A. H. WARD,
Murdock, Nebraska

Tony King, of Alvo, was looking after some business matters in Murdock on Wednesday of last week.

O. J. Hitchcock and family motored down from Havelock and secured a good lot of home grown strawberries.

Louis Hornbeck and the family were visiting in Murdock with relatives and friends for the day last Sunday.

W. H. Rush and Merideth Weddell were unloading a car load of lumber for the Tool lumber yard on last Wednesday.

Jess Landholm was a visitor in North Platte, departing for that place on Tuesday of last week for a stay of the entire week.

A. H. Ward and family were over to Elmwood on last Wednesday, where they were enjoying the band concert at that place.

Dr. A. R. Hornbeck was called to the vicinity of Manley for professional services from his home in Lincoln on last Wednesday.

The phone office which has just been painted and brightened up, is looking fine at this time. Henry Heinemann did the work.

Wm. Winget, of South Bend, was a visitor in Murdock for a short time on last Wednesday afternoon, and was looking after some business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gakemeier were looking after some business matters in Lincoln last Wednesday, they making the trip over to the big city in their auto.

Harry V. McDonald was a business visitor in Lincoln on last Monday and on Tuesday and Thursday was enjoying an outing at Meadow, where the fishing was fine.

The Atlas Roofing company, of Lincoln, had a team and a crew of men in Murdock placing a new coating on the roof of the building of the Bank of Murdock.

Charles Baldwin, of Weeping Water, was a visitor in Murdock on last Wednesday and was visiting with his many friends as well as looking after some business matters while here.

The district manager of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company was a visitor in Murdock last Tuesday, looking after business and finding the things here running in excellent condition.

During the past week, the Rev. Fred Oestertag and wife, before they left for the west, had as their guests their two sons, Reuben Oestertag, of Wisconsin, and Fred Oestertag, Jr., of Missouri Valley, Iowa.

John H. Buck and the family were visiting for the day last Sunday at Weeping Water, where they were guests at the home of Edward Norton and family, and where all enjoyed the visit very much.

Herbert Firestone, who has been in the hospital at Lincoln for a number of weeks, following the breaking of his leg, is getting along nicely and expects to be able to return to Murdock in a short time.

Miss Emma Koehling, of Ord, was visiting for the past week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Merckle and also at the homes of her sisters, Mesdames Wm. Rikli and Henry Heinemann.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Amgwert were visiting in Omaha for the day on last Wednesday, where they were called to look after some purchases for the Murdock Mercantile company here, of which Mr. Amgwert is the manager.

Glen Pickwell, who is located in Chicago, where he is working, is at home for a vacation of a week and is enjoying the visit, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Pickwell, west of town, and also with his many friends in this vicinity.

Henry Timm and family, W. H. Wilkin and family and Mrs. J. H. Buck and the children were visiting in Shenandoah, Iowa, on Tuesday of last week and enjoyed seeing the seed houses and broadcasting stations of Henry Field and Earl May.

Miss Mathilde Pappo, of Lincoln, was a visitor in Murdock and guest at the home of Henry Bornemeier and family, and was also accompanied by her friend, Miss Alvina Finkel. The ladies enjoyed the visit with their friends here very much.

E. W. Thimgan, besides loading a load of goods made the same day 218 miles with the load, when taking the effects of the Rev. Oestertag. This looks like hustling, but Ed can do it, and often makes two and sometimes three trips to Omaha in one day.

On last Wednesday afternoon two ladies driving north from Elmwood became entangled in the loose gravel north of Elmwood and the car was turned over, cutting the head of one of the ladies quite badly, but not injuring the other or greatly damaging the car.

The Ladies Aid society of the Evangelical church met last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kupke, where they looked after the business of the society first and then enjoyed a very pleasant social session. They were entertained most pleasantly by the genial hostess and counted it a very pleasant afternoon spent at the Kupke home.

Took Sixty-Five Mile Trip
Your pilgrims (L. Neitzel and J. Baur) had a very pleasant journey last Sunday afternoon. This time it was a lesson in nature study. They started at 2 p. m. and went north to South Bend, then followed the hilly road to Louisville, going east past Cedar Creek, then to Plattsmouth, where they took some refreshments. After that they drove to the ferry, watching the current furnish the power to propel the large boat loaded with cars both ways. Then they were ready for the return trip, which was made via Murray and Manley into Murdock on the Red Ball highway. A 65 mile trip and enjoyed by both very much.

