Rebekah's Install Officers.
On Wednesday of last week the Rebekah Assembly of the Odd Fellows met at their hall and looked after the regular order of business and after which was completed proceeded to induct into office the officers elected for the coming half year. There were given the obligations of the office for which they had been selected the following: Mrs. Signa Sorman, N. G. Mrs. Leona Schroder, Y. G. Mrs. Jessie Kyles, secretary and with the old standby, S. S. Peterson as treasurer.

Doing Good Work.
The Subordinate Lodge of the Odd Fellows will meet for their regular work and also for the installation of the officers the coming week, and will at that time install James Strain as their presiding officer the N. G.; while for the chair in the opposite end of the room will be seated Edward Reinkow as their Vice Grand. The appointive officers had not been announced, but will be named on the night of the installation. The lodge is in a healthy condition and making good growth.

They Did Catch the Fish.
Of course not all one could haul in a truck, but all they could eat and then some. Rex Peters, and wife, with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. McDonald, Albert Hudson and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Perley Chaman, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hall, made up a party who went to the banks of the Platte where they threw in their hooks with the result that they had an abundant catch in a short time. The swimming pool at Linoma Beach also was attractive and claimed the attention of the party for a time. In all a very enjoyable time was had.

The Harvest Good.
The farmers have been very busy during the past week and some more harvesting one of the finest crops of wheat this county has grown in more than a quarter of a century. There has been some wonderful yields and many are the fields which are making it profitable for the wheat grower this year. Of course there are some fields which are not showing a profit, but they are few, and if we could but hope that the corn would be as well and the prices maintained it would look like the old farm would be a nice place to live. With the passing of the last week of the harvesting of the wheat crop was about completed.

Greenwood Winner in Two Games.
In the Fourth of July game when Greenwood played at Elmwood in a very nicely contested bout, the Greenwood team was the winner by a score of twelve to five. They won again when they played with the Lincoln team, winning by a score of 20 to 2.

Wm. Newsham Doing Nicely.
It will be remembered when some weeks since Wm. Newsham was entered in Omaha with a load of stock, that he was not able to see the signal at the center street and Northwestern Railway he was struck by a passing freight train and was very seriously injured as well as killing one of the cattle and demolishing his truck, was a visitor at the home of his father south of town on last Wednesday. Mr. Newsham is very fortunate that he can visit here as the injury was one which would have killed an ordinary man and while he is feeling the effects of the injury as yet, he is able to be around and improving with each day.

FACTS ABOUT NEBRASKA
Nebraska has 2,290,000 miles of wire devoted to telephone service. The 429,751 mile of open wire would make a fence around the state with a thirty-foot telephone pole. The 1,550,000 miles of wire in aerial and underground cable would make a 10-wire fence around each county and leave enough to make a 7-wire fence around each of the 127,500 farms in the state.

Nebraskans paid $5,050,324 federal income and corporation profits taxes during 1926. Of the $3,218,807 corporation tax paid, the public utilities contributed $422,546, while financial institutions, banks and insurance companies paid $29,729. Agriculture's share was $38,307.

Only one Nebraskan reported an income of a million dollars or over for 1925. One paid for $750,000 and another for $300,000 while twelve paid an incomes of over $100,000. The returns would seem to indicate that there are 58 millionaires in Nebraska.

Nebraska ranks first among the states in the quality of corn raised and third in quantity. More than 80 per cent of it is marketed through the beef, pork, mutton and poultry that go from the farms.

It would take a freight train with an engine in Omaha and a caboose in Cheyenne to move to market the surplus pork that Nebraskans raise but cannot eat. Last year 1,322,333,984 pounds were shipped out.

Nebraska has the largest commercial aircraft factory west of Ohio.

Corn Crop 10 Days Late.
Mr. Barber estimates that the corn in the territory which he covers is from 10 days to two weeks late. Some fields are ready to lay by and others show plants not more than 10 inches in height. This is due to the fact that wet weather delayed planting, and to replanting where damage was done by cut worms. All fields are clean and nearly all have been cultivated the second time, he reports.

"I would not attempt to estimate the probable yield of wheat or corn crops in the state," said Mr. Barber. "The harvest of wheat has just begun and unfavorable weather at this time might cause some loss or damage, but I am more optimistic than I have been for several years. We have the promise of the greatest wheat crop ever produced in the state and prices are comparatively high. Whether this crop moves to market, and a large part of it will move early, it will bring a great volume of ready money to the farmers. It will put them in a position to clear up obligations which have, in many cases, caused a strain on banking conditions, and will, I believe, liquidate a large number of green assets which have caused the suspension of a large number of banks during the past three or four years."

