs. Hal Garnett, Mrs. George Nelson, Frank A. Cloit and Roy W. Knorr. At the conclusion of the services, Mrs. Hal Garnett and Mr. Cloit sang a duet number entitled, "Good Night and Good Morning."

Services were held at the First Christian church of this city and interment was made in Oakhill cemetery beside the remains of the late husband.

ARCHITECT HERE
From Thursday's Daily—Ernest Schreiber, Omaha architect in charge of construction work on the American Legion community building, was here Tuesday and yesterday checking up the work completed to date and allowing the first estimate covering 85 per cent of cost of material on the ground and labor costs to date in the work.

Mr. Schreiber made a second test on the soil at the southwest corner of the building, which has been drying out somewhat spongy, thinking it might be necessary to further reinforce the footings before the wall at the south end of the building is erected, but decided that the 5-foot piling there every 30 inches apart together with the added width of the footings will carry the load all right without cracking.

The construction work is moving along rapidly and 40 thousand of the 100 thousand brick required to complete the present portion of the structure are already in the walls.

The steel sash and west grade door entranceways are being walled in today and with completion of the east wall to the same height, putting in the re-inforced concrete window areways can proceed, as well as setting of the steel I beams supporting the future floor of the main auditorium. The semi-basement assembly room will be 58x88 feet in size, affording a total of over 5,000 square feet of polished maple dance floor.

Work on the structure is moving right along and it bids fair to be completed before the contract date of August 15.

Meehan of Havelock, formerly a brakeman in the employ of the Burlington railroad, was brought into district court to be arraigned on the charge of breaking and entering a refrigerator car of the Burlington at the town of Greenwood on June 2nd, 1927 and taking therefrom articles of the value of $10.

To the charge in the county court Mr. Meehan had entered a plea of guilty and was bound over to the district court and at the hearing today he renewed his plea of guilty.