Will Celebrate the Fourth
The Farmers Union of this vicinity are really alive to the situation and have taken steps to have the Fourth of July, the nation's birthday properly celebrated and will hold a celebration at Murdock on that date. They concluded to in the proper manner celebrate the passing of the anniversary of the birth of the American nation. Committees are now at work on the features of the celebration, and it should be the aim of all to get behind this project and see that it is a success in every way.

Will Construct Warehouse
The Farmers Union, which is a real live community center for the people of this vicinity, will in a short time erect a warehouse for the handling of some of the commodities which are much used by the people. They will, when their warehouse is completed, ship in a car load of flour which will be disposed of at very reasonable prices, as well as stock a car load of feed in the line of bran shorts and other mill stuffs. In another building they will also store a car load of tankage, which is much fed at this time. They will also carry a line of goods much used by the farmers, as the stock is largely held by the farming community.

FOR SALE
A Milwaukee binder, 7-foot cut, with traveling trucks and tongue trucks. In good running order in every way.—E. W. Pickwell, 1 1/4 miles west of Murdock, Nebr. 16-4M

Finds Bank Fine
A bank examiner was in Murdock a few days ago and made an examination of the books of the Bank of Murdock and found the bank in excellent condition, and also doing a good business. This institution has been in Murdock for a long time and has always enjoyed good business and is considered one of the strongest and most conservative business institutions in the state.

Accepts Charge at Huntley
The Rev. Fred Oestertag, who has been making his home here for some time, has accepted work with the church and has been placed at Huntley, where he is to minister to a church a few miles from town. E. W. Thimgan, with his truck, and accompanied by Mrs. Thimgan, took the goods to the new location on last Tuesday and returned on Wednesday, while Rev. Oestertag drove thru in his car.

Just a Good Friend
That is what Henry Guthmann is and this was demonstrated last week when he with Mrs. Guthmann took their car and took the Rev. Father Higgins and his mother, Mrs. L. D. Higgins from Manley to their new home at Dawson, thus making the trip to the new charge which Father Higgins is accepting a pleasant one.

Will Hold Picnic Thursday
The Bible school of Murdock, in conjunction with the two Bible schools of Callahan, and Louisville churches, will hold a picnic jointly at the Straich grove west of Murdock, with their dinner, a good program, and a ball game in the afternoon. There will be plenty to eat, plenty of amusement and a good time. Come everybody and enjoy the day. In the evening all will go to the Callahan church where electric wires will be strung for lighting the yard and a concert will be furnished by the band and orchestra. The Elmwood Bible school is also invited to come and participate in the good time.

Canada Objects to Plans of U. S.
Note to Secretary of State Kellogg Believes Act to Close Border Breach of Agreement.

Washington, June 8.—Pointing out that termination of a long standing agreement whereby Canadians and Americans have freely commuted across the border in the course of their business is a ground for concern, Canada's reply to the United States note on border immigration was delivered to Secretary of State Kellogg today.

The reply declared that there is no precedent for application of the term "immigrant" to citizens legally domiciled in another country and retaining their citizenship in that country. It submitted that six months cannot be called a "reasonable time" in which non-native Canadians can secure quota visas in the United States, and that the sudden dislocation of the long-established border crossing privilege cannot fail to have grave results in the Windsor area, where the community has been permitted to build itself up on a basis of freedom of movement across the international boundary in daily business.

The right of the United States to impose immigration regulations is recognized, but with a suggestion that the retroactive principle of the recent border ruling will impose hardships. A further suggestion was made that those who have already established employment across the border should be exempted from the more drastic provisions of the order, either by an extension of the exempted classes or by elimination of the six months time limit, or by some other means.

The note indicated that Canada will accept Secretary Kellogg's invitation to continue the negotiations, which have been in progress for several months with the Canadian legislation.

SPEAKS ON WORLD PEACE
Ostend, Belgium, June 9.—Etienne Fourgere, French delegate to the International Rotarian congress, spoke today on world peace, declaring:

"Europe offers a first class opportunity for the development of friendship and international peace. Twenty century-old Europe, separated by too many moral, social and economic barriers, must set aside from its earnings an enormous amount for debt settlement, while American citizens enjoy reduced taxes yearly. This is due to the most powerful intellectualism or superior morality and laborious work, but is due to lack of balance of the world's spiritual and material forces."

