parted on last Sunday for Chase county where the Bank of Union has some lands which are in wheat, and which as cashier of the Bank, Mr. Banning departed to look after the harvesting and marketing. Mr. Banning and son hallas are expected to be absent for about ten days.

Herbert Roddy and Harlan Atkinson departed in their auto a few days since for the harvest fields of South Dakota where they will expect to help secure the abundant yield of wheat which that state has at this time. They will remain as long as there is work to be done in the harvest fields and during threshing as well.

Miss Lois Smith, who is making her home in Lincoln and where she is employed as a clerk, is spending a two weeks vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Smith of north of town. Mrs. Smith and the daughter, accompanied by another daughter, Miss Fern, were visiting and looking after some business in Nebraska City on last Monday.

Mrs. Mary Allison of Hastings, and daughter, Mrs. Eva Pearson, of Tecumseh, and another daughter of Mrs. Allison, Grace, who makes her home at Peru, were visiting with friends and relatives in Lincoln for a day last week, they being guests at the home of Mrs. Mary Davis for the noon day meal and at the home of Mrs. Allison's brother, A. L. Becker and wife for the evening meal. They enjoyed the visit here very much and then departed for Murray where they also visited friends and relatives.

Enjoyed a Visit Sunday.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bollman were gathered last week, the mother of Mr. Bollman, Mrs. Bollman of Falls City, as well as a sister, Miss Olive Bollman, who has been attending for the summer term at Peru. While like the mother Harlan Bollman and wife were here from Lincoln.

Underwent an Operation.

Joseph Wallace, who is employed on the farm of R. E. Forster, was troubled with attacks of appendicitis for some time and had to be hospitalized where he underwent an operation for the removal of this trouble and is reported as getting along nicely since.

Bull Calves for Sale.

I have a number of excellent Red Polled bull calves for sale, better see while the selection is the best.—Thomas McQuinn, Union. 121-25w

Methodist Parsonage Ablaze.

Fire was discovered on last Monday morning at the Methodist parsonage, where the minister, the Rev. Meyers, and family reside, and with the very energetic work of the citizens the fire was soon brought under control with the aid of everyone possible, but not until there had been some considerable damage done. However the building and its contents were saved, but at somewhat of a loss.

Band Gave Excellent Program.

With the streets of Union crowded to their entire capacity with autos and the town filled to the limit with people the Union band gave one of its excellent programs which was enjoyed by all present. The band has been doing a lot of work in their fitting themselves for the entertainment of the people and they are very able to give the people some excellent music. The band will play Saturday night of next week again and will provide an excellent program. Be sure and be at Union for the next program which will be on July 30th.

Wins Game From Iowa Team.

Bert Everett, who is surely an organizer when it comes to baseball, for the B. B. means Baseball, and with his team last week went to Percival Iowa, where he played with the team of that place and came home with the scalps of the Iowa lads hanging to the belts of the Union team, the final showing, Union 5 and Percival 3, and a very good game.

Visited Friends Here.

Edwin L. Schumaker and family, of Omaha, and Roy Gerking and family of Murray, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arden Ruhman for last Sunday where all enjoyed the day very pleasantly. On their return they all stopped at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mont Robb for a short visit.

Celebrated Birthday Tuesday.

It was a hot July day in 1849, and the nineteenth day of the month when George Simeon Upton first saw the light of day in the state of Kentucky. Uncle Sim as he is now familiarly known liked the sunny state of Kentucky, but was very loath to sever his connections from his parents at the age of eight years when they came to Nebraska and so he came along. He has lived here since and thinks this one of the very best states in the union to live in, and he has more than a million people of the same opinion. Mr. Upton is enjoying good health and while he farmed all his life, he has resided in Union since last Christmas day, but he still, notwithstanding his seventy-eight years, wants to work all the time. His friends were extending congratulations and well wishes in which the Journal is joining in.

wishing he may see many more happy birthdays.

The Old Settlers Picnic.

Much preparation is being made for the entertainment of the visitors who shall visit the annual picnic of the Old Settlers Association which is to be held at the Old Settlers park on August 12 and 13, and among which is a tug-of-war, which will be staged the first day between a team comprised of the lodge members of the M. W. A. and a team of non-members under the captaincy of Edward W. Dowler, the successful team to tackle any comer from whatsoever source they may come. Efforts are being made also for a woman's team to be pitted against another woman's team. There will be a water carrying contest, and where the bucket brigade exists for the fighting of fires this should be a good schooling. Potato races which will be staged in a novel way such as picking the potatoes up and depositing them in a receptacle without touching them will afford some fun. A number of courts of horse shoe pitchers will be staged that whosoever may desire may pitch at this exhilarating sport. A husband and wife calling contest will be had also, this is not a hog calling contest, but one no doubt as productive of fun. A fiddlers contest will also be had.

Attend Church in Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Colbert, Verma Colbert, Agatha Colbert, Lloyd Colbert, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pool, Eloise Pool and Hazel Pool came over from Wabash and Weeping Water Sunday to worship with the people of the Baptist church of Union, bringing well filled baskets. After service they repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Taylor where dinner was served. Everyone present enjoyed the day and dinner. Mr. Taylor was their pastor at Wabash of 19 years. Come again! A welcome is assured.

Funeral Services of Herman Tiekotter Tuesday

St. Paul's Church Filled to Overflowing by Old Friends to Pay Their Last Respects.

From Wednesday's Daily—Yesterday afternoon the funeral services of the late Herman Tiekotter were held at the St. Paul's Evangelical church, the building being filled to its capacity by the old friends to attend the last rites of their loved and respected friend.