"We have the promise of a great corn crop in this state, perhaps the greatest crop Nebraska has ever produced. The acreage is about normal and conditions are so uniformly good that an unusual yield is easily possible," he declared. "There are no bad spots in this prospect, and while the crop is late it is growing so fast that it may be up to seasonal average by the first of August."

Mr. Barber says that he anticipates a substantial increase in land values if the present crop prospect for corn holds good.

The prophets of hard luck and crop failure are right in one particular; it is an abnormal season in that it is better than normal in the Cornhusker state. And that holds good for the entire Omaha trade territory. Western Iowa is coming along one and on a par with Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming and South Dakota have splendid crop prospects. There is every indication of a prosperous year in the heart of the golden west.

Record Wheat Crop Foreseen
Conditions in Nebraska indicate the greatest wheat crop in recent years, according to John L. Barber, farm land man for the U. S. Trust company of Omaha. Mr. Barber is familiar with every section of the state and has recently returned from a trip of 650 miles which covered parts of northern Nebraska as far as California as far west as Harvard, and returned along the south line through Superior, Fairbury and Beatrice, and along the line of the Burlington to Omaha.

"There may be some damage to wheat in a limited locality along the Republican river on account of a dry period in June," he said, "but I did not see a poor field of wheat on the entire trip. I would hesitate to estimate the yield in some fields; it might run as high as 40 bushels to the acre."

"The oats crop is better than I expected and looks like more than an average yield," he said. "Hay is usually fine and yields will be large. Some of the alfalfa is being cut the second time."

LEADER IN AUTOMOBILES
Washington, July 7.—The United States has one automobile in operation for each five of its citizens, the automobile division of the department of commerce announced today, basing its figures on a recent survey. Statistics for the world as a whole showed 27,650,267 machines in operation at the beginning of the year, or one for each sixty-six population.

In Canada and Hawaii, there is one machine to each eleven of population, while New Zealand has one to twelve, Australia and Denmark one to seven, Great Britain one to forty-three, Argentina one to forty-five, and France one to forty-six.

It was estimated that 95 per cent of all the automobiles operating in the world are of American origin, the a considerable proportion of them were assembled in foreign branches of American factories.

and there are indications here that a critical stage in this situation is approaching.
However, Mr. Coolidge intends to maintain silence if this is true until he has conferred with the State department.

May See Herrick.
Coming to the summer White House early Thursday, Mr. Sheffield conferred with the president there, going with him Friday to the executive offices, where he told newspaper men he had left his resignation in the hands of Mr. Coolidge. He expects to stay here another day before returning east.

It was emphasized that Mr. Sheffield had returned to this country to attend the commencement exercises last month of Yale university.

Another conference on foreign affairs may be held here by the president in the possible visit of Myron T. Herrick, ambassador to France. However, it has been left with Mr. Herrick to decide whether he will come and the ambassador has indicated he would like to hurry his trip to this country in order to assure his return to France for the American Legion convention there in the fall.

Mr. Coolidge has advised the ambassador that he may transact all official business with Secretary Kellogg in Washington and that if a trip were made to the Black Hills it need be contemplated only in a social light.

Several Names Are Suggested as Successors
Indications Point to Critical Stage in Oil and Land Laws Controversy.

Rapid City, S. D., July 9.—The resignation of James H. Sheffield as ambassador to Mexico was accepted Friday by President Coolidge shortly after it had been tendered.

The post will remain for the time being in the hands of the charge d'affaires as Mr. Coolidge has not decided when the resignation shall become effective. He does not anticipate that Mr. Sheffield will return to his post after he makes a contemplated six weeks' tour of Europe.

H. F. Arthur Schoen, the charge, is regarded very highly by the president. While it is the usual practice of President Coolidge to fill vacancies quickly, he does not want any conclusions drawn because of the failure to make an immediate appointment to this country where relations have been troubled for some time.

No Explanation.
The president was said at the executive offices Friday to be unaware of any new developments in the controversy over the Mexican oil and land laws but there were indications that Mr. Sheffield is concerned over recent steps by Mexico in the oil situation.

Mr. Sheffield offered no explanation for his retirement except to indicate it was not because of health or lack of support by the administration. In his presence, Everett Sanders, secretary to the president explained that Mr. Sheffield and the president reached an agreement last summer that if the ambassador would consent to return to his post he would be relieved this year.

Several Considered.
Several names have been suggested to the president as successors to Mr. Sheffield including T. E. Campbell former governor of Arizona; Charles Beecher Warren of Detroit, John Garrett of Baltimore and Silas Strawn of Chicago and he expects to make a choice within the time which would ordinarily be consumed by the ambassador in leave of absence.

Mr. Sheffield was named ambassador to Mexico in the fall of 1924, shortly after Mr. Warren and John Barton Payne had concluded negotiations with that country on the basis of which relations were resumed between it and the United States.

The oil and land laws controversy has been bubbling almost ever since