"Peace, concord and justice were all the Rotarians wanted, said M. Fourgere.

WOULD DIVIDE ILLINOIS
Springfield, Ill., June 8.—His efforts to defeat a representation re-appointment resolution failing, J. T. Denver, minority floor leader of the state senate, tonight offered a resolution designed to divide the state into "Northern Illinois and Southern Illinois."

The resolution memorializes congress to make the change, giving to Northern Illinois the county of Cook and eight adjacent counties and to Southern Illinois the rest of the state. It was placed on the calendar.

Carter is Calm in Facing Death

Killer Cares Only that He be Remembered—Claims to Have Committed Many Crimes.

With less than sixteen days between him and death by order of the law, Frank Carter wondered Wednesday whether he wanted to die or live. He was weighing the joy of living against the discomforts and seemed undecided as to whether he preferred life to death.

Drs. Neuhaus and Wigton, of Omaha, alienists who had testified in his case, had just finished an interview with the man and had announced that Carter was still insane.

"They will file their reasons with the board of pardons and paroles for this statement," said John M. Baldwin, attorney for the condemned man. "Until then their statement that Carter is insane must stand without addition."

"Does a man live after death?" repeated Carter after a question had been asked. "I rather think so. I may sound a bit cynical of me to say so on the eve of my execution, but I am sincere when I say so. Probably I will live again as a sewer rat. You know after execution my body will go to the dissecting college and probably from there to the sewer. My body will make food for the rats."

"Have I committed other crimes than those you ask about? Well, let me see. If I can learn more about the Villisca ax murders I will claim them. Then there was a man found tied to a stake in the Missouri river in September, 1925, with a 22 calibre bullet hole thru him. There was the merchant at Sioux City shot with a 22 gun; men were shot at Waterloo and Chadron with a small gun. There are a half dozen others that I might claim and get away with the claim, but I don't remember them all. If I could remember them all, my fame would last longer than Lindbergh's. Who were the first men to cross the Atlantic ocean in an airplane? You can't tell; ask anyone who was Kate Bender and everybody answers 'That's fame.'"

"Under like conditions and circumstances, with my brain the same now as then, I might repeat the crimes I committed. But I have learned a lot about myself since then. I haven't got the high opinion of myself that I had then. I might not shoot next time."

"The two men in Omaha, I shot on the impulse. I didn't kill for money. I got no money. When they made a move I shot. I didn't kill for money. I got no money. When they made a move I shot. I didn't think I didn't reason it out. Yes, I got a thrill out of it but not a very pleasant thrill."

"Yes, there were a lot of years before I came here. I did a great many things. I might tell you about them, but I guess I won't now."

Carter said he was well treated, had plenty to eat, plenty of rest and no work. He was contented and happy. He has taken on flesh and looks better than when he first was transferred to the penitentiary.

Carter did not seem to care about anything other than being remembered after he is gone. He expects to go. He said:

"When I think about the years to come when life might be almost unendurable, I desire to die. When I spend a day like this, talking to doctors and reporters, I want to live. I like to talk to doctors best. I get much pleasure out of that. Next to doctors I like to talk to reporters. Of course in Omaha I was misquoted much of the time, but that didn't matter much. Since coming to the pen I have not been misquoted. If all days were like this I would want to live. There is a lot of grief ahead, however."

"Yes, the chaplain comes to see me every day. We talk about his religion a great deal. I like the chaplain, but I can't endorse his religion. It doesn't seem to fit my case although I can see where it would do a great deal of good in the world. I can't believe what he believes, though. Nevertheless, he is a damn good fellow."

"I am going to tell my real name, but I am going to tell it too late for publication before I die. I'll tell where I came from, too."

Drs. George E. Neuhaus and Harrison A. Wigton, both of Omaha, who testified at Carter's trial that he was insane, held a long consultation with Carter Wednesday. He was glad to see them. He enjoyed talking to them. Both agreed that Carter is still insane.