It was fitting that the services were held from this church as thirty years ago Mr. Tiekotter had assisted in building the church structure and has been a devout and faithful member of the congregation since the establishments of the church here.

Rev. J. H. Steger, old time friend of the departed, held the services and spoke words of comfort to the members of the bereaved family and the sorrowing friends, giving to them the promise of the reuniting of the ties of love in the hereafter where there would be no parting.

The choir of the church gave several of the old hymns and the special number, "Face to Face," which had been requested by the members of the family.

LONG WINDED CASE

From Wednesday's Daily—The county court was occupied yesterday afternoon in hearing the case of the Farmers State bank of Greenwood vs. Walter E. Palling and which continued all through the afternoon and will be again resumed on Saturday when the arguments will be submitted to the court for its consideration.

The case is one in which the bank seeks the collection of a note of $495 alleged to be due the bank and the defendant offers as his defense that the plaintiff bank did not fulfill a contract made with the defendant when the bank was sold, the agreement having been that the defendant should be made president of the bank. The plaintiff bank contends that the defendant agreed to the election of his son, Aaron Palling as the president of the bank and which was carried out.

SOCIAL WORKERS MEET

From Wednesday's Daily—The Social Workers of the Methodist church were most pleasantly entertained yesterday afternoon at the parlors of the church with a very large number in attendance and a great deal of pleasure derived by the members of the party. Mrs. Ben Coleman and Mrs. A. F. Moore were the hostesses of the afternoon and proved royal entertainers. The meeting was under the leadership of Mrs. Otto Keck who gave a very interesting reading and also arranged a number of charming games that added to the entertainment of the occasion. At the close dainty and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses that added to the pleasure of several of the party.

A British scientist has invented a bed which rocks occupants to sleep by reproducing the motion of a railway train. And now will someone else please invent a railway train that will lull occupants to sleep by reproducing the motionless comfort of a bed.

Student Soldiers Have Taste of Gas Warfare

R. O. T. C. From Fort Crook Have Demonstration on the Local Rifle Range Monday.

From Wednesday's Daily—Proper defense against the dread chemical agents or gases in warfare, and their use in attack was demonstrated by Captain E. P. Gempel of Fort Omaha before members of the R. O. T. C. in training at Fort Crook, on the rifle range near Plattsmouth, Monday.

There are 53 types of gas, all of which were used during the last war. These may be placed in four classes, the student soldiers were informed. A number of the gases are deadly, and are either lung irritants or blistering agents, while others are used to retard enemy action or to screen movements of troops.

When engaged in actual warfare, a soldier must be on the alert at all times for a gas attack. Captain Gempel said. The most certain hours are very early in the morning or evening, and all through the night. This is because the damp, cool air keeps the gas close to the ground. Gases laid down or shot into an area during the day evaporate or rise with heat waves.

Phosgene Most Deadly. Troops in the front line or on the march in the open are not in as great a danger as are those concealed in forests against airplane attacks, as the gas will stay in the damp underbrush for hours or even days.

The type of gas most dangerous is phosgene. It is invisible, but has an odor similar to green corn or musty hay. It drifts with the wind and lingers from ten minutes to three hours. It is deadly, and a few whiffs mean a casualty.

The chemical agent known as mustard gas is in reality a liquid, resembling crude oil or morning dew as it lies on the ground. As it evaporates it forms a gas. In either form it is dangerous. It may be recognized by its odor, which is like onions or garlic. This gas is both a blistering agent and a lung irritant. It particularly affects the eyes and tender parts of the body. It remains three days in the open and as long as a week in underbrush.

Another agent is toxic smoke, which has no odor. It is yellow and not easily seen. While not deadly, it burns the nose and throat, and makes soldiers ill for several hours. Smoke, of which there are numerous varieties, is a good defense against machine gun nests. An attack made with white phosphorus bombs, for instance, not only blinds the gunners temporarily, but sets fire to inflammable objects near.

Mask Is Only Defense. Tear gas is effectively used, as it is nearly colorless, and has a slight odor similar to fruit. It renders the enemy powerless for a time, through their inability to see. The gas affects the eyes, burning them and making the tears flow steadily.

The only defense against chemical agents is the gas mask, put on instantly at the first alarm, and taken off only after the last trace of gas has gone. Captain Gempel said. The newest type may be adjusted in four seconds, and is constructed with a special mouthpiece that permits the wearer to talk over the telephone, or to shout to his neighbor.

White phosphorus and tear gas bombs were demonstrated, thrown both by hand and by rifle. A smoke screen was laid out by the R. O. T. C. men to screen them as they marched toward camp. The march became a stampede as just a touch of tear gas was added.

Mrs. George Luschinsky, who has been at Rochester, Minnesota, for some time past, taking treatment, has returned home to this city and is not improved in health as had been hoped for by the members of the family circle.

SAVE YOUR FIELDS FROM

The Chinch Bugs!

A very effective method of exterminating chinch bugs with the use of water gas tar and calcium cyanide chips has been developed for use at the time the chinch bugs are moving from ripe wheat fields to the greener corn fields. The procedure is as follows:

Water Gas Tar at Our Plant!

We are Glad to Offer the Farmers the Opportunity of Driving Out These Pests.

Place a furrow between wheat fields and corn. Dip post holes 16 to 18 inches deep and run a line of tar between each hole and the bugs are soon cleaned out.

See Us for Your Orders for Tar!