"I will tell the board," said Attorney Baldwin of Omaha, "that it is for them to say whether an insane man shall be killed by law. That is all I can do. These doctors, both of them experts of years standing, agree that Carter is insane. I shall do what I can to have the death sentence changed to life imprisonment. I can do no more."

Attorney Baldwin's application for a hearing will come up next Tuesday at the meeting of the board of pardons and paroles.

A British editor advises those who intend to go to Washington to welcome Lindbergh to equip themselves with football pads and shinguards. And what is the correct thing for Lindbergh himself to wear?

Lindbergh Back in Home Waters After Ocean Hop

Is Met at Virginia Capes by Cloud of Planes for Escort—Will Disembark at Washington.

Washington, June 10.—Back at last in home waters, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh voyaged slowly tonight aboard the Memphis toward Washington, where tomorrow he will receive through President Coolidge the commendation of a hundred million of his fellow Americans for his epic flight across the Atlantic.

The cruiser Memphis entered the Potomac river shortly before 9 o'clock tonight and dropped anchor at Prince point. She will remain here until 4 p. m., when the voyage to Washington will be resumed.

The youthful hero caught his first sight of land at the Virginia capes late today as the sleek cruiser bearing him from Cherbourg completed a record-breaking washup run across the ocean which the racing viking conquered from the air in a little more than 16 hours.

Fittingly Lindbergh's first welcome was from the skies; from aviators of the army, the navy and the marine corps, who thundered their way out over the sea in almost every type of plane to accompany the long gray cruiser through the capes and part way up Chesapeake bay.

Will Escort Flier to Dock
Nearly a hundred more planes will pick the ship up again early tomorrow and escort her to the Washington navy yard, where she is to dock at 11 a. m. Immediately the gang plank is down, Mrs. Evangeline E. Lindbergh, mother of the flier, will go aboard alone to be the first to welcome her son. Their meeting probably will be in the privacy of the son's stateroom.

At noon Lindbergh will step ashore to be welcomed formally by the semi-official reception committee and escorted to a White house automobile in which he will ride over the stretch of street made famous by the tread of victorious armies like the apian way of old Rome.

Coolidge to Present Cross
At the end of the line, President Coolidge will await him, to deliver a brief word of welcome and to appoint him with the distinguished flying cross, on the back of which is the simple inscription, "Charles A. Lindbergh, No. 1."

Before the chief executive has had his opportunity to clasp the hand of the man who set the world agog with his marvelous flying feat, thousands upon thousands will have acclaimed him as their hero. These will line Eighth street southeast from the navy yard to Pennsylvania avenue and along that avenue, which winds down through the capitol grounds and runs on westward hazy to the White house.

Perfect weather for this perhaps the greatest of all receptions beside Washington has tendered an individual, is forecast with clear skies and cool breezes to temper the rays of a summer's sun.

Guests at White House
Colonel Lindbergh and his mother will be guests of the president and Mrs. Coolidge during their stay here. The flier will be in Washington approximately 45 hours, hopping off from Bolling field, the army's air station here, around 9 o'clock Monday morning for New York, where another monster reception and ovation awaits him.

Mayer Walker has designated Monday as "a day of public celebration" in honor of the air viking and all stock and other exchanges as well as many business houses and the public schools will be closed. Millions will cheer the flier as he parades through the metropolis, where he began the fight which linked France and America by air.

HOW TO MAKE PLATTSMOUTH GROW

LEGION NEWS!

A column appearing in the Daily Journal on Saturdays

Building moving right along. Legionnaires who haven't given anything to the fund yet, are urged to subscribe whatever amount they feel able to give.

Nearly $1,000 of the money has been subscribed among our own members, including several who are in business.

In addition to A. H. Duxbury's personal contribution of $25, the firm of A. H. & B. M. Duxbury is turning over to the fund some $42 in bond premium commission, and has volunteered to do likewise with insurance on the building. That is a fine spirit and worthy of the greatest commendation.

Everyone will share to some extent in the advantages of this building. With its 5,000 feet of dance floor, it is not improbable Platts-mouth will become a dancing center, with large crowds attracted here. This will mean the expenditure of money with our filling stations, restaurants, soft drink parlors, etc.

And speaking of filling stations, L. L. McCarthy has just secured a contribution of $25 from his company, the Sinclair people, turning same over to the committee this week. The Collins company who once owned the station contributed $25 at the start of the drive two years ago.

The first estimate covering material and labor amounted to nearly $4,500. All who haven't paid their subscriptions yet, should arrange to do so at once. The total cost, including excavation, sewer, wiring, sidewalks, etc., will amount to $12,000, or $2,000 more than the total amount subscribed to date. A number who have been holding off giving on the pretext of the money not being needed right away can subscribe now or pay up their subscriptions already announced with assurance that the money is needed.

The adjutant is in receipt of an official blank in the $25,000 Dallas, Texas, to Hongkong, China, two-stop prize flight. Any of our aviators (BUI K. included) can get in, if you wish.

Some idea of the immense size of the building can now be gained as the walls progress. Bricked in, it looks many times larger than when it was just "a hole in the ground." The assembly room will be 58x88, all hard maple dance floor, and at the north end will be a large kitchen with modern serving conveniences, a furnace room and a coal room, as well as a small toilet room adjoining the kitchen. At the south end will be public toilet rooms, a wide entrance area-way, bulkheaded out from the building some eight feet with brick walls, a check room and ticket office, furnace room and coal room at the southwest corner. In addition to the main entrance, reached through double doors at the front, there will be entrances and exits through two grade doors along the west side of the building, decked over at present with frame construction decks, but fully incorporated into the walls of the future building. Parapet walls to the level of the future stage floor will be constructed at the rear, as a protection against the high embankment there, which will afford protection from the chilling north winds of winter and make the building a great deal easier to heat than otherwise.

The American Legion Auxiliary, a local bunch of willing workers, has plans for outfitting the kitchen in regal style and when they get thru,

EVIDENCE IS COMPLETED IN INSURANCE CASE

Des Moines, June 8.—Presentation of evidence in the suit of certificate holders of the Bankers life company to prevent the company from raising assessment rates was completed late Tuesday in district court here.

Arguments in the case will start next Tuesday and are expected to take several days to be concluded. D. G. Dwyer, an attorney of Plattsmouth, Neb., was the last witness. The actuary of the company, also testified.

EFFORT TO CIRCLE GLOBE

San Francisco, June 9.—Lieut. Leigh Wade, round-the-world flier, and Linton Wells, globe trotter and former California newspaper man, in a telegram from New York today said they planned to hop off from San Francisco next month in an effort to circle the world in fifteen days.

Their telegram to Mayor James Rolph, Sr., requested a grant of entries and conditions for the flight to Honolulu, for which prize of $25,000 have been offered.

PURSE PRESENTED PASTOR WHO GOES TO NEW CHARGE

Beaver Crossing, June 9.—A reception was held for Rev. Edward Hagan who has been pastor of the Sacred Heart church here nine years and who has been transferred to the pastorate of Grafton. Each of his charges Beaver Crossing and Uteka, presented a purse and the citizens of Beaver Crossing expressed their appreciation of his work as a citizen with a valuable gift.

SUMMER SCHOOL AT UNIVERSITY OF NEBR. OPENS

Lincoln, June 9.—Registration for the University of Nebraska summer school is now 2,680 or 90 more than at the close of the opening day in June, 1926, report of the registrar showed Wednesday.

Registration is likely to continue for several days, Miss McGahay, registrar, says, although there is a possibility for late registration. Class work began Wednesday.

The American Legion Auxiliary, a local bunch of willing workers, has plans for outfitting the kitchen in regal style and when they get thru, it will be one of the finest equipped kitchens outside of the larger cities in the state. Complete service for 144 will be provided, together with cooking utensils and a gas stove. The gas is now being piped into the building and the plumbing specifications include a large sink with work tables at each side, and shelves underneath for storage of dishes and equipment. A serving counter is also provided in the partition separating the kitchen from the assembly room, with additional shelving underneath, all to have sliding lock type doors so the equipment can be kept locked up except when in use. Two large French windows in the kitchen will allow for ventilation and light and the walls will be painted white, making a very pleasing appearance.

The present completed unit will not only be usable, but it will be a credit to the enterprise of those citizens who have made it possible thru generous contributions, and when the rest of the building goes up—well, there will be no better anywhere in this part of the country.

Legionnaires who haven't given anything to the fund yet, are urged to subscribe whatever amount they feel able to give.
